PRESIDENTIAL SYMPATHY

President Ford kissed Dana Davies, daughter of slain ambassador to Cyprus Rodger P. Davies of Berkeley, after the plane returning the body arrived at Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland this morning. The plane bearing the body was to arrive at Hamilton Air Force Base at 3 p.m. today and will be taken to El Cerrito for cremation. The family requested that there be no services at Hamilton. Supervisors Chop County Tax Rate

Budget Will Cost The Taxpayer More

By JEFF GREER

Marin County Supervisors yesterday adopted unchanged a record final budget and set a tax rate that is lower than last year's but that will bring in even more money than last year because of increased assessments. (Other supervisors stories, page 7.)

The board voted 3-0 to set the basic countywide tax rate at $2.385 per $100 assessed valuation, compared to $2.58 last year. In addition, the board increased the county library tax rate to 24.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, compared to 24 cents last year. The structural fire tax for unincorporated areas not protected by local fire districts jumped sharply, to 47 cents per $100 assessed valuation compared with 34 cents last year.

This resulted from a federal edict shortening the work week for all firemen, requiring more hirings, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell explained.

The total budget remains unchanged from the $52,091,126 figure approved by the board in July, but the tax rate is one-half cent lower than predicted at the time because the public utility rolls assessed by the state — and delivered to the county last week — are slightly higher than estimated earlier.

Mitchell supplied figures to the board showing that the total assessment roll of all secured, unsecured and public utility property in Marin has soared to $970,664,985 — a 15.3 per cent increase over last year. The total public utility assessment roll is $36.5 million, up slightly more than $300,000 over last year.

Using the new basic tax rate, the total roll will produce income of $19,532,786 to the county — an increase of 6.8 per cent or $1,240,658 over last year.

The property taxes will provide 37.5 per cent of the $52 million the county will spend this year, Mitchell said. He listed other sources as: Federal and state aid, $20.1 million or 38.7 per cent; charges for county services, almost $2 million or 3.8 per cent; sales tax, $600,000 or 1 per cent, and other sources, $9.8 million or 19 per cent.

The biggest chunk of county spending, $20.2 million or 38.8 per cent, will go to welfare, medical and mental health services, Mitchell said. The next largest outlay will be $13.7 million or 26.3 per cent for public protection and the courts.

The total spending budget increase is only 3.1 per cent, "one of the smallest increases during the last 30 years," Mitchell told the board.

The record $970 million assessment roll actually includes $9.4 million the county cannot levy taxes on, Mitchell pointed out. This is the increased valuation of property in the San Rafael redevelopment area, leaving the effective tax base for the county at $961,249,381.

Independent-Journal computations show that even though the county's basic tax rate is down, the owner of an "average" Marin County home will have a larger tax bill.

The basic tax bill for the owner of a home with a fair market value of $40,000 last year, would have been $258. If the home's assessment increased the average 15.3 per cent this year, the tax bill on it will be $274.275.

Mitchell said he will have the school district tax rates and those for special districts ready next week, for the board to set the final rates in some 400 tax code areas.

Cotati Council Will Fill Vacancies By Appointment

By ERNEST MURPHY

The remaining three members of the Cotati City Council decided unanimously last night to appoint two new members to replace the councilmen who resigned Aug. 7 after being arrested on suspicion of stealing marijuana from the city police department. (Another Cotati City Council story, page 7.)

After electing Geoffrey Dunham mayor for the duration of Stephen Laughlin's one-year term, the council set a special "town meeting" for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 29 so applicants for the council seats can present themselves to the citizenry.

The new councilmen will be chosen at the next regular meeting, Sept. 3.

The decision to appoint new members came despite petitions signed by more than 350 Cotatians who urged the council to set an election to resolve the issue.

"An election at this time would be divisive, debasing and debilitating, plus every other alliteration in the book," Mayor Dunham told the 150 residents who jammed the council chambers last night. A majority of the onlookers were young and hip-looking, although a sizable faction of older residents was

Ford Likely Candidate In 1976

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will probably run for the presidency in 1976, his chief spokesman said today. White House Press Secretary Jerald terHorst told reporters that Ford has changed his mind and "he probably will run in 1976 assuming he is nominated by the delegates" to the Republican National Convention.

TerHorst said that he discussed the matter with Ford late yesterday and again today after vice president-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller said he got the impression that Ford has "every intention" of seeking the GOP nomination.

As vice president. Ford said he would not run for the presidency.

TerHorst said at the time Ford made his first statement on the subject he was being nominated as vice president and felt it was not proper to seek any higher office.

TerHorst was vague when asked if Rockefeller would be Ford's choice in 1976 for the No. 2 spot. He said that would be up to Ford, Rockefeller and the delegates to the convention.

He noted that Ford had picked a man "that was well qualified" to be president meaning Rockefeller.

It was unusual for the such news to be announced at a news briefing. Presidents usually play a waiting game and keep their political plans secret.

But Ford, since he assumed the presidency after the forced resignation of Richard M. Nixon on Aug. 9 has made it clear in every way that he enjoys the office.

Unhappy Firemen Probe Is Planned

Responding to pressure from citizens, the Tamalpais Fire Protection District board last night established a committee to investigate charges of discontent among district firemen.

Before an audience of about 30 persons at the community services district office, board chairman Carl Modell and directors Arthur Crebassa and James Oberg were appointed to look into reports that a large portion of the 12-man force is actively seeking jobs in other departments because of differences with Chief Dale N. Bennett.

One fireman, who asked to be unnamed, told the Independent-Journal today that Bennett employs tactics of intimidation and harrassment in dealing with department personnel.

"A favorite saying of his," the fireman said of the chief, "is that 'there is nothing too good for the men and that is what they are going to get — nothing'."

Asked today if he felt there is any truth to the charges against the chief, Crebassa replied: "None at all. It is the feeling of the board that this is not neces-

No-Fault Insurance Heads To Showdown

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Bursting from a 17-month committee deadlock, no-fault automobile insurance legislation moved today towards a showdown vote in the Senate.

Supporters hurried to bridge important differences between two rival proposals in hopes of reaching a compromise during the seven working days before the scheduled end of the legislative session.

The key Senate Judiciary Committee approved both bills by bare majority votes yesterday.

Democratic Sen. Alan Robbins of Van Nuys, a member of the committee, predicted agreement would be reached between warring sides on the controversial proposal that would affect all 13 million licensed California drivers.

No-fault insurance, a major issue before the Legislature each year since 1971, provides for motorists to collect damages from their own insurance companies for personal injuries regardless of who is at fault in an accident.

The aim is to reduce insurance costs and assure quick payment of claims by eliminating costly and protracted court suits.

Both bills approved by the committee were "modified" no-

Consumer Price Index Rises Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Increases in retail prices were not as great in July as they had been the previous two months, due chiefly to a mid-summer drop in some grocery prices, the Labor Department said today.

The consumer price index, the best measure of changes in the cost of living, jumped 0.8 per cent last month.

Increases in automobile prices and the cost of restaurant meals, medical care and buying a home led the July advance but were partially offset by lower prices for clothing and such food items as fresh fruits and vegetables, beef and dairy products.

The July increase was smaller than a 1 per cent rise in June and 1.1 per cent in May. But it was still large by historical standards and offered no relief to President Ford in his search for ways to beat the nation's soaring inflation.

The Labor Department's report was released shortly after General Motors Corp. announced it was bowing to pressure from the White House and was trimming $54 from its planned $500 price hike on 1975 model cars and trucks.

The cost of living has increased by nearly 12 per cent in the past 12 months, the Labor

Alioto To Ask Ford To BART Opening

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mayor Joseph Alioto said today he will invite President Ford to the opening ceremonies of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District trans-bay tube Sept. 14.

Alioto, leaving to attend a White House ceremony in connection with the signing of the Omnibus Housing and Development Act, said he would personally make the invitation to Ford.

Government Asks Reductions In Recreation Land Purchases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Administration spokesman called yesterday for sharp reductions in proposals for expanding the Golden Gate National Recreation Area and the Point Reyes National Seashore in California.

Deputy Director Russell E. Dickenson of the National Park Service recommended a net addition of only 323 acres to the recreation area and no addition to the seashore.

Dickenson expressed the Administration opposition in testimony before the Senate Parks and Recreation Subcommittee on bills to add about 875 acres to the recreation area and 168 acres to the seashore.

The additions were strongly backed by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., chief Senate sponsor of legislation to make the additions, and by Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., in personal appearances before the subcommittee.

Also urging the additions were Reps. Phillip Burton, D-Fifth District, chief sponsor of House-passed bills to expand the parks, and his brother, Rep. John Burton, D-Sixth District, whose direct includes parts of both.

Cranston told the panel headed by Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., that the additions were needed to provide a buffer zone against housing developments.

Tunney said the proposed addition to the Point Reyes National Seashore had been inadvertently left out of the bill establishing the park.

In the case of the proposed additions to the Golden Gate unit, Tunney said he and many others had thought they were included in the recreation area.

"This, however, was not the case and as a result, the integrity of the parkland is threatened by adjacent development," Tunney said.

Dickenson, testifying for the Interior Department, said the 168 acres to be added to the Point Reyes park would cost about $375,000 and that the purchase would "add to the inflationary pressures at a time when the Administration is trying very hard to reduce the level of federal expenditures."

The Park Service official supported addition of 214 acres of the Wolfback Ridge overlooking

Water Board Votes To Join Intertie

The North Marin County Water District board last night approved an agreement for construction of the Russian River-Cotati Intertie and delivery of Russian River water. (Another water board story, page 37.)

The project costs have jumped from about $20 million to $30 million and the district's share of the costs is up $671,000, Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson told the board.

The 40-year agreement between the district, the Sonoma County Water Agency and seven other agencies sets the water entitlements and cost sharing.

Under the agreement, the North Marin district's allocation would increase from the present 6.5 million gallons per day to 11.2 when the project is completed in 1977.

Allocations to other agencies would be Santa Rosa, 50 million gallons per day; Petaluma, 17; Valley of the Moon, 4.7; City of Sonoma, 3.3; Cotati, 1.7; Forestville, 1.5; Rohnert Park, one, and Sonoma County Water agency, 1.6.

The North Marin County Water District is to pay $3,751,000 during 1974-75, using bond funds approved by voters. The district has $4.1 million in bonds authorized by voters in April, 1973, and $1.29 million in previously approved bonds.

Nelson said the district's share of the project has dropped from 17.6 per cent to 14.2 per cent because Petaluma has increased its take of the water.

Without this change, the increased cost to the district would have been even higher, he said.

Under the agreement, the North Marin district will be permitted to trade or sell water to the Marin Municipal Water District. If it is sold the district must make payment in lieu of taxes on the land served to the Sonoma County Water Agency.

Directors authorized Board President George A. Amaroli to execute the agreement at a signing ceremony. The date of the ceremony hasn't yet been set, Nelson said.

Arrest Made In Airport Bombing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police yesterday arrested Muharem Kurbegovic, a Yugoslavian printer, and charged with being the "alphabet bomber" who killed three persons and wounded 35 at Los Angeles International Airport Aug. 6.

"I'm convinced we have solved the airport bombing and the placing of a bomb at the Greyhound terminal," said Assistant Police Chief Daryl Gates. Kurbegovic, 31, was arrested in the men's room of a restaurant in Hollywood.

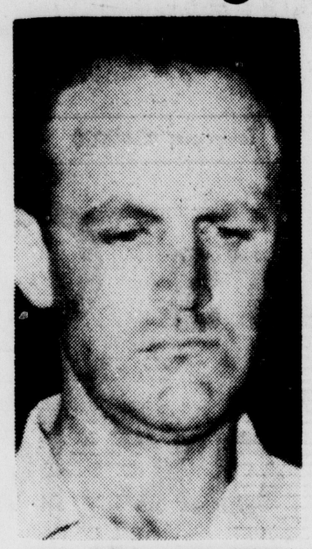
He was accused of being the "Isaac Rasim" who took responsibility for the airport bombing, claiming to be the "chief military officer of the Aliens of America."

He was to be charged today with murder for the deaths of two Skycaps and a New Zealand passenger who were blasted apart by the bomb left in a public locker.

The FBI said it would bring a federal charge of destruction of an airport, which carries a possible life prison term.

Police said Kurbegovic had been under surveillance for several hours and was arrested after he dropped off a tape casette — the bomber's method of leaving messages — and officers felt the voice on the tape was the same as that of "Rasim."

"He was arrested on the basis of the voice on the tape," a police spokesman said, and his



MUHAREM KURBEGOVIC
Held in Los Angeles

apartment was then searched by bomb squad members with explosives-sniffing dogs and "there is incriminating evidence at the apartment ... explosive ingredients."

Kurbegovic, who entered the United States legally in 1967, stands 5-feet-11, weighs 200 pounds, and has short brown hair. He worked for a blueprint firm.

Police said he had been arrested once before, for an unspecified sex offense.

"We think he is one and the same" with "Rasim," the police spokesman said. Investigators believe there are probably no more members of the "Aliens of America" that Rasim claimed to speak for.

"Rasim" demanded repeal of all federal immigration and naturalization laws, other laws affecting aliens, all sex laws, more effective separation of church and state and the punishment of two police officers, now retired, who killed two Mexican illegal aliens four years ago, but were cleared of wrongdoing.

He was given the name "alphabet bomber" for his threat to "write our name in blood across the face of America" unless his demands were met.

He said in one taped message that the airport bomb was for the first letter in his organization's name — "A."

The second bomb, found in the Greyhound bus terminal last Friday, was planted in a locker — "L," a message said.

Transit Bill Slashed By $9 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House heard President Ford's call for economy and cut a mass transit bill down from $20 billion to $11 billion.

It then heard a warning from Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, that the voting motorist doesn't like trucks, and threw out a section that would have allowed heavier trucks on Interstate highways.

The new six-year transit bill passed 324 to 92 yesterday and went to the Senate, where a similar bill is being considered in the Public Works Committee.

The bill provides federal matching funds for both transit operation and new construction and improvement. The Secretary of Transportation would decide, within limits, where and how the money would be spent.

The big-truck section of the bill, deleted 257 to 155 on an amendment by Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., would have increased maximum axle loadings for trucks and introduced a new maximum weight formula that would have allowed gross weights for some trucks to rise as high as 90,000 pounds, compared with the present 73,280 maximum.

Hays was offended by a remark about the hardships the 55 mph speed limit placed on truckers. He jumped to his feet and complained, "There's not a truck in the country that's obeying the 55 miles per hour speed limit."

Hays complained he had been stopped in Ohio for going 63 mph, while trucks and buses roared through at 80 mph.

"They're the worst law violators there are in the country," he said of the truckers.

More than half the money remaining in the bill — $5.9 billion — would go to nine cities that now have rail or subway systems or which are building them — Atlanta, Boston, Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and San Francisco.

Another $2.9 billion would be parceled out by the Transportation Secretary for selected construction and improvement projects in any urbanized area, while $1.7 billion would be available for urbanized areas other than the nine covered in the first section. Some $500 million would be available for rural transit projects.

When the money is used for projects such as new construction, the government would pay 75 per cent of the cost.

Report Puts Nuclear Plants In Good Light

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new government-sponsored study concludes that nuclear power plants pose less risk to the public than hurricanes, tornados or lightning.

The probability of death from a nuclear reactor accident for persons within 20 miles of an atomic power plant is 1 chance in 300 million per year, according to the investigation made public yesterday.

In comparison, the study said the per year risk of death from a severe storm is one in 2.5 million, from lightning one in 2 million, from air travel one in 100,000, from fires one in 25,000, from falls one in 10,000 and from motor vehicle accidents one in 4,000.

"It seems to me that the nuclear industry stands out very favorably indeed," said Dixy Lee Ray, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission which sponsored the $3 million study directed by Norman C. Rasmussen, professor of nuclear engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"While there are some in the public sector who will feel that the likelihood of occurrence of nuclear power plant accidents should be made essentially zero, neither nuclear accidents nor nonnuclear accidents of any kind can have zero probability," the draft said. "We do not now, and never have, lived in a risk-free world.

"The fact is that nuclear accident probabilities are so low that they are insignificant compared to the overall risks due to other man-made and natural risks."

The major risk involved with a nuclear power plant is the release of large amounts of radioactive material due to a string of failures that would lead to the melting of the reactor's uranium fuel. Rasmussen emphasized that it is impossible for a power plant reactor to explode like an atomic bomb because of the difference in fuel.

The study considered the current generation of power reactors and not the breeder type that are expected to begin operation in the mid 1980s.

VFW Turns Down Ford's Feelers On Amensty Idea

CHICAGO (UPI) — Delegates to the national Veterans of Foreign Wars' convention have answered President Ford's proposal of amnesty for Vietnam draft evaders with resounding opposition.

The convention's more than 4,000 delegates voted unanimously yesterday to adopt two resolutions reaffirming the 1.8 million-member organization's stand against any sort of amnesty for draft resisters.

"This is our answer to President Ford's feeler," said James Van Zant, a former Republican congressman from Pennsylvania and a past VFW commander.

Not one delegate stood to speak for Ford's suggestion that young men who chose to become expatriates rather than fight in Vietnam be allowed to return to work their way back to their homeland.

"We sustain total opposition to general and selective amnesty for draft dodgers and military deserters and (believe) that they should be required to stand trial for their crimes and shall pay such penalties upon conviction as laws prescribe," one of the resolutions stated.

The other said the VFW would continue "total commitment to pursue their 'no amnesty' doctrine through our membership to congressmen and to the American people and to be firm in our stand and not to relinquish, dilute or compromise their position."

Hike In Drug Abuse Reported

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Drug abuse among California Youth Authority prisoners and parolees rose slightly during the first half of this year, according to the CYA.

But the CYA also said Monday that the proportion of persons committed for drug violations, has decreased by half since the peak year of 1970.

About 30 per cent of the users smoked marijuana while 35 per cent used depressants and 30 per cent used opiates, the authority said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

March On Embassy

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korean protesters smashed through police lines and marched on the Japanese Embassy today in a demonstration sparked by last week's assassination attempt against President Park Chung-hee.

Some 100 persons left a group of about 300 demonstrators, broke through police lines and marched to the embassy with placards, accusing Japan of being a "base for propaganda" against South Korea.

Two hundred riot police rushed to the scene, but failed to stop the protesting members of the Kwangbok-hoe — an association of South Korean veterans.

The demonstration came hours after South Korean Premier Kim Jong-pil told a nationwide television audience Japan was morally and legally responsible for last Thursday's assassination attempt against Park.

Bank Tragedy

AUGUSTA, Mich. (UPI) — Looking into the muzzle of a 20-gauge shotgun, teen-age bank teller Connie Adams obeyed the robber's orders and filled a money bag. An instant later she was dead, shot in the face at point-blank range.

"He was very cool about it," Kalamazoo County Sheriff Ronald Kelm said yesterday. "After he shot her, he just jacked another shell into the gun."

As Kelm described the $15,000 Monday robbery-slaying which left other employees of the Industrial State Bank in a state of stunned disbelief, helicopters, tracking dogs and more than 100 heavily armed law enforcement officers searched for the killer and his companion.

The FBI identified the suspects as Donald Lee Garlofs, 21, Battle Creek and Steven M. Gay, 19, Kalamazoo. Warrants charged them with murder and robbery.

Capture Outposts

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist forces overran a pair of key outposts 50 miles northwest of Saigon and captured a huge slice of land around the nearby provincial capital of Tay Ninh, the Saigon command said today.

Command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces late yesterday captured the militia base at Phuoc Tan, 10 miles west of Tay Ninh near the Cambodian border.

In Cambodia, government troops killed 29 rebels in a sweep yesterday along the east bank of the Tonle Sap river 16 miles north of Phnom Penh.

'Walking Tall' Star Dies In Crash

SELMER, Tenn. (UPI) — Buford Pusser, a crime-busting sheriff made famous by the movie "Walking Tall," was killed today in a flaming traffic accident.

Pusser

His death came less than 24 hours after he signed to star in a sequel to the box office hit about his battles against gambling, moonshining and prostitution in McNairy County, Tenn.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol said the 36-year-old Pusser died when his 1974 red sports car careened off Highway 64, crashed into an embankment and burst into flames.

The highway patrol said there was no sign of foul play in the wreckage.

There were seven attempts on Pusser's life while he served as sheriff and one of them killed his wife and almost killed him. "Walking Tall" ended with Pusser lying in a hospital bed, half his face shot away by .30-caliber pistol bullets.

Fourteen plastic surgery operations gave him a new appearance, and he was wearing his hair longer than his crewcut of law enforcement days.

Fight For Throne

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — Emperor Haile Selassie has begun a determined fight to preserve his hold on Ethiopia's ancient throne in the face of renewed army attempts to strip away his power, diplomats said today.

The Ethiopian government indicated for the first time it may be willing to begin talks with Eritrean rebels, attempting to halt a 12-year-old guerrilla war in the empire's northernmost province.

In the last few weeks, the army has stripped Selassie, the 82-year-old "conquering lion of Judah," of virtually all the powers he has enjoyed for more than a half-century of imperial rule. It jailed his closest aides and friends.

Diplomatic observers said the emperor now seemed aware of his danger and was attempting to consolidate his position from further attack by the army.

They said the emperor encouraged the leader of the Ethiopian Orthodox Church, Patriarch Abune Tewolfos, to issue a recent statement attacking a draft constitution.

WHAT A WONDERFUL WAY TO LOSE FAT!
THE "MODEL-ETTS" WAY HELPS CURB YOUR APPETITE
HELPS YOU LOSE THAT EXTRA WEIGHT
■ NO CALORIE COUNTING! ■ NO EXERCISES! ■ NO SPECIAL DIETS!
Thanks to a group of New York doctors, you can now lose pounds of ugly fat without going on any special diet, without cutting out any special foods.
HELPS REDUCE HUNGRY MOMENTS
These New York doctors discovered a food adjuvant called "MODEL-ETTS."
"Model-etts" does remarkable things. It helps you cut down your caloric intake by a natural automatic curbing of the appetite and of the desire for foods, resulting automatically in a reduced intake of food.
Before "Model-etts" was offered to you, it was tested clinically by the doctors on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.
The doctors carefully checked results, and here is what they found:
1. Weight losses of 6 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever.
2. 96% of the men and women who used "Model-etts" lost weight.
"Model-etts" is absolutely safe. It is a food adjuvant - not a drug.
So, start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches. If your condition is glandular or organic, see your doctor. "Model-etts" may help you stay on the diet your doctor recommends. Ask him about it.
You can get a full month's supply of "Model-etts" for $3.00 on money back guarantee. In clinical tests, "Model-etts" was 96% successful. "Model-etts" may not be 100% successful in all cases, but you take no risk in trying "Model-etts" on our Money Back Guarantee.
Come to General Nutrition to get "MODEL-ETTS." The sooner you start, the sooner you may have the loss of weight you yearn for.
Sounds too good to be true, but it is true!
How Model-etts Curbs Your Appetite
In the opinion of the supervising physician, based on the average of weight losses in the clinical tests, his calculations showed that 1 Model-etts Wafer has the hunger satisfying capacity of 1 pound boiled potatoes or 4 eggs or 5 slices of white bread, yet it contains only 6 calories.

HAROLD W. BREITHAUPT
A DeMolay award

Man To Get Award From Ross Group

Harold W. Breithaupt of Kentfield will receive the Cross of Honor, the International Order of Demolay's highest award, at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Fairfax Masonic Lodge in Larkspur.

Breithaupt is being cited for his work as an advisory leader of the Ross Valley Chapter of DeMolay.

DeMolay is an organization affiliated with the Masons that is composed of young men ages 13 to 21 who perform community and civic service projects.

Breithaupt, 55, chairman of the Ross Valley chapter advisory council, has served on the council for seven years as an advisor, assistant chapter dad and chapter dad.

In 1972, he was awarded the medal of appreciation for his chapter service.

Breithaupt's other community activities include work with two other international Mason affiliated orders, Rainbow for Girls and Job's Daughters.

He has also been manager of the Kentfield-Greenbrae Little League team for the past nine years.

Breithaupt is sales supervisor for a paper company based in San Francisco.

He is a member of Fairfax Lodge 556 Free and Accepted Masons and has been active in the Marin Shrine Club and Marin Greeters Shrine marching unit.

Breithaupt has been a resident of Kentfield for 20 years and now lives at 6 Berens Drive. He is married and has two grown children.

Party Names CandidateAs State Chief

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Rev. Raymond Broshears of San Francisco, Peace and Freedom Party nominee in the Fifth Congressional District, has been elected state chairman of the party.

Bitter disputes split the party at the biennial convention of its state central committee here Saturday and Sunday, with a faction of delegates forming a new party calling itself the Socialist Peace and Freedom Party.

Broshears was elected 52-41, defeating San Francisco attorney Lloyd Taylor.

Among the delegates who bolted the party were two of its nominees for the state Legislature, Toni Novak-Sutley in the Second Senatorial District, and Nancy V. Gunnin the Ninth Assembly District. Broshears said they will remain on the ballot because it is too late to strip them of their party designation, and because the party had no other candidates to replace them. Both live in Penngrove.

Broshears said the party "is no longer a party of the extreme left." It has shifted to "conservative libertarianism, but still dedicated to less statism, less welfare and abolition of all taxes," he said.

The fifth district includes Marin.

Tommy Sands Is Off Critical List

HONOLULU (UPI) — Tommy Sands, the idol of millions of teeny-boppers in the 1950s, has been taken off the critical list at Saint Francis Hospital after nearly dying of a kidney failure.

A hospital spokesman confirmed yesterday that Sands was in satisfactory condition after being attached to a kidney-dialysis machine for more than a week.

Reserve Bank Makes Plea For Turn-In Of Needed Pennies

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco has appealed to the public to turn in their spare pennies at any Bay Area bank participating in the penny campaign.

Persons who turn in $5 or more will receive a personalized citation from the federal mint in Denver, a spokesman for the bank said.

The appeal was issued by the reserve bank in response to a growing penny shortage.

Mint officials estimate that 30 billion pennies or more remain uncirculated because people find them a nuisance.

Ronald Getz, public information manager of the reserve bank, said another reason people are hoarding pennies is because of speculation earlier this year that the mint would abandon copper in the coining of pennies in favor of aluminum, which is cheaper.

Getz said the treasury has decided against the switch. He also said that it isn't profitable to hord pennies for their mineral value. Copper is now valued at 88 cents a pound.

In order to maintain the supply of pennies, the mint must coin 55 million more a day, mint officials report.

Officials also note that if just one billion pennies are recirculated, the taxpayers would save $10 million and if 15 billion pennies are recirculated, the mint would not have to coin pennies for almost two years, a savings of $150 million.

Good Business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Refuse recycling is becoming a profitable enterprise. The National Materials Conservation Symposium was told recently that profit motivation is displacing environmental altruism in waste disposal and recycling enterprises.

Pair Arrested For Car Bomb

BERKELEY (UPI) — Police arrested two men and disarmed a bomb found in a car that was stopped in a routine traffic check last night near the University of California campus.

University police said the bomb "was a fused device with explosive powder."

Arrested were Douglas S. Parker, 22, San Leandro, and Eugene Moore, 19, Alameda.

Both were booked for possession of an explosive device. Parker was also booked for drunken driving.

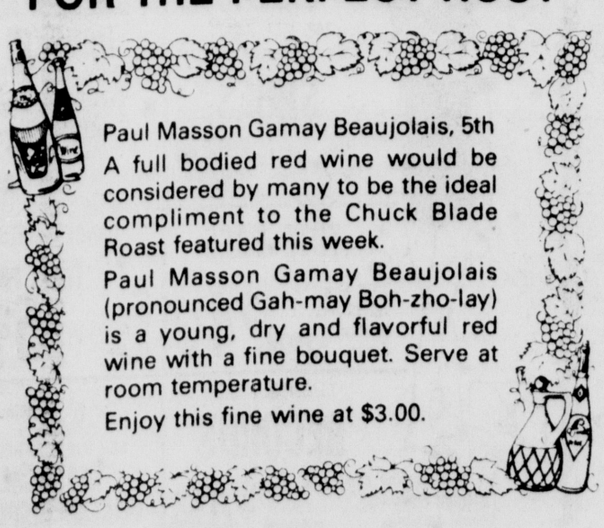
This Week's Suggestion

FOR THE PERFECT HOST



Paul Masson Gamay Beaujolais, 5th

A full bodied red wine would be considered by many to be the ideal compliment to the Chuck Blade Roast featured this week.

Paul Masson Gamay Beaujolais (pronounced Gah-may Boh-zho-lay) is a young, dry and flavorful red wine with a fine bouquet. Serve at room temperature.

Enjoy this fine wine at $3.00.

Idle Gas Stations Handy As Donut Shop Location

By FREDERIC HUNTER
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

SAN LUIS OBISPO — Whenever Don and Tommy McKenzie drive through this small college town, they stop at what is to them its one visitor attraction — their favorite donut shop.

Like the McKenzies, a large number of Americans have favorite donut places. In fact, they buy more than $1 billion worth of the pastries every year. These days, in other words, there is a lot more donuts than jelly.

Take Campus Donuts, for example, which is the McKenzies' favorite shop. Owner-manager Ron Wiseman, who married into the business, says the shop makes a gross profit of between $75,000 to $125,000 per year, "depending on the price of wheat and shortening." His net profit runs about 48 per cent of the gross. That means a tidy little income of $35,000 to $50,000 a year.

Americans consume millions of pounds of donuts every year — 628 million in 1972, according to the Census of Manufactures. Nonetheless, industry officials expect that they will be eating a good many more in the days ahead.

Kenneth Kuhn, vice-president in charge of development at Mister Donut, calls the industry "totally underdeveloped." With some 375 outlets in North America and more than 100 in Japan (where annual sales reach $22 million), Mister Donut is opening new American outlets at the rate of about one a week. Although most are franchise operations, some are company stores.

About once a month Mister Donut inaugurates a donut shop in premises that once housed a gas station. Such premises can be remodeled in about one-third the time it takes to build a donut shop.

Other chains are competing actively to dot the American landscape with retail donut outlets. Dunkin' Donuts, the largest with some 750 franchises in 36 states, Canada, England, and Japan and $135 million in annual sales, is heading west from its Boston area headquarters.

Winchell's Donut House, with 530 company-operated shops in 13 states, is moving east from the Los Angeles area. It has recently entered the Kansas City market. Winchell's claims to be No. 1 in profitability.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for DCA Food Industries, estimates that there are some 5,000 independent donut shops in America. Formerly Donut Corporation of America, DCA manufactures donut-making equipment including sugaring machines, glazing tanks, a machine that cuts and fries 24,000 donuts per hour, and another that lays rings of jelly inside holed donuts.

According to Kuhn, 30,000 people are needed to support a donut shop. He cites customer loyalty and high frequency of purchase as special features of the donut business. Regular customers patronize pizza parlors once a month, Kuhn says, and fried chicken outlets every 17 or 18 days. "But people may buy donuts twice a week," he notes, "maybe every other day."

"We'd like to be the MacDonald's of the morning," says Ross Roeder, president of Winchell's Donut House. He sees a continuing trend toward "grabbing food on the run."

"Most of our shops are in suburban areas," he explains, "where we can catch a man on his way to work and get him again when he comes home in the evening."

Donuts seem to be as old as leavened bread. Selling them "like hotcakes" is comparatively new. Nonetheless, in tomorrow's America donut shops seem likely to be as common as hotdog stands once were.

fault plans. That means motorists would collect under nofault, but still be permitted to go to court and seek more damages.

The two measures passed the Assembly last year and have languished since in the committee.

One (AB50) would allow motorists to go to court for extra damages only in the event of death, disfigurement, disability of more than 45 days or serious impairment of a bodily function.

Included was a mandatory 15 per cent reduction in the cost of personal injury coverage. Currently, that coverage amounts to about half the cost of an auto insurance policy.

It was authored by Assemblyman Jack R. Fenton, D-Montebello, and supported by insurance companies and Gov. Ronald Reagan. It was sent directly to the Senate floor on a 7-2 vote.

Prohibited under the bill would be the so-called "pain and suffering" suit for such injuries as a minor whiplash, which are so frequent in the courts now.

The other measure (AB801) provides for motorists to collect for medical bills and lost wages under no-fault, but contains no restriction on the right of someone to sue for further damage.

No mandatory premium was included. Motorists would be required to purchase personal injury insurance.

It was carried by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, and supported by the California Trial Lawyers Association.

It went to the finance committee on a 7-3 vote.

In the high-stakes struggle, insurance companies oppose the attorneys' bill and lawyers are against the insurance company proposal.

David B. Baum of San Francisco, president of the Trial Lawyers Association, complained the Fenton bill "is no compromise." He said attorneys were against any limits on the right to sue.

But American Insurance Association vice president W. V. Slevin of San Francisco argued that no-fault will not work in a bill such as Foran's where there were no restrictions on suits.

He said it would cost motorists 13 per cent more for personal injury coverage.

Neither bill would affect property damage in accidents. That would be handled as it is now, apart from no-fault.

Both place ceilings on nofault benefits.

Fenton's measure would allow up to $50,000 in medical expenses for each person. Another $5,000 would be provided for lost wages, up to $750 per month. Funeral expenses up to $1,000 would be included.

Foran's bill sets a $10,000 limit per person and a $20,000 limit per accident, including lost wages up to $1,000 a month. Funeral costs up to $2,000 would be covered.

Both measures would not apply to motorcyclists, who have said no-fault could effectively prohibit them from getting insurance because of the propensity of motorcycle riders to get seriously hurt in collisions.

CHARGES

sarily true."

Bennett was not available for comment this morning.

Crebassa said he wasn't sure how many firemen had taken tests for jobs in other departments, possibly three or four. He reported that both the district's captains had resigned, one for personal family reasons and the other because of disability.

"When you have the situation that we have here, primarily a training department because it is so small, the kids get disappointed when there aren't opportunities for advancement," Crebassa said.

The board hired two captains last night, both from outside the department. One is from Upland in Los Angeles County and the other, Ron Shafer, a former colleague of Bennett in the Alpine Fire Department in San Diego County.

A total of 56 persons applied for the posts, including three from the Tamalpais department.

Citizen objections last night also centered around a written contract for the chief. In the past, the chief had served "at the pleasure of the board" without a contract.

Residents took particular issue with a clause that would require the district board to give the chief 120 days notice before he could be fired. Directors voted last night to delete this clause from the proposed contract with the chief.

Also attacked was a portion of a proposed two-year contract with firemen under which the chief and captains receive a $100 monthly housing allowance and firemen $75.

Nicholas Wagner of the North Bay Public Employees Union Local 400, representing firemen, said the allowance should be equal for all personnel, since department policy encourages firemen to live within the district.

"If anything, the allowance should be the opposite, because officers have a higher salary, but this should be an equitable thing," Wagner said.

Board members voted 3-2, Modell and Oberg opposed, to keep the higher housing allowance for department officers.

The proposed agreement with firemen also calls for an 8.2 per cent salary increase for firemen beginning July 1 and cost-of-living raises through January 1976.

The proposal, the result of negotiations since April, must be ratified by the district board and firemen. Both are expected to vote on the contract next week.

PRICES

Department said.

The price index in July stood at 148.3 compared to 100 in the 1967 base year. This means that a market basket of retail goods and services that cost $10 seven years ago had risen in price to $14.83 last month.

Grocery prices dropped slightly in July in the San Francisco Bay Area. It was the first decline in nine months.

Government figures showed groceries which cost $10 in June could be bought for $9.96 last month, a dropof four-tenths of one per cent.

The index was still 12.9 per cent higher than a year ago.

The figures for the San Francisco-Oakland metropolitan area paralleled national trends.

There was a modest dose of good news in another Labor Department report which showed real spendable earnings —what an average blue-collar worker has left on his weekly paycheck after payroll deductions — rose 0.2 per cent from June. However, this figure was still down 5.3 per cent over the past year.

Organized labor has cited this figure as evidence that workers' pay has not kept pace with inflation.

Both the seasonally adjusted consumer price index and the unadjusted index rose 0.8 per cent in July.

Grocery prices usually go up in July, on a seasonally adjusted basis, but prices on many items went down instead. Fruits and vegetables were off more than 2 per cent and meats, poultry, fish and dairy goods were down about 1.5 per cent.

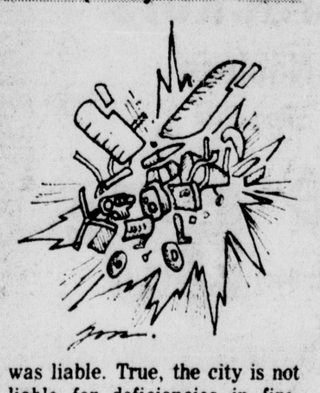
The total index for food bought for home use was off about 1 per cent but the cost of eating out at a restaurant rose last month by about the same amount.

Retail prices for nonfood commodities — a broad range of such items as shoes, gasoline and home furnishings — rose 1 per cent last month or 1.3 per cent seasonally adjusted. This figure usually drops somewhat in July.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Gas Storage Is Very Risky



Store gasoline for an emergency and you may be creating a public nuisance. If fire breaks out, there will be liability. Maybe evern strict liability!

This even applies to a city agency. A recent case involved a city run airport. An extra store of gasoline was kept on hand for use on city aircraft. Fire broke out. Explosions followed, greatly increasing the fire damage. Some airport shops and businesses were damaged. They sued the city for storing the gasoline. They said it created a "public nuisance," increased the dangers and loss to them.

The court agreed that the city was liable. True, the city is not liable for deficiencies in fire-fighting equipment. But the city is liable for dangerous conditions maintained on its properties.

The city should have known that storing the extra gasoline was a highly dangerous act. If fire broke out there is virtually no way to control a gasoline fire — a dangerous condition which the city could have prevented. It is liable just as any private property owner who creates a public nuisance.

It makes no difference that the actual cause of a fire may be from some other concurrent negligent source. A neighbor while welding sets off a fire that ignites your stored gasoline which explodes and destroys your other neighbor's house. You are liable for your own negligent act of storing gasoline. There may be a right to get contribution from the welder. However, there are two separate wrongful acts, each is the proximate cause of the injury.

In many cities, storing of gasoline may itself be illegal. It is a "public nuisance" if it creates a fire hazard. Just as allowing debris that is combustible to accummulate is a public nuisance, the storage of explosive chemicals or gasoline would be the same.

Storage of explosive substance may be deemed "ultra-hazardous." The very doing of the act makes the person strictly liable no matter how much care he undertakes in the storage. No matter what might have caused the damages from escape of the poisons or the explosion, the very fact that it happened, makes the person liable. He is strictly liable.

Accused Slayer Will Surrender

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (UPI) — Rudolph Acosta, the accused slayer of a 12-year-old newspaper delivery girl, has agreed to surrender, police said today.

Acosta's attorney, Gerald Sherman, also said his 24-year-old client has offered to pay for the girl's funeral and take care of the medical bills of the girl's father.

The girl was shot 15 times when she came to Acosta's residence to deliver his newspaper. Police said Acosta thought she might have been a hired assassin.

Inmate Found Dead

VACAVILLE (UPI) — Richard Young, 30, a San Francisco man serving a sentence for burglary, was found hanged in his cell late yesterday at the California state medical prison here.

Useful Litter

ASHDOWN, Ark. (UPI) — With the cost of commercial fertilizer increasing, farmers here are considering using chicken litter to meet the maintenance requirements of pastures and hay fields.

Bill Killed On Pornography

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — a senate committee has killed legislation legalizing pornography in California as long as it is kept from open public view and out of the hands of children.

"This represents a substantial social change in California and we really need to give it a lot more thought," argued Deputy Atty. Gen. Michael V. Franchietti.

After his testimony and the opposition of some citizen groups, the Senate Judiciary Committee deadlocked 6-6 on the bill (AB4221) yesterday, one vote short of approval.

Connally Resigns Bank Board Job

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has resigned as a director of First City National Bank of Houston and First City National Bank of Floresville, Tex., a spokesman for his law firm said.

Connally has been indicted by a federal grand jury in Washington on charges of acepting an illegal payoff, conspiring to obstruct justice and perjury in connection with government action in 1971 to raise milk price supports.

The former Texas governor pleaded innocent Aug. 9.

Power Outage

Approximately 4,600 customers were without electricity for about 30 minutes yesterday after failure of a conductor feeding electricity from San Rafael north to Las Gallinas. The conductor failed at 3:46 a.m. Service was restored by 4:33 p.m.

also on hand.

Many of those present, of all ages, indicated they preferred an election to the appointive route chosen by the council.

But several of the election backers said they changed their minds after Councilman Allen C. Stansbury told the council state law would make it impossible to hold the election until December, at the earliest, because 90 days must pass between the decision to hold the election and the polling day itself.

If the council chose an election, Stansbury argued, the city's business would grind to a halt every time one of the three current councilmen was absent from a meeting.

During the arguments last night, many residents joined in vigorously, although the bitterness and rancor which characterized council sessions a year ago was mostly absent. Then the issue was whether to hold an election to recall three youthful councilmen — Dunham and Laughlin and Annette Lombardi, the latter two being the ones who resigned this month.

That recall movement was itself rooted in earlier, bitter divisiveness generated when the three won election to the council, defeating three middle-aged incumbents, thus setting the stage for a continuing conflict within the city over hip and traditional lifestyles.

A few hours before yesterday's council session, Sonoma County Dist. Atty. John W. Hawkes announced that Laughlin and Miss Lombardi will be arraigned Thursday in Santa Rosa Municipal Court on charges of possessing marijuana and concealing evidence, both misdemeanors. Also to face charges is Vickie Flaherty, who was arrested with the two councilmen.

The marijuana plants were part of a sizeable crop harvested days before by city police at the Arthur Street home of planning commissioner Eve Kitchen and five other persons. Miss Kitchen also resigned her city post but later changed her mind.

So far six persons have applied for the vacant council positions, and residents are speculating whether the council will appoint young and relatively radical members whose views coincide with those of the two resigned councilmen or two moderates more like councilmen Stansbury and Harry E. Fassio.

The candidates to date include Terrence L. Collins, John Darragh and former councilman Frank Dolinsek, all of whom were involved in the unsuccessful recall campaign last year; Donna Piotrkowski, a planning commissioner and former College of Marin student body president; David Oliva, a sergeant in the San Anselmo Police Department and Jon Lyons. Little is known about Lyons. Backers of last year's recall report he is not known to them.

City Mgr. Robert A. Switzer has instructed city staff to divulge only the names of those who apply for the council seats. When asked by the Independent-Journal why routine information such as age, occupation and address was being withheld, he said his order was to insure that councilmen are informed of each new applicant before newsmen and the general citizenry.

"It's a bureaucratic thing," Switzer said. "I work for the council."

CAB Is Asked To Investigate Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has been asked to investigate whether its chairman violated agency rules by accepting an expense-paid golf weekend in Bermuda from a company named in a case pending before the CAB.

The request was filed yesterday by the Aviation Consumer Action Project, a Ralph Nader group. It also has asked CAB Chairman Robert Timm to disqualify himself.

OBITUARIES

Carolyn B. Freitas Rites Held

Private funeral was held today for Carolyn Boileau Freitas of San Rafael. Mrs. Freitas died Monday at her home.

She was the wife of Manuel T. Freitas, retired banker and dairyman and member of a pioneer Marin family.

Mrs. Freitas was born in Windsor, Sonoma County, and came to Marin as a teen-age girl. She was a homemaker for 40 years.

She is survived by her husband and a brother, Frank W. Boileau of San Rafael.

Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

HOBART JONES

Hobart Nelson Jones Sr. of Mill Valley died yesterday at a local hospital as a result of a fall at his home at 235 Del Casa Drive.

Jones, 44, was born in South Bend, Ind. He was reared in Aptos in Santa Cruz County and moved to San Francisco when he was 16.

A graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, Jones has been employed for many years as a sales representative for the Federal Envelope Co. in South San Francisco.

Jones was a former member of the San Francisco Press Club. He had been living in Mill Valley since 1961.

Jones is survived by three sons, Christopher, Mark and Hobart Nelson Jones Jr. and two daughters, Pamela and Karie, all of San Rafael, and his mother, Adeline M. Lang of Mill Valley.

Funeral services were today at Russell and Gooch Memorial Chapels and Gardens in Mill Valley. Inurnment will be private.

EDNA HENDERSON

Edna A. Henderson of San Rafael, 82, died yesterday in a local convalescent home after a long illness.

Mrs. Henderson was born in DeCliff, Ohio, and made her home in that state many years. She retired about 15 years ago after working as matron for the Dayton, Ohio, police department. Earlier she had worked in the city's parks service department.

Her husband died in 1943.

Mrs. Henderson moved to California after she retired, and had lived in Marin about 12 years.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church of San Rafael, the U.S. Navy Mothers and the Order of Eastern Star.

She is survived by three sons, Samuel A. Smith of San Rafael, Paul Smith of Texas and Joe Smith of San Diego; two sisters, Alice DeWine of Ohio and Rose Johnson of Pennsylvania, seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at the Williams and Heffernan Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Ithaca, Ohio.

TRAFFIC STOPPERS IN MILL VALLEY

These young ladies riding tall in the saddle caught Independent-Journal photographer Ty Barbour's (and everyone else's) eye yesterday on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley. Said Barbour: "Something about the way they were coming down the street, side by side, reminded me of the bad guys coming into town in a Western movie." Enjoying the ride through town are (from the left) "bad guys" Kathy Dwyer of Mill Valley, Liz Trotter of Muir Beach, Tess Felix of Mill Valley and Christine Nassikas of Muir Beach.

Supervisors Pay Boat Ramp Bill

Marin County supervisors yesterday paid a $1,050 bill for engineering design of enlargement of the boat launching ramp under the Petaluma River bridge in Black Point. At the same time Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini announced he'd just learned that the state Wildlife Conservation Commission yesterday approved a $105,000 grant to build the project. (Another supervisors' story, page 1.)

Marin parks and recreation officials have been working for more than a year to enlarge the free launching facility, which is heavily used by Marin small boat owners.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

APOLOGY — Acting Chairman Robert A. Roumiguiere read a letter from Supervisor Peter R. Arigoni Jr. extending a public apology to Betty Machado, Novato Unified School District trustee, for remarks he made last week in debate over financing of a swimming pool at Indian Valley Colleges. Mrs. Machado said, "I wish to accept the apology — it takes a big person in today's society to take the time to write such an apology."

TRIP — Heard a message from Arrigoni and Chairman Michael Wornum, who are in Washington, D.C., on national park and open space matters, that the county's campaign for addition of Inverness Ridge to the Point Reyes National Seashore was going well, but that proposed addition of Wolfback Ridge lands to Golden Gate National Recreation Area holdings near Sausalito was not so favorably received.

AUDITORIUM — Approved, without comment, a settlement of about $4,700 on the county's suit against Marin Open House and Sausalito resident Fred Mayer over damages done during a rock concert benefit at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building in November 1971. Original damage estimates ranged from $9,000 to $19,000 but wear and tear since the concert would make the damage hard to point out to a jury if the trial proceeds as scheduled in September, the county counsel advised.

THRIFTY GARDEN — Approved an agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District under which the district will build a $14,000 garden at the civic center to demonstrate to the public how to use landscaping plants with the greatest water economy. The county will maintain the display.

CONTRACTS — Awarded a $31,695 contract to Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera for a slide repair job in Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Inverness; a $61,977 contract to Soil Engineering Construction Co. of San Carlos for slide repairs of Ridgecrest and Briar roads, Kentfield, a $27,677 contract to Alan Barreca for building a bike path and pedestrian bridge on Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley.

ELECTIONS — Approved a request from the City of San Rafael to consolidate city elections on annexations of Knockaboul Way and Country Club and the preservation of the Dollar Estate. Also approved for consolidation on the Nov. 5 ballot is a Novato city measure propsoing a $3 million open space bond issue.

WAGES — Postponed to next Tuesday, action on Roumiguiere's proposal that the board establish an "industry-county compensation committee" to compare wages of county employees with comparable jobs in industry and to advise the board on negotiations.

Steps Taken To Improve County Fire Protection

Steps to improve firefighting protection for the unincorporated fringes of San Rafael were taken yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors and neighborhood homeowner groups.

The action responded to demands by the San Rafael City Council that the county improve its firefighting capability in the neighborhoods or the city firemen will be forbidden to go outside city limits on mutual aid calls.

The supervisors adopted a resolution putting the proposed formation of County Service Area 19 on the Nov. 5 ballot. Supervisors Robert A. Roumiguiere and Gary T. Giacomini will write a supporting argument by next Tuesday, for the ballot.

Last night, a dozen spokesmen for unincorporated area homeowner groups met with Roumiguiere in the civic center.

They organized a campaign committee for the ballot measure, with Mick Cummins of the Northbridge Marinites as chairman.

The proposed service area is planned to fight structural fires in Santa Venetia, Rafael Meadows, Bayside Acres, Country Club, Sun Valley, California Park and Bret Harte.

The homeowner group members approved final wording of a letter that will go to the unincorporated area voters next month.

It will outline the proposal to build a new fire station atop Puerto Suello Hill near Highway 101. The station will house two fire trucks and three county firemen.

Estimated cost of the station and equipment is $185,000 and the operating costs will be about $200,000 a year, county officials said.

The county's structural fire protection tax for areas not served by any local fire district is now 47 cents per $100 assessed valuation. In the proposed county service area, the voters will be asked to approve a maximum rate of 71 cents.

Last night's homeowner meeting was the result of a series of earlier sessions at which eight different plans to create one or more special areas were debated.

The special service area plan was hotly criticized by Country Club resident Jane Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court. She told the supervisors meeting yesterday the ballot proposal is "utterly irresponsible" because it deals only with trucks and men but doesn't solve some neighborhoods' need for more fire hydrants or larger water mains.

County Fire Chief Richard D. Pedroli later said that some areas need new fire hydrants — at a cost of $1,000 each — or larger mains. Roumiguiere argued that it would be unfair to tax the entire service area's property owners for the hydrants and water needs of some, small neighborhoods.

Mrs. Levinsohn, who is campaigning for annexation of the Country Club area to the city, accused the supervisors of "giving false information and false security" to the public. Annexation is on the Nov. ballot.

"Do you want us to perform an idle act" by letting San Rafael cut off mutual aid, Supervisor Giacomini asked Mrs. Levinsohn.

Intertie's Cost Is Up $10 Million

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors have learned that the Russian River-Cotati intertie aqueduct will cost $10 million more than originally estimated.

Richard Norton, assistant chief engineer for the Sonoma Water Agency, said delays and inflation have pushed the cost up to more than $30 million, a 50 per cent increase over the $20 million estimate of a year ago.

The aqueduct, which is to supply water to Southern Sonoma and Northern Marin counties, was first planned in 1969 as a 140 million gallon per day pipeline.

After Marin environmentalists mounted stiff opposition to the project in 1971, he said, it was revised into a 60 million gallon per day pipeline.

Norton said the bulk of the price increases came from higher steel costs. Most of the pipeline and its storage tanks are to be built of the metal.

The project was delayed last fall by a request from Petaluma to revise its carrying capacity.

Petaluma asked that its allocation of about 9 million gallons per day be doubled because a federal judge had ruled that the city could not restrict population growth by curtailing the water supply.

The project, revised to meet Petaluma's needs, is now scheduled for completion in 1977.

The supervisors this week also heard Sheriff Donald Striepeke recommend that deputies serving in the coroners office be rotated periodically to other duties so they will not be frozen into place without chance for promotions. The coroner's office was combined with the sheriff's department six months ago.

Fairfax Budget Cut By Another $7,541

The Fairfax Town Council, in a nearly four-hour session, last night sliced another $7,541 from the proposed budget for 1974-75.

The council postponed a decision to hire a full-time or part-time recreation director until the next budget session Friday.

It cut the $7,541 from the parks department budget, including $6,554 salary for a proposed additional employee and planned to ask the county to fund the additional person through the Federal Public Employee Act program instead.

The council also cut $376 from the parks department supplies request, with Mayor Frank J. Egger dashing to a town hall telephone to arrange a donation of 24 tons of sand at a $300 saving to the town.

The council hopes to further slash the proposed budget figure of $722,291 this week in an attempt to wipe out a $19,884 deficit, Egger said.

A hitch developed in the budget considerations when town treasurer Pamela Schotte announced that county figures received late yesterday showed assessed valuation of Fairfax property at about $20 million, about a 5 per cent increase over last year.

"We thought it would be $24 million. The county said last May there would be a 20 per cent increase," Egger said. "I hope the figures are wrong."

If correct, the new figures would decrease the town's revenues about $40,000 from estimates, he said.

The council postponed further budget deliberations until assessment revenue figures are checked with the county assessor's office.

The councilmen split on a proposal to hire a full-time recreation director.

"It happens every year; we chop and slice the recreation budget. We can do more for the people of Fairfax with a full-time recreation director than another full-time policeman," Councilman Randall L. Garrison said.

Councilman Albert E. Gately suggested hiring a part-time director who would work full-time in the summer.

The council will again consider the recreation department budget at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Town Hall.

Novato Schools Set Registration

Novato Unified School District will conduct elementary school registration at all elementary schools from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Parents who are new to Novato or have moved to a different attendance area should register their children at the school nearest home, according to publications director Annette Conklin.

Parents should bring proof of birth and immunization records. To be eligible for kindergarten a child must reach the age of 5 by Dec. 2.

To enroll junior or senior high school students new to the district, parents should telephone the school nearest home for a registration appointment.

Schools open Sept. 10 and enrollment is expected to reach 10,645.

Well Report In Cotati Is Put Off

The Cotati City Council last night put off declaring that there would be no significant effect on the environment from construction of the new water system which will be built if voters approve a $1.8 million bond issue Nov. 5. (Another Cotati City Council story, page 1).

Planning commissioners Adrienne Swenson and John Norton asked the council if it was sure the proposed well improvement program included in the bond measure would not adversely affect area well owners.

City Mgr. Robert A. Switzer replied that much of Cotati's data on the subject came from nearby Rohnert Park, which recently won a suit brought by private wellowners who claimed the city's wells were causing their own to run dry.

Although the council indicated it believed Rohnert Park's evidence was probably conclusive since it held up in court, it deferred its declaration on the environmental impact until Sept. 2. In the meantime, Cotati officals will double check all available studies on water tables in the area.

The Cotati City Council also:

DELEGATE — Delayed appointing a delegate to the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission's city-county policy committee pending appointment of two new councilmen.

BANKS — Authorized staff to deposit city funds in either the Rohnert Park Bank of America or the Crocker or Exchange banks in Cotati, with special preference for banks which help the city sell bonds and obtain other financial assistance.

AMBULANCE — Issued a temporary (60-day) operations permit to the Pioneer Ambulance Co., which will be eligible for a regular permit after completion of rate negotiations with the city and after its office site is rezoned to allow commercial use.

SIGN — Denied an appeal of a planning commission decision to reject a sign proposed for the Rancho Cotate Theater.

Chavez In Hospital After Latest Fast

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Farm labor leader Cesar Chavez was hospitalized today after fasting for two weeks.

Dr. Jerome Lackner said the 47-year-old head of the United Farm Workers Union had fasted and was suffering from fatigue as well as a recurring back problem.

Squaw Valley Firm Goes Under

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — The parent firm of the company that bought the state's holdings in Squaw Valley has placed itself in receivership and halted renovation work at the resort, site of the 1960 Winter Olympics.

Mainline Properties of America bought the state's holdings last February for $2.5 million. The parent company, Mainline Corporation Ltd., of Sydney, Australia, went into receivership yesterday.

John R. Poimitroo, public relations official for Mainline, said the corporation's problems were caused by "astronomical inflation in Australia."

He said that Mainline has not defaulted on any payments to creditors.

Four Kangaroos Killed By Dogs

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Four kangaroos were killed yesterday when a pack of stray dogs invaded the St. Louis Zoo in Forest Park shortly after the gates opened.

Zoo director Robert Briggs said the dogs entered the gate and went for the throats of the Australian animals. Three were killed outright and a fourth died later after being seriously mauled.

Two of the animals killed were pregnant females.

Food Supply Terms Are Cleared Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When the Agriculture Department says rice supplies will be fully adequate, almonds more than adequate and dry bean stocks ample, it doesn't mean to put all those supply situations in the same class, officials explained today.

The explanation came after newsmen were puzzled by a food supply report filled with terms like "adequate ... more than adequate ... fully adequate ... ample ... generally adequate ... heavy ... abundant ... plentiful ... tight."

Is an "ample" supply heavier than a "more than adequate" stock? they asked. Does "fully adequate" mean more or less than plentiful?

A spokesman for the Agricultural Marketing Service replied that the agency's monthly Food Marketing Alert used the following bottom-to-top ranking for the supply status of individual items:

1 — Tight. 2 — Generally adequate. 3—Adequate (which means there are no shortages). 4—Fully adequate (which is a little better than plain adequate). 5—More than adequate. 6 — Ample. 7 — Heavy. 8 — Abundant or plentiful which can be used interchangably.

HENRY A. KISSINGER
Addresses American Legion

Kissinger Views U.S. Cyprus Role

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Declaring that "we cannot be the world's policeman," Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said last night the United States will not be pressured into any military intervention in Cyprus.

"We will not yield to pressure but we will always listen to reason," Kissinger told the American Legion convention. "We will act on foreign policy as trustees of the future, conscious that we will be judged on how well we built an enduring peace and not how often we bowed to the emotional demands of the moment.

"Our attitude will be that we cannot be the world's policeman."

Applauded 14 times during his speech, and given a brief standing ovation at the end, Kissinger told the legionnaires that America must remain a military power "second to none.

"America's military might is the foundation of our diplomatic strength," he said. "By demonstrating that there is no alternative to negotiation, it is the precondition of our policy of relaxing tensions with our adversaries."

Kissinger apparently was unaware that about two dozen Greek sympathizers joined about 150 Cuban refugees in a peaceful demonstration outside the Fountainbleau Hotel where he spoke. The demonstrators were kept across the wide Collins Avenue thoroughfare in front of the hotel.

Younger Is Under Fire By Norris

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — William Norris, Democratic nominee for attorney general, yesterday proposed the state establish a commission to appoint special prosecutors when conflict of interests arise in the attorney general's office.

Norris told newsmen the basis for the commission was the "dereliction and non-performance of duty" by Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger, a Republican seeking a second term.

Norris cited three cases in which Younger — as attorney general and earlier as Los Angeles County Dist. Atty. — had a "direct personal or professional interest in the outcome of the cases and failed to take appropriate action, or any action at all, against those involved."

The cases, according to Norris, involved indicated financier C. Arnholt Smith, indicted oilman Jack Burke and the case involving the "victimization" of newsman William Farr.

In the cases of Smith, former president of the bankrupt U.S. National Bank, and Burke, former head of Geotek Resources Fund, Norris said there was "ample ground for Younger to act, but he turned his back on both cases and let the federal government do his job for him."

He said "both Smith and Burke were heavy contributors to Younger's campaign for attorney general."

The proposed Commission on Conflicts of Interest would be composed of the governor, the speaker of the Assembly and president pro tem of the Senate.

House Candidate Killed In Crash

CHATTANOOGA (UPI) — Mort Lloyd, a candidate for Congress, was killed in the crash of a private plane yesterday.

Lloyd, a veteran broadcaster who won the Democratic primary Aug. 1, was piloting a single-engine 180 Swift near Winchester, Tenn.

"The damn engine just fell out of it," Franklin County Sheriff David Braswell said.

Film Star Ilona Massey Dies At 62

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ilona Massey, a popular film star and singer, died yesterday at Bethesda Naval Hospital after a three month illness. She was 62.

Miss Massey starred in the film "New Wine," in which she used her singing talents in the role of composer Franz Shubert's sweetheart. Later, she costarred with the Marx Brothers in the 1949 film "Love Happy."

A native of Hungary, Miss Massey got her first big break in 1929 when she costarred with Nelson Eddy in "Balalaikia."

She had lived in the Washington area since 1955, when she married her forth husband, retired Air Force Gen. Donald S. Dawson.

Miss Massey was active in demonstrations protesting the 1956 Soviet intervention in Hungary. She also worked for Hungarian refugee relief organizations.

A memorial service will be held here.

Officer Charged In Bomb Hoax

HAYWARD (UPI) — A reserve policeman has been charged with planting a bomb in the police station and then reporting it in an attempt to better his chances of becoming a regular officer.

Municipal Court Judge Robert Byers yesterday set $3,500 bail for Robert Woolum, 26.

Officers said Woolum went into a bathroom in the station Sunday night and said he found a bomb but defused it. Police said a nine-inch pipe bomb was found in the bathroom.

Police Lt. Peter Quevedo said Woolum admitted under questioning that he planted the bomb because he thought it would help him when the police examinations are held Saturday.

To Hike Fares

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan Air Lines, Japan's national flag carrier, said today it will raise its international air fares beginning Sept. 15 because of rising fuel costs.

THE TOMATO IS CHICKEN

Alfred De Martini of San Rafael admires a tomato which bears a striking resemblance to a baby chick, even down to a tiny beak. De Martini, an avid gardener, grew the strange-looking vegetable, though not intentionally. His wife, Ann, temporarily is storing the tomato in the refrigerator to show to friends as a kind of "conversation piece."

Bill Would Give GIs More Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today approved a compromise education package for Vietnam era veterans, including the biggest increase in benefits since the end of World War II.

The bill, approved by voice vote, was sent to the House for final congressional approval. There was no indication whether President Ford would sign it.

The legislation, worked out by Senate-House negotiators, would increase GI Bill benefits by 22.7 per cent.

In the case of a single veteran, the bill would increase monthly benefits from $220 to $270 a month.

Veterans would also become eligible for loans of $1,000 a year to help pay educational costs. The funds would be drawn on the National Life Insurance Trust Fund with the Veterans Administration setting the interest rate.

The bill also extends the time a veteran is eligible for monthly benefits from 36 to 45 months.

Ford Tells Blacks About His Plan To Create Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford told black House members today he is considering a public service employment program to fight unemployment of blacks in major cities, a leader of the group said.

Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., head of the Black Caucus, told reporters the House members were "pleased" that Ford "recognizes that our concerns are his concerns."

Ford met with the House members in a friendly and conciliatory gesture aimed at improving relations between the executive branch and the black lawmakers. The caucus was at odds with former President Nixon and all but one of them voted against Ford's nomination to be vice president last year.

Rangel said that Ford "made it very clear he is considering some kind public of service employment." The President said the country need a "strong defense posture" but also said I can assure you that the defense budget is not sacrosanct," Rangel said.

With his choice of Nelson A. Rockefeller to be vice president out of the way, Ford kept a heavy schedule. He attended the memorial services for slain ambassador Rodger P. Davies and later was to sign the $25 billion education act which includes stiff antibusing provisions.

"The President has advised us that not only is his door open to us but more importantly that each of us can call him," said Rangel.

Rep. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., was more cautious in her characterization of the meeting. "The nature of the meeting today was let's talk to each other. That, we did," she said.

Rangel said the group left Ford a document listing their long term concerns. He said it was not a "shopping list" but covered a range of subjects including minority housing, economic development, inclusion of Africa in a meaningful way in foreign policy, the military budget, health, narcotics, crime, voting rights, improving the status of all minorities including black women, amnesty and transportation.

The black caucus also was expected to express its praise for Ford's intention to get legislation repealed that allows the United States to import Rhodesian chrome despite U.N. Security Council economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

Ford was able to concentrate on his general duties as President after picking former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as his vice presidential choice.

Rockefeller, who made three unsuccessful bids for president on the Republican ticket himself, told reporters that he gained the impression that Ford "has every intention" of running for a full four-year term after he fulfills the remainder of former President Nixon's tenure.

Rockefeller said that Ford "talked about himself" but not what he wants to do regarding a running mate in 1976.

White House news secretary J. F. terHorst told reporters he could give them "no guidance" on Ford's future political plans.

U.N. Forces Refuse To Leave Famagusta

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

United Nations peacekeeping troops on Cyprus today ignored a Turkish order to get out of the port of Famagusta and patroled the deserted streets of the strategic east coast port Turkey captured last week.

A U.N. spokesman said a request by U.N. authorities for clarification of the Turkish demand to quit the port had gone unanswered at 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EDT), nearly 24 hours after it was sent. He said Swedish U.N. troops are still there.

The Turkish order recalled one last month for U.N. forces to get out of the north coast port of Kyrenia. The U.N. troops refused to leave so the Turks, vastly outnumbering them, simply confined them to their camps. Then the Turks launched a series of attacks to enlarge their north coast beachhead.

The U.N. has whittled away its own presence in other parts of Turkish-controled Cyprus since the outbreak of the Turkish offensive last week. The U.N. post at the Dome Hotel in Kyrenia, guarding Greek Cypriot refugees, was withdrawn along with the bulk of U.N. troops in the village of Bellapais.

Asked to define U.N. policy on the withdrawal of its forces from Turkish controlled areas, the spokesman said some troops had been pulled out of "operational areas" where heavy fighting was going on.

The U.N. force was put on the island 10 years ago to stop small-scale fighting among Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots but has neither the manpower nor the mission to stop the modern army Turkey put on the island a month ago.

"Our headquarters is concerned about the looting of food stores on the Green Line in Nicosia," the spokesman said. "We are negotiating with the Turkish Cypriots for an end to this practice."

He declined to give details of where the looting had taken place or whether both sides were involved. The Green Line divides the Greek and Turkish communities in the Cypriot capital.

The island was generally calm today though UPI correspondent John Lawton reported some firing across the United Nations "Green Line" dividing the Greek and Turkish quarters of Nicosia, the capital city.

Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Denktash said he told acting Cypriot President Glafkos Clerides through the U.N. that he was willing to discuss day to day problems but a permanent solution depended on larger negotiations including Greece and Turkey.

American diplomat L. Dean Brown moved on his 54th birthday today into the bullet-scarred Nicosia office of slain U.S. Ambassador Rodger P. Davies.

Man Survives 152-Foot Plunge

DETROIT (UPI) — A man who said he jumped from Ambassador Bridge into the Detroit River — a fall of 152 feet — was released yesterday from General Hospital.

Police said the man, Patrick Bolger, 24, of Windsor, Ont., apparently was the first person to survive the leap in a decade.

Some officers doubted if he jumped at all, however.

"Jumping from the bridge is like taking a jump from the 15th story of an office building. The impact will break every bone in your body," said a sergeant.

Korean Protest

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — About 200 demonstrators stormed the shuttered Japanese Embassy today and tore the embassy sign from the building. They were protesting Tokyo's disclaimers of moral or legal responsibility for the attempted assassination of President Chung Hee Park.

Tam High Trustees Will Meet Parents

Tamalpais High School District officials will meet with parents from the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Bolinas School to discuss student transportation to Tamalpais High School.

Trustees Bette Wallace and Lotte Schiller and district business director Frank Cassou will appear at the meeting.

In past years, the Marin City Transportation Co., a private firm provided service to the coastal towns before and after school. But it will only provide service to and from Marin City this year.

The Marin County Transit District presently operates a commute bus between the area and San Francisco but students using it would have to leave about 6:45 a.m. and would not return home until about 6:30 p.m. West Marin families have compalined that these hours work a hardship.

Mrs. Wallace said the district is negotiating with the transit district to add another bus to its schedule which would leave the high school shortly after final classes in the afternoon.

Students riding transit district buses would pay 25 cents each way. Last year, students paid 15 cents each way but some "hardship cases" rode free, according to Edward J. Neumeier, district administrative assistant. He said that policy would not be changed.

System Beat

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Two married teachers found a way to improve their financial situation. One of them, alternating each month, becomes "sick" for about 10 days and the other replaces him or her in addition to his regular work, getting paid for extra work, the Belgrade "Vecer je Novosit" Evening News reported.

Site Plans For Buildings Approved

The Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee last night approved preliminary site plans for two-story office buildings to be built by the Broughton and Horne construction firm at 300 Miller Avenue by John Warsen Construction Co. at 275 Miller Avenue, and by the Ham Construction Co. at 329 Miller Avenue, according to Robert J. Hanna, associate planner.

The committee still has to approve landscaping plans at the sites. The committee next meets at 8 p.m. Sept. 4 in city council chambers.

Wash Basins Are Becoming Popular

CHICAGO (UPI) — Single and double bowl vanity wash basins are becoming increasingly popular installed in the bedroom, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling information bureau reports.

The bureau said the bedroom basin is a trend back to great grandmother's china bowl and water pitcher.

Novato Willing To Join Study, But Wants To Examine Cost

The City of Novato is willing to go its share of a study of the coming traffic problem at Indian Valley Colleges, but not as proposed by Marin County.

The city council last night voted to explore such a study's cost, which it would share with Marin County, Marin County Transit District and Marin Community College District.

Ray W. Foreaker Jr., Marin County Director of public works, wrote that the study proposed by the college district would cost $25,000 to $30,000. Foreaker estimated that a college of 5,000 students would generate traffic by 8,000 cars per day.

Councilman Fred F. Ruegg objected to the high cost of the proposed study and said it could be done for half that cost or less.

The Novato City Council also:

LEASE — Leased the Carlisle house to Landmark Associates, William Kelly and Paul Frank, for $1 a year for 25 years if the company makes approximately $30,000 in repairs to the house. It voted to write the chamber of commerce suggesting that it locate its offices in the refurbished house.

MOTORCYCLE — Authorized spending $1,500 out of undistributed reserve for a motorcycle for the police department to patrol the open space in the city.

ELECTION — Passed an ordinance calling for a $3 million bond issue for open space on the Nov. 5 election and passed a resolution designating Wilson, Jones, Morton and Lynch of San Mateo as bond counsels.

BIDS — Authorized the staff to call for bids, time not set, to repair cuts in the sidewalks and streets of Bahia Unit 1 B.

SIGN — Approved removal of a stop sign on Elena Court at San Luis Drive.

DEBRA — Passed an ordinance approving final plans for a subdivision of 21 lots on 11 acres at the northwest corner of Seventh Street and Marion Avenue for Debra homes.

DRAINAGE — Accepted as completed the drainage project at Sherman and De Long avenues and the tennis courts at Pioneer Memorial Park.

PRE-HISTORY — Approved the quarterly payment of $500 to the Novato pre-history museum.

BIDS — Rejected all three bids received on improvements to Fifth Street between Olive and Grant avenues. The lowest bid was more than 50 per cent more than the engineer's estimate of $8,140.

SALARIES — Went into closed meeting to discuss executive salaries, though the Ralph M. Brown Act makes no provision for a closed meeting on such a matter.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m., next Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

Ed Reinecke Should Quit — Harmer

Sen. John L. Harmer of Glendale, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, yesterday said that if he were Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, he would resign.

Incumbent Reinecke was convicted last month on federal perjury charges, but has refused to quit pending his appeal.

If Reinecke's conviction is upheld in court action expected by the end of this month, Gov. Ronald Reagan is expected to offer to appoint Harmer to the vacancy.

The senator, visiting the Independent-Journal in a campaign swing through the North Bay, added that he was "not offended" at Reinecke's failure to resign. Harmer, Reinecke's attorney a decade ago, argued Reinecke should quit because "the erosion of his dignity is now getting too severe."

Harmer said he was undecided whether he would accept appointment to replace Reinecke. It would help to run in November as an incumbent, he said. Voters who object it would give him an unfair advantage "won't vote for me anyway," he said.

The legislator recalled that he originally expected to be Reinecke's running mate in November. Reinecke's troubles with the law, however, cost him his race in June for the GOP nomination for governor.

Harmer said his major campaign problem is raising money, pointing out that he is so short of funds that he had to drop his entire professional staff of eight persons.

His original budget for the November race was $700,000, but has been trimmed to $350,000 he reported. He said he spent about $120,000 in the primary campaign.

Contributions to GOP candidates had been almost nil until President Nixon's resignation, Harmer said, but in the past two weeks have shown "a definite upturn." He added that he has up to 5,000 volunteers "ready to go."

His Democratic opponent, Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, is running an even more modest campaign in the hope of coasting into office on the coattails of the Democratic candidate for governor, according to Harmer.

The senator, questioned about the need for the present full-time Legislature, favored making it part time again. "We over-legislate the state now — we overgovern," he said.

Harmer's Marin volunteers are working out of Republican Party headquarters in San Rafael. A Petaluma office will open soon.

The 40-year-old senator has served in the upper house since 1966. His present four-year term expires in 1976, thus he can retain his seat if defeated for lieutenant governor — unless he leaves the Legislature to accept an appointment to fill Reinecke's seat.

Harmer ran unsuccessfully for attorney general in 1970, losing the nomination to Evelle J. Younger.

What's in store

August is Sandwich Month

With hot weather and relaxing summer days, what better time to create a beautiful sandwich supper. There are such delightful items at the delicatessen cases in the markets today for the makings. Cheeses, meats and fish items from all across our nation and around the world are just waiting there to be done up into something special. Variety breads at the bakery department and fresh vegetables or fruits add a flourish to make sandwich creating fun.

The National Sandwich Idea Contest was held recently and some of the winning recipes are interesting. Here is one from New York .

Big Frank Ruben
6 Sandwiches

- 12 slices enriched Jewish rye bread
- butter, softened
- 6 frankfurters
- 1 cup sauerkraut, well drained
- 6 slices (1 oz. each) Swiss Cheese
- 1/3 cup Thousand Island Dressing

Toast and butter bread. Split frankfurters in half lengthwise and place on 6 slices of rye toast, split side up. Top each frank with about 1 tablespoon dressing, 2 tablespoons sauerkraut and one slice cheese. Close sandwiches with remaining toast slices. Wrap in foil. Heat in preheated 350° oven, 20 minutes or until cheese is melted.

Another from New Mexico . . .

El Matador
6 Sandwiches

- 6 enriched long soft French rolls, split
- ½ cup refried beans
- 3 med. canned Jalapena peppers, sliced
- 2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
- 6 ounces shaved ham
- 6 ounces shaved pastrami
- 3 cups shredded lettuce
- 12 slices tomato

For each bottom half of roll, spread equal amount of beans, Jalapena slices, about 2 tablespoons cheese and equal amounts of ham. Divide pastrami equally on top half of bun. Sprinkle about 2 tablespoons cheese over pastrami for each sandwich. Broil both halves until cheese is melted. Remove from broiler. Divide lettuce equally and place 2 slices tomato on each sandwich. Close. Secure with toothpicks. Cut in half to serve.

An Inmate's 'Hour Hour' Comes To End

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UPI) — The law — Newton's, that is — caught up with two young men who tried to feed a buddy liquor and wine through a 55-inch rubber hose stuck into a jailhouse window.

Gravity and the police broke up the party yesterday.

Authorities at the Bridgeport Correctional Center said they found Joseph P. Mauro, 16, and Albert S. Rodriguez, 26, outside a first-floor window on the east wing of the facility, standing next to a jug of wine and a bottle of liquor.

Protruding through the window was the rubber hose, through which an inmate inside the jail was trying to suck up the liquids.

Warden Jose Santos said the unnamed inmate would have needed "a lot of suction" to get any of the booze.

House Votes Standard Time

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Monday, 383 to 16, to put the nation back on standard time this November through February, 1975. The bill now goes to the Senate, where approval is regarded as certain.

It would suspend the provision of the 1973 Emergency Energy Act that ordered year-round Daylight Saving Time to conserve energy.

127 Women Eligible For Patrol Jobs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Highway Patrol announced today that 127 women are eligible to become the patrol's first female officers.

Only 40 of the eligible women will be selected to undergo training at the CHP Academy. The process used to choose from the 1,458 applicants was "one of the most rigorous ever conducted," said commissioner Walter Pudinski.

The CHP designed a special test using a 70-pound bag of sand to judge the applicants' physical ability. The women wrestled and carried the bag.

A CHP spokesman said the women did not have the advantage of men applicants in being able to practice for the test because it was new.

"Some of the women were absolutely beat into the floor," he said.

The test was developed because state physical therapists advised the CHP women could not be judged by the same test as men, whose test includes situps and pushups.

The women took the same mental exams, he said.

The admission of women to the patrol is part of a two-year study.

Tuna Fishermen Suing Canners

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Western Fishboat Owners Association and four tuna boat owners filed suit in federal court today accusing five major tuna fish canners of violating antitrust laws.

The class action by the 600-member association, headquartered in San Diego, claims the firms conspired to unreasonably restrain trade and monopolized purchase of tuna.

Named as defendants were Castle & Cooke Inc., which packs albacore or tuna under the Bumble Bee label; Westgate-California Foods, which uses Breast of Chicken, Carnation, Priority and Peacock labels; Star-Kist Foods and H.J. Heinz, its parent corporation, and Ralston Purina Inc., which owns Van Camp Seafoods and markets tuna under Chicken-of-the-Sea labels.

The suit asks for treble damages to be determined by the court.

The association members have an average yearly catch of 20,000 to 25,000 tons of albacore, which is 20 per cent of the annual worldwide catch. They bring in about 65 to 70 per cent of the tuna caught off the North American Coast.

The defendants buy at least 95 per cent of the yearly catch of albacore and provide almost the sole market for fish caught off the West Coast, the suit said.

The suit claims the defendants engaged in "extensive and continuing series of acquisitions and consolidations with actual or potential competitors" and said this gave them a monopoly in buying tuna on the West Coast for processing and marketing.

McCarthy Gives Up Seat On Committee

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Leo T. McCarthy relinquished his membership on the Transportation Committee today, naming Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, to replace him.

Ralph, a black who cast a key vote for McCarthy in the recent speakership fight, also is chairman of the Assembly Rules Committee.

Ford Leads Tributes To Davies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford led the nation's tribute today to Rodger P. Davies, the ambassador to Cyprus who was killed Monday by gunfire in the U.S. Embassy in Nicosia.

The White House said Ford would to attend a memorial service for Davies at Andrews Air Force Base just outside Washington at 11:30 a.m. EDT, when an Air Force jet arrives with Davies' body. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger also was scheduled to attend.

The slain ambassador was to receive a 19-gun salute and prayers offered by a Washington Episcopalian priest.

The Air Force jet, after refueling here, was to fly to San Francisco. Davies will be buried in Berkeley, where he lived.

The plane left Beirut late yesterday with Davies' two children aboard. Anna, 20, and John, 15, accompanied by U.S. ambassador George McMurtrie Godley and a Lebanese official, were waiting at Beirut airport when the plane arrived from the British Akrotiri air force base in Cyprus.

Anna is a student at Mills College in Oakland and John is a high school student. They were taken from Cyprus July 23 to the the USS Coronado. They have been staying with friends in Beirut since. Their mother died last year of cancer. Davies is also survived by his mother Kitty Davies of Placerville.

Mime Pair To Perform At College

Mimes Robert Shields and Lorene Yarnell will be among featured performers in Sonoma State College's fall semester performing arts season.

More than 35 evening performances and many noon events are planned this year, according to a college spokesman.

Other guest artists will include the Ermeler Duo and soprano Gwen Curatilo, tenor James Schwabacher, composer Jean Simpson and pianist Stewart Rabinowitsh.

Dramatic productions will include Tennessee Williams' "A Street Car Named Desire" and "El Jahi Malik", a play with dance and music directed by Ada Hall of the Ethnic Studies Department.

The children's opera, "Beauty and the Beast," will be presented in November.

Dance programs will include a recital by faculty members Kelly Holt and Nancy Lyons and African dancing.

The fifth annual Redwood Empire Stage Band Festival will take place Nov. 23 with more than 40 junior and senior high school bands performing.

The concert jazz ensemble will present a tribute to Duke Ellington at its December concert.

Musical events also are planned by the college chamber orchestra, madrigal singers, jazz workshop, chorus, philharmonic orchestra, contemporary music ensemble, chamber music workshop and wind ensemble.

Brochures listing all fall events can be obtained from the center for performing arts, Sonoma State College, 1801 East Cotati Avenue, Rohnert Park.

Low Mormon Cancer Rate Studied

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The cancer mortality rate among members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, or Mormons, is among the lowest of any group of Americans, a researcher at UCLA's School of Public Health said yesterday.

Only Seventh-day Adventists have a lower cancer mortality rate, according to Dr. James E. Enstrom of the school's division of epidemiology.

Enstrom began investigating the correlation between Mormons and cancer two years ago after reading that Utah has the nation's lowest cancer rate.

Among the state's 1.1 million residents, 73 per cent of whom are Mormons, the cancer death rate is 75 per cent of the national cancer death rate. Utah County, which includes the city of Provo, is 90 per cent Mormon. There the cancer death rates are 65 per cent of the national average for males and 72 per cent for females.

An obvious assumption is that smoking and drinking, prohibited by Mormon doctrine, causes higher cancer mortality among non-Mormons, Enstrom said.

But he said there is a low rate of cancer among Mormons in such parts of the body as the breast, stomach, colon, rectum, uterus, prostate and kidney. Cancer in those areas has never been clearly related to any risk factors such as drinking or smoking.

While Enstrom said the low consumption of alcohol, tobacco, coffee, tea and addictive drugs may be a factor in the lower cancer death rate among Mormons, there are others.

The general health practices of Mormons are a positive influence, he said. Getting enough exercise and sleep, outdoor activities, and keeping physically fit are all encouraged by the church.

He said studies in New York City indicate that Catholics, Jews and members of general Protestant faiths have cancer mortality rates comparable to the national average.

House Votes To Accept Report On Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House quickly passed without debate today a resolution to accept the House Judiciary Committee's final report on the case for its proposed articles of impeachment against former President Richard M. Nixon.

The resolution making the document an official House report was introduced by Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts who said it "writes a final chapter in a momentous proceeding in the history of the House."

The vote signaled the end of the congressional impeachment inquiry which began Feb. 1 when the House directed the House Judiciary Committee to investigate whether Nixon should be impeached.

A vote to accept the report cannot be translated an as an endorsement of the committee's recommendations. Because of this, most Republicans had been expected to vote for it.

AC Denies Profit From Bus Strike

OAKLAND (UPI) — A spokesman for the AC Transit District denied today that the district is running up a weekly profit of $150,000 during the strike of employes, now in its eighth week.

Summarizing the district's finances, AC information officer Joe McCord said it has been spending $93,000 per week during the strike. Its income has been $66,000 per week, of which $58,000 was received from gasoline tax funds and $8,000 in interest from investments.

Thus AC is spending $27,000 per week more than it is taking in.

However, the district has not yet made its property tax assessment and before the strike had budgeted more than $10 million in assessments for the current fiscal year.

If the current strike lasted the entire year, and if the directors assessed property taxes as high as if there had been no strike, then the district could theoretically "profit" by as much as $150,000 a week, McCord said.

The spokesman said the strike and present uncertainty about when it will end has put this year's financing into a realm of deep uncertainty.

POLYNESIAN PERFECT is a sweet and sour entree using strips of round steak, green beans, pineapple and whole mushrooms combined with a richly flavored sauce, adaptable to other sweet and sour dishes.

Cookies Can Give Fruit Special Lift

Nothing is more delightful than the aroma of freshly baked cookies. Cookies are a treat for the whole family, especially when they are hot from the oven.

Why not serve cookies for dessert, gracing a big bowl of ice cream, or as a crunchy addition to a fruit salad.

The wheat germ saucer cookies combine three favorites, chocolate chip, oatmeal and coconut and just one of these cookies is indeed a handful of nutrition.

The cooky diamonds are topped with sugar. They're easy to make — everything is mixed together in an ungreased baking pan, baked, then cut into diamonds (or whatever shape you decide).

The chocolate and vanilla sour cream cookies are drop cookies with crunchy walnuts inside and out. The mixture of butter and brown and granulated sugar give them a butterscotch flavor. To get a two tone effect, drop mounds of both the light and dark doughs close together on the baking sheet.

SPARKLING COOKY DIAMONDS

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2¼ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. almond extract.

Beat butter with one-half cup sugar until blended and fluffy. Mix in flour, salt and flavorings until well mixed. Turn into ungreased 15½x10½x1-inch baking pan. Pat gently to cover bottom of pan. Sprinkle with remaining one-half cup sugar. Bake in a 350 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until light golden. Carefully cut into diamonds while hot. Cool in pan. Makes about five dozen pieces.

CHOCOLATE AND VANILLA COOKIES

½ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup granulated sugar
1½ tsp vanilla
1 egg
1 cup chopped walnuts
2½ cups flour
½ tsp soda
1½ tsp salt
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate, melted

Beat butter with sugars and vanilla until creamy. Beat in egg until fluffy. Add ½ cup walnuts. Mix flour with soda and salt. Mix into creamed mixture alternately with sour cream. Divide batter in half. Combine melted chocolate with one part. Drop chocolate dough from teaspoon onto lightly greased baking sheet, about three inches apart. Drop equal size portions of plain dough next to and touching chocolate. Sprinkle with remaining walnuts. Bake in a 375 degree oven 10 minutes or until light golden at edges. Cool on wire rack. Makes three dozen (2½) inch) cookies.

WHEAT GERM SAUCER COOKIES

½ cup butter, softened
½ cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
¾ tsp. vanilla
¾ cup vacuum packed regular wheat germ
¾ cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
¼ cup flaked coconut
¼ cup quick oats, uncooked
½ cup semisweet chocolate pieces.

Beat butter with sugars until blended. Beat in egg and vanilla. Mix wheat germ with all remaining ingredients. Stir into butter mixture. Place dough by one-fourth cupfuls onto greased baking sheet, about six-inches apart. Bake in a 375 degree oven 15 to 17 minutes or until golden brown and centers are firm. Cool two to three minutes on baking sheet then transfer to racks. To keep cookies crisp, store in loosely covered container. Makes 10 (4-inch) cookies.

SAUCER WHEAT germ cookies are a combination of oatmeal, coconut and chocolate chips with the nutritionally good wheat germ. Try these, sour cream or sparkling sugar cookies for dessert or for snacking.

DAY-TO-DAY MEALS

Tuna, Rice, Beef Entrees

It's a harder job than most people will admit . . . creating interesting, nutritious and flavorful meals, day after day.

Two of the following recipes rely on tuna or rice, both are economical as well as good meal-stretchers.

The "Polynesian perfect," a sweet and sour entree using strips of round steak resting on a bed of rice, may look complicated at first, but the recipe calls for items from the cupboard and freezer. It's a convenience dinner, great when you want some extra time away from the kitchen.

SKILLET GUMBO

1 cup chopped onions
½ cup chopped green pepper
2 tbsp. bacon drippings or vegetable oil
1 can (14-½ to 16 oz.) tomatoes, chopped
¼ tsp. each garlic powder, Rosemary, and pepper
1 tsp. salt
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1 package (10 oz.) frozen cut okra
1 can (12 oz.) canned luncheon meat, cubed
3 cups cooked rice

Saute onions and green pepper in drippings until tender crisp. Add tomatoes and seasonings. Bring to a boil, add okra, and return to a boil, using a fork to separate okra. Cover and simmer for 10 minutes. Stir in meat and rice. Continue cooking until thoroughly heated. Makes 6 servings.

SAVORY TUNA BAKE

2 tbsp. flour
3 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
2 cups chicken broth
2 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. dill weed
¼ tsp. pepper
2 cups grated Swiss cheese
1 can (6 to 7 oz.) tuna
3 cups cooked rice
1 cup each chopped onions, celery, and green pepper

Blend flour into butter. Add broth, mustard, and seasonings, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in one cup of the cheese and remaining ingredients. Turn into a greased shallow two-quart casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with remaining cheese and bake five minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

TUNA-CHEESE BISCUIT BAKE

8 ounce can buttermilk or country style biscuits
10¾ ounce can condensed Cheddar cheese soup
2 6½-ounce cans (2 cups) drained tuna
10 ounce package (1½ cups) frozen peas, partially thawed
1 cup milk
½ cup chopped onion, or 2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 tsp. parsley flakes

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Separate dough into 10 biscuits. Arrange biscuits in an ungreased 9-inch square or 12x8-inch baking dish. In medium mixing bowl, combined remaining ingredients; pour over biscuits. Bake at 400 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes until biscuits have risen to the top and are golden brown. Serve with cheesy sauce spooned over biscuits. Makes four to six servings. Refrigerate any leftovers.

POLYNESIAN PERFECT

1 pound round steak, trimmed and cut in ¼ x 2-inch strips
Salt and pepper
½ cup water
¼ cup ketchup
¼ cup honey
2 tbsp. soy sauce
1 tbsp. Worchestershire sauce
1 tbsp. prepared mustard
1 cup beef broth
1 tsp. salt
3 tbsp. water
4 tbsp. cornstarch
1 8½-oz. can diagonal-cut green beans, drained
1 8-oz. can pineapple chunks, drained and ⅓ cup liquid reserved
1 2½-oz. jar whole mushrooms, drained
1 2-oz. jar pimiento, drained and diced
2 12-oz. packages rice verdi (rice with bell peppers and parsley) frozen in the pouch

Brown meat in large skillet; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add water; cover and simmer 20 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, cook rice according to package directions. In a medium bowl, combine ketchup and honey until smooth; stir in soy sauce, Worchestershire sauce, mustard, broth and salt. Combine water, cornstarch and reserved pineapple liquid until smooth; stir into ketchup-honey mixture. Pour sauce mixture into skillet with meat; heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Add green beans, pineapple, mushrooms and pimiento; reduce heat and heat through, stirring occasionally. Serve with rice verdi. Turn rice into a serving bowl and fluff with a fork. Serves six.

TUNA-CHEESE Biscuit Bake adds a new dimension to the old standby, tuna casserole. It almost resembles an upside-down dish as a saucy cheese, tuna and pea mixture bakes over ready-to-bake buttermilk or country style biscuits.

The Safety Factor In Dressings

There is no record in any technical or scientific journal of any case of food poisoning caused directly through the consumption of commercially prepared mayonnaise or salad dressing, according to the Mayonnaise and Salad Dressings Institute.

The reason, says president R. H. Kellen, is because the vinegar medium of dressings completely destroys the organisms normally associated with food poisonings.

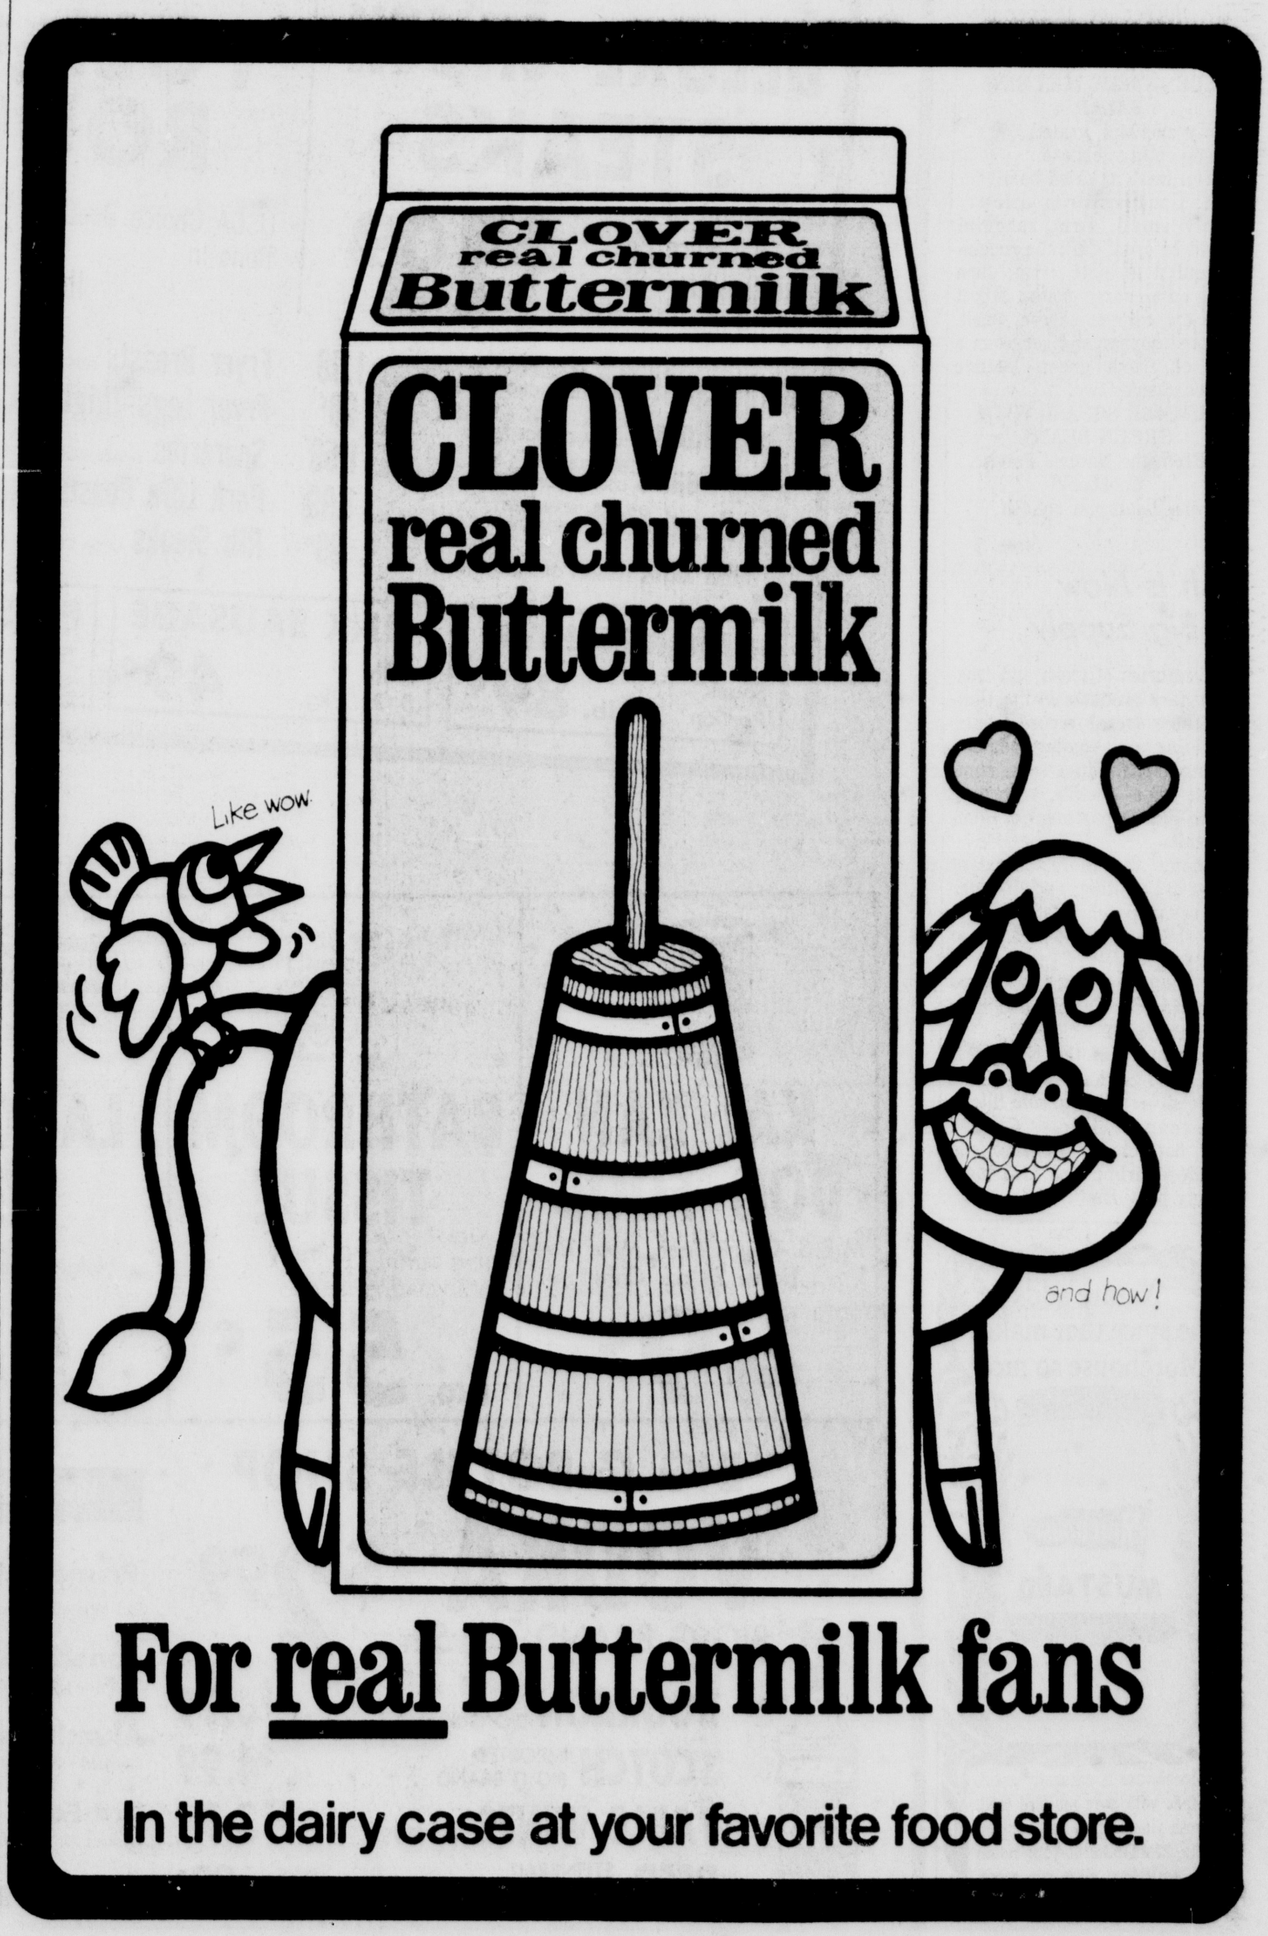
Kellen recommends that salads to which these dressings are added be refrigerated, although the dressing itself need not be. The words, "refrigerate after opening" on the label, he said, is simply a suggestion to preserve the fresh taste of the product.

At the same time, Kellen urged homemakers to use proper sanitation procedures in the preparation of foods.

Telephone Grocery Ordering Is Back

Remember the days before self service supermarkets when people phoned their orders to the local food store and had it delivered — usually by a youngsters on his bike?

In Texas, Florida, New Jersey and elsewhere, the idea has been modernized by incorporating telephoned orders with such space age innovations as automated warehouses, computerized memory banks and closed circuit TV, along with refrigerated delivery trucks.



More Ways For Serving Fresh Squash, Zucchini

Has the over-abundance of squash and zucchini in your garden put you at a standstill as far as new recipes are concerned? Try a classic casserole, a zucchini broth of salad, or fresh squash and green beans tonight.

CLASSIC SQUASH CASSEROLE

1½ pounds fresh yellow squash, sliced*
½ cup finely chopped onions
½ cup chopped green pepper
3 cups cooked rice
2 eggs, beaten
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
½ cup milk
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Cook squash in salted water about five minutes. Drain. Combine squash, onions, green pepper, and rice. Blend eggs, soup, milk, mayonnaise, and seasonings. Stir into squash mixture. Turn into a greased shallow two-quart casserole. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes six servings.

*Two packages (10 oz. each) frozen, sliced yellow squash may be used.

ZUCCHINI IN BROTH

(Zucchini recipes from the Harvest Home Cookbook of fresh vegetables.)

1 pound zucchini
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 onion, chopped
1 rib celery, chopped
4 cups clear chicken broth
Salt and pepper to taste
½ pint sour cream
Garlic powder (optional)

Wash the zucchini, removing the stem and blossom ends; slice thinly. Melt the butter in a frying pan; add the onion and celery and cook until golden brown. Heat the chicken broth in a saucepan; add the zucchini, onions and celery, rinsing out the frying pan with a little chicken broth and adding to the pot.

Cook until the zucchini is tender; salt and pepper to taste. If desired, a little garlic powder may be added. Serve hot with a dollop of sour cream. Serves four.

This is not a soup, nor exactly a vegetable dish. It can be made thicker or thinner depending on the use to which you are going to put it.

ELLEN'S RAW ZUCCHINI SALAD

1 cup zucchini, grated
½ cup cottage cheese
½ tsp. fresh or dried basil
Salt and pepper to taste

Only small, firm zucchini should be used. Chill the zucchini until it is quite crisp; then grate on a coarse grater. Mix it with the cottage cheese, basil, salt and pepper and serve on a bed of fresh green lettuce leaves. Serves two.

SUMMER SQUASH WITH GREEN BEANS

(From the Natural Foods Cookbook)

2 young summer squash
1 pound green beans
2 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. almonds, slivered

Slice squash in half lengthwise. Brush cut sides with oil and lay on baking sheet. Bake in 375 degree oven for about 20 minutes or until tender.

Meanwhile, wash the beans, setting large ones aside for later use in a soup or stew. Leave the small ones whole and slice the medium sized ones.

Add beans to two quarts boiling water and cook uncovered for 15 minutes. Drain. Turn beans into a skillet, shaking them over heat until all moisture has evaporated. When dry, add butter to skillet and shake pan until butter has melted and coats beans.

Fill cooked squash with green beans and sprinkle almonds on top. Serves four.

Fish Is Now In Big Supply

Inventories of fresh and frozen fishery products in the United States are at record levels, providing outstanding seafood buying opportunities to consumers as prices decline, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Among the more abundant items are whiting, and flounder and ocean perch fillets. Frozen fish sticks and portions are also plentiful.

In shellfish, better buys are appearing for shrimp and king and snow crab.

Consumers in the Northwest will find good buys in fresh whole silver salmon, sole fillets, and snapper fillets. Canned tuna, both chunk and light, and breaded shrimp are also moderately priced.

Nature adds the spice that makes Morehouse so nice

Morehouse is naturally good. Made with pure mustard seed, fresh vinegar plus zingy spices. Try Morehouse at your house ... costs less, gives you more.

Don't Be Afraid To Spice Salads

Here are two savory salad dressing recipes

COOKED SALAD DRESSING

2 Tbsps. all-purpose flour
2 Tbsps. sugar
1 Tbsp. onion powder
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. powdered mustard
½ tsp. paprika
¼ tsp. ground black pepper
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks
¼ cup lemon juice

In a medium saucepan combine flour, sugar, onion powder, salt, mustard, paprika and black pepper. Thoroughly blend in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens.

Blend a little of the hot milk mixture into egg yolks; return all to sauce pan; cook gently for one minute. Cool slightly; stir in lemon juice; chill. Serve over shredded lettuce or sliced tomatoes.

CARAWAY SALAD DRESSING

1 Tbsp. instant minced onion
1 Tbsp. water
2 tsps. caraway seed
¾ cup salad oil
½ cup wine vinegar
2 Tbsps. parsley flakes
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. ground black pepper

Rehydrate minced onion in water for 10 minutes. Crush caraway seed in a mortar and pestle, if desired. In a container with a tight fitting lid combine oil, vinegar, parsley flakes, sugar, salt, black pepper, rehydrated onion, and caraway; shake well. Serve over torn salad greens, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, etc.

Lawlors Moving To New Zealand

By MOLLY MARIN

Looking forward to a second summer are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lawlor of Mill Valley who will make a permanent move to New Zealand in early December. They will sail on an ocean liner, arriving in New Zealand at the beginning of that country's summer. The Lawlors, who have lived in Marin County for 17 years, will be accompanied by their son, Ian.

Their daughter, Gretchen, has just returned to Mill Valley after an eight-month trip which included visiting Europe, India, and returning home from England. Gretchen will remain in Marin County, but since she loves to travel, her parents think she will visit them in New Zealand at the earliest opportunity. Their other daughter, Deborah, will continue her studies at the California State University, San Francisco, where she will be studying for the teaching credential this school year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawlor are natives of New Zealand, and have many relatives there. Lawlor was the proprietor of Battens and Boards Sports Shop in Sausalito until he sold the business recently.

Kris Sigler of Belvedere is home from New York after a year and a half as a photographic model in the big city. Prior to her stay in New York, she worked two years in Mexico City as a photographic and runway model and actress in TV commercials.

Her 14-year-old brother, Chad, met Kris in New York for "10 days of the best restaurants, musicals and Carnegie Hall," before the two drove home across the United States. They spent two weeks near Tacoma, Wash., with her mother's family. Kris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sigler of Belvedere.

In June, Kris visited in Connecticut and Maine with old friends Freddie Hildreth, Mrs. Hildreth's daughter Debbie Mills and grandson Christian Mills, 3, all of Mill Valley, who were touring childhood scenes in New England.

FRANKLIN AND LORRAINE Furtado of San Rafael are back home after a six and a half month "dream trip" around the world which took them to Africa, the British Isles, Europe, Russia and Japan.

For Frank Furtado, the trip represented a safari to national parks around the world as part of sabbatical studies from his job as a teacher of natural sciences at Terra Linda High School. For Lorraine, it was a leave from her duties as librarian at Sir Francis Drake High in San Anselmo.

They stored up memories and films aplenty for years to come. They camped in South Africa and Rhodesia, motored through Kenya and Tanzania, staying in safari camps and lodges. In Rome they purchased a camper, visiting parks in northern Italy, motoring through the Alps into France.

Here, they "froze." Said Lorraine, "It was at the height of the energy crisis, and the heat had been turned off in all the accommodations in France and Italy." They were especially cold in the marshy Camargue area of France, where Frank studied the bird life and wild horses.

From there they went to Spain and Portugal, thence to England, Scotland and Wales, where "we saw Sherwood Forest!" Lorraine said European parks are far more civilized than American parks.

"Next we flew to Moscow and into Uzbekistan in Central Asia, where we saw the famous old cities on the silk route, Samarkand and Tashkent." They visited three cities in Siberia, traveled one day on the Trans-Siberian railroad, took a side trip to Lake Baikal where they saw species of flora and fauna unknown anywhere else in the world.

A two-day trip by Russian steamer took them to Yokahama. After a visit there and in Tokyo, they flew home. "We were getting homesick by then, said Lorraine.

"It was a real dream trip," she said. "What was so wonderful was that with all that time, we really got to poke around."

Members and friends of the Marin Symphony Association are asked to mark their calendars for Friday, Sept. 27, when

Marin Women

Alba Silva New YLI President

Alba Silva of Petaluma has been elected president of St. Vincent's Young Ladies Institute 108, an organization she joined in 1931.

ALBA SILVA
New YLI president

Mrs. Silva, whose husband Russell is employed with Phillips 66 distributors in Petaluma, owns Alba's Fashions in Novato. Born in Petaluma, she lived part of her girlhood in Tocaloma, attending school in Olema. She was graduated from high school in Petaluma, and trained at French Hospital in San Francisco. She was an office nurse for more than 25 years.

She has one son, Alvin Silva of San Mateo.

She is interested in youth activities, putting on fashion shows, discussing problems on status of women and visiting the aged in convalescent homes.

Purposes of the YLI organization are Christian charity, scholarships, assisting in youth programs, making the aged comfortable, and helping anyone in time of need.

Planned for the year are the official visit of YLI grand first vice president Diane Schmidt on Sept. 26; Reno fun tour on Oct. 19 and 20; presentation of annual scholarship to a girl entering her senior year at St. Vincent's High School in Petaluma; participation in a districtwide workshop in October; and entertainment of the Handicapables of Sonoma County in Santa Rosa in January.

The organization is open to any Catholic woman in the area, Mrs. Silva said.

Mrs. Silva is also active in American Business Women's Association which she served as president and received the Woman of the Year award in 1970. She is past president of the Heart Association for the Redwood Empire; past president of the National Council of Catholic Women's Deanery, Diocese of Santa Rosa; and past grand president of Young Ladies Institute in 1959-60.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Silva are Mmes. John L. Emery, first vice president; Harold Olson, second vice president; James Brown, recording secretary; Martin Hagen, financial secretary; Peter Torliatt, treasurer; Walter Ricioli, marshal; Loretta McCourt, inside sentinel; Robert Collins, outside sentinel; and Antone Azevedo, Fred Giacomini and Miss Alice Guglelmetti, trustees.

Dance Exhibition

A program of Greek, Israeli and Balkan dancing will be presented Friday at the Unitarian Church, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael. Dance instruction will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. and request dancing exhibitions will continue until midnight.

Stitchery Display

Stitchery hangings by Karen Gray of Fairfax are on display at the Crossroads Restaurant, 726 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, through mid-September.

Ranch Offers Vacation Fun

By DOROTHY NEWELL

El Adobe Rancho in the hills high above Petaluma is a summer paradise for a lively crop of youngsters who are vacationing, 50 at a time, as paying "dude ranch" guests.

Reno and Babe Pronzini, the ranch owners, each summer for 13 years have converted their working cattle ranch into a vacation spot for boys and girls, ages 6 to 17.

Here are all the activities an outdoors-minded youngster could crave: canoeing, fishing, swimming, and trail riding amongst the hills and streams of the 400-acre ranch.

Source of many of the ranch activities are two lakes. One, on Deer Creek, has been planted with fish which the youngsters are free to catch. On the other, Lost Lake, the youngsters can ride horses through the water, or can use the "monorail" — a steel cable slung across the lake with a handled pulley which slides from one side to the other. Campers say the objective is to get across without getting wet, but many happily "dump" in the water halfway.

Counselors, one for the girls and one for the boys, drive the young people to the lakes by truck and back to the bunkhouse area. There is a bunkhouse for the girls and one for the boys.

Some of the lucky fishermen can be seen cleaning fish in the outdoor area near the bunkhouse. The ranch cook cooks them for the young anglers.

The Adobe Trading Post is a lively scene as the youngsters line up at the door to buy their goodies" twice a day.

There are horses on the ranch for the children to ride or if they want to bring their own horses to the ranch they are invited to do so. No dogs allowed, however. The Pronzinis, already have "about 10 or 11 dogs." Mrs. Ponzini said stray dogs come to the ranch and they don't want to turn them away.

These are not all the activities and fun that make up the busy day for the youngsters. They can ride motorbikes on the dirt trails, learn riflery, enjoy dancing, crafts, campouts, hiking, songfests, and "hootenanny" sessions. The youngsters are urged to bring their own musical instruments.

Youngsters on the ranch come from as far away as Riverside and Los Angeles. One of the youngsters has been coming to the dude ranch for five summers.

Assisting the Pronzinis at the ranch are their two sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Pronzini and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pronzini, all of Novato.

Following the summer activities with the youngsters, the Pronzinis start getting ready for Christmas as they sell Christmas trees in Novato, Greenbrae and Petaluma. Year round, the Pronzinis raise Herefords on the ranch property.

SPLASH — Christopher Bonnell, 13, of Orinda, goes for a thrilling ride down the "monorail" at Lost Lake.

Doris Austin Marries Charles R. Estudillo

A garden wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Austin of San Rafael united in marriage their daughter Doris Austin and Charles Raymond Estudillo of Tiburon.

The noon wedding was celebrated with the breaking of pinatas by the children in attendance. A reception followed at the Art and Garden Center in Ross.

The bride chose her sister-in-law, Beverly Austin of San Francisco, as matron of honor. Thomas Estudillo of Tibuorn was his brother's best man.

The bride was graduated from San Rafael High School and the University of California at Berkeley where she received her teaching credential.

She is the sister of Gary Austin of San Francisco.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Estudillo of Tiburon and the grandson of Mrs. Theodore Estudillo of San Francisco.

He was graduated from Redwood High School and the University of California at Berkeley. He is employed at the Social Security office, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in Pittsburg.

Charles is the brother of Mrs. Mark Maffei of San Francisoc and Barbara Estudillo of Tiburon.

The newlyweds will live in Antioch after returning from a trip to Carmel and backpacking in the Sierra Mountains.

Gamblers Anonymous

Gamblers Anonymous will have its initial meeting at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Calvary Methodist Church, 19th Avenue and Judah Street, San Francisco, for persons in Marin and elsewhere in the Bay Area who want to quit gambling. Information supplied to the Independent-Journal stated the meeting was last Friday.

ON THE AGENDA

Exchange Student From Greece Will Be Honored At AFS Tea

The Tamalpais High School chapter of the American Field Service will give a tea from 4 to 6 p.m. Aug. 29 at the home of Mrs. William Pemberton of Mill Valley.

Panos Panagiotis, the AFS exchange student from Greece who is due to arrive a few days before the tea, will be honored. Returning local students, Cheryl McCarthy, who has spent a year in Grenoble, France, and Tim Shelmerdine, who lived in Stuttgart, Germany during the summer, will be welcomed.

Mmes. John D. Harding and Louis McCarthy, are tea reservations chairmen.

A NEAPOLITAN dinner will be served at Lydon Hall of St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon Aug. 31 at 6 p.m., sponsored by St. Hilary's Women's Club.

The ravioli and barbecued chicken dinner prepared by Syl Auteri of Tiburon will benefit St. Hilar's building fund. Music and a door prize are planned.

Tickets may be reserved with Mrs. Auteri of Tiburon or Mrs. Joseph Kushner of Mill Valley.

THOMAS MAYHUE of Grohe Florists in Santa Rosa will be guest speaker at the Petaluma Newcomers Club luncheon on Thursday, at the Holiday Inn in Santa Rosa.

Mayhue will speak on varieties of house plants and their care and feeding. He will display several examples of house plants as well as a terrarium.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m.

A POLYNESIAN dinner Saturday will mark the fall kickoff of events for the Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Club. The dinner will be held at the home of Mrs. Peter Van Alyea of Kentfield starting with cocktails at 5:30 p.m. The dinner at 7:30 p.m. will be followed by swimming.

Mrs. Charles Read Best of San Rafael is reservations chairman.

THE LABOR DAY weekend marks the end of the season for Inverness Yacht Club. Special events planned include a supper dance on Aug. 31 at the clubhouse, the annual meeting and election Sept. 1, and sailing races both Saturday and Sunday. The final sailing event of the summer will be the 18-mile race from the yacht club to Hog Island and return for a special trophy on Sept. 2. James Landreth is commodore.

THE QUESTION Marks square dance group will hold a dance Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Women's Club Hall, downtown Cotati. Dave Hobaugh will be guest caller.

A CHAMPAGNE CRUISE on the bay is scheduled for Friday's summer social meeting of the Omicron Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Members will cruise to Jack London Square for dinner, according to chariman Ellie Allnutt.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Generalizations Seldom Right And Never Solve The Problem

DEAR HELEN:

I may help the young people, their parents, their community and our country, if you print advice like the enclosed, instead of always permissive, pampering comments, making excuses and allowances for young people. It was written some years ago by the well-known juvenile court judge, Philip G. Gilliam:

Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teen-ager: "What can we do? Where can we go?" The answer is: Go Home!

Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub the floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job. Help the minister, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick. Assist the poor. Study your lessons. And when you are through, and you're not too tired, read a book.

Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city or village does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe it your time and energy and your talents, so that no one will be at war, in poverty, or sick or lonely again.

In plain, simple words: Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like a man or lady.

You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibilities your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, helped, appealed, begged, excused, tolerated and denied themselves needed comforts so that you could have every benefit. You have no right to expect them to bow to your every whim and fancy.

In Heaven's name, grow up and go home!

What do you say to that, Mrs. B.? — MR. M.B.

DEAR MR. B.:

I say Judge Gilliam's oft-printed words are great for layabouts who need them, but not all young people are layabouts . . . not by a long shot . . . just as the following letter is great for delinquent parents, who need it, but not all parents are delinquent . . . not by a long shot . . . right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Always we hear the plaintive cry of parents: "Why don't our children appreciate us? Why won't they stay home, do their work, pay us proper respect, without being told and told and told?"

The answer is: Why don't you adults give us good examples instead of always criticism and bossing? And never offering any praise?

If you want us to enjoy working around the house, work along with us, so it's a family project, not a master-slave thing. Remember, we have to learn and we'll make mistakes, so don't blow your top and yell, "Stupid!" or take the job away and do it yourself, or get mad because we've made a mess. You weren't perfect in the beginning, either.

Don't preach to us about love, respect, kindness, honesty, loyalty, etc., etc. then let us see you fighting and nagging each other, cheating in business, going out on your mate, showing racial prejudice, spitefully gossiping, and being kind only when it doesn't take much effort.

Don't knock "pot-smoking youth" when you've got a cocktail in one hand and a cigarette in the other. And when you howl about boozed-up kids, remember who's been setting the example — Daddy and Mama and friends!

And think on this: The parent who pulls the guilt lever with, "I gave up everything so you could have everything!" probably has a child who wishes he could have been born to somebody else. — TODAY'S CHILD

DEAR BOTH OF YOU:

Generalizations. . .generalizations! When will we ever learn that while criticizing the other generation makes us feel superior, it seldom solves problems — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

PARENT AND CHILD

Moral Teaching Begins At Home

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., in his personal observations on Watergate, said: "Law is not self-executing. Unfortunately, at times its execution rests in the hands of those who are faithless to it. And even when its enforcement is committed to those who reverse it, law merely deters some human beings from offending, and punishes other human beings for offending.

"It (the law) does not make men good. This task can be performed only by ethics or religion or morality."

SCHOOLS CAN teach about ethics. Good teachers can bring out ethical lessons from literature and history. Churches, too, give religious instruction, some of which shapes a person's character. But moral teaching is preeminently a home responsibility.

As Senator Ervin points out, the law deters some from offending and punishes those who do offend. But what it does not and cannot do is teach a child or young adult how to want to be good.

The adult who has broken a law and been punished will often say that he has "learned his lesson" or "paid his debt." That, of course, is not necessarily true.

WHAT IS REQUIRED is a change of thought, not merely a change of behavior. Deep moral integrity and personal commitment to uphold every right and just law is not something which comes with release from prison. It's possible that the jolt which comes from incarceration may awaken a latent desire to be morally just. But it's just as possible that it will not. Prison statistics show that it generally does not.

No, punishment for breaking laws is no proper way to provide moral or ethical instruction. Moral integrity is learned by direct instruction and direct observation. The father who lives by a strict moral code, whose wife is an example of moral integrity, teaches by example. But these parents must do more, they must teach also by listening to their children express what they have observed. They have to discuss with their children how these young people should handle experience after experience.

WHAT TEACHING does a parent offer when a beloved child admits to cheating on a test? What teaching does he or she offer upon learning that a school rule requires one student to turn in another suspected of wrongdoing? What teaching is given if a child feels an object of prejudice?

What teaching acts as moral encouragement when all others are engaged in wrongdoing and your child is free to dissent or keep to the law?

What teaching makes a child accept leadership? What teaching explains that leadership should be shared? What teaching says that sharing is better than taking; that spiritual values are more important than swimming pools, European vacations, and expensive hi-fi equipment?

What teaching gives a child the strength not to smoke, drink alcoholic beverages, or use drugs as stimulants? What teaching provides a sound moral basis for sexual relationships?

Teaching from parents is the naswer to all those questions.

Now's Time To Prepare For Car Pool

Is the No. 2 car in the two-car household safe transportation for mothers using a car pool arrangement to take the kids to school? Oftentimes, the answer is "No," says the Insurance Information Institute in a back-to-school advisory to parents.

Mothers usually rely on the second family car as a short-trip utility vehicle. More often than not, this is the clunker with all the miles on it, the gas guzzler that needs new tires and could do with a brake job.

The Institute suggests that now is the time to get the second car in shape for a car pool season of worry-free driving.

Since some parents are reluctant to join bar pools for fear they will expose themselves to a lawsuit, the Institute says that in terms of insurance coverage, car-pooling mothers probably have nothing to worry about.

Insurance on a privately owned pool-shared vehicle is placed in jeopardy only if the pool is operated for a profit. In the situation where everyone in the pool uses his car an equal amount of time there is, of course, no problem.

Lynn Marie Castellani Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Castellani of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Lynn Marie to Mark John Worthen of San Rafael.

The two have planned a Nov. 24 wedding at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael.

PREPARING FOR THE FAIRE

Some Elizabethan Antics

By BARBARA HOSMER

An English nobleman strutted, preening, before a band of lowly rabble and hurled distinctly Elizabethan insults back at his attackers.

"As the flower wilts on my breast, so doest they wit wilt in they head"—

"Wilted cucumber!" shouted back one of the group gleefully pricking his pride with jibes about his noble finery. "I could say what thee looks like but, indeed, I would be damned."

"A peacock." "A poinjay," "A goose among ganders," put in the others.

"What common gaggle is this?" returned the noble just as swiftly.

The scene was a convincing Elizabethan insult workshop, one of several workshops being held at the Renaissance Pleasure Faire grounds at Black Point to prepare players, jugglers, insulters, musicians and dancers for their roles in the fair, which will open Saturday. All wore 17th Century London garb.

"He's but a strutting popinjay," an insulter finished. Everyone roared as the two-minute often-ribald repartee ended. The players will be creating such street confrontations throughout the six weekends of the fair, bringing a very real and highly polished art of Elizabethan times to the scene.

"Sometimes it was just in fun, sometimes it ended in a sword fight," put in Phyllis Patterson, who with her husband, Ron, originated the annual fair which is presented in Southern California as well as Marin.

The fair this year will be strung farther along the narrow valley near Black Point, placing the entrance closer to the access road.

"I laid out the fair from the back of the valley to the front, extending it about a block to give people more hillside seating," Mrs. Patterson said. Oak trees on each side of the dirt pathway will provide shady picnic areas to fairgoers dining on the skewered meats, fruits, tarts and pies and other fare. Weathered plank booths will offer leather, ceramics, jewelry and games such as archery and jousting. The road will be sprinkled daily and straw spread in the theater area to lay the dust.

Admission to the 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. fair is $4 for adults and $1.75 for children.

In addition to the insult session, five other weekly workshops have prepared some 200 entertainers for their roles as monks, processioners, court ladies, street vendors, jesters, jugglers or common folk. In their costumes, the group from throughout the state, many of them young drama students or actors, quickly took on the demeanor of 17th Century Londoners.

"Hear ye, hear ye," a workshop director announced. "Pick up your passes over there for the fair." A yeoman with a staff and a fool got in line.

"We need washerwomen for the fountain, to be arguing and whatever washerwomen do, and washermen, for the whole fair," called a staff member. An abbess signed up volunteers on a clipboard. "Volunteers for St. Cuthbert," called another. "We need a Puritan for the whole fair, any Puritans among you?" sought still another.

After 12 years, beginning in Los Angeles, the fair entertainment is rich in authenticity and the players ready to encourage and respond to the audience ad lib.

"In an open setting like this, the entertainment has to be broad and loud," Mrs. Patterson remarked as actor Scott Beach, who plays the Lord Mayor, directed the players on stage beyond the hay-bale seats and 500 costumes were unloaded from a van to the costume room.

DANCERS — Leaping and clapping, entertainers for the Renaissance Pleasure Faire rehearsed the processional to the stage to the music of drum and recorder. Children of the players relax on the straw-bale seating at left.

"Horr-ors!" roared the Lord Mayor from the stage. "I'll skewer this hawg — hag."

"I've heard of hams," commented a plumed cavalier from the audience.

"If you have a line to ad lib from the audience, speak it out with support toward the stage so we can respond to it," Beach advised.

"I will personally have the pig skewered!" he continued.

Tumblers practiced and processioners gave little skipping leaps in the aisle.

"Work the pancake a little into the hair," a makeup director advised a bearded group to one side.

"Drummer, wouldst thou come here and bring thy drum?" called a white-robed monk who was rehearsing recorder-musicians and chanters in the death parade scene. "I will admonish thee to wear black tights and white shirts, and we'll supply the rest," he briefed the group. They began the chant.

A caped, plumed gentleman passed out ruffs to nobles from a cardboard box, a juggler balanced a juggling pin on his forehead and the sun moved from its zenith in the noon sky. Under a tree a purple-tunicked serf dug into a poor boy sandwich and nearby the Morris dancers stepped into their ancient harvest celebration.

Without a fairgoer in sight, the fair was alive.

Warning Closes Nuclear Plant

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — The San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station returned to normal operations yesterday after a 4 ½ hour shut down caused by a false signal in the primary coolant warning system.

The Southern California Edison Co. reported that the sensitive warning system was activated while tests were being conducted on one of three level monitoring channels.

No dangerous or unusual conditions were found following the automatic shut-down at 1:55 p.m., Edison said.

The 450-megawatt electric generating facility returned to full operation at 6:28 p.m., the spokesman said.

Homemade Still Found In Prison

McALESTER, Okla. (UPI) — Prison officials looking for weapons yesterday discovered a homemade still containing 15 gallons of beer during a security sweep of the Oklahoma State Penitentiary.

The still, which prison officials destroyed, was composed of several big pots containing fermenting ingredients, according to Howard Inglish, corrections department public information officer.

SUNKEN GRADE BEING REPAIRED

Ray Schrick of Tiburon on a bicycle was one of the few wheeled vehicles able to get through the Corte Madera-Mill Valley grade yesterday as crews from Corte Madera tore up a section of the street for repair. Walter Nagel, superintendent of public works for Corte Madera, said that a 30-by-300-foot section of the street had sunk. The city crews tore up the pavement to put down a firmer road bed and will repave it. The three-day job was expected to be completed today, Nagel said. In the meantime, through traffic was routed around Chapman Drive. (Photo by Ty Barbour)

Daring Raid Frees Jailer In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Deputies blasted their way into the Potter County Jail today and freed a jailer held hostage for more than a day by five knife-wielding inmates. One inmate was killed and three other persons were wounded in the assault.

County authorities said Darvin Ray Meharg, 39, a former police officer and ex-convict from Wichita Falls and leader of the revolt, was killed. Trusty Edward Hosford was wounded and in serious condition in a local hospital. Department of Public Safety Patrolman Cal Hinkle and Deputy Sheriff George Giner suffered minor leg injuries.

Officials said all other inmates were not injured and were in custody.

"The jail is back under the sheriff's control," said a county spokesman minutes after the raid on the top two floors — the jail area — of the courthouse.

He said the two officers were wounded by shrapnel. The two prisoners caught bullets apparently fired by police. The rebellious inmates were armed only with knives taken from the jail kitchen.

The spokesman said newsmen would be allowed to tour the jail area later in the day. The jail was held a total of 36 hours by the inmates.

Two loud explosions rocked the upper floors of the courthouse at 11:45 a.m. and minutes later deputies rushed hostage Stan Snitker to a waiting patrol car in undetermined condition.

Two other explosions were heard shortly after the first and a dozen police officers rushed through the jail. Other officers swarmed with guns drawn onto the fifth floor patio area and aimed toward windows above them. Still other guards ringed the courthouse square in downtown Amarillo.

The five inmates overpowered Snitker and another guard during the shift change at midnight Monday but the other guard, Don Sidwell, was released yesterday suffering a head wound and a hip injury.

A Baptism Lands Priest In Trouble

MARLBORO, Mass. (UPI) — A priest from New York who baptized a baby here after local church authorities vetoed it because of the mother's beliefs on abortion was in trouble with his superiors today.

Rev. Joseph O'Rourke came here yesterday and baptized Nathaniel Ryan Morreale on the doorstep of the Immaculate Conception Church.

Local church officials with the backing of Cardinal Humberto Medeiros had refused to perform the baptism because of Mrs. Carol Morreale's public support of a woman's right to abortion.

They refused to allow O'Rourke, 36, to use the church itself.

Rev. Joseph Talbot, O'Rourke's superior in the New York province of the Jesuit order, said the action "was expressly forbidden" by O'Rourke's immediate superior, Rev. Frederick B. O'Connor.

"We haven't even begun to discuss possible disciplinary action," Talbot said. He said it was a violation of the Jesuit vow of obedience.

The baptismal ceremony took place shortly after noon yesterday in front of the 100-year-old church, with more than 250 opponents and proponents of abortion rights looking on.

Corte Madera Tax Bills Will Be Higher

A story in yesterday's Independent-Journal, reporting the setting of the Town of Corte Madera tax rate, may have misled Corte Maderans into thinking their tax bills will be lower this year.

Quite the opposite is true.

While on the one hand, city councilmen lowered the town's tax rate by eight cents from $1.37 to $1.29 per $100 assessed valuation, on the other hand, sitting as the board of the Corte Madera Sanitary District, the councilmen raised the district tax rate by 44 cents from 33 to 77 cents.

The net effect was to increase the combined rate by 36 cents.

In addition to the increase in rates, a 19.1 per cent increase in assessed valuation within the town will also contribute to an increase in property owners' tax bills.

Paul Eliopoulos, chief accountant with the county auditor's office, today estimated that the combination of valuation and rate increases would increase the tax bill of the owner of a home valued at $40,000 last year by about $70.

Part of the need for a rate increase is that in 1972, town councilmen, serving as directors of the sanitary district, lent $150,000 to the Corte Madera Redevelopment Agency, which the councilmen also served as directors.

(Council members at that time were Holmes S. Norville, Harold B. Wagstaff and the late Edward W. Colthurst and present incumbents Herber C. Leney and Robert J. Flahive.)

About $120,000 of the money was spent by the redevelopment agency developing plans in connection with a proposed shopping center east of Highway 101. Only about $30,000 was repaid to the sanitary district which incurred a deficit last year.

Most of the money raised by the tax rate increase will be spent on improving sewers.

Drain Block Soaks Hall Of Justice

A mysterious obstruction in a Hall of Justice drainpipe backed up water in one portion of the building yesterday, dampening the private chambers of two judges and wreaking havoc with telephone lines.

Such backups are not uncommon, but, unlike the blockage yesterday, usually are caused by County Jail inmates flushing clothing down toilets.

The water poured out of floor drains in the sheriff's shower room, flowed inch-deep through the locker area into the nearby squad room and seeped through the floor into the security tunnel used to take inmates to court appearances. From there it flowed into the private office of Superior Court Judges Henry J. Broderick and Joseph G. Wilson.

The water shorted out telephone communications to the sheriff's department, first causing phones to ring when nobody was on the line, then knocking out the ringing altogether. Later the obstruction was flushed out.

Sugar Quotas May End Before December Date

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal sugar marketing quotas, currently due to end Dec. 31, may be lifted several months ahead of schedule according to trade sources here.

The sources said Agriculture Department officials are studying the possibility of eliminating quotas for the remainder of 1974 by administrative action. Beginning next January, the quota program will be legally dead unless Congress decides to reverse a June House vote to discontinue the control system.

The House vote killed a bill which would have extended the 40-year-old sugar control program for five more years, beginning in 1975.

CREATING IN FAIRFAX

Underground Cartoons Pay Off

By NELS JOHNSON

Wonder Wart Hog, Norbert the Narc, Dealer McDope, the Leather Nun and the Fabulous Furry Freak Brothers are alive and well in Fairfax.

The funky characters aren't members of a local rock band or performers in a kinky theatrical production.

They're cartoon protagonists, products of the fertile imaginations of David Sheridan and Gilbert Shelton, two hip artists who make a living by drawing absurd comic strips for publications with names like Zap and Feds 'N Heads.

Sheridan and Shelton are members of a select group of cartoonists who produce underground comics, sometimes not-so-funny funnies found in hip bookstores and head shops across the nation.

Sheridan of Fairfax and Shelton of San Francisco, two of the best-known cartoonists in the underground comic book field, explained that their art is so called because the works they produce aren't distributed at traditional comic book outlets like drugstores and supermarkets.

This is because underground comics are often X-rated, free-wheeling satirical works dealing irreverently with subjects that would make middle America blush. They're believed not fit for general consumption. They don't carry the coveted Comics Code seal of approval.

Despite the apparently limited appeal of underground comics, Sheridan, 31, and Shelton, 34, say their efforts earn a total of about $15,000 annually. The money is for work done on comic books, single-panel cartoons for various publications, and record album covers, among other projects.

The artists, who have churned out looney cartoons for years, teamed up several months ago to develop new characters and work on mutual projects.

They're currently at work in Sheridan's Fairfax studio on a four-page comic strip for next January's edition of "Playboy Magazine." They've devoted more than seven weeks to the project, for which they'll be paid $4,000.

Shelton, creator of a strip entitled The Fabulous Furry Freak Brothers that has received wide publication in underground newspapers, explained that a representative of the magazine called last year to order a Freak Brothers strip.

In the Playboy strip, the Freak Brothers — three stoned dropouts who bumble their way through the psychedelic scene — romp through a 1950s party in a satire of nostalgia.

The cartoonists said that although they have some qualms about drawing for an establishment, above-ground publication like Playboy, "the price is right."

Sheridan and Shelton are also working on a weekly strip entitled Fat Freddy's Cat that will be appearing in the Berkeley Barb and a Marin weekly, among others.

"We're not considered successful by professional cartoonists, but in the underground world we're well-to-do," said Sheridan, noting that the Playboy and newspaper strips will introduce their work to an audience far larger than they have previously reached.

Sheridan, a native of Cleveland, attended the Cleveland Institute of Art and served a stint with the Army working on a television production unit in Ethiopia.

He moved to Marin in 1969 and began cartooning for Rip Off Press, a San Francisco publishing house. Since then, he's filled three comic books and portions of a dozen others with tales of characters like Dealer McDope and The Leather Nun. He recently completed an album cover for bluesman John Lee Hooker.

Shelton, a native of Dallas, who speaks with a douthern drawl, graduated from the University of Texas with a bachelor's degree in history and credits that included reams of cartooning work for the college magazine. A former first class boy scout, Shelton also logged illustration work with local scouting publications.

Shelton moved to the Bay Area in 1968, became vice president of Rip Off Press, and continued to pen the misadventures of creations like Wonder Wart Hog and Norbert the Narc. He estimates he has drawn more than 1,000 comic strips over the years.

Why don't the artists seek to become professional illustrators, rather than remain in the unheralded world of underground comics?

"We like to draw, yes. But there is total freedom in underground comics and cartoons. You're on your own," said Sheridan.

Larkspur Offers Fall Program

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission will offer a variety of activities during its fall recreation program which begins Oct. 7.

Classes will be offered in adult and children's tennis, modern dance, crafts, guitar, golf, archery, tumbling and ice skating. Supervised games will be conducted on playgrounds at Henry C. Hall and Larkspur-Corte Madera schools according to Sheldon Zatkin, recreation supervisor.

Further information is available at Larkspur City Hall. Registration begins Sept. 16.

Suitcase Takes A Surprise Exit

UNION, Mo. (UPI) — An Army officer's clothes were soaked in shaving lotion when his suitcase fell 6,500 feet from an airplane and landed on a driveway 50 feet from a sunbathing girl.

"It was just one of those rare, freaky things," said Mrs. Jane Hasenbeck, whose daughter was sunbathing in the backyard when the suitcase landed about 50 feet from her. The girl said she heard nothing.

A sheriff's deputy said a shaving lotion bottle was broken but the suitcase was only dented.

The pilot of a Skyways Airlines plane, which was commuting between St. Louis and the Army base, told deputies the luggage compartment of the twin-engined Beechcraft accidentally opened at 6,500 feet Monday.

Auditions For Play Announced

Mill Valley Center for Performing Arts has announced auditions for "the World of Art Hoppe" at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow and 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse, 267 Buena Vista Avenue.

Characters needed are a young man and woman and an older man and woman. No experience is required.

Also sought are painters, stagehands, technicians and other production assistants.

Seven performances are scheduled from Sept. 13 to Oct. 5. The play is directed by Allen Seaman and produced by Russell Compton.

Quentin Officer Speared During Rounds In Prison's North Block

A San Quentin officer was slightly injured today when a prisoner threw a makeshift spear at him, hitting him in the arm.

A prison spokesman, who did not identify the guard, said the man was given a tetanus shot at Marin General Hospital and returned to duty.

The prisoner, Warren D. Jordan, 25, serving a life sentence after first degree murder, assault and robbery convictions in Los Angeles County, threw the spear as the officer passed by on a 4 a.m. count, the spokesman said.

The weapon had been fashioned from rolled up papers soaked in water with a sharpened toothbrush handle as a point. Jordan has a past history of such assaults, according to prison officials.

The incident took place in the North Block segregation unit.

Meanwhile, the prison's West Block, a less rigid unit where convicts normally leave their cells in the daytime for jobs, remained mainly locked down today in the wake of the stabbing of a prisoner there Monday night.

Three suspects have been isolated since the attack and a weapon, a prisonmade knife, found, officials said. Further investigation was continuing today, however, and most convicts in the honor block were being held in their cells.

County Administrator In 'Big Brother' Role

Independent Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
24 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1974 EDITORIAL PAGE

Back in Washington, the secret government, "Big Brother knows best" mentality is being swept out by a down-to-earth Michigander in the White House. But the fallacy survives in the Marin County Civic Center.

From time to time, we have called attention to the penchant of our county supervisors to imagine that they have been elected as high factotums of the county, rather than merely as governing board for the unincorporated areas and agents of the state in administering such things as the judicial system and welfare and public health programs.

THE LATEST evidence of self-inflation at the Civic Center, however, comes not from the elected supervisors but from their hired governmental housekeeper, County Administrator John F. Barrows.

The county administrator has written all of Marin's city managers, urging them to persuade their city councils to abandon public interviews of job applicants.

It seems the non-elected, non-policy making county administrator is upset over recent public interviews of city administrator applicants in Fairfax and San Anselmo. He fears these may start a dangerous trend.

Barrows urged the city managers to "make the strongest possible effort to avoid further expansion of the public interview process for high level public positions in Marin County."

In other words, city managers, be like the county administrator: usurp policy making, if you can.

THERE ARE arguments both for and against public interviews of public job applicants.

Mitigating against public interviews are arguments that: (1) Many qualified persons will not apply if they face such interviews, since to do so might imperil the jobs they already hold. (2) The board or council doing the hiring can more freely quiz the applicant out of the public eye. (3) There is not much public interest in the interviews, anyhow (an argument Barrows advanced, pointing to small turnout for the sessions in Fairfax and San Anselmo).

Arguments in favor of the process include: (1) A person seeking a high public position exposes himself to full public inquiry when he must run for election; therefore, if he seeks the position without election, he should be given the maximum possible public exposure prior to being hired or rejected. (2) Since the people's money pays his salary, and since he will make decisions affecting the public, the people are entitled to know about him in advance. (3) An unsavory chapter in an applicant's history may more easily be concealed when his name is not made public and he is not brought before the people prior to being hired.

HOW MARIN'S 11 city councils weigh these considerations is up to them. Some of them, no doubt, will stick to the closed door interivew. Others may opt for full public discussion.

But none of them need look to their hired city managers, nor to a hireling in the county's Civic Center, for instructions or advice on how to do it. The men and women elected by the public are answerable to the public — not to John F. Barrows.

"Did I dream it all, kitty, or was it real?"

Suppression Of The Press —Kentucky Mountaineer Style

WHITESBURG, Ky. — The Mountain Eagle has been burned out. It is not the first trouble the weekly paper has had in its stormy history in Letcher County and not the last, either. Events already have proven that. But it is a considerable inconvenience.

The Eagle is the only voice hereabouts for all the mountaineers who are neither steel stockholders, mine operators, public officials, truckers, policemen nor union officers — who are just plain working Kentuckians.

Tom Gish, who runs it, is the most soft-spoken of men. He has a neat reddish beard fringed with gray, and he shares operation of the paper with his wife, Pat. But something like a Jekyll-Hyde conversion comes over him when he approaches a typewriter.

Then he is very direct and specific and frequently embarrassing to the powers that be. In a town of this size and tradition, that leads to trouble.

OVER THE PAST 17 years, Gish has been shut out of town and county meetings repeatedly, but he has gone on insisting on the public's right to know its own business. Now and then it seems he has prevailed, but the quaint notion of doing the public's business in private keeps recurring — as recently as two weeks ago, when the county fiscal court entertained a resolution barring anyone from the Eagle.

He has bitterly fought strip mining, which has ruined the creeks and hills of Letcher County, and for that he has been boycotted by major advertisers who believe strip mining is what keeps them going. But the Eagle has survived.

He has opposed the truckers who haul stripped coal, who overload their trucks and break up the roads paid for by ordinary citizens. The truckers have threatened him.

He has quarreled with the United Mine Workers of America, which left many retired miners without the pension they depended on. That has strained his friendship with men he otherwise cherishes.

He has made the Eagle read and respected far beyond the county, beyond Appalachia and its colonies in Detroit, Dayton and the other industrial cities to which young mountaineers have migrated.

THIS SPRING and summer, he has been at serious odds with the local police. Gish believes they have let the new hardware and manpower bought by federal funds go to their heads. They have been harassing local youngsters for flimsy reasons and generally making nuisances of themselves. This Eagle campaign has brought threats, too.

There is no established connection between what Gish has printed this summer and what happened the night of Aug. 1 — and since. That night a fire broke out in the Eagle's messy old office on Main Street. It burned long before firemen extinguished it. Most of the paper's equipment and files were ruined.

That would have given some men a handy excuse to pack up and go back to a city, where man and wife together could earn a plump income in journalism. What the Gishes did instead was start pushing charred things aside to get ready for the next week's issue. That was when the fire chief ordered their building condemned, forcing them out.

So they moved the reporting and make-up operation into their own living and dining rooms, where they and their children and volunteer assistants spread out in amiable chaos until the pages were sent off with 17-year-old Ben to the printer in Prestonsburg. When he came back, the assembly hand-addressed the whole mailing list, and the Eagle came out only 12 hours late.

Just about when they were sighing that that was done, Pat and the crew went down to clean up the condemned office and found what they had suspected but hoped against: kerosene stains, clear evidence of arson. They reported their find, and the fire chief confirmed it. Then they went back home to work on the forthcoming issue.

THE NEXT BLOW, has not materialized yet. At this writing it is just a rumor — that the city is going to close their temporary publication at home because it violates zoning rules. If it comes, Gish will find a way to print, somewhere, somehow.

Meanwhile, it may be a useful influence on events in Whitesburg if the authorities realize the rest of the world knows what is happening here.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Nixon Scandals Strengthen Conservatism

WASHINGTON — There is little doubt that the scandals in the Nixon administration are strengthening conservative forces in the United States.

The visible public displeasure with everything connected with the name of Watergate is not primarily aiding the Democratic Party, is not appreciably hurting the Republican Party; it is augmenting the voice of conservatism.

Today many if not most conservatives are unhappy with both parties.

THIS IS ONE of the most striking and significant political developments in post-Watergate America.

It isn't just pervasive distaste for the offenses cited in the articles of impeachment. It is the mounting centralization of personal power in the hands of the president and the lack of restraint in using such power which most offends and scares conservatives.

It is not only traditional conservatives who are becoming alienated from an administration they thought was devoted to their cause; there are liberals who are becoming disillusioned with traditional liberalism and who are feeling uncertain and uncomfortable.

It is happening on both sides of the political center.

TIME WAS WHEN MOST liberals took certain political facts as given without further questioning. Franklin Roosevelt was their hero, Democrats constituted their party automatically, and a strong central government was accepted uncritically as the assured means of creating the good society.

Many Americans, including traditional liberals, are today changing their minds on these matters for a variety of reasons. Some because they accept the judgment of Daniel Moynihan that the federal government "is good at collecting taxes but bad at dispensing services." Others because they have seen that the big antipoverty programs of Lyndon Johnson did not come near to fulfilling their promises. And most of all because they see big government — and big presidency — endangering the liberties of a free society.

THE MAN WHO HAS best described this mental and political transformation of many Americans is Haynes Johnson, who has gone through the experience himself and who has written about it in an article called "The Odyssey of a New Conservative."

Haynes Johnson is a Pulitzer Prize-winning correspondent of the Washington Post, author of such books as "The Bay of Pigs," "Fulbright: the Dissenter" and "Lyndon" — some of which he says he would write differently today — and one whom David Halberstam might describe as one of "the best and the brightest." Here is the theme of his own political odyssey:

"I find myself in a peculiar position," he wrote a few days ago. "In private conversation with such as George Will and James Buckley (Will, the Washington columnist of conservative National Review, and Buckley, the Conservative New York senator) I discover far more areas of intellectual agreement than disagreement. I want to limit the powers of the state, to preserve the delicate checks and balances so carefully crafted into our Constitution nearly two centuries ago and to protect the individual against the tyranny of the mob.

"I AM A NEW conservative with no place to go politically. I long ago cast off any allegiance to the Democrats as a party.

"I am not sure any more what either they or the Republicans represent.

"Old liberals have become new conservatives, and old conservatives have become — what? I say all this because I suspect many Americans today share my disquiet."

They do.

Union Member's Version Of Auto Mechanic Strike

In reply to Mr. John Simontacchi's letter of Aug. 6 I think we should try and set the facts straight.

First, in my opinion our (machinist) union officials have not acted most irresponsibly. As a memberof the negotiating committee, but not a union official, I have had a first-hand opportunity to witness the facts leading to and the settling of our auto mechanics' strike. We held seven meetings with Mr. McElroy and his committee in which very little headway was made. At our last meeting we were given a firm and final offer to take back to our membership. In it was a fairly good wage increase if it were accompanied by a cost of living clause, which most trade unions already have in their contracts. The employers flatly rejected any talk of a cost of living clause. . . We were offered some improvements in our sick leave and holiday program but none in our vacation schedule. We were offered a small increase in our pension program but which still left us far behind Oakland and San Francisco. The employers rejected a pay program for apprentices while attending school which Oakland and San Francisco have had for years. Our most important health and welfare program (hospital plan) they refused to keep us at our current standard. . .We did take it back to our membership and they voted by a 4to-1 margin to reject their proposal and go on strike.

It was 10 days before the employers were willing to start negotiating again. In the six-week strike they would only talk with us twice. Nothing fruitful came at either of these meetings. The union was then served with a lawsuit claiming the strike was illegal. As was pointed out, some language was inserted in our old contract that was not negotiated or even discussed (nobody seems to know how it got there) that seemed to say we could not go on strike, but had to work on a year to year basis at our old rates until we agreed on a new contract. . .The employers then gave us a proposal which we took back to the membership. They voted by a 2-to-1 margin, not 3-to-1 as reported, to accept their proposal. . .

Their offer amounted to a 33 per cent increase at the end of three years, not 37 per cent as reported, and only if every member takes his full sick leave and is entitled to a three-week vacation, which the majority is not. It did include a maintenance of benefits on our health and welfare program. . . It did not include a much-needed cost of living clause. Our apprentices will finally be paid some for going to school but nowhere near the other areas' pay rate. . .

Watergate Ethics And Legislators' Pensions

I was pleased to hear state controller candidate Bagley on a news broadcast predict that the Watergate scandal would bring about a higher standard of political ethics.

I suggest that Mr. Bagley initiate this reformation by introducing legislation making his — and his fellow legislators' — retirement in some measure commensurate with their length of time in public office. The retirement benefits, and other perks, that Bagley and his colleagues have voted themselves are unconscionable.

There must be many men in San Quentin for stealing far less than former Speaker Moretti will receive in unearned pension benefits. The difference is that, unlike our legislators, the poor stiff in San Quentin couldn't pass a bill making his theft legal. It is my taxes that Moretti was gifted while I am struggling to make ends meet — and I resent it.

"Politician" will cease being an appellation of contempt when politicians cease putting their own political and financial interests first and the public's interest a very distant second. And I ain't yet seen much of that in Sacramento!

Library Association Needs Active Members

As a charter member and chairman of the San Rafael Library Association, I do not give an expired library card whether that organization lives or dies.

As a librarian and nine-year resident of this city, I care very much that we have a library that is decent, sanitary and safe, accessible and inviting to all.

I care that we have a library where we may borrow reading material, do reference work, enjoy works of art and hold community meetings.

I care that there is no way for the handicapped person to negotiate the stairs to the main reading room. I recall that in 1966, the city council voted down funds for an alteration to the building which would have provided a sheltered ramp from the outside into the building.

Yesterday, I drove past and saw six Volkswagens parked in a row in the six parking spaces allotted to the library. Somehow, there was symbolism in this. Volkswagen drivers generally being thought to be careful about where they put their money. In these times of upward spiralling prices, borrowing books and records from our free library is the best recreational, educational and inspiratinal bargain to be had.

Our library association will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the San Rafael Library, that lovely, Carnegie-endowed edifice at Fifth and E Streets. As of now, the association has plans that could take us through 1984.

But plans need people. Do yourself a favor. Support your friendly, neighborhood library association. Dues are nominal. Come to our Aug. 21 meeting and join.

Youthful Enthusiasm Deserves Appreciation

I would like to add my voice to those who have disagreed with Mr. Genese's criticism of the young Sunset Players' production of "Mame."

Judging by the applause on the night I attended, the audience found much to enjoy and praise in the performance.

Here's hoping that the next time a performance representing many weeks of devoted effort by a group of young people is presented, you can send a critic who is capable of appreciating rather than ridiculing "youthful enthusiasm."

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"We are going at top speed and we are using all our natural resources as fast as we can. If we want to build something out of wood, all we got to do is go and cut down a tree and build it. We didn't have to plant the tree. Nature did that before we come.

"Suppose we couldn't build something out of wood till we found a tree that we had purposely planted. Say, we never would get it built. Suppose we didn't have any coal and had to ship it in? If we want any more oil, we bore a well and get some. But when our resources run out, if we can still be ahead of other nations, then will be the time to brag; then we can show whether we are really superior." — May 26, 1928.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Greed Of Legislators Courts Voter Reprisals

By EARL G. WATERS

California lawmakers, despite all of the warning signals of recent events, seem determined to play Russian roulette in the matter of their salaries and fringe benefits. They are acting as if they have a political death wish.

If the public reaction to the excesses in personal enrichment they have voted themselves does not result in individual defeats at the polls, it is surely building to where the voters will act through an initiative to strip them of many of the emoluments which they have taken for themselves.

The hazard of being voted out of office is obvious. The risks involved in having legislative compensation spelled out in an initiative seem to be escaping them. But history will show that when those entrusted with responsibility do not act with discretion and within the bounds of reasonableness, the corrective measures taken in reaction are inevitably harsh. The Legislature's failure to respond to public demands for environmental protection of the coastline and for campaign and lobby reforms provide recent examples of overkill initiative actions.

HARDLY ANYONE would contend that those serving in the Legislature should be put to undue personal financial hardships. But hardly anyone will condone those serving becoming enriched on public pay. The taxpayers have an antipathy to being plucked like chickens.

Holders of elective office seek that office knowing what the salary will be. They should not expect annual cost-of-living adjustments accorded wage earners. The American form of government is based upon citizen participation. Every citizen is expected to make some sacrifices so that the system will work. Jury duty is a good example of that and the compensation for such duty is a pittance. So is that for most of the memberships on local government boards and commissions and many city councils. So is it for many state boards and commissions.

But, in contriving the fiction that the Legislature is a full-time occupation, the lawmakers not only won themselves an excessive salary but have taken for themselves many other fringe benefits.

They have given themselves automobiles and unlimited gasoline credit cards. They have given themselves year-around campaign offices, euphemistically termed "district legislative offices," and staffed them with political employees attentive to re-election needs. Add to this their unlimited telephone credit cards and their tax-paid "news letters" and one can see why it is difficult to unseat an incumbent. In addition to their salaries, other direct cash benefits handed them are the $30 a day "away from home" living expenses seven days a week, prepaid health insurance in excess of that given to state employees, and an unconscionable retirement benefit.

No Problem Seen Confirming Rocky

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, said today confirmation of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president should take no more than eight weeks — the same time it took to approve Gerald Ford for the job last year.

Rep. Edward Hutchinson, a Michigan conservative, said he believes the confirmation process should be "relatively easy," despite questions raised about Rockefeller's enormous wealth.

"Admittedly he is a man of great personal wealth, but very clearly none of it was ever gained in public office," Hutchinson said.

Under provisions of the 25th Amendment, Rockefeller must be confirmed by both the House and Senate. The House Judiciary Committee and the Senate Rules Committee, chaired by Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., will conduct the confirmation hearings.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott today urged the Senate "to move as expeditiously as possible" in the confirmation and said he thought hearings would begin as soon as the Senate receives FBI reports on Rockefeller. Scott said the hearings could not begin until after Labor Day.

Rockefeller To Tell All Financially

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Multi-millionaire Nelson A. Rockefeller has told Congressional leaders he is willling to put his extensive financial holdings into a blind trust, assuming Congress confirms him as Gerald Ford's vice president.

The former New York governor said he would answer fully during confirmation hearings any questions about his financial situation and was prepared to give Senate and House committees his income tax returns and a complete financial report.

When a reporter asked him yesterday how much he is worth, Rockefeller replied in a somewhat apologetic tone:

"You're not a member of the Congress."

Reagan Presidential Hopes Seem Finished

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The chances of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan running for president or vice president in 1976 or four years later seemed to go out the window yesterday.

"The possibilities now are very remote," said one longtime political associate of Reagan, once tagged the "fastest rising Republican star of the West."

Reagan, 63, who will retire this year after two terms as chief executive of the nation's most populous state, has crisscrossed the country as a GOP fundraiser for years looking and sounding like a presidential contender. He usually led in the polls.

He has never said publicly that he wanted to be president, insisting "the office seeks the man." He consistently has said he would announce his decision in 1975.

But President Ford's nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as his vice president seemed to dash cold water on any hopes Reagan might have had for getting himself installed as a running mate in 1976.

Then came Rockefeller's report that Ford indicated he had "every intention" of seeking a full term at the next national election.

Reagan said after the announcement of Ford's nomination the development had "no effect" on his plans to embark next year on a nationwide speaking tour to further spread his conservative political philosophy.

For 1976, Reagan seemed counted out because he probably wouldn't challenge an incumbent Republican president. For 1980, he seemed a highly unlikely contender because he will be 69 years old.

"It appears to me that there's very little chance for the governor to hold either of the nation's highest offices now, unless something very unexpected happened," said an adviser who asked not to be named.

Political Reformer Will Speak Tomorrow

Edwin Koupal, founder and executive director of People's Lobby which sponsored the 1974 California political reform initiative, will speak on political reform tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

The event is sponsored by People's Lobby and Californians for Safe Nuclear Energy. Tickets are $2.50 general admission and $1 for students.

Goldwater Not Happy Rockefeller Chosen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson Rockefeller's nomination as vice president doesn't sit well with Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, who says it won't go over with rank-and-file Republicans and may deepen rather than heal party wounds.

"I can support it," Goldwater said in an interview yesterday, shortly after Rockefeller's nomination was announced by President Ford.

"He's very well qualified. But I don't know what it's going to do to the Republican party ... he's not the one to put the party together."

The senator also suggested that if Ford runs for president in 1976 he should dump Rockefeller, now 66, in favor of "a younger man."

Goldwater, an Arizona conservative who beat the liberal Rockefeller for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, seemed still to be bitter over Rockefeller's lukewarm support of the Republican tickets in 1964 and 1968.

Goldwater's supporters booed Rockefeller at the 1964 GOP Convention when he offered a concilatory speech.

"He ducked at least two presidential races...," Goldwater said. "The problem I have as a conservative Republican is people going out before Republicans in this country and extolling him. It won't go over."

Rockefeller shrugged off Goldwater's remarks when they were reported to him.

"I think we face so many difficult problems of such serious character that all of us should concentrate on uniting the nation of a bipartisan basis and not worry about politics," he said.

Another senior Republican, who asked not to be named, was more blunt: "Barry should have kept his mouth shut."

Appearing before television cameras later in the day, Goldwater rowed back on his criticism of Rockefeller and said he would support a Ford-Rockefeller ticket in 1976 if they were the party's choice.

Marshal Is Negotiating On Subpoena For Nixon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The U.S. marshal who is to hand Richard Nixon the former President's first Watergate-related subpoena says he is negotiating with Nixon's staff to do it privately, and he won't say when or where that will be.

"I will make a professional and discreet service on Mr. Nixon," Gaylord Campbell, marshal for the central district of California, said Monday.

The subpoena, from the court of U.S. District Judge John Sirica in Washington, D.C., arrived at Campbell's office Monday. He is expected to go to San Clemente, where the former President has been in seclusion since his resignation, to serve it on Nixon.

Campbell has already said that the subpoena must be handed to Nixon personally, not given to a lawyer.

"Due to the unique nature of the case, I am negotiating with Mr. Nixon's representatives for a mutual agreement on time and place of service," Campbell said. "I will not give out the time or date of the arrangements."

Campbell, who was appointed to the marshal's post by Nixon in 1969, said he had not been ordered or pressured to handle the serving that way, by Nixon's representatives or anyone else, but thought of it himself. "I orignally started the negotiations," he said. "I felt that was the best way to handle it."

The subpoena calls for Nixon to appear as a witness for the defense next month at the Watergate coverup trial of John Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldeman and other top Nixon White House aides. The subpoena was issued at the request of Ehrlichman, once one of Nixon's most powerful lieutenants.

Strook Wins Primary In Wyoming

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — Thomas Stroock, an Ivy League graduate who moved to cowboy country in 1948, won the Wyoming Republican congressional nomination by easily defeating two political unknowns yesterday.

Dick Jones of Cody upset former Wyoming attorney general Clarence Brimmer for the GOP nomination for governor and Ed Herschler of Kemmerer won the Democratic nomination.

Brimmer was favored by Republican Gov. Stanley K. Hathaway, who did not seek reelection after two four-year terms.

The victory catapaulted Stroock, 48, a Yale graduate and oil broker from Casper, into the November general election race against Rep. Teno Roncalio, D-Wyo., who will be seeking his third straight House term.

Evel Knievel Is Tuning Up

TORONTO (UPI) — Evel Knievel tuned up for his forthcoming mile jump across Idaho's Snake River canyon by soaring over 13 trucks on a motorcycle yesterday at the Canadian National Exhibition.

He told reporters before the jump he was eager to fly his steam-powered "sky cycle" over the Snake River gorge Sept. 8 despite two test shots having failed.

The only try that actually took off fell into the river, he said, and another attempt failed to leave the ramp.

Reagan Joins In Amnesty Stand

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he agrees with President Ford's position on amnesty for draft evaders.

He told newsmen yesterday before speaking to a Republican fund-raising dinner that he opposed unconditional amnesty but the government should be "lenient."

"If any draft evader chooses to come back through the system and admits he was wrong in staying out of the service, then he should be given an opportunity to work to get back into the system," the govennor said.

S. Vietnam Aid Escapes Senate Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today narrowly defeated a move to cut $150 million for South Vietnam from the already sharply reduced defense appropriations bill.

The senators voted 47 to 44 against an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., which would have reduced military aid for South Vietnam from $700 to $550 million.

The Senate acted after Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., read a letter from Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger warning that the proposed reduction would seriously hinder South Vietnam's ability to defend itself.

Proxmire argued strenuously that the South Vietnamese have been doing well and they would continue to with $550 million in military aid — the same amount extended last year.

The Senate voted down the Proxmire effort to further cut the defense bill after defeating a maneuver, 71-21, by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to delete entirely military aid to South Vietnam.

Goldwater had argued that the United States should either live up to its commitment to provide military aid to the Saigon government, or eliminate it entirely.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., announced he would move to set a ceiling of $81 billion on the defense budget.

McClellan presented the $82 billion bill yesterday. It had been pared down by $5 billion from the original administration request of $87 billion. He warned there was a move afoot "to make across-the-board cuts — meat axe cuts."

Solar Heating Under Study By Council In Davis

DAVIS (UPI) — A proposed building code, designed to use the simplest form of solar heating and cut electricity use by 30 per cent, is being studied by the Davis City Council.

If approved, the proposal would require developers to equip new homes and apartments with a number of energy-saving features that could cut an estimated $80 to $100 a year from electricity bills.

In brief, the proposal would require the use of light colored roofs, more windows facing south because they are the most energy efficient in the summer and winter, and natural ventilation or mechanical ventilation using outside air.

The proposal was presented to the City Council earlier this week by a team of researchers from the University of California at Davis

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, August 21st, the 233rd day of 1974 with 132 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

Britain's Princess Margaret was born August 21st, 1930.

Also on this day in history:

In 1940, Leon Trotsky, a prime builder of Soviet Communism, was assassinated in Mexico City where he had lived in exile for three years.

In 1951, the United States ordered construction of the world's first atomic submarine.

In 1968, the Soviet Union and other Warsaw Pact forces invaded Czechoslovakia to choke off a growing drive to free the nation from Moscow's control.

In 1971, three officers and four convicts were killed in an escape attempt at San Quentin prison in California.

A thought for the day: President Woodrow Wilson said: "Sometimes people call me an idealist. Well, that is the way I know I am, an American. America is the only idealistic country in the world."

Reason For Drawing Trumps To Prevent Opponent's Ruff

The chief reason for drawing trumps is to prevent the opponents from ruffing one of your good tricks with a worthless trump. The trouble is that you can't draw your own trumps and still use them.

Opening lead — ♡ K

West opened the king of hearts and South won in the dummy with the ace. Declarer was a confirmed drawer of trumps, so he carefully took the ace, king and queen of trumps before giving any further thought to the hand.

South then wondered what to do about the clubs. He could have made his contract by a rather "fancy" line of play, but he wasn't up to it. Instead, he led a club to dummy's ace and returned a club toward his hand.

The jig was now up. South had to give up three clubs and a heart, losing the game and rubber.

RUFF NEEDED

South could make sure of his contract by ruffing one of his clubs in dummy. This would limit the club loss to two tricks instead of three.

The way to do this is to lead the clubs before drawing trumps. Declarer wins the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts, cashes the ace of clubs and gives up a club. On regaining the lead, South gives up another club. He can eventually ruff a club with dummy's ace of trumps.

Only then can South afford to draw trumps. Somewhere along the way South takes a diamond finesse, and the rest of the hand plays itself.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - A 6 2
♥ - A 10 2
♦ - A Q 8 4
♣ - A 4 3.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond. The hand is too strong for one no-trump, which normally shows 16 to 18 points. This 18-point hand contains all four aces and a ten. Bid it as though it were a 19-point hand.

GENERAL REVENUE SHARING

ACTUAL USE REPORT

General Revenue Sharing provides federal funds directly to local and state governments. Your government must publish a report advising you how these funds have been used or obligated during the year from July 1, 1973, thru June 30, 1974. This is to inform you of your government's priorities and to encourage your participation in decisions on how future funds should be spent.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, will receive sealed bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation, and services required for construction of Marin Exhibit Center, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

Bid shall be in accordance with the Plans, Specifications and Contract Documents prepared therefor, now on file with the Director of Public Works, Administration Building, Marin County Civic Center: William Wesley Peters, Architect, Taliesin Associated Architects.

Plans, Specifications and Contract Documents may be examined at the office, Department of Public Works, Room 304, Civic Center and may be obtained upon payment of $100.00 for each set. Any bidder upon returning such set promptly and in good condition will be refunded his payment. Mailed request shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, P.O. Box 4186, Civic Center, San Rafael, California 94903. Checks should be made payable to the County of Marin.

Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by the County of Marin, in accordance with regulations set forth in "Instructions to Bidders," and shall be accompanied by certified check or bid bond for not less than 5% of the amount of the bid, made payable to the County of Marin, which will constitute a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract and provide specified surety bonds within stipulated time.

Bids shall be sealed and filed with the County Clerk in the Board of Supervisors Clerk's Office, Administration Building, Marin County Civic Center, on or before 2 p.m., PDT, Friday, Sept. 6, 1974.

Proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 p.m. in Room No. 304B, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified.

Bidders and subcontractors shall be licensed at the time of bid date by the Contractor's State License Board of the State of California to perform the work herein described.

A bond will be required for the faithful performance of the Contract in an amount of not less than 100% of the amount of the bid, and a bond will be required to guarantee the payment of wages for services engaged and all bids contracted for materials used in the performance of the Contract in an amount of not less than 100% of the bid.

The Board of Supervisors has made a determination of the prevailing rate of hourly wages applicable to the work to be performed. Copies of this determination are on file in the office of the County Clerk, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and are available to any interested party on request. Copies may be obtained from the Department of Public Works, Room 304, Marin County Civic Center.

The sealed envelope containing the bid and the list of subcontractors shall bear the name of the Contractor and be addressed and delivered to:

The County Clerk, Room 315
Administration Building, Marin County Civic Center
San Rafael, California

The envelope containing the bid shall be endorsed:

CITY OF LARKSPUR NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

HEARING IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Larkspur City Council will hold a public hearing to consider amending sections 18.55.040, 18.55.060 and 18.55.100 of the Larkspur Municipal Code pertaining to the Planned Development District procedure.

Said text amendment would (1) provide a procedure by which individual property owners of parcels within a Planned Development District may apply to be processed individually, and (2) allow the Director of Planning and Community Development to waive required data of the preliminary and precise development plans if he feels an item is unnecessary or unreasonable under the circumstances.

SAID HEARING WILL BE HELD Wednesday, September 4, 1974 by the Larkspur City Council at their regular meeting commencing at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers, Larkspur City Hall.

For further particulars, please consult the ordinance on file in the Department of Planning and Community Development or call Steve Solomon, Associate Planner, 924-7173.

NOTICE INVITING BIDS
SANITARY DISTRICT NO. 5 OF MARIN COUNTY RED HILL PUMPING STATION MODIFICATIONS 1974
TIBURON CALIFORNIA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Sanitary District No. 5 of Marin County, California, will receive up to, but not later than 7:30 o'clock P.M. of the 29th day of August, 1974, at the regular meeting place of the Sanitary Board of said District in the District's Office, Mar West at Paradise Drive, Tiburon, California, sealed bids for the award of a contract for the Red Hill Pumping Station Modifications 1974 in strict accordance with the Plans and Specifications therefore, for said Sanitary District, prepared by John Carollo Engineers and filed in the office of the Secretary of said District.

If bids are mailed, they shall be mailed to the District at P.O. Box 227, Tiburon, California.

Plans and Specifications are on file in the District's office, and may be procured at a cost of Five Dollars ($5.00), which cost is not refundable.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to the order of the District amounting to ten percent (10% of the bid, or by bond in said amount and payable to said District, signed by the bidder and a corporate surety or two individual sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said District in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within fifteen days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the District, the faithful performance of which shall be secured by an undertaking in the amount of one hundrd percent (100%) of the amount so bid, with sureties satisfactory to the said Sanitary Board, and which shall be accompanied by a labor and material bond in a sum equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of said bid.

The Board reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

This Board has determined the general rate of prevailing wages to be as established by the Board of Supervisors of County of Marin pursuant to their Resolution No. 73-383 as adopted on December 4, 1973. Copies of the prevailing wage rates are available with the Secretary and shall be posted on the jobsite.

No wages less than those as determined shall be paid.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISCHARGE REQUIREMENTS (National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit) FOR LAS GALLINAS VALLEY SANITARY DISTRICT - SAN RAFAEL MARIN COUNTY

Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District of Marin County has filed a report of waste discharge and applied for requirements for the discharge of wastes into tidal portions of Miller Creek in San Rafael, California. The Sanitary District is presently discharging approximately 2.10 million gallons per day (mgd) of municipal and Industrial wastewaters from its treatment plant, located at 300 Smith Ranch Road, San Rafael, California. The discharger proposes improvements to this plant which will increase the design capacity to 3.0 mgd.

On the basis of perliminary staff review and application of lawful standards and regulations, the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region, tentatively proposes to issue waste discharge requirements including effluent limitations and special conditions. Persons wishing to comment upon or object to the proposed discharge requirements are invited to submit same in writing to the above address no later than thirty days after date of this notice.* All comments or objections received prior to this date will be considered in the formulation of final determinations regarding the waste discharge. If no objections are received, the Regional Board will issue discharge requirements. A public hearing will be held upon request of any interested person. The waste discharge requirements as proposed are not in complete concurrence with the opinion of the Sanitary District Board. The Report of Waste Discharge, related documents, comments received, and other information is on file and may be inspected or copied at the office of the Regional Board between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on business days.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, light air pollution.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:
San Francisco, light air pollution.
San Jose, significant air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources.

FORECASTS

San Francisco Bay Area: Fair through tomorrow, except for patchy low clouds near the coast extending inland locally tonight and tomorrow morning; high tomorrow in the 60s along the coast and in the 70s inland; low tonight in the 50s; westerly winds to 20 m.p.h. tomorrow afternoon.

Sierra Nevada: Fair through tomorrow; slightly warmer.

Napa and Sonoma valleys: Fair through tomorrow, except for patchy low clouds and fog tomorrow morning; low tonight and high tomorrow at Santa Rosa 50 and 85.

Open Market Policy Seen

VAN WERT, Ohio (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz yesterday predicted President Ford would decide against favoring export controls for farm products.

Speaking at the Farm Focus-USA show, he said that Ford as vice president had called for the United States to "maintain open markets" and, while Ford would have to speak for himself, "it is my feeling that he still feels that way."

He said he would stay on as agriculture secretary if Ford would have him.

Liquor Theft

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Thieves chopped their way through a warehouse wall during the night and stole 7,000 bottles of whisky and 2,500 bottles of champagne, estimated worth $150,000, police said today.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Best Way To Get Vitamins Is Eating A Well-Balanced Diet

The best way to get your vitamins is by eating a well-balanced diet. Yet, many people do not realize how easily this can be done.

Vitamin A, for example, can be found in milk, butter, eggs, liver, kidney and fortified margarine. Your body makes its own vitamin A from carotene-containing leafy dark green and yellow vegetables, such as broccoli, carrots, apricots and winter squash, to name a few. This vitamin is essential for good vision and for healthy skin and hair.

B-COMPLEX VITAMINS (thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, pyridoxine, pantothenic acid and biotin) are found in liver, kidney meats, eggs and milk. Overcooking destroys these vitamins and so does exposure to heat, air or light. All meats, whole grain cereals, eggs and dairy products contain variable amounts of the B-complex group, including vitamin B-12 and folic acid, which are necessary for the formation of healthy red blood cells.

Citrus fruits, berries, tomatoes, peppers, potatoes and cabbage are excellent sources of vitamin C. Vitamin D comes from fish liver oils and vitamin D-fortified milk. Almost everything, including vegetable oils, whole grain cereals and wheat germ contains vitamin E. Leafy vegetables are excellent sources of vitamin E and K.

Of course, the vitamin content of a food may not be the same by the time it reaches the dinner table. It varies considerably with the kind of plant or animal, method of transportation, processing and how it is prepared.

FRESH FOODS obviously are the best sources of vitamins. But when they are overpriced or out of season, substitute frozen or canned fruits and vegetables. Use very little water and add the vegetable after the water is boiling. Proper refrigeration is very important; do not allow foods to be exposed to heat, light and air for long periods of time. If the food must be shredded or peeled, do so immediately before cooking or serving.

A good variety of nutritious foods are available, so there is no need to keep an inadequate or faulty diet.

AGING NOSE GROWS

E. G. writes: As a person grows older, does his nose get larger? My dad is 75, and his nose seems to be getting bigger.

REPLY

Since cartilage continues to grow in old age, the nose and ears may become more prominent.

FATTY TUMORS

T. M. writes: What causes fatty tumors? I never eat fatty foods, but I've had at least 10 of these nasty growths.

REPLY

We don't know the cause of fatty tumors, but it is unusual to develop more than a couple of them. Fortunately, they rarely become malignant.

TALK, TALK, TALK

A reader writes: My constant yakking is driving away my friends and my husband. I can't seem to help myself. Do you think a psychiatrist could solve my problems?

REPLY

Possibly, but he will charge for listening. If you are hyperactive, perhaps you need a tranquilizer.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

IMPACTED TOOTH

V. E. writes: Could an impacted tooth cause some type of epilepsy?

REPLY

No. Victims of epilepsy usually have abnormal brain waves.

SQUEEZING PIMPLES

T. J. writes: My 21-year-old son squeezes his pimples so hard, I'm afraid he is going to damage his skin. Could this practice cause tumors?

REPLY

No, but it may lead to scars, deeper infection or prolongation of his acne.

GAS, CYSTOSCOPY

N. B. writes: Several months ago I had a cystoscopic examination. Since then, I've been suffering from excessive gas in the intestine. Do you think this examination of my urinary bladder is responsible?

REPLY

No. Possible causes of gas include air swallowing, a change in diet, the medications taken or emotional disturbance.

MINIMAL TUBERCULOSIS

W. P. writes: I always thought that when a person developed tuberculosis, he lost his appetite and had cough and fever. I've never had any of these symptoms, but was hospitalized for five months because of TB. I'm 78, have X-rays every six months and feel just fine.

REPLY

We assume you had minimal tuberculosis because you had no symptoms and feel well. Tuberculosis is a tricky disease and may exist for many months before the victim suspects the infection. This is why periodic chest X-rays are recommended, particularly since many more older people are now developing TB.

BLOOD TYPES

S. K. writes: Should a man with Rh negative blood who needed a transfusion get negative or positive blood?

REPLY

Rh negative is preferred. Positive blood may do no harm, if this is the first transfusion. But it may make him sensitive to Rh positive thereafter.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

New Smog Panel Status Gaining

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill making the state Air Resources Board a full-time agency and creating a single smog control district for the South Coast Air Basin has moved a step closer to winning Assembly passage.

The controversial measure (SB1556) by Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, cleared the transportation committee yesterday on a 9-4 vote, the bare minimum required, and went to the ways and means committee.

Meanwhile, transportation committee chairman Ken Meade, D-Berkeley, announced he was resigning as chairman to "avoid confrontation" between him and committee members over his refusal to allow the panel to further consider bills delaying installation deadlines for antismog devices on 1966 through 1970 automobiles in California.

After Meade announced his resignation, acting chairman Bill Lockyer, D-San Leandro,, said the measures would be considered by the committee at a special hearing Friday.

Under the Biddle smog bill, the current part-time Air Resources Board would become a full-time agency and members' salaries would be raised from $11,412 to $30,000 a year.

Currently, six separate local smog control districts in the basin operate independently in the counties of Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Riverside and Ventura. The bill would abolish those districts and establish a new basinwide district with uniform rules, regulations and air monitoring procedures.

Biddle told the committee smog "is a basinwide problem and the only way to solve the basinwide problem is a basinwide board."

Committee members Joe Gonsalves, D-Cerritos, and Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, complained the bill would unfairly require taxpayers of Los Angeles to pay 75 per cent of the costs of operating the proposed regional smog control district.

Both voted against the measure along with Assemblymen Don MacGillvray, R-Santa Barbara, and Robert H. Burke, R-Huntington Beach.

UNDECIDED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he could not accept farm labor legislation which permitted secondary boycotts.

Declining yesterday to discuss specifics of the Legislature's major farm labor bill with reporters, Reagan said, "I do know that I am opposed to one part: I cannot sanction or agree to the idea of secondary boycotts."

The bill by Assemblman Richard Alatorre, D-Los Angeles, was approved by the Assembly Monday with no votes to spare and went to an uncertain future in the Senate.

PLANS KILLED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation rewriting California's century-old tenant-landlord laws and giving renters a greater voice in their housing affairs died in committee yesterday.

Rival measures—one backed apartment owners and the other by renters—were killed in separate hearings.

The Assembly Judiciary Committee killed the landlord-backed measure (SB1288) by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, 3-4 after some members wanted more rights for renters.

Deukmejian's measure — supported by the California Real Estate Association, whose members include landlord interests—was designed to overhaul the state's complex renter law and detail methods to solve some controversies between owners and renters.

The bill was aimed at conforming state law to a recent court decision requiring a landlord to comply with all housing code requirements which materially affect the health and safety of renters.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KRON (4), 7:30 p.m. — "Return of Rock and Roll," a documentary look at the cautious revival of concerts in San Francisco's landmark park, will be presented on "Thirty Minutes." Also included on the program will be an examination of the San Francisco Opera, its impact on Bay Area culture, and its relationship with the San Francisco Symphony.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8 p.m. — "Wonder Woman" and "Men of the Dragon" have encore showings on the "Wednesday Movie of the Week." in "Wonder Woman," the heroine of the comic books joins the American Government to help recover vital documents stolen by an international ring of espionage agents. In "Men of the Dragon," a young American in Hong Kong, whose younger sister is kidnaped for white slavery, embarks on a search to find her, using his powerful martial arts skills in an effort to save her. Kathy Lee Crosby, Ricardo Montalban, Jared Martin, Katie Saylor and Robert Ito star in the double feature.

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 9 p.m. — The disappearance of a faith healer's young protege leads private investigator Cannon to the trail of evangelism and into the seamy carnival atmosphere of barkers and strongmen in "The Cure That Kills," an episode of the dramatic series, "Cannon."

KQED (9), 9:30 p.m. — Blues singer Esther Phillips, who began her career in the 1950s with the Johnny Otis Band as "Little Esther" performs with "Black-Eyed Blues," "Do You Love Me," "Home is Where the Hatred Is" and other selections on "The Boarding House."

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 11:30 p.m. — Steve Allen is the bemused host and Phyllis Diller the envious color commentator for "The Unofficial Miss Las Vegas Showgirl Pageant," which will feature nine beautiful show girls from as many Las Vegas strip hotels. Jayne Meadows, Henny Youngman and Professor Irwin Corey are the judges for the pageant.

Mississippi Floods Of Last Year Worst

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The Mississippi River, which drains more than 40 per cent of America's heartland into the Gulf of Mexico, rose to its worst flood in 37 years in the spring of 1973.

The swollen river caused well over $1 billion in damage in eight states, says the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

So Dedicated, They'll Be Apart

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — Newlyweds J.D. Lynch and Barbara Bennetts take their legislative jobs so seriously they'll forsake year-round conubial bliss under one roof.

Both are Democratic state representatives. Lynch represents Butte while his bride, Barbara, has Helena as her district. The cities are 100 miles apart.

They were married the past weekend and said they would live separately in their districts because "we both agree that we have a commitment to our constituents."

"We will be together during the annual legislatures and during the summers," the new Mrs. Lynch said.

A Model Plane Will Be Used Against Bandits

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Sheriff Mel Bailey said yesterday his department has purchased a model plane with a six-foot wing span which can carry and eject a hand grenade or a smoke bomb for use against snipers taking cover atop tall buildings.

Bailey said in extreme cases the remote-controlled plane could carry an explosive charge to demolish doors behind which criminals might be hiding.

He said the $300 plane can fly at a speed of 60 miles per hour and "under the guidance of an experienced controller (the plane) would be difficult to shoot down from the air.

"It's a simple project," he said, "and I'm surprised someone hasn't thought of it."

609,000 Bounces On A Trampoline

CLEAR LAKE, Iowa (UPI) — Two Clear Lake youths yesterday claimed the world record in tag-team trampoline jumping with a combined total of 145 consecutive hours.

Brad Morel, 12, and Todd Kephart, 13, jumped 72 ½ hours each. They started jumping last Wednesday and finished at 10 a.m. yesterday.

The youths estimated they made 609,000 bounces during the period.

Mrs. Black Picked As Envoy To Ghana

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shirley Temple Black has been nominated U.S. ambassador to Ghana, the White House confirmed yesterday.

Mrs. Black, of Woodside, has represented the United States at the United Nations and in other short-term diplomatic assignments in recent years.

Water Board Approves 4 New Tie-Ins

The North Marin County Water District board, with its supply of water connections dwindling, approved water service for four projects last night. (Another water board story, page 1.)

The total was equivalent to water use by 27 single-family detached homes leaving the remaining supply at 145 equivelent units available until the Russian River-Cotati intertie is constructed in 1977.

(In calculating water usage of new construction, commercial apartment or townhouse, the district calculates its eqquivalent to usage by a single-family detached home.)

Agreements were approved for fire hydrants at the remodeled Nave Shopping Center, no change in units; Barrick Division of land along Laguna Vista Drive, three units; Digital Telephone systems in Ignacio Industrial Park, 14 units, and Bel Marin Commerce Park, 10 units.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

PACHECO RESERVOIR — Authorized awarding O. C. Jones of Berkeley a contract to construct a concrete reservoir at the Pacheco Ranch at a cost of $1,086,000. The bid was 66 per cent higher than estimated and authorization was conditioned on assurance that U.S. Development Corp., which is paying 68.3 per cent of the costs, will pay its share of the overrun.

OCEANA MARIN — Set a tax rate of 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation on lots in Oceana Marin, near Dillon Beach, after receiving only two written protests out of 125 lot owners. The monthly service charge will be dropped from $13 to $3 per connection.

PIPELINE — Awarded Bell Industries, low bidder, a contract to provide 1,700 feet of 16-inch pipeline at a cost of $15,266, which is to be paid by developers of the Western Oaks Townhouse to be served by the line.

OLEMA TANK — In the absence of bids, authorized the staff, if legally sanctioned, to negotiate for an 84,000-gallon water tank to serve the Olema area.

ACT's Cyrano To Be Repeated On Channel 9

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The American Conservatory Theater's production of "Cyrano de Bergerac," filmed by the Public Broadcasting System for nationwide broadcast last February, will be repeated locally on KQED-TV, Channel 9, at 7:45 p.m. on Saturday.

William Ball's production, first presented during ACT's 1972-73 season of repertory in San Francisco, will be revived for an unprecedented third consecutive season this fall. One of the most popular shows in ACT history, the heroic comedy was included in the PBS "Theater in America" series along with other productions by the country's leading resident theater companies.

Peter Donat is seen in the title role, heading a cast of more than 50 players which also features Marsha Mason, Marc Singer, Paul Shenar, Earl Boen, Robert Mooney, Elizabeth Huddle and Henry Hoffman.

Co-directed for television by Ball and Bruce Franchini, the production has scenery by Henry May, costumes by Robert Fletcher, lighting by Danny Franks and music by Lee Hoiby. Edmond Rostand's heroic comedy, written in 1897, was translated by Brian Hooker and adapted for television by Dennis Powers.

Women's Equality Day Is Announced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Representatives has voted to designate next Monday as Women's Equality Day in a resolution saying that "the women of the United States have been treated as second-class citizens."

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., sponsored the measure, which asks the President to "issue a proclamation annually in commemoration of that day in 1920 on which the women of America were first guaranteed the right to vote."

Petaluma's Tax Rate Will Not Change

Petaluma's $1.50 per $100 assessed value tax rate will remain the same this year, the city council has decided.

An ordinance introduced Monday sets the rate at last year's figure even though councilmen earlier had hopes of reducing it by a few cents.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer told the council that, although the cut might be workable, he believed the old rate should be retained as insurance against possible budget problems in the coming months.

The Petaluma City Council also:

SEWERS — Set $8.10 monthly fees for outside sewer connections, despite objections from property owners who said that anything over $5.50 would be unfair.

BUSES — Told Golden Gate Transit District directors that Petaluma should receive a significant share in the anticipated increased service stemming from the district's purchase of 32 new buses.

CONSULTANT — Hired John Scharer of 720 Cindy Lane as a financial consultant to study the city's fiscal system and take over as finance director in April when Cecil G. Gealta, the current director, retires.

WATER — Signed an agreement to participate in the Cotati-Russian River Intertie Aquaduct Project, which is to supply the city with about 18 million gallons per day upon completion in 1977.

POLICE REVIEW — Learned that a group of citizens will meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Kenilworth Recreation Center to discuss formation of a police review commission.

MAPS — Denied an extension of time for Condiotti Enterprises to file final maps for the Westridge Subdivision. A spokesman for the developer asked that the October deadline be extended because the project faced delays from court litigation.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Critic Makes A Bet And Goes Cold Turkey

By FRANK S. SWERTLOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most people watch television for pleasure; I watch it for business — a reviewer for UPI.

"Hey, I bet you can't go without watching television for a week," said a cynical friend of mine.

"You're on," I snapped back with an air of assurance. "Anybody can give up the tube. It isn't like smoking."

The bet was sealed. I wouldn't watch television for seven days of my vacation. It sounded easy.

Then I got jittery — no Mary Tyler Moore or ABC Sports or Johnny Carson for a week. Maybe I was too rash.

I told my wife.

"You'll never give it up," she said. "You can't, you're a TV junkie. You'll go to pieces."

A friend laughed when he heard about it.

"You'll lose," he said. "Not watching TV is un-American. Don't let the boys at the networks hear you're trying to break the habit."

With such confidence behind me, I perused my library for a few good books to bolster my nerves on the trip. I thought of rereading "Gone With the Wind," but dismissed it. NBC will show it in the fall.

I contemplated Flaubert for awhile, then Dante's "Divine Comedy" — a possible for ABC's Wide World of Entertainment? Finally, I succumbed to a satchel full of thrillers and a pile of old magazines — but not one copy of TV Guide.

"We're going to Maine," I huffed at my wife as she puttered around the kitchen.

"Why Maine?" she huffed back.

"I don't think they have electricity," I replied.

She was incredulous.

On our first day on the road, the America changed presidents. It took place at 55 miles per hour, somewhere between Connecticut and Massachusetts.

I was frantic. I stopped at a gas station to dial my friend for a reprieve.

"Not even if the world ended," he said. "A bet's a bet."

I returned to my wife and car —and the radio.

On the second day, we reached Northeast Harbor, Maine.

My wife demanded a Holiday Inn. I refused: "They might have a TV set there."

"Why this place?" my wife asked.

"It's a gold mine," I said. "They don't have a TV antenna and I bet nobody ever heard of cable television in this town."

I was at least half right — the place had no TV.

Day three was the toughest.

I started off on the wrong foot. I read the television section of the newspaper first.

"There's a good movie on tonight," I said to my wife, immediately recognizing my slip.

"Just kidding," I said. She just smiled, and we went to the beach. I just hoped I didn't run into some wise guy with a battery powered Japanese TV.

I didn't and the rest of the day went smoothly.

On the fourth day, a calm came over me. I heard birds sing. I didn't care if I ever watched Barbara Walters or Dick Cavett again. I spoke in full sentences instead of clipped phrases.

The next three days went well. I read a lot and talked a lot. I worked on my tennis game. I played chess.

I was a doer — not a spectator.

This was how it was in my parents day — before TV.

On the seventh day, on the way home, it hit me. I had won. I could walk away from the cyclops — my great 21-inch one-eyed monster.

I called my friend.

"Maybe we can franchise it," he said. "You know, TV-Aholics Anonymous or Un-television."

Befuddled Reviewer Faces New Season

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — Snidely Foon, the noted television critic, returned tanned and fit the other day from Camp Rerun, a summer study facility set aside for TV critics by the three networks.

He was sighted staggering down the boulevard under a load of network press kits for the 1974-75 season. The CBS kit, the largest of the lot, tilted him far to starboard. It weighed four pounds.

"What's new, chum O" he gasped as he set the kits down.

"Haven't you heard? NBC is allowing prereviewing this season."

"Godfrey Daniel," breathed Snidely. "What is that?"

"Prereviewing means you get to review the shows in print before they're on the air. ABC and CBS have allowed it for years."

"Why not NBC?"

"They wanted to surprise the audience. TV critics have been fighting NBC about this for years. They say it violates the constitutional system of checks and balance.

"Besides, everyone knows a program's no good unless a critic says it is."

"So why'd NBC give in?" asked Snidely.

"Some Chicago critics wrote nasty stuff about the old policy and a reader sent NBC an angry post card. Under this kind of pressure, NBC couldn't really do anything else but give in."

"We have that kind of power, hey?" said Snidely, a wicked glint in his eye. "Think I'll rap 'The Waltons' this year. Always wanted to do that."

"But that's a CBS show."

"The network is unimportant. The show is what counts. I learned that at Camp Rerun."

And Snidely added: "All the critics at the camp had to learn how to spell 'profoundly moving.' And that wasn't all.

"On the last day, a feller from New York came up and showed us what to do when we couldn't figure out, say, an original drama with three damns and a nude scene in it."

Leary Fan Admits Try At Extortion

A young woman who dropped out at 16 to follow LSD apostle Timothy Leary turned state's evidence yesterday and admitted trying to extort $20,000 from Joanna Leary of Homestead Valley.

Robin Denise Viertel, 21, implicated herself and Charles Leon Dewald, 36, of San Francisco.

Following her testimony in Marin Municipal Court, Judge Peter Allen Smith bound both defendants over to superior court on charges of burglary and attempted extortion.

Miss Viertel, once a $100-per-week secretary for Mrs. Leary, testified she and Dewald took numerous items from Mrs. Leary's hilltop house.

These included tape recordings, address books, manuscripts written by Leary, a mink coat and stereo equipment.

The two then arranged to sell the property back to Mrs. Leary for $20,000, but were arrested June 6 when they went to a San Francisco hotel to make the transfer.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas hinted in court yesterday that Miss Viertel's decision to testify against herself and Dewald stems from a plea bargain, but he did not elaborate.

Miss Viertel, of Laguna Beach, said she left home at 16 to join the Leary entourage and accompanied the dropout Harvard professor to Europe and Africa after he escaped in 1970 from prison, where he was serving time for possessing marijuana.

While in Switzerland, Leary met Joanna Harcourt-Smith, and she became his companion and took his name, although they apparently never married.

Leary was arrested in Afghanistan in 1972 and returned to the U.S. to continue serving his sentence.

Water Board Passes New Dredge Rule

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — The Golden Gate Bridge District can dredge 24 hours a day for its Larkspur Ferry Terminal, the Regional Water Quality Control board decided yesterday.

The board agreed to rescind an earlier ruling that only six million gallons could be dredged daily during terminal construction, according to a spokesman. Dredging of up to 30 million gallons a day will be permitted under the new resolution approved yesterday.

The regional board had imposed the six-million-gallon limit on the grounds it was needed to prevent pollution of marshland to be built with the dredged spoils.

The bridge district had objected that limiting the dredging to about only eight hours a day would be inefficient and so double the cost of the dredging operation.

GOP Posts Big Gain In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Despite the Republican scandal of Watergate, Republicans picked up more new voters in Florida over the past two years than the Democrats.

In one of the smallest increases in modern Florida history, the Democratic registration between 1972 and 1974 increased by a slim 1,426.

Republicans added 44,074 and independents 21,840.

However, the Democratic party continues to dominate registration, with seven out of every 10 voters signed up in the Democratic column.

The registration figures, compiled after the books closed several weeks ago, show the state has 3,554,788 eligible voters. That includes 2,396,03 Democrats, 1,019,073 Republicans and 139,695 independents.

Reagan Picks Roy Wonder For San Francisco Bench

Roy L. Wonder of San Rafael, a state Workman's Compensation Appeals Board commissioner, has been named by Gov. Ronald Reagan to fill a San Francisco Municipal Court judgeship vacancy.

Wonder, 45, is a graduate of the University of Kansas and earned his law degree at Georgetown University. He was elected to the Republican Central Committee in Los Angeles in 1969.

He and his wife, Barbara, and four children live at 64 Surfwood Court.

Wonder will take a slight pay cut in his new job. He presently earns $37,615 as a commissioner. Municipal court judges' salaries will rise to $37,069 next month.

Wonder has said he plans to move to San Francisco and that he hopes his new job will allow him more time with his family.

Grapes can be grown in almost any part of Minnesota if a suitable site and adapted varieties are used.

Twelve Hospitals Link Emergency Care

CHICAGO (UPI) — Twelve suburban hospitals have developed a regional telemetry system that coordinates their facilities for a mobile emergency care system.

The system allows a physician at a hospital to monitor the blood pressure, temperature and other vital functions of an emergency patient still under the care of a paramedic.

Scientist Finds An Ancient Tool Kit

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A University of California scientist believes he has identified the earliest "tool kit" used by prehistoric men as long as 2.5 million years ago.

The tools were found by anthropologist Glynn Isaac in the same area of Kenya, Africa, where Richard Leakey last year unearthed a human skull believed to be 2.6 million years old.

Caldwell, Pizarro Throw In Action

Supposed To Be A Night Off

PITTSBURGH (AP) — It was supposed to be a night off for pitchers Juan Pizzaro and Mike Caldwell.

Yet both played key roles as the San Francisco Giants came from four runs behind in the ninth inning to edge the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7 in a see-saw game last night that lasted 10 innings and emptied both bullpens.

Pizzaro, a 37-year-old free agent, barely had time to unpack after joining the Pirates yesterday from the Mexican League, yet he was pressed into service after three relievers before him faltered.

"It had been 7-10 days since he last pitched and I wanted to stay away from him if at all possible," said Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh.

Murtaugh had no choice, however, and the well-traveled Pizarro yielded a bases-loaded walk that forced in the winning run in the 10th.

Caldwell pitched eight innings as a starter Saturday, and he had already gone to the locker room and showered when his team entered the ninth trailing 6-2.

"I was going to get dressed when I heard the rally on the radio, so I put my uniform on and went back out," said Caldwell, who wound up pitching the final ⅔ inning in a volunteer performance that earned him his 12th win.

TITO'S DOUBLE — San Francisco Giants' second baseman Tito Fuentes last night slid safely into second base with a double at Pittsburgh. The throw from centerfield eluded Pirates' second baseman Rennie Stennett.

(UPI Telephoto)

That's the way it ended, two showers for Caldwell and too bad for the Pirates.

St. Louis and Philadelphia both lost last night. So for the second night in a row, the Giants spoiled Pittsburgh's chance to gain ground in the National League East.

"When you're out of the race with a month to go, you like to beat the teams that are still in it," said Caldwell. "It shows you still have talent."

"This is the best we've played all year," agreed Giants manager Wes Westrum.

The Pirates led 6-2 when singles by Garry Maddox, Fuentes and Bonds scored the first run of the Giants' big ninth-inning rally. Gary Matthews then doubled and Chris Speier tripled to tie the score. Bruce Miller gave the Giants a 7-6 edge with another single.

The Pirates managed to tie the score again in the bottom half of the inth. Al Oliver opened with his fourth hit, a single, and Willie Stargell was on deck. That's when lefty Caldwell volunteered to relieve righty Elias Sosa and face lefty Stargell.

"The only other pitcher I had in the bullpen was Tom Bradley and he had a stiff arm," said Westrum.

Caldwell wasn't an immediate success, as Oliver scored on a single by Stargell and Richie Zisk's infield roller.

However, he retired the next two batters to end the inning, and the Giants won in the 10th after Morlan walked Fuentes and Bonds and Murtaugh called on Pizarro.

Pizarro walked Speier intentionally before yielding a bases-loaded walk to Miller.

TRIGGER WIN OVER BREWERS

Hunter, Bando, Tenace Are Familiar A's Stars

OAKLAND (AP) — The names of the heroes were familiar for the Oakland A's.

Pitcher Catfish Hunter tossed a three-hitter, Sal Bando drove in the winning run, and Gene Tenace grand-slammed four insurance runs in a 7-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers last night.

Hunter, now 18-10 for the season, had a no-hitter until the sixth inning. A single by Bando sent the A's ahead in the eighth inning, and the grand slam homer by Tenace put the game out of reach.

"I was aware of the no-hitter," said Hunter, who pitched a perfect game in 1968. "I concentrated on the big hitters and it was a little one who got the first hit."

Tim Johnson singled to lead off the sixth inning. The other hits off Hunter were a seventh-inning homer by Darrell Porter and a ninth-inning single by George Scott.

"The turning point in the game was Hunter getting out of trouble in the sixth inning," Oakland manager Alvin Dark said. After Johnson singled, Pedro Garcia was safe on an error. Hunter then retired the next three batters to get out of the jam.

The A's scored their first run in the third inning on a triple by rookie Claudell Washington and a fielder's choice. They broke the game open with six runs in the eighth.

The grand slam homer for Tenace was the fourth of his major league career. The homer lifted his season total of runs batted in to 60. He hopes his homers and RBIs are good selling points in salary negotiations for the 1975 season.

"But I'm sure Mr. Finley will only want to talk about my low batting average," Tenace said. He is hitting only .223.

Bando's game-winning hit came off losing pitcher Eduardo Rodriguez. Bert Campaneris opened the inning with a single, went to second on a sacrifice by Jim Holt, the newest Oakland player, and then stole third.

Bando followed with a single to score Campy. Reggie Jackson also singled, and Joe Rudi walked to load the bases. Tenace then ignited the fireworks with his homer off relief pitcher Bill Travers.

The victory kept the A's five games ahead of Kansas City in the American League West.

The series concludes tonight with John Odom, 1-3, pitching for Oakland.

Garvey Is Up In Arms Over Eagle

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Ed Garvey is up in arms again and he says National Football League players may be out of camp soon.

Garvey, the executive director of the NFL Players Association, was incensed yesterday when he learned that veteran defensive back Kermit Alexander of Philadelphia, vice president of the union, had been given permission to make a deal for himself with another club.

"If their answer to our cooling off period is to get Kermit Alexander out of the league and attack our leadership, this is going to be a long strike," Garvey said. "We've got enough strength to go back in and come on back out--the players know the strength of their union is at stake."

The union called a 14-day cooling off period and allowed players to report to camp beginning last Wednesday. It said, however, that players would walk out of camp at the end of the two weeks if agreement is not reached with the owners.

Coach Mike McCormack said the Eagles, "haven't waived him (Aleaxander) but he's looking on his own. I looked quite honestly at our defense and there was no way he could make the team or help it. Kermit's standing in the strike had

Italian Club Undecided On Its Starter

SAN JOSE — Manager Don Travers hasn't made up his mind who will pitch for the Italian Athletic Club in the opening game of the state Joe DiMaggio League baseball tournament tomorrow, but it doesn't matter. Any one of his four starters would be a brilliant choice.

They are the four Marin County Athletic League all-league pitchers from the last two years, and they are the reason the Corte Madera team will be favored to win in its third straight tourney appearance.

A three-game sweep of the regional tournament at Novato last weekend, including a pair of victories over previously unbeaten Fortuna, earned Italian Club the right to come here. They play San Francisco in the opening round tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.

To show how strong the staff is, Gene Frey, Ed Andersen and Mark Ruggles allowed a total of four runs as they each pitched a complete-game victory in the regionals. And Jeff Lucchesi, the other starter and the MCAL's top pitcher in earned run average last year, wasn't even needed.

Frey and Ruggles were the All-MCAL pitchers in 1973, Lucchesi and Andersen last year. All are Redwood products, Andersen still is. As a junior last season he won nine games, without a loss in leading Redwood to its third straight league championship.

If experience means anything, the state tourney promoters can have Italian Club inscribed on the trophy today. This will be the third tourney for Frey and Ruggles, the second for Andersen. Frey won two games in '72 when Italian Club finished second to Los Angeles.

"We have experience, defense and excellent pitching," says Travers. They also have the MCAL's leading hitter last year, third baseman Phil Bacigalupi, and .400 hitter Gary Latorre. Latorre was the most valuable player of the regional tourney with six hits including two triples and two doubles.

Smith Learning With Raiders

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) — Former San Diego Charger Ron Smith says he has "learned more in three practices" with the Oakland Raiders than during any time in his career.

Smith, among the National Football League's most explosive kick-returners for nine seasons, was obtained from San Diego for two draft picks.

Coach John Madden said he willingly gave up the two selections for Smith, 31.

"He has a lot of individual talent," Madden said. "That's what makes him one of the best."

Recalling Fond Memories Of Youth

In the summer of 1958, I worked for the San Mateo Recreation Department. My job was to check equipment in and out at the city's main park, Central Park.

It was a great job for a lazy 17 year old. There was a big rush around 10 a.m. and another around 4:30 p.m. Other than those two periods of great activity, things were pretty quiet.

THE PARK WAS the habitat of some great individuals. George Ford, the groundskeeper, was a real character. In addition to his grounds keeping duties, he was a real character. In addition to his grounds keeping duties, he announced the nightly softball games and the weekend hardball games. He was always claiming that he used to announce games in the Pacific Coast League and that at this very moment he was considering a very lucrative offer from the Boston Red Sox. When he thought that no one was looking, George would shadow box with buildings and a particularly large oak tree. He never lost a fight.

The park was under the direct guard of one Percy McCloud, patrolman, San Mateo Police Department Reserve Division. Percy was in his 60s. During the school year, he was in charge of the crosswalk at Ninth Avenue and El Camino Real, during the summer his beat was Central Park. Officer Mc Cloud is remembered for the time he showed us his quick draw and came within five inches of shooting himself in the foot. In his defense, it must be reported that at no time while he was on duty did anyone steal the park.

THERE WERE many other regulars. Mrs. Harney owned the concession stand. If she liked you, your Sno-Cone overflowed with syrup. Rich Zanetti, the hook shot king of San Mateo, was also a champion table tennis player. His matches with Frank Catucci were truly masterful. Rich had his hook shooting and table tennis career halted by a marijuana bust.

The male recreation leader was Bob Fitzgerald. He was a school teacher by occupation but a great philosopher by inclination. He was also an inveterate St. Louis Cardinal fan. Whenever he left the equipment room, he would caution me to tell Fred Hutchinson (Cardinal manager) (if he phoned) that he would be back momentarily.

The female director was a new teacher from Cincinnati, Nancy Chapman. She saw me reading the Sporting News one day and told me to watch for a boy she had taught in high school. He had just signed with the Reds. I followed his career in the Northwest League and informed Nancy when he was called up to Seattle in the Coast League.

ONE FRIDAY evening, Seattle was playing in Sacramento and Nancy's student was scheduled to pitch. We took a ride up and saw a great game. Seattle won 2-1 in 10 innings on a basehit that scored a young outfielder named Vada Pinson. After the game, Nancy introduced me to the winning pitcher, "Gary this is Claude Osteen."

Last week, 35-year-odl Claude Osteen was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for 19-year-old Ron Selak from El Cerrito. Selack was the top pitcher in last years North-South High School All Star game at Candlestick.

Hang on, Claude.

MARINER ON SEA — Mariner, shown breezing along waters on Long Island Sound recently, yesterday was eliminated along with Valiant in the America's Cup trials at Newport, R.I.

It's A Sad Ending For Mariner, Valiant

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — It was a mixture of discreet tears, farewell handshakes and goodbye waves and pledges to help the remaining contenders on the Mariner last night when the aluminum-hulled 12- meter yacht and sister ship Valiant was eliminated from trials to pick an American Cup defender.

"It doesn't come as a surprise," Commodore George Hinman, Mariner syndicate head, said after the announcement by the selection committee. It was a formal statement from Commodore Henry Morgan, chairman of the New York Yacht Club selection committee after the sixth race of the crucial final trials.

"Ive been on the selection committee a long while," Hinman said. "I know how they react and I think when we lose this much, as we did today in light air, that we couldn't be picked. It has been a long summer but I just hope we're made a contribution to the cup and I think we have."

It leaves head-to-head races between twice-defender Intrepid and co-favorite Courageous in the choppy Atlantic. The committee has until Sept. 3 to pick a 12 to defend the Cup against the French or Australians beginning one week later.

Intrepid put wooden contender Valiant away for good on Tuesday, beating her in light air by 10:10 on a course shorted to 19.8 miles. Courageous, beating Mariner by 8:10 in a race that started 15 minutes later, came within 1:27 of beating Valiant and most probably would have, had the course remained the normal 24.3 miles.

Intrepid dominates the trials statistically, leading the overall racing 19-6 to 15-8 for Courageous. She has edged Courageous in their pairings 7-5 thus far.

Mariner, missing the entire observation trial series in July while she was rebuilt amidships, bowed out with a 5-6 mark. Valiant was 1-20, her only win coming on a protest decision back in June.

The new arrangement will give the committee an opportunity to evaluate Courageous, a new aluminum 12, and 1967 and 1970 defender Intrepid on a daily basis in all sorts of wind conditions. So far in the final trials, the air has remained light, with breezes of 5-7 knots.

San Rafael Travel Wins Drake Title

San Rafael Travel reigns today as the 1974 champion of the adult division of the Drake summer basketball league, following a 67-62 victory over High Hopes last night in the title game at the San Anselmo school.

Bill Smith scored 20 points for the winners, offsetting a 19-point effort by Wil Garner of High Hopes.

Hitting Homers Creates Problems For Dave Lopes

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Hitting home runs can have its drawbacks.

Los Angeles' Dave Lopes doubled his home run total for the season yesterday when he blasted three shots, in addition to a double and a single, in the Dodgers' 18-8 rout of the Chicago Cubs. The 5-foot-9, 175-pound second baseman quickly paid the price.

After belting two of his homers and a double in his first three times at-bat, Lopes found his head being used as a target by reliever Dave LaRoche in the fourth inning. LaRoche was eventually pounded for 11 runs and 15 hits in 4 1-3 innings.

"Nobody is going to throw at my head and get away with it," vowed an angry Lopes.

Lopes' five hits contributed to the Dodgers' 24-hit attack that also included homers by Jimmy Wynn, Steve Garvey and Willie Crawford. The six homers and 24 hits were the most for the Dodgers in one game since the team moved to Los Angeles from Brooklyn in 1958.

Reds 7, Phillies 1

Johnny Bench belted a three-run homer and Joe Morgan, who had two homers the night before, added a solo shot to power Cincinnati over Philadelphia and keep the Reds 2 ½ games behind first place Los Angeles in the West Division.

Braves 8, Cardinals 6

Darrell Evans' two-run homer and triple and three hits apiece by Henry Aaron and Marty Perez led Atlanta past St. Louis. Perez' homer capped a four-run second inning for the Braves. St. Louis' Lou Brock stole his 85th base, moving him to within 19 of Maury Wills' single season record of 104 set in 1962.

Astros 6, Mets 2

Lee May slammed his 19th homer to spark a 12-hit attack and James Rodney Richard, with relief help from Mike Cosgrove, recorded his first victory of the season in Houston's win over New York.

Padres 3, Expos 0

Willie McCovey smacked a three-run homer and rookie Dave Freisleben tossed a three-hitter to lead San Diego past Montreal.

Hard Luck Common For Angels' Ryan

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Hard luck is as common to Nolan Ryan as his fastball is unhittable to the rest of the American League.

The 27-year-old right-hander of the California Angels suffered a heartbreaking loss for the second time in two weeks last night when he was beaten 1-0 in 11 innings by the Detroit Tigers despite striking out 19 batters for the second time this season.

Ryan, who lost a game to the Chicago White Sox two weeks ago in which he pitched 8 1-3 innings of no-hit ball, outpitched Mickey Lolich last night but came out on the short end of the score when Bill Freehan lined a run-scoring single with two out in the top of the 11th inning.

Despite losing his 12th game in 29 decisions, Ryan broke his own major league record for most strikeouts in three successive games — 47.

In other AL games, Boston whipped Chicago 8-3, New York nipped Minnesota 2-1, Kansas City blanked Cleveland 2-0, Baltimore edged Texas 2-1 and Oakland topped Milwaukee 7-1.

Red Sox 8, White Sox 3

Dick Drago notched his first complete game since July 8 and Rick Miller collected four hits as the Red Sox boosted their lead in the American League East to 5½ games.

Yankees 2, Twins 1

Pat Dobson scattered seven hits in outdueling Bert Blyleven as the Yankees nipped the Twins.

Royals 2, Indians 0

Tony Solaita and Fran Healy hit fifth inning homers off Gaylord Perry and Lindy McDaniel turned in four innings of two-hit relief to spark the Royals' over the Indians.

Orioles 2, Rangers 1

Mike Cuellar tossed a five-hitter for his 15th win in pitching the Orioles over the Rangers. A run-scoring double by Brooks Robinson and a sacrifice fly by Mark Belanger in the second inning accounted for the Orioles' runs off Jackie Brown, who dropped his 10th game in 19 decisions.

Davis Cup Secretary To Meet With Italians

LONDON (UPI) — Basil Reay, secretary of the Davis Cup nations, said today he will meet with Italian Lawn Tennis Federation official Dr. G. Cameli in London Friday to discuss Italy's refusal to play South Africa.

The two countries are scheduled to play their Davis Cup interzone semifinal in Johannesburg by September 22, but Italian tennis officials say they cannot meet South Africa because of its apartheid policy.

The International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF) said Reay had arranged to meet Dr. Cameli to receive the Italian request not to play in South Africa.

The ILTF statement said: "The Italians report there has been a distinct change of opinion in Italian Government circles in the last three months and they are determined not to allow an Italian sports team to play against a South African team in South Africa or in Italy.

SPITZ SAYS

Records To Fall In Swim

CONCORD (AP) — Mark Spitz, the poster pinup boy of swimming, has six world records still on the books but expects a few to disappear over the next 11 days in the Concord Community Park Pool.

"Every day that goes by, the odds on the records standing get worse," Spitz said yesterday on a visit to the site of the National Amateur Athletic Union long-course championships which begin tomorrow.

"I expect those records to go, and I have a feeling some will go this week," he added. "If they don't, it will mean men's swimming isn't as good as it should be.

"Men's swimming should keep up with the trend."

The women's swimming world record list has virtually been rewritten this year, with East German girls claiming most of the new marks.

The four-day AAU meet will end Sunday, and the top U.S. finishers in each event will stay here to represent their nation in a dual meet with East Germany Aug. 31-Sept. 1.

Spitz set seven world records in his gold medal-collecting trip to the 1972 Munich Olympic Games, then retired from the sport and went into show business.

The Spitz individual records that seem most vulnerable this weekend are the 200-meter butterfly, with Robin Backaus and Steve Gregg threatening, and the 200 freestyle, with Kurt Krumpholz and Tim Shaw possible new kings.

The only active U.S. male swimmer holding a world record is San Rafael's Rick DeMont in the 400-meter freestyle. That event is on tomorrow's opening program, and DeMont's race against the likes of Shaw and Mike Bruner easily could produce a new mark.

Alexander, who played little since joining the Eagles as a free agent two years ago, said he asked to make a deal for himself last season.

Elsewhere, clubs were readying for the second week in which veterans would be playing pre-season games in large numbers. This week's games find the New York Jets at St. Louis Friday night while in Saturday night action, Miami is at Los Angeles, the New York Giants at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia at Oakland, Denver at Green Bay, Dallas at New Orleans, New England at San Diego, Washington at Cleveland and San Francisco at Kansas City. Buffalo is at Minnesota on Sunday while Monday night Detroit is at Cincinnati, Chicago at Baltimore and Atlanta at Houston.

Webster In 'Guarded' Condition

Combined AP & UPI

ELIZABETH, N.J. — Former New York Giants football coach Alex Webster is in guarded condition today in St. Elizabeth's Hospital here, following an apparent heart attack.

Webster, 44, of Sea Girt, N.J., was taken to the hospital yesterday and was placed in the intensive care unit, following an apparent heart seizure earlier in the day.

Webster resigned from the Giants last year, after serving five years as the club's head coach. Webster was a star player with the National Football League Giants from 1955 to 1964, and played college ball at North Carolina State.

Question Of Nerves For Nancy

(Final in a series)

It is a question of nerves.

"I tend to get nervous. It all depends on how my nerves hold out," says San Geronimo National Golf Club champion Nancy Gapinski referring to her chances in the seventh annual Marin County women's Tournament of Champions golf.

Her opponents Friday at 9 a.m. at Indian Valley will be: defending champion Tillie Gondak of Marin Country Club, Laura Cann of Meadow Club, Liz Cole of Peacock Gap, Terry Nichols of Mill Valley and Peg Williams of Indian Valley.

Regarding Indian Valley, Nancy says: "I know the course pretty well. I've played there often." Mrs. Gapinski is confident that if she can remain calm and play to her six-handicap form, she has a good chance.

However, Nancy may be a bit rusty. Last Saturday she returned from a three-week fishing trip with her husband Larry in Trinity County. She was to play golf yesterday and today then lay off until Friday. Prior to this week, Nancy had not played since July 25.

Nonetheless, her credentials are impressive. Nancy won the 1971 Tournament of Champions at Peacock Gap and is the 1974 champion of the North Bay Women's Golf Association. Mrs. Gapinski has won the San Geronimo club title eight years straight.

Nancy and her husband Larry reside in San Anselmo. They have two children: Bruce, 20, and Laurie, 17.

Marin Football Meeting Monday

The College of Marin football team will hold its first meeting of the season next Monday at 4 p.m. in the school gym, coach Dick Read announced yesterday.

All students interested in playing football should attend the meeting, Read said.

Wilhelm Is Around .300 Mark

Jim Wilhelm of Kentfield continued to hover around the .300 mark, but other former Marin County baseball stars did poorly in minor league baseball action last week.

Wilhelm, playing with Walla Walla, Wash. of the Class A Northwest League, had nine hits in 33 trips to the plate, including four doubles. His season average at week's end was .293.

Rob Long of Corte Madera, a rookie league player, Tom Olson of Kentfield in Class A and Tom Thomas of Novato in Triple A all stayed around the .200 mark with their respective clubs.

Carolina A League star Clifford Hall of Marin City did not play last week. He's hitting .273 with seven home runs and 40 runs batted in for Newport News, Va.

Pitchers Russ Dillon of Novato and Dewey Forry of Terra Linda each worked in three games. Dillon took a loss with Eugene of the Northwest League, bringing his record to 8-3. Forry, 3-5 with Waterbury of the Eastern League, had no decision.

Statistics on Marin's minor league players are provided by Player Periscope of Novato.

Sanchez Wins, 13-12

Ron Sanchez Builders overcame two home runs by Jeff Bernardi of Peri's Group Therapy to post a 13-12 victory yesterday in a San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department adult softball league game at Memorial Park.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Getting The Most Out Of Your Boat

A boat owner who was a victim of last winter's fuel crisis and economic slump has sold his boat this summer because, he told me: "It costs too much for what you get out of it."

He sold although he likes boating and the healthy outdoor activity it entails.

Of course "getting the most out of one's boat" depends entirely on the enthusiasm and ingenuity of the individual. For example, I know a water skier, actively engaged in competition, who only last year discovered that by getting an "exposure" suit he could extend his practice time by three months every year.

With a tight-fitting, foam rubber suit it's possible to ski almost any day of the year, unless you live in a part of the country where the water freezes.

Another man I know, an ardent fisherman, sold his large boat, and got a trailer boat that now goes everywhere. He just had the wrong kind of boat.

Still another had to give up because he "just couldn't fix anything." Someone gave him a do-it-yourself, fix-it book and now he's happy.

Here's some of the questions I've been asked:

Q. How can I replace the "non-skid" paint on the inside of my aluminum duck hunting boat?

A. First the aluminum must be primed with zinc chromate primer, available at aluminum boat dealers or aircraft supply houses. This gives other type paints something to stick to. Then apply two coats of exterior boat paint. Before the second dries, sprinkle it with well-washed, and dried, fine sand.

Q. How do you tighten a rivet on an aluminum boat?

A. Get an auto body-shop dolly block (or some other heavy piece of iron) for backing. Place it on the head of the rivet and tap the expanded end (usually on the inside of the boat) with the ball end of a ball-peen hammer. This will expand the rivet through its length to fill the hole. If you have to replace a rivet, a dealer in aluminum boats will get one for you. Be sure it's a snug fit, then treat as described above.

Q. Can you train a dog to retrieve from a boat?

A. I know a labrador retriever that has been trained to bring ducks back to a boat and climb a small ladder or stair which his owner has built to hang over the side. Teach him to use it on land first.

Q. I bought a new outboard boat and the dealer practically insisted I fill out the warranty card in front of him. He said "It was to get the best service from the manufacturer . ..?"

A. Since the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971 became effective, manufacturers of marine products have been keeping as complete a list of new owners as possible. This is to be able to notify the owners should the company become aware of any defect or failure to comply with Coast Guard standards that might cause injury. Your dealer is a conscientious man.

Q. I have a canvas "camper top" for my big runabout so we can use it in cool weather. I'm told it's illegal to operate with it up. Is this so?

A. As long as you can keep a proper lookout for other boats, all the regulations I can find don't care if you are carrying a tent. But if you should get into an accident, and someone demonstrates that you couldn't see properly, you could be in trouble.

Q. There's a long stretch of river to our hunting camp. Often we are held up by slow boats. Anything we can do?

A. You can be patient. The guy you are overtaking has the right of way, and if you do him any harm in passing, you are responsible. You might buy a loud hailer and ask him . . . very courteously . . . to let you pass. But it's certain you'll run into someone who'll refuse.

Q. Can you use boat costs as an entertainment expense on your income tax return?

A. Yes, if it is a bona fide expense. It's done every day. Check with a taxation officer. Keep a close check on how much of the total boat use is devoted to the entertainment.

Q. Is it legal anywhere to chase ducks in a power boat for hunting purposes?

A. Only in some areas of Mexico. If you plan to take a boat — next to a gun it's the most useful tool in getting ducks — duck hunting, get a copy of the Migratory Birds Convention Act from the Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, Washington, or talk to a conservation officer who knows the migratory birds law as it applies to your area. It has some pretty stringent restrictions on power boats.

Safety Guide For Boaters Is Available

SACRAMENTO — A safety guide for boatmen using or planning to use waters of the Bay Area is available now from the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development, California's boating agency.

The pamphlet, "Boating Safety Hints for San Francisco Bay," covers such topics as shipping lane right-of-way; hazardous waters around the Golden Gate Bridge; capricious weather conditions; handy marine radio call numbers and regatta courtesy. The pamphlet specifies required safety equipment and outlines basic emergency procedures.

"This newest publication has information for the seasoned Bay skipper," said Frank Torkelson, Acting Director for the DNOD, "and especially for the newcomer to San Francisco Bay who may not be prepared for the variety of weather and waterway conditions he will find there."

Torkelson emphasized the pamphlet's closure: To be truly safe, all boatmen should sign up for a free boating safety class in their area. For your free copy of "Boating Safety Hints for San Francisco Bay," write to the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development, 1416 Ninth Street, Room 1336, Sacramento, Calif. 95814.

NCAA Cage Format Changes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — More than one team from a conference will be eligible to participate in the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament in the future, according to action taken yesterday by the NCAA Executive Committee.

The committee, which held its annual meeting here, announced a policy change which permits a team other than the conference title holder to be eligible for one of the 12 "at large" berths in the national tournament.

Sixteen of the 32 tournament spots go to conference champions and four others are taken from regional tournaments conducted by the East Coast Ahletic Conference.

Under the new policy, however, no more than two teams from a conference may play in the national tournament.

Tickets for the 1975 tournament will cost more than before, the NCAA said. Ticket prices for early-round action will go up from $4 to $5 and prices for the finals — to be held in San Diego — will go up from $10 to $12.

Admission to the 1976 finals in Philadelphia will go up to $12.50.

The policy makers also announced that a 1974-1975 operating budget of $2,495,000 had been approved. The budget includes $200,000 for use in enforcing the NCAA's recruiting rules.

Also adopted was a rule requiring coaches to open their locker rooms to newsmen 10 minutes after the end of a game.

Marinites Lead In Mallory Cup With Two Wins

SEATTLE — A three-man team from the San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere leads the Mallory Cup field going into today's three races.

Skipper Van Wilson and Frank Thompson of Mill Valley with Nate Russell of Tiburon accumulated 23¼ points yesterday by winning two out of the three races. They built a 7¼ point lead over the eight-crew field.

The Marinites took second in the other race. The winds were light yesterday in this North American men's championship at the Corinthian Yacht Club course.

Contestants race on San Juan 24s, quarter-ton boats. The crews change boats after each race.

Competition concludes tomorrow with two races.

WORLD FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Portland Worries Pardee

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Coach Jack Pardee's Florida Blazers lead the World Football League East and face the winless Portland Storm tonight. But Pardee is worried.

"We're thinking of everything but playing football," Pardee complained. "We don't know our game plans. Nobody is asking about Portland. All you hear about is the possible move."

The "move" the former star linebacker referred to is the story circulated out of Orlando all week that the Blazers were having money problems and might be forced to move. The club was one of the last established in the league, starting first in Washington and then moving to Virginia and finally to Orlando before playing a game.

Less than 11,000 fans attended the first two games in the Tangerine Bowl and a game against Florida rival Jacksonville finally brought out 24,000 last week after an appeal by Rommie Loudd, the Blazers' managing general partner.

"The problem is simple," Loudd said. "If we had 29,000 at every game, a full house would solve all our problems. We wouldn't have to move away. Getting a million dollars now wouldn't assure anyone the team would stay here in the future. Like I said, the turnstiles will be our best avenue of revenue."

Loudd was talking with a group of Atlanta inviestors about moving the club there but that fell through when Georgia Tech officials refused to allow the WFL to use its field.

On the field, the Blazers, with Bob Davis at the controls, are 5-1 and hold a one-game edge over New York. Portland has had its problems offensively, scoring only 76 points, second lowest figure in the league, and allowing 156, the third highest total. But Coach Dick Coury feels the club, which has managed only one tie in six games, may be coming around.

In other WFL games tonight, Birmingham is at Jacksonville, the Hawaiians at Memphis, Southern California at Philadelphia and Houston at New York. Chicago is at Detroit Thursday night in the national television game.

Unbeaten Birmingham, the highest scoring team in the league, attempts to run its winning streak to seven games against a Jacksonville club that has had quarterback problems. Kay Stephenson, Kim Hammond and Eddie McAshan all have been injured this season and the Sharks, 2-4, hope to have McAshan ready for this one.

Memphis, 4-2, has one of the top running attacks in the league, sparked by J.J. Jennings, Willie Spencer and John Harvey. The Hawaiians, 1-5, are ending a long three-game road trip.

Southern California, which moved into first place in the West last week by winning its third game, try to hold it against Philadelphia, also 3-3. The Sun's Kermit Johnson ranks second in the league in rushing while Philadelphia has the top passer in the WFL in King Corcoran.

New York, which dropped its first two but bounced back with four straight victories, goes for No. 5 against defense-minded Houston. George Sauer, who caught two touchdown passes for the Stars last week, will be out with an leg injury. The Texans have allowed only 43 points in six games.

Taiwan Continues Baseball Success

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) — The Taiwanese have taken up where they left off last year in the Little League World Series and that's bad news for the five teams left in the tournament.

A team from Kao Hsuing, Taiwan, showed yesterday that things haven't changed by trouncing a New Haven, Conn., team 16-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Lin Wen-Hsuing.

Teams from Taiwan have won the last three World Series and the Kao Hsuing squad is a heavy favorite to make it four in a row. Nationalist Chinese teams have now held the opposition scoreless through 35 innings in two years of World Series play.

The Taiwan team had four homers in Kao Hsuing's opening round rout, a victory that overshadowed a fine performance in the second game by Bob Trauger, who hurled a seven-hitter in Tallmadge, Ohio's 8-0 victory over Athens, Greece.

The first round concludes today with Canada meeting Red Bluff, Calif. and Venezuela matched against Jackson, Tenn.

OLD BUILDING BEING REFURBISHED

Scaffolding forms a design of many rectangles on the B Street side of the Albert Building in San Rafael, as a contractor prepares to spruce up the structure which has stood at Fourth and B streets in San Rafael since 1930. Painting and polishing are planned, according to a spokesman for the Bank of America which manages the building.

GM Lowers Price Hikes On New Cars

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp., bowing to White House pressure, today announced a token reduction of $54 from its planned price hike of $500 for 1975 model cars and trucks.

GM said the reduction was in response to an appeal from President Ford to roll back the increase and help fight inflation.

The average increase on GM's 1975 model cars, which are being put on sale as soon as dealers receive them, is now $446, including $100 to $160 for emission control equipment, $20 for higher destination charges and the remainder to cover the higher costs of labor and materials.

The move by the nation's No. 1 auto maker, the acknowledged price leader, was seen as a gesture to take off the pressure that has been building since Aug. 9 when it announced the 9.5 per cent increase.

President Ford was sharply critical of the hike and had called for a reduction.

"This reduction is our response to President Ford's appeal to all segments of the American public to help fight inflation," GM chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg said in a three-page news release.

Gerstenberg said the new increase would average 6 per cent for cars and 10 per cent for trucks. On cars, this would include between $100 and $160 to cover the cost of adding new emmission control equipment.

Ford Motor Co. president Lee A. Iacocca said yesterday the No. 2 auto maker has little choice but to follow GM's lead on prices. Ford indicated in late July its increase on cars would average $418. But Iacocca said the hike now probably would be in the same range as GM increase.

Neither Chrysler Corp. nor American Motors has made any public disclosures on their pricing action for 1975 models.

Gerstenberg, complaining that GM will be absorbing about $100 per vehicle in unrecovered cost increases when the 1975s debut, said he shares the president's concern with inflation.

"The national problem does not yield to an easy solution, nor can it be solved by one segment of our society, one industry, or one company," Gerstenberg said. "We can say this—if every industry had a price record equal to that of the automobile industry, the nation's inflation problem would be solved."

Gerstenberg, who had resisted the White House's jawboning for just over one week, hinted there would be further increases if inflation pressures don't moderate.

"We feel that, in these extraordinary times, we are doing our part," the GM chief executive said. "Whether there will be further price increases on our products will depend on the extent to which others exercise similar restraint and the forces of inflation can be brought under control."

Probe Opened Into Police Conduct At Teens' Party

The San Rafael police administration is reviewing police conduct in connection with a rowdy teen-age party Saturday in which officers used Mace and nightsticks to disperse a crowd.

Police Chief Lawrence Kelly said today the review was sparked by a resident who balked at the manner in which police handled the incident. He said such review is routine.

At issue is a noisy Terra Linda party held Saturday at 43 Skyview Terrace. Police said they were pelted with beer bottles and furniture as they attempted to break up the party and were required to hit "numerous subjects" with nightsticks and doses of Mace.

Two 20-year-old men and a 16-year-old youth were arrested following the melee.

Kelly said Police Inspector Bart W. Stinson and crime prevention Sgt. David Jones are reviewing officers' conduct at the incident, and plan to interview youths who attended the party.

Meanwhile, a youth who attended the party today complained that a police report of the incident is "a bunch of makeup."

Ted E. Turina, 16, of 4 Dias Way, whose mother, Anise serves on the city's redevelopment citizens committee, said the event was a "very peaceful party" and said police could have dispersed a crowd of about 35 youths without resorting to Mace or clubbing.

Weather Forecast Device For Pocket

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The latest local weather forecast can come right from your own pocket any time of day or night even if you're visiting some 70 cities around the country.

Since the National Weather Station broadcasts emergency bulletins, forecasts, current conditions and travel conditions on an around-the-clock basis in some 70 localities of the nation, RCA has developed a pocket-size radio that tunes in this information at the push of a button.

Two Drown In Boat Sinking

BODEGA BAY (UPI) — A 65-foot shrimp boat foundered in the Pacific Ocean, drowning two persons, although two boys were saved by a Coast Guard helicopter.

Drowned were Wally Crump, of Oakland, owner of the boat Santiago, and Todd Schorer, 19, of Livermore.

Crump's son, Sean, 14, and Lynn, 15, were rescued and reported in good condition at Santa Rosa Community Hospital.

Coast Guard officers said the boat sank in six-foot to seven-foot seas.

Tax Group Will Meet To Organize

A new countywide property owners' and taxpayers' association will hold an organizational meeting at 8 p.m. today in Room 332 at the Marin Civic Center, according to Marin County Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere.

He said members of various homeowners' groups and other interested persons have been asked to attend the session.

The association will work to hold the line on all governmental expenses by reviewing county and municipal budgets and trying to find ways to reduce the percentage of the budgets which are supported by property taxes.

Roumiguiere said the group will present "responsible and objective" spending recommendations to the various government agencies.

The supervisors said he hopes the association will eventually have about 5,000 active members.

Marking Of Channels Is Being Asked

Installation and maintenance of channel markers in presently unmarked channels to harbors in Marin have been requested by the Marin County Marine Activities Committee.

The committee asked at a recent meeting that the board of supervisors order installation of channel markers at Bahia, Bel Marin Keys, Gallinas, Paradise Harbor, Paradise Cay, Salt Works Canal and in Richardson Bay from Sausalito to the Cove Apartments.

The committee also recommended that the state Department of Navigation and Ocean Development furnish money for mooring buoys in Drake's Bay, Paradise Park and McNear's Park, said E. Robert Jerome, publicity chairman.

The newly organized committee meets at 8 p.m., the second Thursday of each month at the planning chambers at the Civic Center.

Grain Export Watch May Be Expanded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government may tighten its system of monitoring grain exports to make sure foreign buyers don't take so much that American consumers are left short, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said today.

Butz told a closed meeting of the Senate Agriculture Committee that his department, which currently requires weekly reports on sales by private exporters of grains and other crops, is "considering" a plan under which big export firms would have to file daily reports on major new sales.

Butz, meeting with newsmen after the session, added that he does not see any chance that exports would endanger U.S. supplies or that — despite a drought-reduced 1974 U.S. harvest — there is any likelihood that the government will have to impose export controls to avoid shortages or runaway food inflation at home.

Agriculture Committee Chairman Herman F. Talmadge, D-Ga., told reporters he believes it would be "premature" to impose export limits on major livestock feed crops like corn and soybeans or on human food crops like wheat.

"But we do want to be forewarned (about export trends) to see we don't sell what we haven't got," added Talmadge. The Senate farm leader had warned earlier that this year's short corn and soybean crops, if coupled with heavy exports, could lead to shortages and high food prices in the U.S.

Assemblyman Drops Retired Judge Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Democratic assemblyman said today he has dropped a bill providing a $600,000 sweetener for the retirement benefits of six former judges, including Republican Attorney General Evelle J. Younger.

Assemblyman Louis Papan of Daly City said he decided to abandon the bill (AB2908) when he learned last week it would greatly increase pension benefits for Younger.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Air Pollution Firm Looks Like Bargain

By ROGER E. SPEAR
AND DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. I am interested in investing in Wheelabrator-Frye (NYSE). Would you elaborate on this stock for growth and income? — E.B.

A. Wheelabrator appears to be well on its way toward racking up another record-breaking year. Earnings rose 22 per cent on a 41 per cent gain in sales for the first six months. Full-year sales should be well in excess of $325 million with earnings pegged at $1.50 a share. The Environmental Systems Group last year accountd for over half of sales and 61 per cent of income. Rising materials costs and direct expensing of research and development reduced profit margins, but the latter expenditures promise long-range benefits.

Wheelabrator has enhanced its own prominent position in air pollution control with licensing agreements with two European firms specializing in electrostatic precipitators, sulfur dioxide control and waste-to-energy incineration systems. A plant utilizing the latter technique will go on stream in New England next year. Three major contracts have been received recently, a $5 million order from Republic Steel, plus supervision and engineering of construction on two plants valued at $360 million. At seven times earnings, yielding 3.6 per cent, the shares are a whorthwhile purchase.

Q. Would you please express an opinion for income and safety on short-term notes of GMAC. Are others as good? — F.A.

A. These short-term notes, also referred to as commercial paper, are available in $25,000 minimum amounts. Their safety rating is P-1 by Moody's — the higest given. In April GMAC offered $200 million in nine-month to five-year medium-term notes with coupon rates of 7¾ per cent to 8¼ per cent for the longest maturity. Since commercial paper is an unsecured obligation of the issuing company (a promissory note) the financial stability of the issuer is an important consideration in assessing the safety of the note.

1975 BUICK SKYHAWK

Dual rectangular headlamps are among the styling innovations in Buick's luxury sport coupe, the Skyhawk, the smallest car to carry the Buick nameplate in more than 60 years. The four-passenger coupe is powered by a 231 cubic inch V-6 engine. It will debut on Sept. 27. Marin dealer is Don Collins Buick in San Rafael.

Stocks Dip Despite A Few Good Signs

NEW YORK (UPI) — After an uncertain opening, stock prices turned easier today on the New York Stock Exchange in light trading.

The market apparently lacked the strength to expand yesterday's gain, which broke a string of losses extending over eight sessions. The severe market slump cut the Dow by almost 76 points. Analysts said yesterday's advance was the result of internal adjustments in the market after an unusually long decline.

Despite some encouraging economic news, investors remained glum about the future course of the economy. The Labor Department reported its consumer price index rose at a 9.6 per cent annual rate in July, down from the record June increase of 12 per cent, annually adjusted. The department attributed the July dip to a temporary drop in food prices.

Interest rates, a major investor worry, showed signs of easing. Central National Bank of Cleveland, the first bank in the nation to lift its prime lending rate to an unprecedented 12 ¼ per cent on July 8, announced it has reduced the interest rate for its best business borrowers to 12 per cent. But even the prospect of lower interest rates failed to pull the investment community out of the doldrums.

Among the generally softer blue chips, Eastman Kodak fell 2 ½, Exxon 1 ⅛, General Electric 1.

The glamors also suffered losses. IBM dropped 3 ¼, Digital Equipment 2 ⅝, Burroughs 1 ⅞, Texas Instruments 1 ½.

Airlines, motors, oils and chemicals weakened fractionally, while the rails and steels moved slightly higher.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in light trading. Syntex paced the actives, unchanged at 38 on 15,200 shares.

New Restaurant Plans Opening; Trading Company Adds Stores

A new restaurant featuring lunches, beer and wine, is scheduled to open in about a month at 150 Bellam Boulevard in San Rafael, near Francisco Boulevard.

Owner-operators will be Edith and Karl Klauda of Santa Venetia, who had operated the Old Vienna Restaurant in San Rafael for three years until they sold it last March. Klauda has been in the restaurant business for about 20 years.

The new restaurant, to be called Charley's Buffet, will be located in the new One Fifty Bellam Building built by Maury Koch of Sleepy Hollow. Charley's Buffet will serve sandwiches, salads and soups Monday through Saturday, primarily for lunch. The Klaudas said they may also open for breakfast.

SAN RAFAEL TRADING Co. at 512 Third Street in San Rafael has added 10 new stores to bring the total to 25 shops.

San Rafael Trading Co. is a collection of antique shops under one roof, which San Rafael contractor Louis A. Yuvan opened last month in the old Marin Laundry building across the street from United Market.

Here are the new stores:

1. Naja, owned by Barbara Miller of San Rafael, has fine Indian turquoise and silver made by the Navajo and Hopi Indians.

2. Antique Conspiracy, owned by Rich Morrison, sells brass, copper and lighting fixtures.

3. Ann Ellis of Greenbrae features china, silver and American art glass.

4. The Depot, operated by Noreen Hartnet and Sue Verhalen of San Rafael, specializes in American oak and antique kitchenware.

5. Mrs. Doris Green of Tiburon features American and English antiques.

6. The Tin Rooster, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dekker of San Rafael, has American pine and oak.

7. Timepiece Etc., featuring a fine collection of American clocks, is owned by Tom Tognetti of San Rafael.

8. Ray Brisebois Photography Co. has sepiatone reproductions of old and new photographs and framing. Brisebois has had his studio in Sausalito for two years and also has a shop in Old Brown's Store in Mill Valley.

9. Andrew Goldman of Lafayette features American and English oak.

10. Dan and Judy Cross of San Rafael have early American furniture.

SEASONS SKI & SPORTS, headquartered in San Anselmo, opened its Mill Valley outlet last week at 653 East Blithedale Avenue next to Del's Liquors.

The new shop, managed by John Rushworth of San Anselmo, took over the former Larry Brink Motors auto showroom location. Seasons Ski & Sports in Mill Valley is open from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Owners Michael De Luca and Steve Sibley operate the San Anselmo store at 40 Greenfield Avenue. Seasons Ski & Sports carries ski, tennis, water skiing, camping and backpacking equipment plus sportswear and accessories.

STAN DE VICQ of Novato has just joined the sales staff at Annex Motors Used Cars, 521 Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael. A 10-year member of the Professional Automobile Salesmen's Guild, DeVicq was with J & B Ford Sales for two and one-half years and also worked at Dervin Ford in Novato and at Ames Ford in San Rafael.

Frank E. Hawkins of San Rafael is manager at Annex Motors Used Cars.

CYNESS SYTEMS Inc., a general purpose computer service bureau, is ready to open in San Rafael at 1435 Fourth Street in the Redwood Bank Mall.

President of Cyness Systems Inc. is Edwin B. Heinlein of San Rafael, who has been running a computer software firm called TOS Corporation in San Francisco for the past two years. Heinlein has been in the computer service business for 18 years including work with Burroughs Research Center in Pennsylvania and with Computer Sciences Corporation in San Francisco.

Heinlein said his Cyness Systems Inc. will process all kinds of accounting work on payrolls, inventory and any other data processing work needed by companies. Cyness should be in full operation by mid-September.

ERLAND WOLFF Consulting Services, which offers a variety of services including translation, export-import, engineering and drafting, and purchasing, has opened at 480 Irving Court in Tiburon.

A resident of Tiburon for six years, Wolff has experience in consulting services in both Denmark and in the Bay Area.

Wolff's consulting firm serves as purchasing agent, specializing in processing equipment of all kinds; imports from South America and Europe and markets U.S. products abroad; provides translations of German, French, Spanish, Danish, Norwegian, Swedish, and other languages; and does design and development of systems in the material handling and processing fields.

A FREE MEXICO trip for two, awarded by Bank of America, went to Martha G. Miles of Novato. She won the all-expense paid, week-long trip during the open house held last week at Bank of America's new Ignacio office at 300 Ignacio Boulevard. In addition to the free trip to Mexico City, Taxco and Acapulco, with seven nights of deluxe hotel accommodations, she received $250 in travelers checks from Anthony Pavao, manager of the Ignacio branch of Bank of America.

TED S. SMITH Realtors' Fairfax office has moved to a new and larger location, 7 Bolinas Road, next door to its former office.

In addition to Manager Georgia Anker and four salespersons from the former office, three new salespeople have been added. They are Terry Peay, a new licensee; Alice Webb, who had been with Westwood Realty in Campbell; and Shirley Russell, formerly with Estate Realty in La Habra, Calif.

PRESIDENTIAL SYMPATHY

President Ford kissed Dana Davies, daughter of slain ambassador to Cyprus Rodger P. Davies of Berkeley, after the plane returning the body arrived at Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland this morning. The plane bearing the body was to arrive at Hamilton Air Force Base at 3 p.m. today and will be taken to El Cerrito for cremation. The family requested that there be no services at Hamilton. Supervisors Chop County Tax Rate

Budget Will Cost The Taxpayer More

By JEFF GREER

Marin County Supervisors yesterday adopted unchanged a record final budget and set a tax rate that is lower than last year's but that will bring in even more money than last year because of increased assessments. (Other supervisors stories, page 7.)

The board voted 3-0 to set the basic countywide tax rate at $2.385 per $100 assessed valuation, compared to $2.58 last year. In addition, the board increased the county library tax rate to 24.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, compared to 24 cents last year. The structural fire tax for unincorporated areas not protected by local fire districts jumped sharply, to 47 cents per $100 assessed valuation compared with 34 cents last year.

This resulted from a federal edict shortening the work week for all firemen, requiring more hirings, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell explained.

The total budget remains unchanged from the $52,091,126 figure approved by the board in July, but the tax rate is one-half cent lower than predicted at the time because the public utility rolls assessed by the state — and delivered to the county last week — are slightly higher than estimated earlier.

Mitchell supplied figures to the board showing that the total assessment roll of all secured, unsecured and public utility property in Marin has soared to $970,664,985 — a 15.3 per cent increase over last year. The total public utility assessment roll is $36.5 million, up slightly more than $300,000 over last year.

Using the new basic tax rate, the total roll will produce income of $19,532,786 to the county — an increase of 6.8 per cent or $1,240,658 over last year.

The property taxes will provide 37.5 per cent of the $52 million the county will spend this year, Mitchell said. He listed other sources as: Federal and state aid, $20.1 million or 38.7 per cent; charges for county services, almost $2 million or 3.8 per cent; sales tax, $600,000 or 1 per cent, and other sources, $9.8 million or 19 per cent.

The biggest chunk of county spending, $20.2 million or 38.8 per cent, will go to welfare, medical and mental health services, Mitchell said. The next largest outlay will be $13.7 million or 26.3 per cent for public protection and the courts.

The total spending budget increase is only 3.1 per cent, "one of the smallest increases during the last 30 years," Mitchell told the board.

The record $970 million assessment roll actually includes $9.4 million the county cannot levy taxes on, Mitchell pointed out. This is the increased valuation of property in the San Rafael redevelopment area, leaving the effective tax base for the county at $961,249,381.

Independent-Journal computations show that even though the county's basic tax rate is down, the owner of an "average" Marin County home will have a larger tax bill.

The basic tax bill for the owner of a home with a fair market value of $40,000 last year, would have been $258. If the home's assessment increased the average 15.3 per cent this year, the tax bill on it will be $274.275.

Mitchell said he will have the school district tax rates and those for special districts ready next week, for the board to set the final rates in some 400 tax code areas.

Cotati Council Will Fill Vacancies By Appointment

By ERNEST MURPHY

The remaining three members of the Cotati City Council decided unanimously last night to appoint two new members to replace the councilmen who resigned Aug. 7 after being arrested on suspicion of stealing marijuana from the city police department. (Another Cotati City Council story, page 7.)

After electing Geoffrey Dunham mayor for the duration of Stephen Laughlin's one-year term, the council set a special "town meeting" for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 29 so applicants for the council seats can present themselves to the citizenry.

The new councilmen will be chosen at the next regular meeting, Sept. 3.

The decision to appoint new members came despite petitions signed by more than 350 Cotatians who urged the council to set an election to resolve the issue.

"An election at this time would be divisive, debasing and debilitating, plus every other alliteration in the book," Mayor Dunham told the 150 residents who jammed the council chambers last night. A majority of the onlookers were young and hip-looking, although a sizable faction of older residents was

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will probably run for the presidency in 1976, his chief spokesman said today. White House Press Secretary Jerald terHorst told reporters that Ford has changed his mind and "he probably will run in 1976 assuming he is nominated by the delegates" to the Republican National Convention.

TerHorst said that he discussed the matter with Ford late yesterday and again today after vice president-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller said he got the impression that Ford has "every intention" of seeking the GOP nomination.

As vice president. Ford said he would not run for the presidency.

TerHorst said at the time Ford made his first statement on the subject he was being nominated as vice president and felt it was not proper to seek any higher office.

TerHorst was vague when asked if Rockefeller would be Ford's choice in 1976 for the No. 2 spot. He said that would be up to Ford, Rockefeller and the delegates to the convention.

He noted that Ford had picked a man "that was well qualified" to be president meaning Rockefeller.

It was unusual for the such news to be announced at a news briefing. Presidents usually play a waiting game and keep their political plans secret.

But Ford, since he assumed the presidenccy after the forced resignation of Richard M. Nixon on Aug. 9 has made it clear in every way that he enjoys the office.

Unhappy Firemen Probe Is Planned

Responding to pressure from citizens, the Tamalpais Fire Protection District board last night established a committee to investigate charges of discontent among district firemen.

Before an audience of about 30 persons at the community services district office, board chairman Carl Modell and directors Arthur Crebassa and James Oberg were appointed to look into reports that a large portion of the 12-man force is actively seeking jobs in other departments because of differences with Chief Dale N. Bennett.

One fireman, who asked to be unnamed, told the Independent-Journal today that Bennett employs tactics of intimidation and harrassment in dealing with department personnel.

"A favorite saying of his," the fireman said of the chief, "is that 'there is nothing too good for the men and that is what they are going to get — nothing'."

Asked today if he felt there is any truth to the charges against the chief, Crebassa replied: "None at all. It is the feeling of the board that this is not neces-

No-Fault Insurance Heads To Showdown

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Bursting from a 17-month committee deadlock, no-fault automobile insurance legislation moved today towards a showdown vote in the Senate.

Supporters hurried to bridge important differences between two rival proposals in hopes of reaching a compromise during the seven working days before the scheduled end of the legislative session.

The key Senate Judiciary Committee approved both bills by bare majority votes yesterday.

Democratic Sen. Alan Robbins of Van Nuys, a member of the committee, predicted agreement would be reached between warring sides on the controversial proposal that would affect all 13 million licensed California drivers.

No-fault insurance, a major issue before the Legislature each year since 1971, provides for motorists to collect damages from their own insurance companies for personal injuries regardless of who is at fault in an accident.

The aim is to reduce insurance costs and assure quick payment of claims by eliminating costly and protracted court suits.

Both bills approved by the committee were "modified" no-

Consumer Price Index Rises Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Increases in retail prices were not as great in July as they had been the previous two months, due chiefly to a mid-summer drop in some grocery prices, the Labor Department said today.

The consumer price index, the best measure of changes in the cost of living, jumped 0.8 per cent last month.

Increases in automobile prices and the cost of restaurant meals, medical care and buying a home led the July advance but were partially offset by lower prices for clothing and such food items as fresh fruits and vegetables, beef and dairy products.

The July increase was smaller than a 1 per cent rise in June and 1.1 per cent in May. But it was still large by historical standards and offered no relief to President Ford in his search for ways to beat the nation's soaring inflation.

The Labor Department's report was released shortly after General Motors Corp. announced it was bowing to pressure from the White House and was trimming $54 from its planned $500 price hike on 1975 model cars and trucks.

The cost of living has increased by nearly 12 per cent in the past 12 months, the Labor

Alioto To Ask Ford To BART Opening

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mayor Joseph Alioto said today he will invite President Ford to the opening ceremonies of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District trans-bay tube Sept. 14.

Alioto, leaving to attend a White House ceremony in connection with the signing of the Omnibus Housing and Development Act, said he would personally make the invitation to Ford.

Government Asks Reductions In Recreation Land Purchases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Administration spokesman called yesterday for sharp reductions in proposals for expanding the Golden Gate National Recreation Area and the Point Reyes National Seashore in California.

Deputy Director Russell E. Dickenson of the National Park Service recommended a net addition of only 323 acres to the recreation area and no addition to the seashore.

Dickenson expressed the Administration opposition in testimony before the Senate Parks and Recreation Subcommittee on bills to add about 875 acres to the recreation area and 168 acres to the seashore.

The additions were strongly backed by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., chief Senate sponsor of legislation to make the additions, and by Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., in personal appearances before the subcommittee.

Also urging the additions were Reps. Phillip Burton, D-Fifth District, chief sponsor of House-passed bills to expand the parks, and his brother, Rep. John Burton, D-Sixth District, whose direct includes parts of both.

Cranston told the panel headed by Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., that the additions were needed to provide a buffer zone against housing developments.

Tunney said the proposed addition to the Point Reyes National Seashore had been inadvertently left out of the bill establishing the park.

In the case of the proposed additions to the Golden Gate unit, Tunney said he and many others had thought they were included in the recreation area.

"This, however, was not the case and as a result, the integrity of the parkland is threatened by adjacent development," Tunney said.

Dickenson, testifying for the Interior Department, said the 168 acres to be added to the Point Reyes park would cost about $375,000 and that the purchase would "add to the inflationary pressures at a time when the Administration is trying very hard to reduce the level of federal expenditures."

The Park Service official supported addition of 214 acres of the Wolfback Ridge overlooking

Water Board Votes To Join Intertie

The North Marin County Water District board last night approved an agreement for construction of the Russian River-Cotati Intertie and delivery of Russian River water. (Another water board story, page 37.)

The project costs have jumped from about $20 million to $30 million and the district's share of the costs is up $671,000, Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson told the board.

The 40-year agreement between the district, the Sonoma County Water Agency and seven other agencies sets the water entitlements and cost sharing.

Under the agreement, the North Marin district's allocation would increase from the present 6.5 million gallons per day to 11.2 when the project is completed in 1977.

Allocations to other agencies would be Santa Rosa, 50 million gallons per day; Petaluma, 17; Valley of the Moon, 4.7; City of Sonoma, 3.3; Cotati, 1.7; Forestville, 1.5; Rohnert Park, one, and Sonoma County Water agency, 1.6.

The North Marin County Water District is to pay $3,751,000 during 1974-75, using bond funds approved by voters. The district has $4.1 million in bonds authorized by voters in April, 1973, and $1.29 million in previously approved bonds.

Nelson said the district's share of the project has dropped from 17.6 per cent to 14.2 per cent because Petaluma has increased its take of the water.

Without this change, the increased cost to the district would have been even higher, he said.

Under the agreement, the North Marin district will be permitted to trade or sell water to the Marin Municipal Water District. If it is sold the district must make payment in lieu of taxes on the land served to the Sonoma County Water Agency.

Directors authorized Board President George A. Amaroli to execute the agreement at a signing ceremony. The date of the ceremony hasn't yet been set, Nelson said.

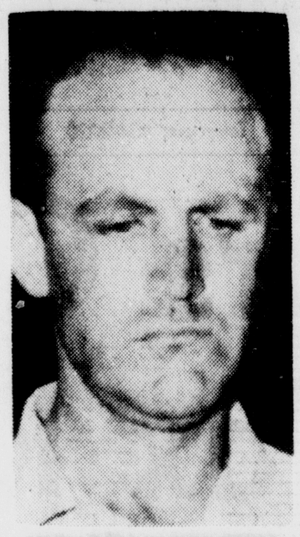
Arrest Made In Airport Bombing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police yesterday arrested Muharem Kurbegovic, a Yugoslavian printer, and charged with being the "alphabet bomber" who killed three persons and wounded 35 at Los Angeles International Airport Aug. 6.

"I'm convinced we have solved the airport bombing and the placing of a bomb at the Greyhound terminal," said Assistant Police Chief Daryl Gates. Kurbegovic, 31, was arrested in the men's room of a restaurant in Hollywood.

He was accused of being the "Isaac Rasim" who took responsibility for the airport bombing, claiming to be the "chief military officer of the Aliens of America."



MUHAREM KURBEGOVIC
Held in Los Angeles

He was to be charged today with murder for the deaths of two Skycaps and a New Zealand passenger who were blasted apart by the bomb left in a public locker.

The FBI said it would bring a federal charge of destruction of an airport, which carries a possible life prison term.

Police said Kurbegovic had been under surveillance for several hours and was arrested after he dropped off a tape casette — the bomber's method of leaving messages — and officers felt the voice on the tape was the same as that of "Rasim."

"He was arrested on the basis of the voice on the tape," a police spokesman said, and his apartment was then searched by bomb squad members with explosives-sniffing dogs and "there is incriminating evidence at the apartment ... explosive ingredients."

Kurbegovic, who entered the United States legally in 1967, stands 5-feet-11, weighs 200 pounds, and has short brown hair. He worked for a blueprint firm.

Police said he had been arrested once before, for an unspecified sex offense.

"We think he is one and the same" with "Rasim," the police spokesman said. Investigators believe there are probably no more members of the "Aliens of America" that Rasim claimed to speak for.

"Rasim" demanded repeal of all federal immigration and naturalization laws, other laws affecting aliens, all sex laws, more effective separation of church and state and the punishment of two police officers, now retired, who killed two Mexican illegal aliens four years ago, but were cleared of wrongdoing.

He was given the name "alphabet bomber" for his threat to "write our name in blood across the face of America" unless his demands were met.

He said in one taped message that the airport bomb was for the first letter in his organization's name — "A."

The second bomb, found in the Greyhound bus terminal last Friday, was planted in a locker — "L," a message said.

Transit Bill Slashed By $9 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House heard President Ford's call for economy and cut a mass transit bill down from $20 billion to $11 billion.

It then heard a warning from Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, that the voting motorist doesn't like trucks, and threw out a section that would have allowed heavier trucks on Interstate highways.

The new six-year transit bill passed 324 to 92 yesterday and went to the Senate, where a similar bill is being considered in the Public Works Committee.

The bill provides federal matching funds for both transit operation and new construction and improvement. The Secretary of Transportation would decide, within limits, where and how the money would be spent.

The big-truck section of the bill, deleted 257 to 155 on an amendment by Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., would have increased maximum axle loadings for trucks and introduced a new maximum weight formula that would have allowed gross weights for some trucks to rise as high as 90,000 pounds, compared with the present 73,280 maximum.

Hays was offended by a remark about the hardships the 55 mph speed limit placed on truckers. He jumped to his feet and complained, "There's not a truck in the country that's obeying the 55 miles per hour speed limit."

Hays complained he had been stopped in Ohio for going 63 mph, while trucks and buses roared through at 80 mph.

"They're the worst law violators there are in the country," he said of the truckers.

More than half the money remaining in the bill — $5.9 billion — would go to nine cities that now have rail or subway systems or which are building them — Atlanta, Boston, Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and San Francisco.

Another $2.9 billion would be parceled out by the Transportation Secretary for selected construction and improvement projects in any urbanized area, while $1.7 billion would be available for urbanized areas other than the nine covered in the first section. Some $500 million would be available for rural transit projects.

When the money is used for projects such as new construction, the government would pay 75 per cent of the cost.

Report Puts Nuclear Plants In Good Light

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new government-sponsored study concludes that nuclear power plants pose less risk to the public than hurricanes, tornados or lightning.

The probability of death from a nuclear reactor accident for persons within 20 miles of an atomic power plant is 1 chance in 300 million per year, according to the investigation made public yesterday.

In comparison, the study said the per year risk of death from a severe storm is one in 2.5 million, from lightning one in 2 million, from air travel one in 100,000, from fires one in 25,000, from falls one in 10,000 and from motor vehicle accidents one in 4,000.

"It seems to me that the nuclear industry stands out very favorably indeed," said Dixy Lee Ray, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission which sponsored the $3 million study directed by Norman C. Rasmussen, professor of nuclear engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"While there are some in the public sector who will feel that the likelihood of occurrence of nuclear power plant accidents should be made essentially zero, neither nuclear accidents nor nonnuclear accidents of any kind can have zero probability," the draft said. "We do not now, and never have, lived in a risk-free world.

"The fact is that nuclear accident probabilities are so low that they are insignificant compared to the overall risks due to other man-made and natural risks."

The major risk involved with a nuclear power plant is the release of large amounts of radioactive material due to a string of failures that would lead to the melting of the reactor's uranium fuel. Rasmussen emphasized that it is impossible for a power plant reactor to explode like an atomic bomb because of the difference in fuel.

The study considered the current generation of power reactors and not the breeder type that are expected to begin operation in the mid 1980s.

VFW Turns Down Ford's Feelers On Amensty Idea

CHICAGO (UPI) — Delegates to the national Veterans of Foreign Wars' convention have answered President Ford's proposal of amnesty for Vietnam draft evaders with resounding opposition.

The convention's more than 4,000 delegates voted unanimously yesterday to adopt two resolutions reaffirming the 1.8 million-member organization's stand against any sort of amnesty for draft resisters.

"This is our answer to President Ford's feeler," said James Van Zant, a former Republican congressman from Pennsylvania and a past VFW commander.

Not one delegate stood to speak for Ford's suggestion that young men who chose to become expatriates rather than fight in Vietnam be allowed to return to work their way back to their homeland.

"We sustain total opposition to general and selective amnesty for draft dodgers and military deserters and (believe) that they should be required to stand trial for their crimes and shall pay such penalties upon conviction as laws prescribe," one of the resolutions stated.

The other said the VFW would continue "total commitment to pursue their 'no amnesty' doctrine through our membership to congressmen and to the American people and to be firm in our stand and not to relinquish, dilute or compromise their position."

Hike In Drug Abuse Reported

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Drug abuse among California Youth Authority prisoners and parolees rose slightly during the first half of this year, according to the CYA.

But the CYA also said Monday that the proportion of persons committed for drug violations, has decreased by half since the peak year of 1970.

About 30 per cent of the users smoked marijuana while 35 per cent used depressants and 30 per cent used opiates, the authority said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

March On Embassy

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korean protesters smashed through police lines and marched on the Japanese Embassy today in a demonstration sparked by last week's assassination attempt against President Park Chung-hee.

Some 100 persons left a group of about 300 demonstrators, broke through police lines and marched to the embassy with placards, accusing Japan of being a "base for propaganda" against South Korea.

Two hundred riot police rushed to the scene, but failed to stop the protesting members of the Kwangbok-hoe — an association of South Korean veterans.

The demonstration came hours after South Korean Premier Kim Jong-pil told a nationwide television audience Japan was morally and legally responsible for last Thursday's assassination attempt against Park.

Bank Tragedy

AUGUSTA, Mich. (UPI) — Looking into the muzzle of a 20-gauge shotgun, teen-age bank teller Connie Adams obeyed the robber's orders and filled a money bag. An instant later she was dead, shot in the face at point-blank range.

"He was very cool about it," Kalamazoo County Sheriff Ronald Kelm said yesterday. "After he shot her, he just jacked another shell into the gun."

As Kelm described the $15,000 Monday robbery-slaying which left other employees of the Industrial State Bank in a state of stunned disbelief, helicopters, tracking dogs and more than 100 heavily armed law enforcement officers searched for the killer and his companion.

The FBI identified the suspects as Donald Lee Garlofs, 21, Battle Creek and Steven M. Gay, 19, Kalamazoo. Warrants charged them with murder and robbery.

Capture Outposts

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist forces overran a pair of key outposts 50 miles northwest of Saigon and captured a huge slice of land around the nearby provincial capital of Tay Ninh, the Saigon command said today.

Command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces late yesterday captured the militia base at Phuoc Tan, 10 miles west of Tay Ninh near the Cambodian border.

In Cambodia, government troops killed 29 rebels in a sweep yesterday along the east bank of the Tonle Sap river 16 miles north of Phnom Penh.

'Walking Tall' Star Dies In Crash

SELMER, Tenn. (UPI) — Buford Pusser, a crime-busting sheriff made famous by the movie "Walking Tall," was killed today in a flaming traffic accident.

Pusser

His death came less than 24 hours after he signed to star in a sequel to the box office hit about his battles against gambling, moonshining and prostitution in McNairy County, Tenn.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol said the 36-year-old Pusser died when his 1974 red sports car careened off Highway 64, crashed into an embankment and burst into flames.

The highway patrol said there was no sign of foul play in the wreckage.

There were seven attempts on Pusser's life while he served as sheriff and one of them killed his wife and almost killed him. "Walking Tall" ended with Pusser lying in a hospital bed, half his face shot away by .30-caliber pistol bullets.

Fourteen plastic surgery operations gave him a new appearance, and he was wearing his hair longer than his crewcut of law enforcement days.

Fight For Throne

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — Emperor Haile Selassie has begun a determined fight to preserve his hold on Ethiopia's ancient throne in the face of renewed army attempts to strip away his power, diplomats said today.

The Ethiopian government indicated for the first time it may be willing to begin talks with Eritrean rebels, attempting to halt a 12-year-old guerrilla war in the empire's northernmost province.

In the last few weeks, the army has stripped Selassie, the 82-year-old "conquering lion of Judah," of virtually all the powers he has enjoyed for more than a half-century of imperial rule. It jailed his closest aides and friends.

Diplomatic observers said the emperior now seemed aware of his danger and was attempting to consolidate his position from further attack by the army.

They said the emperor encouraged the leader of the Ethiopian Orthodox Church, Patriarch Abune Tewolfos, to issue a recent statement attacking a draft constitution.

WHAT A WONDERFUL WAY TO LOSE FAT!
THE "MODEL-ETTS" WAY HELPS CURB YOUR APPETITE
HELPS YOU LOSE THAT EXTRA WEIGHT
■ NO CALORIE COUNTING! ■ NO EXERCISES! ■ NO SPECIAL DIETS!
Thanks to a group of New York doctors, you can now lose pounds of ugly fat without going on any special diet, without cutting out any special foods.
HELPS REDUCE HUNGRY MOMENTS
These New York doctors discovered a food adjuvant called "MODEL-ETTS."
"Model-etts" does remarkable things. It helps you cut down your caloric intake by a natural automatic curbing of the appetite and of the desire for foods, resulting automatically in a reduced intake of food.
Before "Model-etts" was offered to you, it was tested clinically by the doctors on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.
The doctors carefully checked results, and here is what they found:
1. Weight losses of 6 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever.
2. 96% of the men and women who used "Model-etts" lost weight.
"Model-etts" is absolutely safe. It is a food adjuvant - not a drug.
So, start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches. If your condition is glandular or organic, see your doctor. "Model-etts" may help you stay on the diet your doctor recommends. Ask him about it.
You can get a full month's supply of "Model-etts" for $3.00 on money back guarantee. In clinical tests, "Model-etts" was 96% successful. "Model-etts" may not be 100% successful in all cases, but you take no risk in trying "Model-etts" on our Money Back Guarantee.
Come to General Nutrition to get "MODEL-ETTS." The sooner you start, the sooner you may have the loss of weight you yearn for.
Sounds too good to be true, but it is true!

How Model-etts Curbs Your Appetite
In the opinion of the supervising physician, based on the average of weight losses in the clinical tests, his calculations showed that 1 Model-etts Wafer has the hunger satisfying capacity of 1 pound boiled potatoes or 4 eggs or 5 slices of white bread, yet it contains only 6 calories.

HAROLD W. BREITHAUPT
A DeMolay award

Man To Get Award From Ross Group

Harold W. Breithaupt of Kentfield will receive the Cross of Honor, the International Order of Demolay's highest award, at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Fairfax Masonic Lodge in Larkspur.

Breithaupt is being cited for his work as an advisory leader of the Ross Valley Chapter of DeMolay.

DeMolay is an organization affiliated with the Masons that is composed of young men ages 13 to 21 who perform community and civic service projects.

Breithaupt, 55, chairman of the Ross Valley chapter advisory council, has served on the council for seven years as an advisor, assistant chapter dad and chapter dad.

In 1972, he was awarded the medal of appreciation for his chapter service.

Breithaupt's other community activities include work with two other international Mason affiliated orders, Rainbow for Girls and Job's Daughters.

He has also been manager of the Kentfield-Greenbrae Little League team for the past nine years.

Breithaupt is sales supervisor for a paper company based in San Francisco.

He is a member of Fairfax Lodge 556 Free and Accepted Masons and has been active in the Marin Shrine Club and Marin Greeters Shrine marching unit.

Breithaupt has been a resident of Kentfield for 20 years and now lives at 6 Berens Drive. He is married and has two grown children.

Party Names CandidateAs State Chief

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Rev. Raymond Broshears of San Francisco, Peace and Freedom Party nominee in the Fifth Congressional District, has been elected state chairman of the party.

Bitter disputes split the party at the biennial convention of its state central committee here Saturday and Sunday, with a faction of delegates forming a new party calling itself the Socialist Peace and Freedom Party.

Broshears was elected 52-41, defeating San Francisco attorney Lloyd Taylor.

Among the delegates who bolted the party were two of its nominees for the state Legislature, Toni Novak-Sutley in the Second Senatorial District, and Nancy V. Gunnin the Ninth Assembly District. Broshears said they will remain on the ballot because it is too late to strip them of their party designation, and because the party had no other candidates to replace them. Both live in Penngrove.

Broshears said the party "is no longer a party of the extreme left." It has shifted to "conservative libertarianism, but still dedicated to less statism, less welfare and abolition of all taxes," he said.

The fifth district includes Marin.

Tommy Sands Is Off Critical List

HONOLULU (UPI) — Tommy Sands, the idol of millions of teeny-boppers in the 1950s, has been taken off the critical list at Saint Francis Hospital after nearly dying of a kidney failure.

A hospital spokesman confirmed yesterday that Sands was in satisfactory condition after being attached to a kidney-dialysis machine for more than a week.

Reserve Bank Makes Plea For Turn-In Of Needed Pennies

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco has appealed to the public to turn in their spare pennies at any Bay Area bank participating in the penny campaign.

Persons who turn in $5 or more will receive a personalized citation from the federal mint in Denver, a spokesman for the bank said.

The appeal was issued by the reserve bank in response to a growing penny shortage.

Mint officials estimate that 30 billion pennies or more remain uncirculated because people find them a nuisance.

Ronald Getz, public information manager of the reserve bank, said another reason people are hoarding pennies is because of speculation earlier this year that the mint would abandon copper in the coining of pennies in favor of aluminum, which is cheaper.

Getz said the treasury has decided against the switch. He also said that it isn't profitable to hord pennies for their mineral value. Copper is now valued at 88 cents a pound.

In order to maintain the supply of pennies, the mint must coin 55 million more a day, mint officials report.

Officials also note that if just one billion pennies are recirculated, the taxpayers would save $10 million and if 15 billion pennies are recirculated, the mint would not have to coin pennies for almost two years, a savings of $150 million.

Good Business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Refuse recycling is becoming a profitable enterprise. The National Materials Conservation Symposium was told recently that profit motivation is displacing environmental altruism in waste disposal and recycling enterprises.

Pair Arrested For Car Bomb

BERKELEY (UPI) — Police arrested two men and disarmed a bomb found in a car that was stopped in a routine traffic check last night near the University of California campus.

University police said the bomb "was a fused device with explosive powder."

Arrested were Douglas S. Parker, 22, San Leandro, and Eugene Moore, 19, Alameda.

Both were booked for possession of an explosive device. Parker was also booked for drunken driving.

Idle Gas Stations Handy As Donut Shop Location

By FREDERIC HUNTER
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

SAN LUIS OBISPO — Whenever Don and Tommy McKenzie drive through this small college town, they stop at what is to them its one visitor attraction — their favorite donut shop.

Like the McKenzies, a large number of Americans have favorite donut places. In fact, they buy more than $1 billion worth of the pastries every year. These days, in other words, there is a lot more donuts than jelly.

Take Campus Donuts, for example, which is the McKenzies' favorite shop. Owner-manager Ron Wiseman, who married into the business, says the shop makes a gross profit of between $75,000 to $125,000 per year, "depending on the price of wheat and shortening." His net profit runs about 48 per cent of the gross. That means a tidy little income of $35,000 to $50,000 a year.

Americans consume millions of pounds of donuts every year — 628 million in 1972, according to the Census of Manufactures. Nonetheless, industry officials expect that they will be eating a good many more in the days ahead.

Kenneth Kuhn, vice-president in charge of development at Mister Donut, calls the industry "totally underdeveloped." With some 375 outlets in North America and more than 100 in Japan (where annual sales reach $22 million), Mister Donut is opening new American outlets at the rate of about one a week. Although most are franchise operations, some are company stores.

About once a month Mister Donut inaugurates a donut shop in premises that once housed a gas station. Such premises can be remodeled in about one-third the time it takes to build a donut shop.

Other chains are competing actively to dot the American landscape with retail donut outlets. Dunkin' Donuts, the largest with some 750 franchises in 36 states, Canada, England, and Japan and $135 million in annual sales, is heading west from its Boston area headquarters.

Winchell's Donut House, with 530 company-operated shops in 13 states, is moving east from the Los Angeles area. It has recently entered the Kansas City market. Winchell's claims to be No. 1 in profitability.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for DCA Food Industries, estimates that there are some 5,000 independent donut shops in America. Formerly Donut Corporation of America, DCA manufactures donut-making equipment including sugaring machines, glazing tanks, a machine that cuts and fries 24,000 donuts per hour, and another that lays rings of jelly inside holed donuts.

According to Kuhn, 30,000 people are needed to support a donut shop. He cites customer loyalty and high frequency of purchase as special features of the donut business. Regular customers patronize pizza parlors once a month, Kuhn says, and fried chicken outlets every 17 or 18 days. "But people may buy donuts twice a week," he notes, "maybe every other day."

"We'd like to be the MacDonald's of the morning," says Ross Roeder, president of Winchell's Donut House. He sees a continuing trend toward "grabbing food on the run."

"Most of our shops are in suburban areas," he explains, "where we can catch a man on his way to work and get him again when he comes home in the evening."

Donuts seem to be as old as leavened bread. Selling them "like hotcakes" is comparatively new. Nonetheless, in tomorrow's America donut shops seem likely to be as common as hotdog stands once were.

NO-FAULT

fault plans. That means motorists would collect under nofault, but still be permitted to go to court and seek more damages.

The two measures passed the Assembly last year and have languished since in the committee.

One (AB50) would allow motorists to go to court for extra damages only in the event of death, disfigurement, disability of more than 45 days or serious impairment of a bodily function.

Included was a mandatory 15 per cent reduction in the cost of personal injury coverage. Currently, that coverage amounts to about half the cost of an auto insurance policy.

It was authored by Assemblyman Jack R. Fenton, D-Montebello, and supported by insurance companies and Gov. Ronald Reagan. It was sent directly to the Senate floor on a 7-2 vote.

Prohibited under the bill would be the so-called "pain and suffering" suit for such injuries as a minor whiplash, which are so frequent in the courts now.

The other measure (AB801) provides for motorists to collect for medical bills and lost wages under no-fault, but contains no restriction on the right of someone to sue for further damage.

No mandatory premium was included. Motorists would be required to purchase personal injury insurance.

It was carried by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, and supported by the California Trial Lawyers Association.

It went to the finance committee on a 7-3 vote.

In the high-stakes struggle, insurance companies oppose the attorneys' bill and lawyers are against the insurance company proposal.

David B. Baum of San Francisco, president of the Trial Lawyers Association, complained the Fenton bill "is no compromise." He said attorneys were against any limits on the right to sue.

But American Insurance Association vice president W. V. Slevin of San Francisco argued that no-fault will not work in a bill such as Foran's where there were no restrictions on suits.

He said it would cost motorists 13 per cent more for personal injury coverage.

Neither bill would affect property damage in accidents. That would be handled as it is now, apart from no-fault.

Both place ceilings on nofault benefits.

Fenton's measure would allow up to $50,000 in medical expenses for each person. Another $5,000 would be provided for lost wages, up to $750 per month. Funeral expenses up to $1,000 would be included.

Foran's bill sets a $10,000 limit per person and a $20,000 limit per accident, including lost wages up to $1,000 a month. Funeral costs up to $2,000 would be covered.

Both measures would not apply to motorcyclists, who have said no-fault could effectively prohibit them from getting insurance because of the propensity of motorcycle riders to get seriously hurt in collisions.

CHARGES

sarily true."

Bennett was not available for comment this morning.

Crebassa said he wasn't sure how many firemen had taken tests for jobs in other departments, possibly three or four. He reported that both the district's captains had resigned, one for personal family reasons and the other because of disability.

"When you have the situation that we have here, primarily a training department because it is so small, the kids get disappointed when there aren't opportunities for advancement," Crebassa said.

The board hired two captains last night, both from outside the department. One is from Upland in Los Angeles County and the other, Ron Shafer, a former colleague of Bennett in the Alpine Fire Department in San Diego County.

A total of 56 persons applied for the posts, including three from the Tamalpais department.

Citizen objections last night also centered around a written contract for the chief. In the past, the chief had served "at the pleasure of the board" without a contract.

Residents took particular issue with a clause that would require the district board to give the chief 120 days notice before he could be fired. Directors voted last night to delete this clause from the proposed contract with the chief.

Also attacked was a portion of a proposed two-year contract with firemen under which the chief and captains receive a $100 monthly housing allowance and firemen $75.

Nicholas Wagner of the North Bay Public Employees Union Local 400, representing firemen, said the allowance should be equal for all personnel, since department policy encourages firemen to live within the district.

"If anything, the allowance should be the opposite, because officers have a higher salary, but this should be an equitable thing," Wagner said.

Board members voted 3-2, Modell and Oberg opposed, to keep the higher housing allowance for department officers.

The proposed agreement with firemen also calls for an 8.2 per cent salary increase for firemen beginning July 1 and cost-of-living raises through January 1976.

The proposal, the result of negotiations since April, must be ratified by the district board and firemen. Both are expected to vote on the contract next week.

Department said.

The price index in July stood at 148.3 compared to 100 in the 1967 base year. This means that a market basket of retail goods and services that cost $10 seven years ago had risen in price to $14.83 last month.

Grocery prices dropped slightly in July in the San Francisco Bay Area. It was the first decline in nine months.

Government figures showed groceries which cost $10 in June could be bought for $9.96 last month, a dropof four-tenths of one per cent.

The index was still 12.9 per cent higher than a year ago.

The figures for the San Francisco-Oakland metropolitan area paralleled national trends.

There was a modest dose of good news in another Labor Department report which showed real spendable earnings —what an average blue-collar worker has left on his weekly paycheck after payroll deductions — rose 0.2 per cent from June. However, this figure was still down 5.3 per cent over the past year.

Organized labor has cited this figure as evidence that workers' pay has not kept pace with inflation.

Both the seasonally adjusted consumer price index and the unadjusted index rose 0.8 per cent in July.

Grocery prices usually go up in July, on a seasonally adjusted basis, but prices on many items went down instead. Fruits and vegetables were off more than 2 per cent and meats, poultry, fish and dairy goods were down about 1.5 per cent.

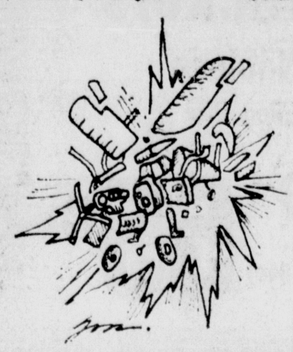
The total index for food bought for home use was off about 1 per cent but the cost of eating out at a restaurant rose last month by about the same amount.

Retail prices for nonfood commodities — a broad range of such items as shoes, gasoline and home furnishings — rose 1 per cent last month or 1.3 per cent seasonally adjusted. This figure usually drops somewhat in July.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Gas Storage Is Very Risky



Store gasoline for an emergency and you may be creating a public nuisance. If fire breaks out, there will be liability. Maybe evern strict liability!

This even applies to a city agency. A recent case involved a city run airport. An extra store of gasoline was kept on hand for use on city aircraft. Fire broke out. Explosions followed, greatly increasing the fire damage. Some airport shops and businesses were damaged. They sued the city for storing the gasoline. They said it created a "public nuisance," increased the dangers and loss to them.

The court agreed that the city was liable. True, the city is not liable for deficiencies in fire-fighting equipment. But the city is liable for dangerous conditions maintained on its properties.

The city should have known that storing the extra gasoline was a highly dangerous act. If fire broke out there is virtually no way to control a gasoline fire — a dangerous condition which the city could have prevented. It is liable just as any private property owner who creates a public nuisance.

It makes no difference that the actual cause of a fire may be from some other concurrent negligent source. A neighbor while welding sets off a fire that ignites your stored gasoline which explodes and destroys your other neighbor's house. You are liable for your own negligent act of storing gasoline. There may be a right to get contribution from the welder. However, there are two separate wrongful acts, each is the proximate cause of the injury.

In many cities, storing of gasoline may itself be illegal. It is a "public nuisance" if it creates a fire hazard. Just as allowing debris that is combustible to accummulate is a public nuisance, the storage of explosive chemicals or gasoline would be the same.

Storage of explosive substance may be deemed "ultra-hazardous." The very doing of the act makes the person strictly liable no matter how much care he undertakes in the storage. No matter what might have caused the damages from escape of the poisons or the explosion, the very fact that it happened, makes the person liable. He is strictly liable.

Accused Slayer Will Surrender

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (UPI) — Rudolph Acosta, the accused slayer of a 12-year-old newspaper delivery girl, has agreed to surrender, police said today.

Acosta's attorney, Gerald Sherman, also said his 24-year-old client has offered to pay for the girl's funeral and take care of the medical bills of the girl's father.

The girl was shot 15 times when she came to Acosta's residence to deliver his newspaper. Police said Acosta thought she might have been a hired assassin.

Inmate Found Dead

VACAVILLE (UPI) — Richard Young, 30, a San Francisco man serving a sentence for burglary, was found hanged in his cell late yesterday at the California state medical prison here.

the city of Sausalito but said provisions in the bill calling for addition of another 407 acres in the area would be of "little, if any, benefit to the public."

Dickenson also urged that a proposal to add 280 acres in Tennessee Valley be cut to 145 acres and urged deletion of a recommendation for addition of 209 acres in Oakwood Valley.

"We believe these lands would not contribute to the ridgeline protection concept," Dickenson said.

Vice Mayor Robin R. Sweeny of Sausalito supported the addition of Wolfback Ridge, noting that the city would be forced to approve private development in the area if applications meet the law.

"The pressure for private development of Wolfback Ridge is great," Sweeny said.

But Bernard C. Hartung, retired former staff member of the Senate Interior Committee, representing property owner Edward Fitzsimmons, opposed the addition of Wolfback Ridge. A resident of the area, Hartung contended the city of Sausalito was merely trying to acquire its own buffer zone "at the expense of the federal government."

Hartung also questioned the recreational value of the ridge.

"Anyone having intimate knowledge of Wolfback knows that it is cold and windy during most of the year," he said.

"Also it's terrain is roughly precipitous and, consequently, does not lend itself to recreational zoning."

The former Senate aide also argued that the land was not needed because it was on the opposite side of the ridge from the main part of the Golden Gate Recreation Area.

Bill Killed On Pornography

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — a senate committee has killed legislation legalizing pornography in California as long as it is kept from open public view and out of the hands of children.

"This represents a substantial social change in California and we really need to give it a lot more thought," argued Deputy Atty. Gen. Michael V. Franchietti.

After his testimony and the opposition of some citizen groups, the Senate Judiciary Committee deadlocked 6-6 on the bill (AB4221) yesterday, one vote short of approval.

Connally Resigns Bank Board Job

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has resigned as a director of First City National Bank of Houston and First City National Bank of Floresville, Tex., a spokesman for his law firm said.

Connally has been indicted by a federal grand jury in Washington on charges of acepting an illegal payoff, conspiring to obstruct justice and perjury in connection with government action in 1971 to raise milk price supports.

The former Texas governor pleaded innocent Aug. 9.

Power Outage

Approximately 4,600 customers were without electricity for about 30 minutes yesterday after failure of a conductor feeding electricity from San Rafael north to Las Gallinas. The conductor failed at 3:46 a.m. Service was restored by 4:33 p.m.

COTATI

also on hand.

Many of those present, of all ages, indicated they preferred an election to the appointive route chosen by the council.

But several of the election backers said they changed their minds after Councilman Allen C. Stansbury told the council state law would make it impossible to hold the election until December, at the earliest, because 90 days must pass between the decision to hold the election and the polling day itself.

If the council chose an election, Stansbury argued, the city's business would grind to a halt every time one of the three current councilmen was absent from a meeting.

During the arguments last night, many residents joined in vigorously, although the bitterness and rancor which characterized council sessions a year ago was mostly absent. Then the issue was whether to hold an election to recall three youthful councilmen — Dunham and Laughlin and Annette Lombardi, the latter two being the ones who resigned this month.

That recall movement was itself rooted in earlier, bitter divisiveness generated when the three won election to the council, defeating three middle-aged incumbents, thus setting the stage for a continuing conflict within the city over hip and traditional lifestyles.

A few hours before yesterday's council session, Sonoma County Dist. Atty. John W. Hawkes announced that Laughlin and Miss Lombardi will be arraigned Thursday in Santa Rosa Municipal Court on charges of possessing marijuana and concealing evidence, both misdemeanors. Also to face charges is Vickie Flaherty, who was arrested with the two councilmen.

The marijuana plants were part of a sizeable crop harvested days before by city police at the Arthur Street home of planning commissioner Eve Kitchen and five other persons. Miss Kitchen also resigned her city post but later changed her mind.

So far six persons have applied for the vacant council positions, and residents are speculating whether the council will appoint young and relatively radical members whose views coincide with those of the two resigned councilmen or two moderates more like councilmen Stansbury and Harry E. Fassio.

The candidates to date include Terrence L. Collins, John Darragh and former councilman Frank Dolinsek, all of whom were involved in the unsuccessful recall campaign last year; Donna Piotrkowski, a planning commissioner and former College of Marin student body president; David Oliva, a sergeant in the San Anselmo Police Department and Jon Lyons. Little is known about Lyons. Backers of last year's recall report he is not known to them.

City Mgr. Robert A. Switzer has instructed city staff to divulge only the names of those who apply for the council seats. When asked by the Independent-Journal why routine information such as age, occupation and address was being withheld, he said his order was to insure that councilmen are informed of each new applicant before newsmen and the general citizenry.

"It's a bureaucratic thing," Switzer said. "I work for the council."

CAB Is Asked To Investigate Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has been asked to investigate whether its chairman violated agency rules by accepting an expense-paid golf weekend in Bermuda from a company named in a case pending before the CAB.

The request was filed yesterday by the Aviation Consumer Action Project, a Ralph Nader group. It also has asked CAB Chairman Robert Timm to disqualify himself.

OBITUARIES

Carolyn B. Freitas Rites Held

Private funeral was held today for Carolyn Boileau Freitas of San Rafael. Mrs. Freitas died Monday at her home.

She was the wife of Manuel T. Freitas, retired banker and dairyman and member of a pioneer Marin family.

Mrs. Freitas was born in Windsor, Sonoma County, and came to Marin as a teen-age girl. She was a homemaker for 40 years.

She is survived by her husband and a brother, Frank W. Boileau of San Rafael.

Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

HOBART JONES

Hobart Nelson Jones Sr. of Mill Valley died yesterday at a local hospital as a result of a fall at his home at 235 Del Casa Drive.

Jones, 44, was born in South Bend, Ind. He was reared in Aptos in Santa Cruz County and moved to San Francisco when he was 16.

A graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, Jones has been employed for many years as a sales representative for the Federal Envelope Co. in South San Francisco.

Jones was a former member of the San Francisco Press Club. He had been living in Mill Valley since 1961.

Jones is survived by three sons, Christopher, Mark and Hobart Nelson Jones Jr. and two daughters, Pamela and Karie, all of San Rafael, and his mother, Adeline M. Lang of Mill Valley.

Funeral services were today at Russell and Gooch Memorial Chapels and Gardens in Mill Valley. Inurnment will be private.

EDNA HENDERSON

Edna A. Henderson of San Rafael, 82, died yesterday in a local convalescent home after a long illness.

Mrs. Henderson was born in DeCliff, Ohio, and made her home in that state many years. She retired about 15 years ago after working as matron for the Dayton, Ohio, police department. Earlier she had worked in the city's parks service department.

Her husband died in 1943.

Mrs. Henderson moved to California after she retired, and had lived in Marin about 12 years.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church of San Rafael, the U.S. Navy Mothers and the Order of Eastern Star.

She is survived by three sons, Samuel A. Smith of San Rafael, Paul Smith of Texas and Joe Smith of San Diego; two sisters, Alice DeWine of Ohio and Rose Johnson of Pennsylvania, seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at the Williams and Heffernan Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Ithaca, Ohio.

TRAFFIC STOPPERS IN MILL VALLEY

These young ladies riding tall in the saddle caught Independent-Journal photographer Ty Barbour's (and everyone else's) eye yesterday on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley. Said Barbour: "Something about the way they were coming down the street, side by side, reminded me of the bad guys coming into town in a Western movie." Enjoying the ride through town are (from the left) "bad guys" Kathy Dwyer of Mill Valley, Liz Trotter of Muir Beach, Tess Felix of Mill Valley and Christine Nassikas of Muir Beach.

Supervisors Pay Boat Ramp Bill

Marin County supervisors yesterday paid a $1,050 bill for engineering design of enlargement of the boat launching ramp under the Petaluma River bridge in Black Point. At the same time Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini announced he'd just learned that the state Wildlife Conservation Commission yesterday approved a $105,000 grant to build the project. (Another supervisors' story, page 1.)

Marin parks and recreation officials have been working for more than a year to enlarge the free launching facility, which is heavily used by Marin small boat owners.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

APOLOGY — Acting Chairman Robert A. Roumiguiere read a letter from Supervisor Peter R. Arigoni Jr. extending a public apology to Betty Machado, Novato Unified School District trustee, for remarks he made last week in debate over financing of a swimming pool at Indian Valley Colleges. Mrs. Machado said, "I wish to accept the apology — it takes a big person in today's society to take the time to write such an apology."

TRIP — Heard a message from Arrigoni and Chairman Michael Wornum, who are in Washington, D.C., on national park and open space matters,that the county's campaign for addition of Inverness Ridge to the Point Reyes National Seashore was going well, but that proposed addition of Wolfback Ridge lands to Golden Gate National Recreation Area holdings near Sausalito was not so favorably received.

AUDITORIUM — Approved, without comment, a settlement of about $4,700 on the county's suit against Marin Open House and Sausalito resident Fred Mayer over damages done during a rock concert benefit at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building in November 1971. Original damage estimates ranged from $9,000 to $19,000 but wear and tear since the concert would make the damage hard to point out to a jury if the trial proceeds as scheduled in September, the county counsel advised.

THRIFTY GARDEN — Approved an agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District under which the district will build a $14,000 garden at the civic center to demonstrate to the public how to use landscaping plants with the greatest water economy. The county will maintain the display.

CONTRACTS — Awarded a $31,695 contract to Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera for a slide repair job in Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Inverness; a $61,977 contract to Soil Engineering Construction Co. of San Carlos for slide repairs of Ridgecrest and Briar roads, Kentfield, a $27,677 contract to Alan Barreca for building a bike path and pedestrian bridge on Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley.

ELECTIONS — Approved a request from the City of San Rafael to consolidate city elections on annexations of Knockaboul Way and Country Club and the preservation of the Dollar Estate. Also approved for consolidation on the Nov. 5 ballot is a Novato city measure propsoing a $3 million open space bond issue.

WAGES — Postponed to next Tuesday, action on Roumiguiere's proposal that the board establish an "industry-county compensation committee" to compare wages of county employees with comparable jobs in industry and to advise the board on negotiations.

Steps Taken To Improve County Fire Protection

Steps to improve firefighting protection for the unincorporated fringes of San Rafael were taken yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors and neighborhood homeowner groups.

The action responded to demands by the San Rafael City Council that the county improve its firefighting capability in the neighborhoods or the city firemen will be forbidden to go outside city limits on mutual aid calls.

The supervisors adopted a resolution putting the proposed formation of County Service Area 19 on the Nov. 5 ballot. Supervisors Robert A. Roumiguiere and Gary T. Giacomini will write a supporting argument by next Tuesday, for the ballot.

Last night, a dozen spokesmen for unincorporated area homeowner groups met with Roumiguiere in the civic center.

They organized a campaign committee for the ballot measure, with Mick Cummins of the Northbridge Marinites as chairman.

The proposed service area is planned to fight structural fires in Santa Venetia, Rafael Meadows, Bayside Acres, Country Club, Sun Valley, California Park and Bret Harte.

The homeowner group members approved final wording of a letter that will go to the unincorporated area voters next month.

It will outline the proposal to build a new fire station atop Puerto Suello Hill near Highway 101. The station will house two fire trucks and three county firemen.

Estimated cost of the station and equipment is $185,000 and the operating costs will be about $200,000 a year, county officials said.

The county's structural fire protection tax for areas not served by any local fire district is now 47 cents per $100 assessed valuation. In the proposed county service area, the voters will be asked to approve a maximum rate of 71 cents.

Last night's homeowner meeting was the result of a series of earlier sessions at which eight different plans to create one or more special areas were debated.

The special service area plan was hotly criticized by Country Club resident Jane Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court. She told the supervisors meeting yesterday the ballot proposal is "utterly irresponsible" because it deals only with trucks and men but doesn't solve some neighborhoods' need for more fire hydrants or larger water mains.

County Fire Chief Richard D. Pedroli later said that some areas need new fire hydrants — at a cost of $1,000 each — or larger mains. Roumiguiere argued that it would be unfair to tax the entire service area's property owners for the hydrants and water needs of some, small neighborhoods.

Mrs. Levinsohhn, who is campaigning for annexation of the Country Club area to the city, accused the supervisors of "giving false information and false security" to the public. Annexation is on the Nov. 5 ballot.

"Do you want us to perform an idle act" by letting San Rafael cut off mutual aid, Supervisor Giacomini asked Mrs. Levinsohn.

Squaw Valley Firm Goes Under

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — The parent firm of the company that bought the state's holdings in Squaw Valley has placed itself in receivership and halted renovation work at the resort, site of the 1960 Winter Olympics.

Mainline Properties of America bought the state's holdings last February for $2.5 million. The parent company, Mainline Corporation Ltd., of Sydney, Australia, went into receivership yesterday.

John R. Poimitroo, public relations official for Mainline, said the corporation's problems were caused by "astronomical inflation in Australia."

He said that Mainline has not defaulted on any payments to creditors.

Intertie's Cost Is Up $10 Million

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors have learned that the Russian River-Cotati intertie aqueduct will cost $10 million more than originally estimated.

Richard Norton, assistant chief engineer for the Sonoma Water Agency, said delays and inflation have pushed the cost up to more than $30 million, a 50 per cent increase over the $20 million estimate of a year ago.

The aqueduct, which is to supply water to Southern Sonoma and Northern Marin counties, was first planned in 1969 as a 140 million gallon per day pipeline.

After Marin environmentalists mounted stiff opposition to the project in 1971, he said, it was revised into a 60 million gallon per day pipeline.

Norton said the bulk of the price increases came from higher steel costs. Most of the pipeline and its storage tanks are to be built of the metal.

The project was delayed last fall by a request from Petaluma to revise its carrying capacity.

Petaluma asked that its allocation of about 9 million gallons per day be doubled because a federal judge had ruled that the city could not restrict population growth by curtailing the water supply.

The project, revised to meet Petaluma's needs, is now scheduled for completion in 1977.

The supervisors this week also heard Sheriff Donald Striepeke recommend that deputies serving in the coroners office be rotated periodically to other duties so they will not be frozen into place without chance for promotions. The coroner's office was combined with the sheriff's department six months ago.

Fairfax Budget Cut By Another $7,541

The Fairfax Town Council, in a nearly four-hour session, last night sliced another $7,541 from the proposed budget for 1974-75.

The council postponed a decision to hire a full-time or part-time recreation director until the next budget session Friday.

It cut the $7,541 from the parks department budget, including $6,554 salary for a proposed additional employee and planned to ask the county to fund the additional person through the Federal Public Employee Act program instead.

The council also cut $376 from the parks department supplies request, with Mayor Frank J. Egger dashing to a town hall telephone to arrange a donation of 24 tons of sand at a $300 saving to the town.

The council hopes to further slash the proposed budget figure of $722,291 this week in an attempt to wipe out a $19,884 deficit, Egger said.

A hitch developed in the budget considerations when town treasurer Pamela Schotte announced that county figures received late yesterday showed assessed valuation of Fairfax property at about $20 million, about a 5 per cent increase over last year.

"We thought it would be $24 million. The county said last May there would be a 20 per cent increase," Egger said. "I hope the figures are wrong."

If correct, the new figures would decrease the town's revenues about $40,000 from estimates, he said.

The council postponed further budget deliberations until assessment revenue figures are checked with the county assessor's office.

The councilmen split on a proposal to hire a full-time recreation director.

"It happens every year; we chop and slice the recreation budget. We can do more for the people of Fairfax with a full-time recreation director than another full-time policeman," Councilman Randall L. Garrison said.

Councilman Albert E. Gately suggested hiring a part-time director who would work full-time in the summer.

The council will again consider the recreation department budget at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Town Hall.

Novato Schools Set Registration

Novato Unified School District will conduct elementary school registration at all elementary schools from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Parents who are new to Novato or have moved to a different attendance area should register their children at the school nearest home, according to publications director Annette Conklin.

Parents should bring proof of birth and immunization records. To be eligible for kindergarten a child must reach the age of 5 by Dec. 2.

To enroll junior or senior high school students new to the district, parents should telephone the school nearest home for a registration appointment.

Schools open Sept. 10 and enrollment is expected to reach 10,645.

Well Report In Cotati Is Put Off

The Cotati City Council last night put off declaring that there would be no significant effect on the environment from construction of the new water system which will be built if voters approve a $1.8 million bond issue Nov. 5. (Another Cotati City Council story, page 1).

Planning commissioners Adrienne Swenson and John Norton asked the council if it was sure the proposed well improvement program included in the bond measure would not adversely affect area well owners.

City Mgr. Robert A. Switzer replied that much of Cotati's data on the subject came from nearby Rohnert Park, which recently won a suit brought by private wellowners who claimed the city's wells were causing their own to run dry.

Although the council indicated it believed Rohnert Park's evidence was probably conclusive since it held up in court, it deferred its declaration on the environmental impact until Sept. 3. In the meantime, Cotati officals will double check all available studies on water tables in the area.

The Cotati City Council also:

DELEGATE — Delayed appointing a delegate to the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission's city-county policy committee pending appointment of two new councilmen.

BANKS — Authorized staff to deposit city funds in either the Rohnert Park Bank of America or the Crocker or Exchange banks in Cotati, with special preference for banks which help the city sell bonds and obtain other financial assistance.

AMBULANCE — Issued a temporary (60-day) operations permit to the Pioneer Ambulance Co., which will be eligible for a regular permit after completion of rate negotiations with the city and after its office site is rezoned to allow commercial use.

SIGN — Denied an appeal of a planning commission decision to reject a sign proposed for the Rancho Cotate Theater.

Chavez In Hospital After Latest Fast

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Farm labor leader Cesar Chavez was hospitalized today after fasting for two weeks.

Dr. Jerome Lackner said the 47-year-old head of the United Farm Workers Union had fasted and was suffering from fatigue as well as a recurring back problem.

Four Kangaroos Killed By Dogs

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Four kangaroos were killed yesterday when a pack of stray dogs invaded the St. Louis Zoo in Forest Park shortly after the gates opened.

Zoo director Robert Briggs said the dogs entered the gate and went for the throats of the Australian animals. Three were killed outright and a fourth died later after being seriously mauled.

Two of the animals killed were pregnant females.

Food Supply Terms Are Cleared Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When the Agriculture Department says rice supplies will be fully adequate, almonds more than adequate and dry bean stocks ample, it doesn't mean to put all those supply situations in the same class, officials explained today.

The explanation came after newsmen were puzzled by a food supply report filled with terms like "adequate ... more than adequate ... fully adequate ... ample ... generally adequate ... heavy ... abundant ... plentiful ... tight."

Is an "ample" supply heavier than a "more than adequate" stock? they asked. Does "fully adequate" mean more or less than plentiful?

A spokesman for the Agricultural Marketing Service replied that the agency's monthly Food Marketing Alert used the following bottom-to-top ranking for the supply status of individual items:

1 — Tight. 2 — Generally adequate. 3—Adequate (which means there are no shortages). 4—Fully adequate (which is a little better than plain adequate). 5—More than adequate. 6 — Ample. 7 — Heavy. 8 — Abundant or plentiful which can be used interchangably.

HENRY A. KISSINGER
Addresses American Legion

Kissinger Views U.S. Cyprus Role

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Declaring that "we cannot be the world's policeman," Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said last night the United States will not be pressured into any military intervention in Cyprus.

"We will not yield to pressure but we will always listen to reason," Kissinger told the American Legion convention. "We will act on foreign policy as trustees of the future, conscious that we will be judged on how well we built an enduring peace and not how often we bowed to the emotional demands of the moment.

"Our attitude will be that we cannot be the world's policeman."

Applauded 14 times during his speech, and given a brief standing ovation at the end, Kissinger told the legionnaires that America must remain a military power "second to none."

"America's military might is the foundation of our diplomatic strength," he said. "By demonstrating that there is no alternative to negotiation, it is the precondition of our policy of relaxing tensions with our adversaries."

Kissinger apparently was unaware that about two dozen Greek sympathizers joined about 150 Cuban refugees in a peaceful demonstration outside the Fountainbleau Hotel where he spoke. The demonstrators were kept across the wide Collins Avenue thoroughfare in front of the hotel.

Younger Is Under Fire By Norris

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — William Norris, Democratic nominee for attorney general, yesterday proposed the state establish a commission to appoint special prosecutors when conflict of interests arise in the attorney general's office.

Norris told newsmen the basis for the commission was the "dereliction and non-performance of duty" by Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger, a Republican seeking a second term.

Norris cited three cases in which Younger — as attorney general and earlier as Los Angeles County Dist. Atty. — had a "direct personal or professional interest in the outcome of the cases and failed to take appropriate action, or any action at all, against those involved."

The cases, according to Norris, involved indicated financier C. Arnholt Smith, indicted oilman Jack Burke and the case involving the "victimization" of newsman William Farr.

In the cases of Smith, former president of the bankrupt U.S. National Bank, and Burke, former head of Geotek Resources Fund, Norris said there was "ample ground for Younger to act, but he turned his back on both cases and let the federal government do his job for him."

He said "both Smith and Burke were heavy contributors to Younger's campaign for attorney general."

The proposed Commission on Conflicts of Interest would be composed of the governor, the speaker of the Assembly and president pro tem of the Senate.

House Candidate Killed In Crash

CHATTANOOGA (UPI) — Mort Lloyd, a candidate for Congress, was killed in the crash of a private plane yesterday.

Lloyd, a veteran broadcaster who won the Democratic primary Aug. 1, was piloting a single-engine 180 Swift near Winchester, Tenn.

"The damn engine just fell out of it," Franklin County Sheriff David Braswell said.

Film Star Ilona Massey Dies At 62

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ilona Massey, a popular film star and singer, died yesterday at Bethesda Naval Hospital after a three month illness. She was 62.

Miss Massey starred in the film "New Wine," in which she used her singing talents in the role of composer Franz Shubert's sweetheart. Later, she costarred with the Marx Brothers in the 1949 film "Love Happy."

A native of Hungary, Miss Massey got her first big break in 1939 when she costarred with Nelson Eddy in "Balalaikia."

She had lived in the Washington area since 1955, when she married her forth husband, retired Air Force Gen. Donald S. Dawson.

Miss Massey was active in demonstrations protesting the 1956 Soviet intervention in Hungary. She also worked for Hungarian refugee relief organizations.

A memorial service will be held here.

Officer Charged In Bomb Hoax

HAYWARD (UPI) — A reserve policeman has been charged with planting a bomb in the police station and then reporting it in an attempt to better his chances of becoming a regular officer.

Municipal Court Judge Robert Byers yesterday set $3,500 bail for Robert Woolum, 26.

Officers said Woolum went into a bathroom in the station Sunday night and said he found a bomb but defused it. Police said a nine-inch pipe bomb was found in the bathroom.

Police Lt. Peter Quevedo said Woolum admitted under questioning that he planted the bomb because he thought it would help him when the police examinations are held Saturday.

To Hike Fares

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan Air Lines, Japan's national flag carrier, said today it will raise its international air fares beginning Sept. 15 because of rising fuel costs.

THE TOMATO IS CHICKEN

Alfred De Martini of San Rafael admires a tomato which bears a striking resemblance to a baby chick, even down to a tiny beak. De Martini, an avid gardener, grew the strange-looking vegetable, though not intentionally. His wife, Ann, temporarily is storing the tomato in the refrigerator to show to friends as a kind of "conversation piece."

Bill Would Give GIs More Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today approved a compromise education package for Vietnam era veterans, including the biggest increase in benefits since the end of World War II.

The bill, approved by voice vote, was sent to the House for final congressional approval. There was no indication whether President Ford would sign it.

The legislation, worked out by Senate-House negotiators, would increase GI Bill benefits by 22.7 per cent.

In the case of a single veteran, the bill would increase monthly benefits from $220 to $270 a month.

Veterans would also become eligible for loans of $1,000 a year to help pay educational costs. The funds would be drawn on the National Life Insurance Trust Fund with the Veterans Administration setting the interest rate.

The bill also extends the time a veteran is eligible for monthly benefits from 36 to 45 months.

Ford Tells Blacks About His Plan To Create Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford told black House members today he is considering a public service employment program to fight unemployment of blacks in major cities, a leader of the group said.

Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., head of the Black Caucus, told reporters the House members were "pleased" that Ford "recognizes that our concerns are his concerns."

Ford met with the House members in a friendly and conciliatory gesture aimed at improving relations between the executive branch and the black lawmakers. The caucus was at odds with former President Nixon and all but one of them voted against Ford's nomination to be vice president last year.

Rangel said that Ford "made it very clear he is considering some kind public of service employment." The President said the country need a "strong defense posture" but also said I can assure you that the defense budget is not sacrosanct," Rangel said.

With his choice of Nelson A. Rockefeller to be vice president out of the way, Ford kept a heavy schedule. He attended the memorial services for slain ambassador Rodger P. Davies and later was to sign the $25 billion education act which includes stiff antibusing provisions.

"The President has advised us that not only is his door open to us but more importantly that each of us can call him," said Rangel.

Rep. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., was more cautious in her characterization of the meeting. "The nature of the meeting today was let's talk to each other. That, we did," she said.

Rangel said the group left Ford a document listing their long term concerns. He said it was not a "shopping list" but covered a range of subjects including minority housing, economic development, inclusion of Africa in a meaningful way in foreign policy, the military budget, health, narcotics, crime, voting rights, improving the status of all minorities including black women, amnesty and transportation.

The black caucus also was expected to express its praise for Ford's intention to get legislation repealed that allows the United States to import Rhodesian chrome despite U.N. Security Council economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

Ford was able to concentrate on his general duties as President after picking former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as his vice presidential choice.

Rockefeller, who made three unsuccessful bids for president on the Republican ticket himself, told reporters that he gained the impression that Ford "has every intention" of running for a full four-year term after he fulfills the remainder of former President Nixon's tenure.

Rockefeller said that Ford "talked about himself" but not what he wants to do regarding a running mate in 1976.

White House news secretary J. F. terHorst told reporters he could give them "no guidance" on Ford's future political plans.

U.N. Forces Refuse To Leave Famagusta

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

United Nations peacekeeping troops on Cyprus today ignored a Turkish order to get out of the port of Famagusta and patroled the deserted streets of the strategic east coast port Turkey captured last week.

A U.N. spokesman said a request by U.N. authorities for clarification of the Turkish demand to quit the port had gone unanswered at 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EDT), nearly 24 hours after it was sent. He said Swedish U.N. troops are still there.

The Turkish order recalled one last month for U.N. forces to get out of the north coast port of Kyrenia. The U.N. troops refused to leave so the Turks, vastly outnumbering them, simply confined them to their camps. Then the Turks launched a series of attacks to enlarge their north coast beachhead.

The U.N. has whittled away its own presence in other parts of Turkish-controled Cyprus since the outbreak of the Turkish offensive last week. The U.N. post at the Dome Hotel in Kyrenia, guarding Greek Cypriot refugees, was withdrawn along with the bulk of U.N. troops in the village of Bellapais.

Asked to define U.N. policy on the withdrawal of its forces from Turkish controlled areas, the spokesman said some troops had been pulled out of "operational areas" where heavy fighting was going on.

The U.N. force was put on the island 10 years ago to stop small-scale fighting among Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots but has neither the manpower nor the mission to stop the modern army Turkey put on the island a month ago.

"Our headquarters is concerned about the looting of food stores on the Green Line in Nicosia," the spokesman said. "We are negotiating with the Turkish Cypriots for an end to this practice."

He declined to give details of where the looting had taken place or whether both sides were involved. The Green Line divides the Greek and Turkish communities in the Cypriot capital.

The island was generally calm today though UPI correspondent John Lawton reported some firing across the United Nations "Green Line" dividing the Greek and Turkish quarters of Nicosia, the capital city.

Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Denktash said he told acting Cypriot President Glafkos Clerides through the U.N. that he was willing to discuss day to day problems but a permanent solution depended on larger negotiations including Greece and Turkey.

American diplomat L. Dean Brown moved on his 54th birthday today into the bullet-scarred Nicosia office of slain U.S. Ambassador Rodger P. Davies.

Man Survives 152-Foot Plunge

DETROIT (UPI) — A man who said he jumped from Ambassador Bridge into the Detroit River — a fall of 152 feet — was released yesterday from General Hospital.

Police said the man, Patrick Bolger, 24, of Windsor, Ont., apparently was the first person to survive the leap in a decade.

Some officers doubted if he jumped at all, however.

"Jumping from the bridge is like taking a jump from the 15th story of an office building. The impact will break every bone in your body," said a sergeant.

Korean Protest

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — About 200 demonstrators stormed the shuttered Japanese Embassy today and tore the embassy sign from the building. They were protesting Tokyo's disclaimers of moral or legal responsibility for the attempted assassination of President Chung Hee Park.

Tam High Trustees Will Meet Parents

Tamalpais High School District officials will meet with parents from the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Bolinas School to discuss student transportation to Tamalpais High School.

Trustees Bette Wallace and Lotte Schiller and district business director Frank Cassou will appear at the meeting.

In past years, the Marin City Transportation Co., a private firm provided service to the coastal towns before and after school. But it will only provide service to and from Marin City this year.

The Marin County Transit District presently operates a commute bus between the area and San Francisco but students using it would have to leave about 6:45 a.m. and would not return home until about 6:30 p.m. West Marin families have compalined that these hours work a hardship.

Mrs. Wallace said the district is negotiating with the transit district to add another bus to its schedule which would leave the high school shortly after final classes in the afternoon.

Students riding transit district buses would pay 25 cents each way. Last year, students paid 15 cents each way but some "hardship cases" rode free, according to Edward J. Neumeier, district administrative assistant. He said that policy would not be changed.

System Beat

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Two married teachers found a way to improve their financial situation. One of them, alternating each month, becomes "sick" for about 10 days and the other replaces him or her in addition to his regular work, getting paid for extra work, the Belgrade "Vecer je Novosit" Evening News reported.

Site Plans For Buildings Approved

The Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee last night approved preliminary site plans for two-story office buildings to be built by the Broughton and Horne construction firm at 300 Miller Avenue by John Warsen Construction Co. at 275 Miller Avenue, and by the Ham Construction Co. at 329 Miller Avenue, according to Robert J. Hanna, associate planner.

The committee still has to approve landscaping plans at the sites. The committee next meets at 8 p.m. Sept. 4 in city council chambers.

Wash Basins Are Becoming Popular

CHICAGO (UPI) — Single and double bowl vanity wash basins are becoming increasingly popular installed in the bedroom, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling information bureau reports.

The bureau said the bedroom basin is a trend back to great grandmother's china bowl and water pitcher.

Novato Willing To Join Study, But Wants To Examine Cost

The City of Novato is willing to go its share of a study of the coming traffic problem at Indian Valley Colleges, but not as proposed by Marin County.

The city council last night voted to explore such a study's cost, which it would share with Marin County, Marin County Transit District and Marin Community College District.

Ray W. Foreaker Jr., Marin County Director of public works, wrote that the study proposed by the college district would cost $25,000 to $30,000. Foreaker estimated that a college of 5,000 students would generate traffic by 8,000 cars per day.

Councilman Fred F. Ruegg objected to the high cost of the proposed study and said it could be done for half that cost or less.

The Novato City Council also:

LEASE — Leased the Carlisle house to Landmark Associates, William Kelly and Paul Frank, for $1 a year for 25 years if the company makes approximately $30,000 in repairs to the house. It voted to write the chamber of commerce suggesting that it locate its offices in the refurbished house.

MOTORCYCLE — Authorized spending $1,500 out of undistributed reserve for a motorcycle for the police department to patrol the open space in the city.

ELECTION — Passed an ordinance calling for a $3 million bond issue for open space on the Nov. 5 election and passed a resolution designating Wilson, Jones, Morton and Lynch of San Mateo as bond counsels.

BIDS — Authorized the staff to call for bids, time not set, to repair cuts in the sidewalks and streets of Bahia Unit 1 B.

SIGN — Approved removal of a stop sign on Elena Court at San Luis Drive.

DEBRA — Passed an ordinance approving final plans for a subdivision of 21 lots on 11 acres at the northwest corner of Seventh Street and Marion Avenue for Debra homes.

DRAINAGE — Accepted as completed the drainage project at Sherman and De Long avenues and the tennis courts at Pioneer Memorial Park.

PRE-HISTORY — Approved the quarterly payment of $500 to the Novato pre-history museum.

BIDS — Rejected all three bids received on improvements to Fifth Street between Olive and Grant avenues. The lowest bid was more than 50 per cent more than the engineer's estimate of $8,140.

SALARIES — Went into closed meeting to discuss executive salaries, though the Ralph M. Brown Act makes no provision for a closed meeting on such a matter.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m., next Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

SEN. JOHN L. HARMER
Views appointment

Ed Reinecke Should Quit — Harmer

Sen. John L. Harmer of Glendale, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, yesterday said that if he were Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, he would resign.

Incumbent Reinecke was convicted last month on federal perjury charges, but has refused to quit pending his appeal.

If Reinecke's conviction is upheld in court action expected by the end of this month, Gov. Ronald Reagan is expected to offer to appoint Harmer to the vacancy.

The senator, visiting the Independent-Journal in a campaign swing through the North Bay, added that he was "not offended" at Reinecke's failure to resign. Harmer, Reinecke's attorney a decade ago, argued Reinecke should quit because "the erosion of his dignity is now getting too severe."

Harmer said he was undecided whether he would accept appointment to replace Reinecke. It would help to run in November as an incumbent, he said. Voters who object it would give him an unfair advantage "won't vote for me anyway," he said.

The legislator recalled that he originally expected to be Reinecke's running mate in November. Reinecke's troubles with the law, however, cost him his race in June for the GOP nomination for governor.

Harmer said his major campaign problem is raising money, pointing out that he is so short of funds that he had to drop his entire professional staff of eight persons.

His original budget for the November race was $700,000, but has been trimmed to $350,000 he reported. He said he spent about $120,000 in the primary campaign.

Contributions to GOP candidates had been almost nil until President Nixon's resignation, Harmer said, but in the past two weeks have shown "a definite upturn." He added that he has up to 5,000 volunteers "ready to go."

His Democratic opponent, Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, is running an even more modest campaign in the hope of coasting into office on the coattails of the Democratic candidate for governor, according to Harmer.

The senator, questioned about the need for the present full-time Legislature, favored making it part time again. "We over-legislate the state now — we overgovern," he said.

Harmer's Marin volunteers are working out of Republican Party headquarters in San Rafael. A Petaluma office will open soon.

The 40-year-old senator has served in the upper house since 1966. His present four-year term expires in 1976, thus he can retain his seat if defeated for lieutenant governor — unless he leaves the Legislature to accept an appointment to fill Reinecke's seat.

Harmer ran unsuccessfully for attorney general in 1970, losing the nomination to Evelle J. Younger.

What's in store

August is Sandwich Month

With hot weather and relaxing summer days, what better time to create a beautiful sandwich supper. There are such delightful items at the delicatessen cases in the markets today for the makings. Cheeses, meats and fish items from all across our nation and around the world are just waiting there to be done up into something special. Variety breads at the bakery department and fresh vegetables or fruits add a flourish to make sandwich creating fun.

The National Sandwich Idea Contest was held recently and some of the winning recipes are interesting. Here is one from New York .

Big Frank Ruben
6 Sandwiches

- 12 slices enriched Jewish rye bread
- butter, softened
- 6 frankfurters
- 1 cup sauerkraut, well drained
- 6 slices (1 oz. each) Swiss Cheese
- 1/3 cup Thousand Island Dressing

Toast and butter bread. Split frankfurters in half lengthwise and place on 6 slices of rye toast, split side up. Top each frank with about 1 tablespoon dressing, 2 tablespoons sauerkraut and one slice cheese. Close sandwiches with remaining toast slices. Wrap in foil. Heat in preheated 350° oven, 20 minutes or until cheese is melted.

Another from New Mexico . . .

El Matador
6 Sandwiches

- 6 enriched long soft French rolls, split
- ½ cup refried beans
- 3 med. canned Jalapena peppers, sliced
- 2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
- 6 ounces shaved ham
- 6 ounces shaved pastrami
- 3 cups shredded lettuce
- 12 slices tomato

For each bottom half of roll, spread equal amount of beans, Jalapena slices, about 2 tablespoons cheese and equal amounts of ham. Divide pastrami equally on top half of bun. Sprinkle about 2 tablespoons cheese over pastrami for each sandwich. Broil both halves until cheese is melted. Remove from broiler. Divide lettuce equally and place 2 slices tomato on each sandwich. Close. Secure with toothpicks. Cut in half to serve.

Circus To Open Bay Area Run At Oakland Coliseum

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will open a two-week Bay Area engagement at the Oakland Coliseum tonight with a six-day run and then move to the San Francisco Cow Palace on Aug. 28 for six days.

Headlining this year's show — the 104th edition — is Michu, the world's smallest man, who stands 33 inches high — seven inches shorter than P.T. Barnum's Gen. Tom Thumb.

This year's spectacular will showcase 24 acts never before seen in the U.S., as well as the Flying Gaonas from Mexico and Charly Baumann and his Royal Bengal and Siberian tigers.

AT THE PROM — Denise Nettleton and Michael A. Maurice dance cheek-to-cheek in the prom scene from the rock 'n role musical, "Grease," which is at the Geary Theater in San Francisco through Sept. 15.

DANCE

The Moiseyev Dance Company of Moscow is currently at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium through Saturday with evening performances and a matinee on Saturday. Featured on the program are dances from "Prince Igor."

DRAMA

The American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco this week announced that the rock 'n roll musical, "Grease," is being extended at the Geary Theater through Sept. 15.

MUSIC

Country western singer Mac Davis, who can be seen weekly on television, will arrive at the Circle Star Theater in San Carlos Friday night for five shows through Sunday. Appearing with Davis will be comedian David Steinberg.

Other events:

Geary Theater — "Grease", Tuesday through Saturday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 2:30 p.m.; Sunday, 3 and 7:30 p.m. (Run extended through Sept. 15.)

Marines' Memorial Theater — "Godspell," Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 8 and 10:45 p.m.; Sundays, 7:30 p.m.

Asian Art Museum — New pieces from Indian, Nepal and Tibet; blue and white ceramics; Year of the Tiger display.

San Francisco Museum of Art — Five one-man shows by SECA winners through Sept. 8.

Oakland Museum — "Bodywear," through Aug. 25; watercolors from two historic Pacific voyages, through Sept. 1; "Realist and Surrealism in American Art," through Aug. 18; "Art through My Eyes," by Oakland public school students and teachers, through Sept. 1.

University Art Museum, Berkeley — Modern art from the People's Republic of China, through Oct. 13; "Old Master and Japanese woodblock prints," through Sept. 1.

An Inmate's 'Hour Hour' Comes To End

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UPI) — The law — Newton's, that is — caught up with two young men who tried to feed a buddy liquor and wine through a 55-inch rubber hose stuck into a jailhouse window.

Gravity and the police broke up the party yesterday.

Authorities at the Bridgeport Correctional Center said they found Joseph P. Mauro, 16, and Albert S. Rodriguez, 26, outside a first-floor window on the east wing of the facility, standing next to a jug of wine and a bottle of liquor.

Protruding through the window was the rubber hose, through which an inmate inside the jail was trying to suck up the liquids.

Warden Jose Santos said the unnamed inmate would have needed "a lot of suction" to get any of the booze.

House Votes Standard Time

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Monday, 383 to 16, to put the nation back on standard time this November through February, 1975. The bill now goes to the Senate, where approval is regarded as certain.

It would suspend the provision of the 1973 Emergency Energy Act that ordered year-round Daylight Saving Time to conserve energy.

127 Women Eligible For Patrol Jobs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Highway Patrol announced today that 127 women are eligible to become the patrol's first female officers.

Only 40 of the eligible women will be selected to undergo training at the CHP Academy. The process used to choose from the 1,458 applicants was "one of the most rigorous ever conducted," said commissioner Walter Pudinski.

The CHP designed a special test using a 70-pound bag of sand to judge the applicants' physical ability. The women wrestled and carried the bag.

A CHP spokesman said the women did not have the advantage of men applicants in being able to practice for the test because it was new.

"Some of the women were absolutely beat into the floor," he said.

The test was developed because state physical therapists advised the CHP women could not be judged by the same test as men, whose test includes situps and pushups.

The women took the same mental exams, he said.

The admission of women to the patrol is part of a two-year study.

Tuna Fishermen Suing Canners

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Western Fishboat Owners Association and four tuna boat owners filed suit in federal court today accusing five major tuna fish canners of violating antitrust laws.

The class action by the 600-member association, headquartered in San Diego, claims the firms conspired to unreasonably restrain trade and monopolized purchase of tuna.

Named as defendants were Castle & Cooke Inc., which packs albacore or tuna under the Bumble Bee label; Westgate-California Foods, which uses Breast of Chicken, Carnation, Priority and Peacock labels; Star-Kist Foods and H.J. Heinz, its parent corporation, and Ralston Purina Inc., which owns Van Camp Seafoods and markets tuna under Chicken-of-the-Sea labels.

The suit asks for treble damages to be determined by the court.

The association members have an average yearly catch of 20,000 to 25,000 tons of albacore, which is 20 per cent of the annual worldwide catch. They bring in about 65 to 70 per cent of the tuna caught off the North American Coast.

The defendants buy at least 95 per cent of the yearly catch of albacore and provide almost the sole market for fish caught off the West Coast, the suit said.

The suit claims the defendants engaged in "extensive and continuing series of acquisitions and consolidations with actual or potential competitors" and said this gave them a monopoly in buying tuna on the West Coast for processing and marketing.

McCarthy Gives Up Seat On Committee

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Leo T. McCarthy relinquished his membership on the Transportation Committee today, naming Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, to replace him.

Ralph, a black who cast a key vote for McCarthy in the recent speakership fight, also is chairman of the Assembly Rules Committee.

Big Business

TAIPEI (UPI) — Exports of electronics products will reach $800 million U.S. this year, say trade officials here.

Ford Leads Tributes To Davies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford led the nation's tribute today to Rodger P. Davies, the ambassador to Cyprus who was killed Monday by gunfire in the U.S. Embassy in Nicosia.

The White House said Ford would to attend a memorial service for Davies at Andrews Air Force Base just outside Washington at 11:30 a.m. EDT, when an Air Force jet arrives with Davies' body. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger also was scheduled to attend.

The slain ambassador was to receive a 19-gun salute and prayers offered by a Washington Episcopalian priest.

The Air Force jet, after refueling here, was to fly to San Francisco. Davies will be buried in Berkeley, where he lived.

The plane left Beirut late yesterday with Davies' two children aboard. Anna, 20, and John, 15, accompanied by U.S. ambassador George McMurtrie Godley and a Lebanese official, were waiting at Beirut airport when the plane arrived from the British Akrotiri air force base in Cyprus.

Anna is a student at Mills College in Oakland and John is a high school student. They were taken from Cyprus July 23 to the the USS Coronado. They have been staying with friends in Beirut since. Their mother died last year of cancer. Davies is also survived by his mother Kitty Davies of Placerville.

Mime Pair To Perform At College

Mimes Robert Shields and Lorene Yarnell will be among featured performers in Sonoma State College's fall semester performing arts season.

More than 35 evening performances and many noon events are planned this year, according to a college spokesman.

Other guest artists will include the Ermeler Duo and soprano Gwen Curatilo, tenor James Schwabacher, composer Jean Simpson and pianist Stewart Rabinowitsh.

Dramatic productions will include Tennessee Williams' "A Street Car Named Desire" and "El Jahi Malik", a play with dance and music directed by Ada Hall of the Ethnic Studies Department.

The children's opera, "Beauty and the Beast," will be presented in November.

Dance programs will include a recital by faculty members Kelly Holt and Nancy Lyons and African dancing.

The fifth annual Redwood Empire Stage Band Festival will take place Nov. 23 with more than 40 junior and senior high school bands performing.

The concert jazz ensemble will present a tribute to Duke Ellington at its December concert.

Musical events also are planned by the college chamber orchestra, madrigal singers, jazz workshop, chorus, philharmonic orchestra, contemporary music ensemble, chamber music workshop and wind ensemble.

Brochures listing all fall events can be obtained from the center for performing arts, Sonoma State College, 1801 East Cotati Avenue, Rohnert Park.

Low Mormon Cancer Rate Studied

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The cancer mortality rate among members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, or Mormons, is among the lowest of any group of Americans, a researcher at UCLA's School of Public Health said yesterday.

Only Seventh-day Adventists have a lower cancer mortality rate, according to Dr. James E. Enstrom of the school's division of epidemiology.

Enstrom began investigating the correlation between Mormons and cancer two years ago after reading that Utah has the nation's lowest cancer rate.

Among the state's 1.1 million residents, 73 per cent of whom are Mormons, the cancer death rate is 75 per cent of the national cancer death rate. Utah County, which includes the city of Provo, is 90 per cent Mormon. There the cancer death rates are 65 per cent of the national average for males and 72 per cent for females.

An obvious assumption is that smoking and drinking, prohibited by Mormon doctrine, causes higher cancer mortality among non-Mormons, Enstrom said.

But he said there is a low rate of cancer among Mormons in such parts of the body as the breast, stomach, colon, rectum, uterus, prostate and kidney. Cancer in those areas has never been clearly related to any risk factors such as drinking or smoking.

While Enstrom said the low consumption of alcohol, tobacco, coffee, tea and addictive drugs may be a factor in the lower cancer death rate among Mormons, there are others.

The general health practices of Mormons are a positive influence, he said. Getting enough exercise and sleep, outdoor activities, and keeping physically fit are all encouraged by the church.

He said studies in New York City indicate that Catholics, Jews and members of general Protestant faiths have cancer mortality rates comparable to the national average.

House Votes To Accept Report On Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House quickly passed without debate today a resolution to accept the House Judiciary Committee's final report on the case for its proposed articles of impeachment against former President Richard M. Nixon.

The resolution making the document an official House report was introduced by Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts who said it "writes a final chapter in a momentous proceeding in the history of the House."

The vote signaled the end of the congressional impeachment inquiry which began Feb. 1 when the House directed the House Judiciary Committee to investigate whether Nixon should be impeached.

A vote to accept the report cannot be translated an as an endorsement of the committee's recommendations. Because of this, most Republicans had been expected to vote for it.

AC Denies Profit From Bus Strike

OAKLAND (UPI) — A spokesman for the AC Transit District denied today that the district is running up a weekly profit of $150,000 during the strike of employes, now in its eighth week.

Summarizing the district's finances, AC information officer Joe McCord said it has been spending $93,000 per week during the strike. Its income has been $66,000 per week, of which $58,000 was received from gasoline tax funds and $8,000 in interest from investments.

Thus AC is spending $27,000 per week more than it is taking in.

However, the district has not yet made its property tax assessment and before the strike had budgeted more than $10 million in assessments for the current fiscal year.

If the current strike lasted the entire year, and if the directors assessed property taxes as high as if there had been no strike, then the district could theoretically "profit" by as much as $150,000 a week, McCord said.

The spokesman said the strike and present uncertainty about when it will end has put this year's financing into a realm of deep uncertainty.

POLYNESIAN PERFECT is a sweet and sour entree using strips of round steak, green beans, pineapple and whole mushrooms combined with a richly flavored sauce, adaptable to other sweet and sour dishes.

DAY-TO-DAY MEALS

Tuna, Rice, Beef Entrees

It's a harder job than most people will admit . . . creating interesting, nutritious and flavorful meals, day after day.

Two of the following recipes rely on tuna or rice, both are economical as well as good meal-stretchers.

The "Polynesian perfect," a sweet and sour entree using strips of round steak resting on a bed of rice, may look complicated at first, but the recipe calls for items from the cupboard and freezer. It's a convenience dinner, great when you want some extra time away from the kitchen.

SKILLET GUMBO

1 cup chopped onions
½ cup chopped green pepper
2 tbsp. bacon drippings or vegetable oil
1 can (14-½ to 16 oz.) tomatoes, chopped
¼ tsp. each garlic powder, Rosemary, and pepper
1 tsp. salt
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1 package (10 oz.) frozen cut okra
1 can (12 oz.) canned luncheon meat, cubed
3 cups cooked rice

Saute onions and green pepper in drippings until tender crisp. Add tomatoes and seasonings. Bring to a boil, add okra, and return to a boil, using a fork to separate okra. Cover and simmer for 10 minutes. Stir in meat and rice. Continue cooking until thoroughly heated. Makes 6 servings.

SAVORY TUNA BAKE

2 tbsp. flour
3 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
2 cups chicken broth
2 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. dill weed
¼ tsp. pepper
2 cups grated Swiss cheese
1 can (6 to 7 oz.) tuna
3 cups cooked rice
1 cup each chopped onions, celery, and green pepper

Blend flour into butter. Add broth, mustard, and seasonings, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in one cup of the cheese and remaining ingredients. Turn into a greased shallow two-quart casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with remaining cheese and bake five minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

TUNA-CHEESE BISCUIT BAKE

8 ounce can buttermilk or country style biscuits
10¾ ounce can condensed Cheddar cheese soup
2 6½-ounce cans (2 cups) drained tuna
10 ounce package (1½ cups) frozen peas, partially thawed
1 cup milk
½ cup chopped onion, or 2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 tsp. parsley flakes

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Separate dough into 10 biscuits. Arrange biscuits in an ungreased 9-inch square or 12x8-inch baking dish. In medium mixing bowl, combined remaining ingredients; pour over biscuits. Bake at 400 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes until biscuits have risen to the top and are golden brown. Serve with cheesy sauce spooned over biscuits. Makes four to six servings. Refrigerate any leftovers.

POLYNESIAN PERFECT

1 pound round steak, trimmed and cut in ¼ x 2-inch strips
Salt and pepper
½ cup water
¼ cup ketchup
¼ cup honey
2 tbsp. soy sauce
1 tbsp. Worchestershire sauce
1 tbsp. prepared mustard
1 cup beef broth
1 tsp. salt
3 tbsp. water
4 tbsp. cornstarch
1 8½-oz. can diagonal-cut green beans, drained
1 8-oz. can pineapple chunks, drained and ⅓ cup liquid reserved
1 2½-oz. jar whole mushrooms, drained
1 2-oz. jar pimiento, drained and diced
2 12-oz. packages rice verdi (rice with bell peppers and parsley) frozen in the pouch

Brown meat in large skillet; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add water; cover and simmer 20 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, cook rice according to package directions. In a medium bowl, combine ketchup and honey until smooth; stir in soy sauce, Worchestershire sauce, mustard, broth and salt. Combine water, cornstarch and reserved pineapple liquid until smooth; stir into ketchup-honey mixture. Pour sauce mixture into skillet with meat; heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Add green beans, pineapple, mushrooms and pimiento; reduce heat and heat through, stirring occasionally. Serve with rice verdi. Turn rice into a serving bowl and fluff with a fork. Serves six.

TUNA-CHEESE Biscuit Bake adds a new dimension to the old standby, tuna casserole. It almost resembles an upside-down dish as a saucy cheese, tuna and pea mixture bakes over ready-to-bake buttermilk or country style biscuits.

The Safety Factor In Dressings

There is no record in any technical or scientific journal of any case of food poisoning caused directly through the consumption of commercially prepared mayonnaise or salad dressing, according to the Mayonnaise and Salad Dressings Institute.

The reason, says president R. H. Kellen, is because the vinegar medium of dressings completely destroys the organisms normally associated with food poisonings.

Kellen recommends that salads to which these dressings are added be refrigerated, although the dressing itself need not be. The words, "refrigerate after opening" on the label, he said, is simply a suggestion to preserve the fresh taste of the product.

At the same time, Kellen urged homemakers to use proper sanitation procedures in the preparation of foods.

Telephone Grocery Ordering Is Back

Remember the days before self service supermarkets when people phoned their orders to the local food store and had it delivered — usually by a youngsters on his bike?

In Texas, Florida, New Jersey and elsewhere, the idea has been modernized by incorporating telephoned orders with such space age innovations as automated warehouses, computerized memory banks and closed circuit TV, along with refrigerated delivery trucks.

Cookies Can Give Fruit Special Lift

Nothing is more delightful than the aroma of freshly baked cookies. Cookies are a treat for the whole family, especially when they are hot from the oven.

Why not serve cookies for dessert, gracing a big bowl of ice cream, or as a crunchy addition to a fruit salad.

The wheat germ saucer cookies combine three favorites, chocolate chip, oatmeal and coconut and just one of these cookies is indeed a handful of nutrition.

The cooky diamonds are topped with sugar. They're easy to make — everything is mixed together in an ungreased baking pan, baked, then cut into diamonds (or whatever shape you decide).

The chocolate and vanilla sour cream cookies are drop cookies with crunchy walnuts inside and out. The mixture of butter and brown and granulated sugar give them a butterscotch flavor. To get a two tone effect, drop mounds of both the light and dark doughs close together on the baking sheet.

WHEAT GERM SAUCER COOKIES

½ cup butter, softened
½ cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
¾ tsp. vanilla
¾ cup vacuum packed regular wheat germ
¾ cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
¼ cup flaked coconut
¼ cup quick oats, uncooked
½ cup semisweet chocolate pieces.

Beat butter with sugars until blended. Beat in egg and vanilla. Mix wheat germ with all remaining ingredients. Stir into butter mixture. Place dough by one-fourth cupfuls onto greased baking sheet, about six-inches apart. Bake in a 375 degree oven 15 to 17 minutes or until golden brown and centers are firm. Cool two to three minutes on baking sheet then transfer to racks. To keep cookies crisp, store in loosely covered container. Makes 10 (4-inch) cookies.

SPARKLING COOKY DIAMONDS

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2¼ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. almond extract.

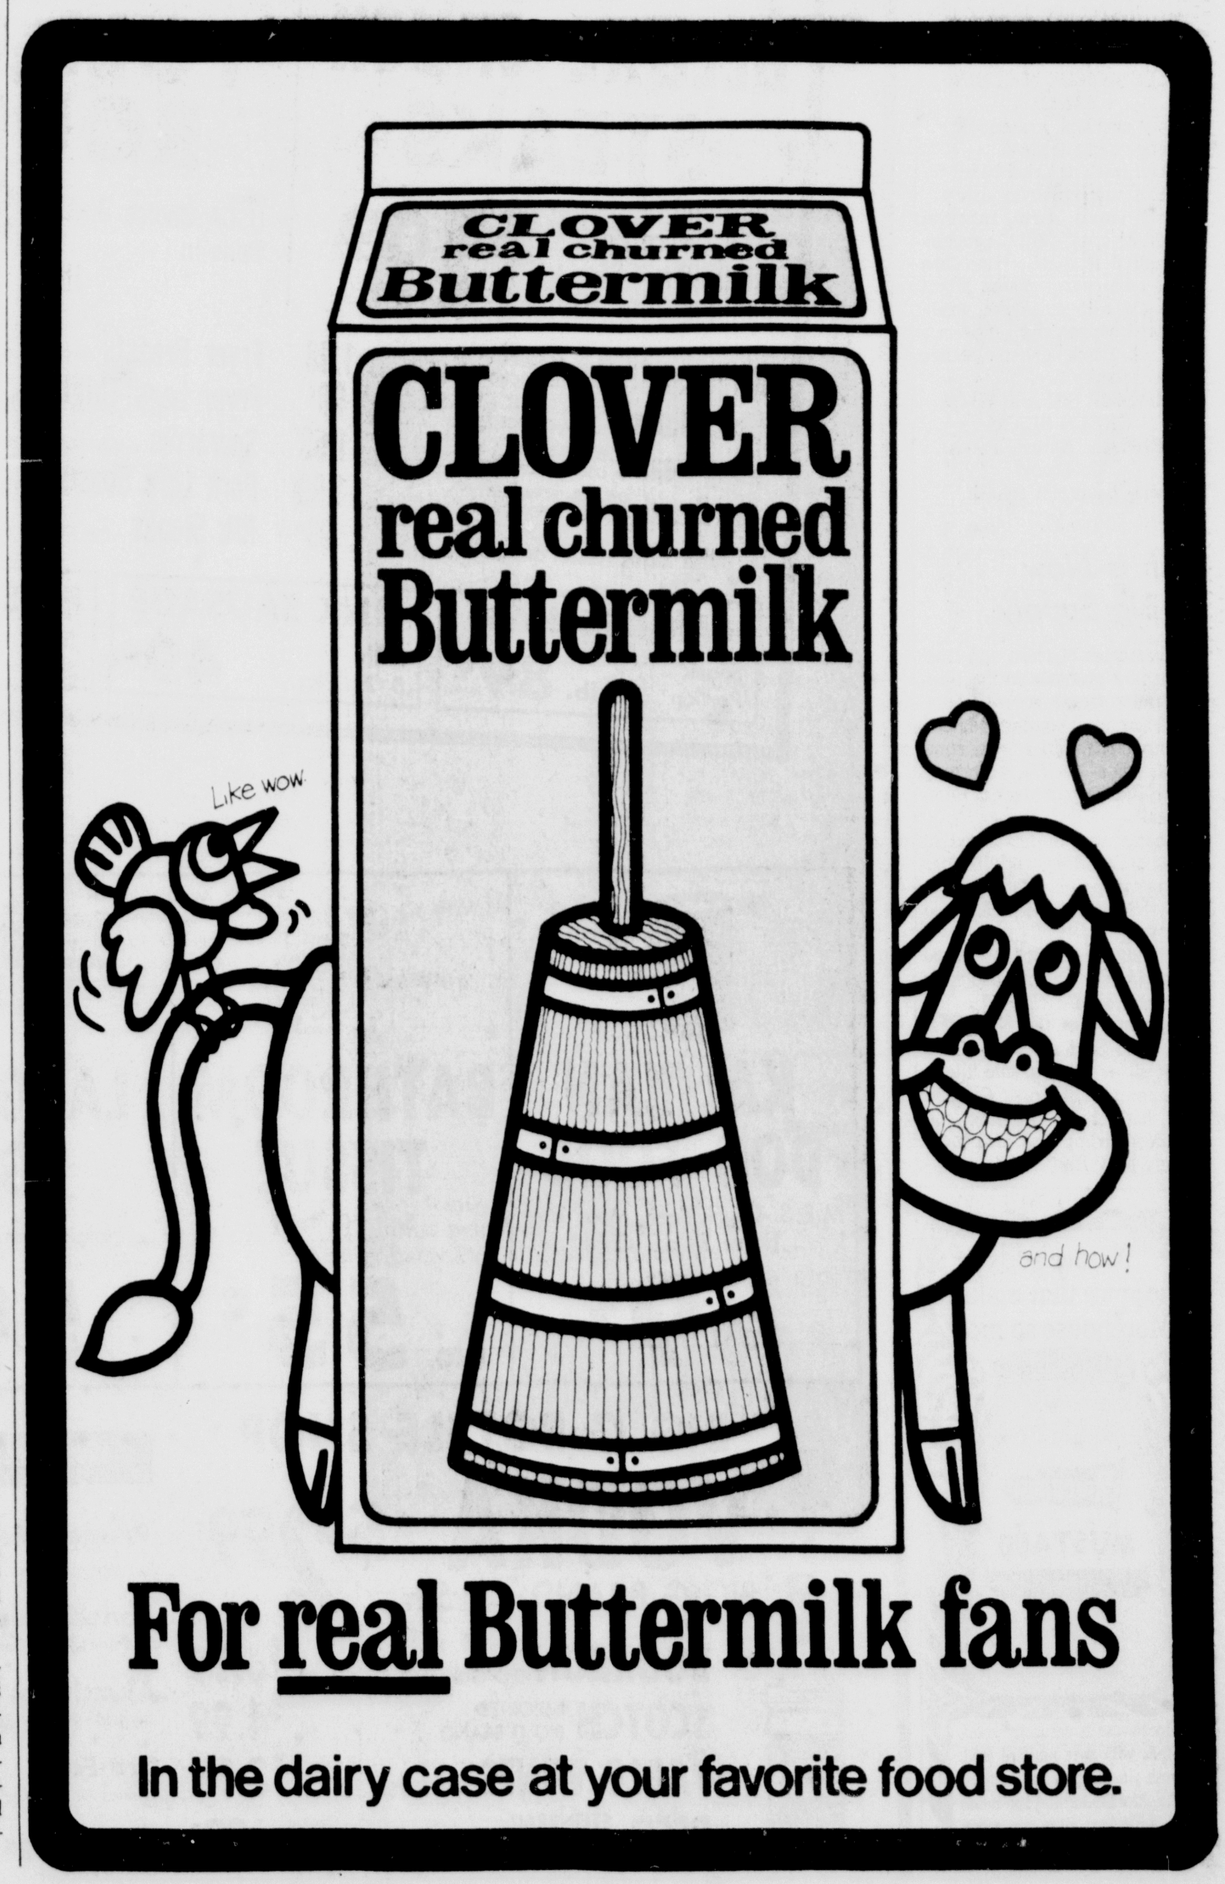
Beat butter with one-half cup sugar until blended and fluffy. Mix in flour, salt and flavorings until well mixed. Turn into ungreased 15½x10½x1-inch baking pan. Pat gently to cover bottom of pan. Sprinkle with remaining one-half cup sugar. Bake in a 350 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until light golden. Carefully cut into diamonds while hot. Cool in pan. Makes about five dozen pieces.

CHOCOLATE AND VANILLA COOKIES

½ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup granulated sugar
1½ tsp vanilla
1 egg
1 cup chopped walnuts
2½ cups flour
½ tsp soda
1½ tsp salt
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate, melted

Beat butter with sugars and vanilla until creamy. Beat in egg until fluffy. Add ½ cup walnuts. Mix flour with soda and salt. Mix into creamed mixture alternately with sour cream. Divide batter in half. Combine melted chocolate with one part. Drop chocolate dough from teaspoon onto lightly greased baking sheet, about three inches apart. Drop equal size portions of plain dough next to and touching chocolate. Sprinkle with remaining walnuts. Bake in a 375 degree oven 10 minutes or until light golden at edges. Cool on wire rack. Makes three dozen (2½) inch) cookies.

SAUCER WHEAT germ cookies are a combination of oatmeal, coconut and chocolate chips with the nutritionally good wheat germ. Try these, sour cream or sparkling sugar cookies for dessert or for snacking.



More Ways For Serving Fresh Squash, Zucchini

Has the over-abundance of squash and zucchini in your garden put you at a standstill as far as new recipes are concerned? Try a classic casserole, a zucchini broth of salad, or fresh squash and green beans tonight.

CLASSIC SQUASH CASSEROLE

1½ pounds fresh yellow squash, sliced*
½ cup finely chopped onions
½ cup chopped green pepper
3 cups cooked rice
2 eggs, beaten
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
½ cup milk
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Cook squash in salted water about five minutes. Drain. Combine squash, onions, green pepper, and rice. Blend eggs, soup, milk, mayonnaise, and seasonings. Stir into squash mixture. Turn into a greased shallow two-quart casserole. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes six servings.

*Two packages (10 oz. each) frozen, sliced yellow squash may be used.

ZUCCHINI IN BROTH

(Zucchini recipes from the Harvest Home Cookbook of fresh vegetables.)

1 pound zucchini
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 onion, chopped
1 rib celery, chopped
4 cups clear chicken broth
Salt and pepper to taste
½ pint sour cream
Garlic powder (optional)

Wash the zucchini, removing the stem and blossom ends; slice thinly. Melt the butter in a frying pan; add the onion and celery and cook until golden brown. Heat the chicken broth in a saucepan; add the zucchini, onions and celery, rinsing out the frying pan with a little chicken broth and adding to the pot.

Cook until the zucchini is tender; salt and pepper to taste. If desired, a little garlic powder may be added. Serve hot with a dollop of sour cream. Serves four.

This is not a soup, nor exactly a vegetable dish. It can be made thicker or thinner depending on the use to which you are going to put it.

ELLEN'S RAW ZUCCHINI SALAD

1 cup zucchini, grated
½ cup cottage cheese
½ tsp. fresh or dried basil
Salt and pepper to taste

Only small, firm zucchini should be used. Chill the zucchini until it is quite crisp; then grate on a coarse grater. Mix it with the cottage cheese, basil, salt and pepper and serve on a bed of fresh green lettuce leaves. Serves two.

SUMMER SQUASH WITH GREEN BEANS

(From the Natural Foods Cookbook)

2 young summer squash
1 pound green beans
2 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. almonds, slivered

Slice squash in half lengthwise. Brush cut sides with oil and lay on baking sheet. Bake in 375 degree oven for about 20 minutes or until tender.

Meanwhile, wash the beans, setting large ones aside for later use in a soup or stew. Leave the small ones whole and slice the medium sized ones.

Add beans to two quarts boiling water and cook uncovered for 15 minutes. Drain. Turn beans into a skillet, shaking them over heat until all moisture has evaporated. When dry, add butter to skillet and shake pan until butter has melted and coats beans.

Fill cooked squash with green beans and sprinkle almonds on top. Serves four.

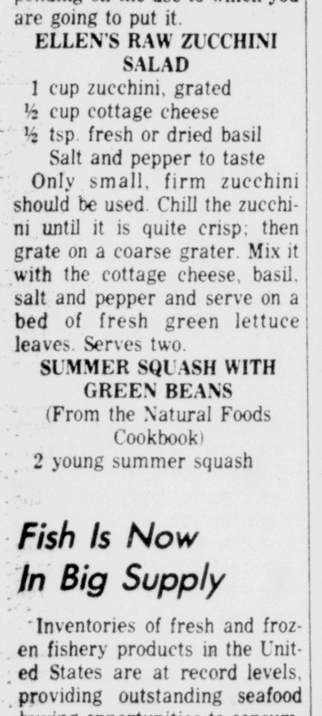
Fish Is Now In Big Supply

Inventories of fresh and frozen fishery products in the United States are at record levels, providing outstanding seafood buying opportunities to consumers as prices decline, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Among the more abundant items are whiting, and flounder and ocean perch fillets. Frozen fish sticks and portions are also plentiful.

In shellfish, better buys are appearing for shrimp and king and snow crab.

Consumers in the Northwest will find good buys in fresh whole silver salmon, sole fillets, and snapper fillets. Canned tuna, both chunk and light, and breaded shrimp are also moderately priced.



Don't Be Afraid To Spice Salads

Here are two savory salad dressing recipes

COOKED SALAD DRESSING

2 Tbsps. all-purpose flour
2 Tbsps. sugar
1 Tbsp. onion powder
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. powdered mustard
½ tsp. paprika
¼ tsp. ground black pepper
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks
¼ cup lemon juice

In a medium saucepan combine flour, sugar, onion powder, salt, mustard, paprika and black pepper. Thoroughly blend in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens.

Blend a little of the hot milk mixture into egg yolks; return all to sauce pan; cook gently for one minute. Cool slightly; stir in lemon juice; chill. Serve over shredded lettuce or sliced tomatoes.

CARAWAY SALAD DRESSING

1 Tbsp. instant minced onion
1 Tbsp. water
2 tsps. caraway seed
¾ cup salad oil
½ cup wine vinegar
2 Tbsps. parsley flakes
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. ground black pepper

Rehydrate minced onion in water for 10 minutes. Crush caraway seed in a mortar and pestle, if desired. In a container with a tight fitting lid combine oil, vinegar, parsley flakes, sugar, salt, black pepper, rehydrated onion, and caraway; shake well. Serve over torn salad greens, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, etc.

Lawlors Moving To New Zealand

By MOLLY MARIN

Looking forward to a second summer are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lawlor of Mill Valley who will make a permanent move to New Zealand in early December. They will sail on an ocean liner, arriving in New Zealand at the beginning of that country's summer. The Lawlors, who have lived in Marin County for 17 years, will be accompanied by their son, Ian.

Their daughter, Gretchen, has just returned to Mill Valley after an eight-month trip which included visiting Europe, India, and returning home from England. Gretchen will remain in Marin County, but since she loves to travel, her parents think she will visit them in New Zealand at the earliest opportunity. Their other daughter, Deborah, will continue her studies at the California State University, San Francisco, where she will be studying for the teaching credential this school year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawlor are natives of New Zealand, and have many relatives there. Lawlor was the proprietor of Battens and Boards Sports Shop in Sausalito until he sold the business recently.

Kris Sigler of Belvedere is home from New York after a year and a half as a photographic model in the big city. Prior to her stay in New York, she worked two years in Mexico City as a photographic and runway model and actress in TV commercials.

Her 14-year-old brother, Chad, met Kris in New York for "10 days of the best restaurants, musicals and Carnegie Hall," before the two drove home across the United States. They spent two weeks near Tacoma, Wash., with her mother's family. Kris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sigler of Belvedere.

In June, Kris visited in Connecticut and Maine with old friends Freddie Hildreth, Mrs. Hildreth's daughter Debbie Mills and grandson Christian Mills, 3, all of Mill Valley, who were touring childhood scenes in New England.

FRANKLIN AND LORRAINE Furtado of San Rafael are back home after a six and a half month "dream trip" around the world which took them to Africa, the British Isles, Europe, Russia and Japan.

For Frank Furtado, the trip represented a safari to national parks around the world as part of sabbatical studies from his job as a teacher of natural sciences at Terra Linda High School. For Lorraine, it was a leave from her duties as librarian at Sir Francis Drake High in San Anselmo.

They stored up memories and films aplenty for years to come. They camped in South Africa and Rhodesia, motored through Kenya and Tanzania, staying in safari camps and lodges. In Rome they purchased a camper, visiting parks in northern Italy, motoring through the Alps into France.

Here, they "froze." Said Lorraine, "It was at the height of the energy crisis, and the heat had been turned off in all the accommodations in France and Italy." They were especially cold in the marshy Camargue area of France, where Frank studied the bird life and wild horses.

From there they went to Spain and Portugal, thence to England, Scotland and Wales, where "we saw Sherwood Forest!" Lorraine said European parks are far more civilized than American parks.

"Next we flew to Moscow and into Uzbekistan in Central Asia, where we saw the famous old cities on the silk route, Samarkand and Tashkent." They visited three cities in Siberia, traveled one day on the Trans-Siberian railroad, took a side trip to Lake Baikal where they saw species of flora and fauna unknown anywhere else in the world.

A two-day trip by Russian steamer took them to Yokahama. After a visit there and in Tokyo, they flew home. "We were getting homesick by then, said Lorraine.

"It was a real dream trip," she said. "What was so wonderful was that with all that time, we really got to poke around."

Members and friends of the Marin Symphony Association are asked to mark their calendars for Friday, Sept. 27, when

Alba Silva New YLI President

Alba Silva of Petaluma has been elected president of St. Vincent's Young Ladies Institute 108, an organization she joined in 1931.

Mrs. Silva, whose husband Russell is employed with Phillips 66 distributors in Petaluma, owns Alba's Fashions in Novato. Born in Petaluma, she lived part of her girlhood in Tocaloma, attending school in Olema. She was graduated from high school in Petaluma, and trained at French Hospital in San Francisco. She was an office nurse for more than 25 years.

She has one son, Alvin Silva of San Mateo.

She is interested in youth activities, putting on fashion shows, discussing problems on status of women and visiting the aged in convalescent homes.

Purposes of the YLI organization are Christian charity, scholarships, assisting in youth programs, making the aged comfortable, and helping anyone in time of need.

Planned for the year are the official visit of YLI grand first vice president Diane Schmidt on Sept. 26; Reno fun tour on Oct. 19 and 20; presentation of annual scholarship to a girl entering her senior year at St. Vincent's High School in Petaluma; participation in a districtwide workshop in October; and entertainment of the Handicapables of Sonoma County in Santa Rosa in January.

The organization is open to any Catholic woman in the area, Mrs. Silva said.

Mrs. Silva is also active in American Business Women's Association which she served as president and received the Woman of the Year award in 1970. She is past president of the Heart Association for the Redwood Empire; past president of the National Council of Catholic Women's Deanery, Diocese of Santa Rosa; and past grand president of Young Ladies Institute in 1959-60.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Silva are Mmes. John L. Emery, first vice president; Harold Olson, second vice president; James Brown, recording secretary; Martin Hagen, financial secretary; Peter Torliatt, treasurer; Walter Ricioli, marshal; Loretta McCourt, inside sentinel; Robert Collins, outside sentinel; and Antone Azevedo, Fred Giacomini and Miss Alice Guglielmetti, trustees.

Dance Exhibition

A program of Greek, Israeli and Balkan dancing will be presented Friday at the Unitarian Church, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael. Dance instruction will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. and request dancing exhibitions will continue until midnight.

Stitchery Display

Stitchery hangings by Karen Gray of Fairfax are on display at the Crossroads Restaurant, 726 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, through mid-September.

Ranch Offers Vacation Fun

By DOROTHY NEWELL

El Adobe Rancho in the hills high above Petaluma is a summer paradise for a lively crop of youngsters who are vacationing, 50 at a time, as paying "dude ranch" guests.

Reno and Babe Pronzini, the ranch owners, each summer for 13 years have converted their working cattle ranch into a vacation spot for boys and girls, ages 6 to 17.

Here are all the activities an outdoors-minded youngster could crave: canoeing, fishing, swimming, and trail riding amongst the hills and streams of the 400-acre ranch.

Source of many of the ranch activities are two lakes. One, on Deer Creek, has been planted with fish which the youngsters are free to catch. On the other, Lost Lake, the youngsters can ride horses through the water, or can use the "monorail" — a steel cable slung across the lake with a handled pulley which slides from one side to the other. Campers say the objective is to get across without getting wet, but many happily "dump" in the water halfway.

Counselors, one for the girls and one for the boys, drive the young people to the lakes by truck and back to the bunkhouse area. There is a bunkhouse for the girls and one for the boys.

Some of the lucky fishermen can be seen cleaning fish in the outdoor area near the bunkhouse. The ranch cook cooks them for the young anglers.

The Adobe Trading Post is a lively scene as the youngsters line up at the door to buy their goodies" twice a day.

There are horses on the ranch for the children to ride or if they want to bring their own horses to the ranch they are invited to do so. No dogs allowed, however. The Pronzinis, already have "about 10 or 11 dogs." Mrs. Ponzini said stray dogs come to the ranch and they don't want to turn them away.

These are not all the activities and fun that make up the busy day for the youngsters. They can ride motorbikes on the dirt trails, learn riflery, enjoy dancing, crafts, campouts, hiking, songfests, and "hootenanny" sessions. The youngsters are urged to bring their own musical instruments.

Youngsters on the ranch come from as far away as Riverside and Los Angeles. One of the youngsters has been coming to the dude ranch for five summers.

Assisting the Pronzinis at the ranch are their two sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Pronzini and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pronzini, all of Novato.

Following the summer activities with the youngsters, the Pronzinis start getting ready for Christmas as they sell Christmas trees in Novato, Greenbrae and Petaluma. Year round, the Pronzinis raise Herefords on the ranch property.

Gamblers Anonymous

Gamblers Anonymous will have its initial meeting at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Calvary Methodist Church, 19th Avenue and Judah Street, San Francisco, for persons in Marin and elsewhere in the Bay Area who want to quit gambling. Information supplied to the Independent-Journal stated the meeting was last Friday.

SPLASH — Christopher Bonnell, 13, of Orinda, goes for a thrilling ride down the "monorail" at Lost Lake.

Doris Austin Marries Charles R. Estudillo

A garden wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Austin of San Rafael united in marriage their daughter Doris Austin and Charles Raymond Estudillo of Tiburon.

The noon wedding was celebrated with the breaking of pinatas by the children in attendance. A reception followed at the Art and Garden Center in Ross.

The bride chose her sister-in-law, Beverly Austin of San Francisco, as matron of honor. Thomas Estudillo of Tibuorn was his brother's best man.

The bride was graduated from San Rafael High School and the University of California at Berkeley where she received her teaching credential.

She is the sister of Gary Austin of San Francisco.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Estudillo of Tiburon and the grandson of Mrs. Theodore Estudillo of San Francisco.

He was graduated from Redwood High School and the University of California at Berkeley. He is employed at the Social Security office, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in Pittsburg.

Charles is the brother of Mrs. Mark Maffei of San Francisoc and Barbara Estudillo of Tiburon.

The newlyweds will live in Antioch after returning from a trip to Carmel and backpacking in the Sierra Mountains.

ON THE AGENDA

Exchange Student From Greece Will Be Honored At AFS Tea

The Tamalpais High School chapter of the American Field Service will give a tea from 4 to 6 p.m. Aug. 29 at the home of Mrs. William Pemberton of Mill Valley.

Panos Panagiotis, the AFS exchange student from Greece who is due to arrive a few days before the tea, will be honored. Returning local students, Cheryl McCarthy, who has spent a year in Grenoble, France, and Tim Shelmerdine, who lived in Stuttgart, Germany during the summer, will be welcomed.

Mmes. John D. Harding and Louis McCarthy, are tea reservations chairmen.

A NEAPOLITAN dinner will be served at Lydon Hall of St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon Aug. 31 at 6 p.m., sponsored by St. Hilary's Women's Club.

The ravioli and barbecued chicken dinner prepared by Syl Auteri of Tiburon will benefit St. Hilar's building fund. Music and a door prize are planned.

Tickets may be reserved with Mrs. Auteri of Tiburon or Mrs. Joseph Kushner of Mill Valley.

THOMAS MAYHUE of Grohe Florists in Santa Rosa will be guest speaker at the Petaluma Newcomers Club luncheon on Thursday, at the Holiday Inn in Santa Rosa.

Mayhue will speak on varieties of house plants and their care and feeding. He will display several examples of house plants as well as a terrarium.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m.

A POLYNESIAN dinner Saturday will mark the fall kickoff of events for the Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Club. The dinner will be held at the home of Mrs. Peter Van Alyea of Kentfield starting with cocktails at 5:30 p.m. The dinner at 7:30 p.m. will be followed by swimming.

Mrs. Charles Read Best of San Rafael is reservations chairman.

THE LABOR DAY weekend marks the end of the season for Inverness Yacht Club. Special events planned include a supper dance on Aug. 31 at the clubhouse, the annual meeting and election Sept. 1, and sailing races both Saturday and Sunday. The final sailing event of the summer will be the 18-mile race from the yacht club to Hog Island and return for a special trophy on Sept. 2. James Landreth is commodore.

THE QUESTION Marks square dance group will hold a dance Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Women's Club Hall, downtown Cotati. Dave Hobaugh will be guest caller.

A CHAMPAGNE CRUISE on the bay is scheduled for Friday's summer social meeting of the Omicron Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Members will cruise to Jack London Square for dinner, according to chariman Ellie Allnutt.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Generalizations Seldom Right And Never Solve The Problem

DEAR HELEN:

I may help the young people, their parents, their community and our country, if you print advice like the enclosed, instead of always permissive, pampering comments, making excuses and allowances for young people. It was written some years ago by the well-known juvenile court judge, Philip G. Gilliam:

Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teen-ager: "What can we do? Where can we go?" The answer is: Go Home!

Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub the floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job. Help the minister, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick. Assist the poor. Study your lessons. And when you are through, and you're not too tired, read a book.

Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city or village does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe it your time and energy and your talents, so that no one will be at war, in poverty, or sick or lonely again.

In plain, simple words: Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like a man or lady.

You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibilities your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, helped, appealed, begged, excused, tolerated and denied themselves needed comforts so that you could have every benefit. You have no right to expect them to bow to your every whim and fancy.

In Heaven's name, grow up and go home!

What do you say to that, Mrs. B.? — MR. M.B.

DEAR MR. B.:

I say Judge Gilliam's oft-printed words are great for layabouts who need them, but not all young people are layabouts . . . not by a long shot . . . just as the following letter is great for delinquent parents, who need it, but not all parents are delinquent . . . not by a long shot . . . right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Always we hear the plaintive cry of parents: "Why don't our children appreciate us? Why won't they stay home, do their work, pay us proper respect, without being told and told and told?"

The answer is: Why don't you adults give us good examples instead of always criticism and bossing? And never offering any praise?

If you want us to enjoy working around the house, work along with us, so it's a family project, not a master-slave thing. Remember, we have to learn and we'll make mistakes, so don't blow your top and yell, "Stupid!" or take the job away and do it yourself, or get mad because we've made a mess. You weren't perfect in the beginning, either.

Don't preach to us about love, respect, kindness, honesty, loyalty, etc., etc. then let us see you fighting and nagging each other, cheating in business, going out on your mate, showing racial prejudice, spitefully gossiping, and being kind only when it doesn't take much effort.

Don't knock "pot-smoking youth" when you've got a cocktail in one hand and a cigarette in the other. And when you howl about boozed-up kids, remember who's been setting the example — Daddy and Mama and friends!

And think on this: The parent who pulls the guilt lever with, "I gave up everything so you could have everything!" probably has a child who wishes he could have been born to somebody else. — TODAY'S CHILD

DEAR BOTH OF YOU:

Generalizations. . .generalizations! When will we ever learn that while criticizing the other generation makes us feel superior, it seldom solves problems — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

PARENT AND CHILD

Moral Teaching Begins At Home

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., in his personal observations on Watergate, said: "Law is not self-executing. Unfortunately, at times its execution rests in the hands of those who are faithless to it. And even when its enforcement is committed to those who reverse it, law merely deters some human beings from offending, and punishes other human beings for offending.

"It (the law) does not make men good. This task can be performed only by ethics or religion or morality."

SCHOOLS CAN teach about ethics. Good teachers can bring out ethical lessons from literature and history. Churches, too, give religious instruction, some of which shapes a person's character. But moral teaching is preeminently a home responsibility.

As Senator Ervin points out, the law deters some from offending and punishes those who do offend. But what it does not and cannot do is teach a child or young adult how to want to be good.

The adult who has broken a law and been punished will often say that he has "learned his lesson" or "paid his debt." That, of course, is not necessarily true.

WHAT IS REQUIRED is a change of thought, not merely a change of behavior. Deep moral integrity and personal commitment to uphold every right and just law is not something which comes with release from prison. It's possible that the jolt which comes from incarceration may awaken a latent desire to be morally just. But it's just as possible that it will not. Prison statistics show that it generally does not.

No, punishment for breaking laws is no proper way to provide moral or ethical instruction. Moral integrity is learned by direct instruction and direct observation. The father who lives by a strict moral code, whose wife is an example of moral integrity, teaches by example. But these parents must do more, they must teach also by listening to their children express what they have observed. They have to discuss with their children how these young people should handle experience after experience.

WHAT TEACHING does a parent offer when a beloved child admits to cheating on a test? What teaching does he or she offer upon learning that a school rule requires one student to turn in another suspected of wrongdoing? What teaching is given if a child feels an object of prejudice?

What teaching acts as moral encouragement when all others are engaged in wrongdoing and your child is free to dissent or keep to the law?

What teaching makes a child accept leadership? What teaching explains that leadership should be shared? What teaching says that sharing is better than taking; that spiritual values are more important than swimming pools, European vacations, and expensive hi-fi equipment?

What teaching gives a child the strength not to smoke, drink alcoholic beverages, or use drugs as stimulants? What teaching provides a sound moral basis for sexual relationships?

Teaching from parents is the naswer to all those questions.

Now's Time To Prepare For Car Pool

Is the No. 2 car in the two-car household safe transportation for mothers using a car pool arrangement to take the kids to school? Oftentimes, the answer is "No," says the Insurance Information Institute in a back-to-school advisory to parents.

Mothers usually rely on the second family car as a short-trip utility vehicle. More often than not, this is the clunker with all the miles on it, the gas guzzler that needs new tires and could do with a brake job.

The Institute suggests that now is the time to get the second car in shape for a car pool season of worry-free driving.

Since some parents are reluctant to join bar pools for fear they will expose themselves to a lawsuit, the Institute says that in terms of insurance coverage, car-pooling mothers probably have nothing to worry about.

Insurance on a privately owned pool-shared vehicle is placed in jeopardy only if the pool is operated for a profit. In the situation where everyone in the pool uses his car an equal amount of time there is, of course, no problem.

Lynn Marie Castellani Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Castellani of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Lynn Marie to Mark John Worthen of San Rafael.

The two have planned a Nov. 24 wedding at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael.

PREPARING FOR THE FAIRE

Some Elizabethan Antics

By BARBARA HOSMER

An English nobleman strutted, preening, before a band of lowly rabble and hurled distinctly Elizabethan insults back at his attackers.

"As the flower wilts on my breast, so doest they wit wilt in they head"—

"Wilted cucumber!" shouted back one of the group gleefully pricking his pride with jibes about his noble finery. "I could say what thee looks like but, indeed, I would be damned."

"A peacock." "A poinjay," "A goose among ganders," put in the others.

"What common gaggle is this?" returned the noble just as swiftly.

The scene was a convincing Elizabethan insult workshop, one of several workshops being held at the Renaissance Pleasure Faire grounds at Black Point to prepare players, jugglers, insulters, musicians and dancers for their roles in the fair, which will open Saturday. All wore 17th Century London garb.

"He's but a strutting popinjay," an insulter finished. Everyone roared as the two-minute often-ribald repartee ended. The players will be creating such street confrontations throughout the six weekends of the fair, bringing a very real and highly polished art of Elizabethan times to the scene.

"Sometimes it was just in fun, sometimes it ended in a sword fight," put in Phyllis Patterson, who with her husband, Ron, originated the annual fair which is presented in Southern California as well as Marin.

The fair this year will be strung farther along the narrow valley near Black Point, placing the entrance closer to the access road.

"I laid out the fair from the back of the valley to the front, extending it about a block to give people more hillside seating," Mrs. Patterson said. Oak trees on each side of the dirt pathway will provide shady picnic areas to fairgoers dining on the skewered meats, fruits, tarts and pies and other fare. Weathered plank booths will offer leather, ceramics, jewelry and games such as archery and jousting. The road will be sprinkled daily and straw spread in the theater area to lay the dust.

Admission to the 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. fair is $4 for adults and $1.75 for children.

In addition to the insult session, five other weekly workshops have prepared some 200 entertainers for their roles as monks, processioners, court ladies, street vendors, jesters, jugglers or common folk. In their costumes, the group from throughout the state, many of them young drama students or actors, quickly took on the demeanor of 17th Century Londoners.

"Hear ye, hear ye," a workshop director announced. "Pick up your passes over there for the fair." A yeoman with a staff and a fool got in line.

"We need washerwomen for the fountain, to be arguing and whatever washerwomen do, and washermen, for the whole fair," called a staff member. An abbess signed up volunteers on a clipboard. "Volunteers for St. Cuthbert," called another. "We need a Puritan for the whole fair, any Puritans among you?" sought still another.

After 12 years, beginning in Los Angeles, the fair entertainment is rich in authenticity and the players ready to encourage and respond to the audience ad lib.

"In an open setting like this, the entertainment has to be broad and loud," Mrs. Patterson remarked as actor Scott Beach, who plays the Lord Mayor, directed the players on stage beyond the hay-bale seats and 500 costumes were unloaded from a van to the costume room.

Warning Closes Nuclear Plant

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — The San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station returned to normal operations yesterday after a 4 ½ hour shut down caused by a false signal in the primary coolant warning system.

The Southern California Edison Co. reported that the sensitive warning system was activated while tests were being conducted on one of three level monitoring channels.

No dangerous or unusual conditions were found following the automatic shut-down at 1:55 p.m., Edison said.

The 450-megawatt electric generating facility returned to full operation at 6:28 p.m., the spokesman said.

"Horr-ors!" roared the Lord Mayor from the stage. "I'll skewer this hawg — hag."

"I've heard of hams," commented a plumed cavalier from the audience.

"If you have a line to ad lib from the audience, speak it out with support toward the stage so we can respond to it," Beach advised.

"I will personally have the pig skewered!" he continued.

Tumblers practiced and processioners gave little skipping leaps in the aisle.

"Work the pancake a little into the hair," a makeup director advised a bearded group to one side.

"Drummer, wouldst thou come here and bring thy drum?" called a white-robed monk who was rehearsing recorder-musicians and chanters in the death parade scene. "I will admonish thee to wear black tights and white shirts, and we'll supply the rest," he briefed the group. They began the chant.

A caped, plumed gentleman passed out ruffs to nobles from a cardboard box, a juggler balanced a juggling pin on his forehead and the sun moved from its zenith in the noon sky. Under a tree a purple-tunicked serf dug into a poor boy sandwich and nearby the Morris dancers stepped into their ancient harvest celebration.

Without a fairgoer in sight, the fair was alive.

Homemade Still Found In Prison

McALESTER, Okla. (UPI) — Prison officials looking for weapons yesterday discovered a homemade still containing 15 gallons of beer during a security sweep of the Oklahoma State Penitentiary.

The still, which prison officials destroyed, was composed of several big pots containing fermenting ingredients, according to Howard Inglish, corrections department public information officer.

Panama To Reopen Relations With Cuba

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — Panama has decided to restore diplomatic ties with Cuba, the third Latin American nation to do so.

The Panamanian national legislation council voted unanimously yesterday to renew the relations broken in 1962.

Sea Ranch People:

IVAN KUSKOV

In 1812 Kuskov landed a large party of Russian and Aleutian hunters at Fort Ross. Over the next 30 years they nearly eliminated the fur seal from the North Sonoma coast.

Today The Sea Ranch, 17 miles North of Ft. SUNKEN GRADE BEING REPAIRED

Ray Schrick of Tiburon on a bicycle was one of the few wheeled vehicles able to get through the Corte Madera-Mill Valley grade yesterday as crews from Corte Madera tore up a section of the street for repair. Walter Nagel, superintendent of public works for Corte Madera, said that a 30-by-300-foot section of the street had sunk. The city crews tore up the pavement to put down a firmer road bed and will repave it. The three-day job was expected to be completed today, Nagel said. In the meantime, through traffic was routed around Chapman Drive. (Photo by Ty Barbour)

Daring Raid Frees Jailer In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Deputies blasted their way into the Potter County Jail today and freed a jailer held hostage for more than a day by five knife-wielding inmates. One inmate was killed and three other persons were wounded in the assault.

County authorities said Darvin Ray Meharg, 39, a former police officer and ex-convict from Wichita Falls and leader of the revolt, was killed. Trusty Edward Hosford was wounded and in serious condition in a local hospital. Department of Public Safety Patrolman Cal Hinkle and Deputy Sheriff George Giner suffered minor leg injuries.

Officials said all other inmates were not injured and were in custody.

"The jail is back under the sheriff's control," said a county spokesman minutes after the raid on the top two floors — the jail area — of the courthouse.

He said the two officers were wounded by shrapnel. The two prisoners caught bullets apparently fired by police. The rebellious inmates were armed only with knives taken from the jail kitchen.

The spokesman said newsmen would be allowed to tour the jail area later in the day. The jail was held a total of 36 hours by the inmates.

Two loud explosions rocked the upper floors of the courthouse at 11:45 a.m. and minutes later deputies rushed hostage Stan Snitker to a waiting patrol car in undetermined condition.

Two other explosions were heard shortly after the first and a dozen police officers rushed through the jail. Other officers swarmed with guns drawn onto the fifth floor patio area and aimed toward windows above them. Still other guards ringed the courthouse square in downtown Amarillo.

The five inmates overpowered Snitker and another guard during the shift change at midnight Monday but the other guard, Don Sidwell, was released yesterday suffering a head wound and a hip injury.

A Baptism Lands Priest In Trouble

MARLBORO, Mass. (UPI) — A priest from New York who baptized a baby here after local church authorities vetoed it because of the mother's beliefs on abortion was in trouble with his superiors today.

Rev. Joseph O'Rourke came here yesterday and baptized Nathaniel Ryan Morreale on the doorstep of the Immaculate Conception Church.

Local church officials with the backing of Cardinal Humberto Medeiros had refused to perform the baptism because of Mrs. Carol Morreale's public support of a woman's right to abortion.

They refused to allow O'Rourke, 36, to use the church itself.

Rev. Joseph Talbot, O'Rourke's superior in the New York province of the Jesuit order, said the action "was expressly forbidden" by O'Rourke's immediate superior, Rev. Frederick B. O'Connor.

"We haven't even begun to discuss possible disciplinary action," Talbot said. He said it was a violation of the Jesuit vow of obedience.

The baptismal ceremony took place shortly after noon yesterday in front of the 100-year-old church, with more than 250 opponents and proponents of abortion rights looking on.

Corte Madera Tax Bills Will Be Higher

A story in yesterday's Independent-Journal, reporting the setting of the Town of Corte Madera tax rate, may have misled Corte Maderans into thinking their tax bills will be lower this year.

Quite the opposite is true.

While on the one hand, city councilmen lowered the town's tax rate by eight cents from $1.37 to $1.29 per $100 assessed valuation, on the other hand, sitting as the board of the Corte Madera Sanitary District, the councilmen raised the district tax rate by 44 cents from 33 to 77 cents.

The net effect was to increase the combined rate by 36 cents.

In addition to the increase in rates, a 19.1 per cent increase in assessed valuation within the town will also contribute to an increase in property owners' tax bills.

Paul Eliopoulos, chief accountant with the county auditor's office, today estimated that the combination of valuation and rate increases would increase the tax bill of the owner of a home valued at $40,000 last year by about $70.

Part of the need for a rate increase is that in 1972, town councilmen, serving as directors of the sanitary district, lent $150,000 to the Corte Madera Redevelopment Agency, which the councilmen also served as directors.

(Council members at that time were Holmes S. Norville, Harold B. Wagstaff and the late Edward W. Colthurst and present incumbents Herber C. Leney and Robert J. Flahive.)

About $120,000 of the money was spent by the redevelopment agency developing plans in connection with a proposed shopping center east of Highway 101. Only about $30,000 was repaid to the sanitary district which incurred a deficit last year.

Most of the money raised by the tax rate increase will be spent on improving sewers.

Sugar Quotas May End Before December Date

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal sugar marketing quotas, currently due to end Dec. 31, may be lifted several months ahead of schedule according to trade sources here.

The sources said Agriculture Department officials are studying the possibility of eliminating quotas for the remainder of 1974 by administrative action. Beginning next January, the quota program will be legally dead unless Congress decides to reverse a June House vote to discontinue the control system.

The House vote killed a bill which would have extended the 40-year-old sugar control program for five more years, beginning in 1975.

Drain Block Soaks Hall Of Justice

A mysterious obstruction in a Hall of Justice drainpipe backed up water in one portion of the building yesterday, dampening the private chambers of two judges and wreaking havoc with telephone lines.

Such backups are not uncommon, but, unlike the blockage yesterday, usually are caused by County Jail inmates flushing clothing down toilets.

The water poured out of floor drains in the sheriff's shower room, flowed inch-deep through the locker area into the nearby squad room and seeped through the floor into the security tunnel used to take inmates to court appearances. From there it flowed into the private office of Superior Court Judges Henry J. Broderick and Joseph G. Wilson.

The water shorted out telephone communications to the sheriff's department, first causing phones to ring when nobody was on the line, then knocking out the ringing altogether. Later the obstruction was flushed out.

CREATING IN FAIRFAX

Underground Cartoons Pay Off

By NELS JOHNSON

Wonder Wart Hog, Norbert the Narc, Dealer McDope, the Leather Nun and the Fabulous Furry Freak Brothers are alive and well in Fairfax.

The funky characters aren't members of a local rock band or performers in a kinky theatrical production.

They're cartoon protagonists, products of the fertile imaginations of David Sheridan and Gilbert Shelton, two hip artists who make a living by drawing absurd comic strips for publications with names like Zap and Feds 'N Heads.

Sheridan and Shelton are members of a select group of cartoonists who produce underground comics, sometimes not-so-funny funnies found in hip bookstores and head shops across the nation.

Sheridan of Fairfax and Shelton of San Francisco, two of the best-known cartoonists in the underground comic book field, explained that their art is so called because the works they produce aren't distributed at traditional comic book outlets like drugstores and supermarkets.

This is because underground comics are often X-rated, free-wheeling satirical works dealing irreverently with subjects that would make middle America blush. They're believed not fit for general consumption. They don't carry the coveted Comics Code seal of approval.

Despite the apparently limited appeal of underground comics, Sheridan, 31, and Shelton, 34, say their efforts earn a total of about $15,000 annually. The money is for work done on comic books, single-panel cartoons for various publications, and record album covers, among other projects.

The artists, who have churned out looney cartoons for years, teamed up several months ago to develop new characters and work on mutual projects.

They're currently at work in Sheridan's Fairfax studio on a four-page comic strip for next January's edition of "Playboy Magazine." They've devoted more than seven weeks to the project, for which they'll be paid $4,000.

Shelton, creator of a strip entitled The Fabulous Furry Freak Brothers that has received wide publication in underground newspapers, explained that a representative of the magazine called last year to order a Freak Brothers strip.

In the Playboy strip, the Freak Brothers — three stoned dropouts who bumble their way through the psychedelic scene — romp through a 1950s party in a satire of nostalgia.

The cartoonists said that although they have some qualms about drawing for an establishment, above-ground publication like Playboy, "the price is right."

Sheridan and Shelton are also working on a weekly strip entitled Fat Freddy's Cat that will be appearing in the Berkeley Barb and a Marin weekly, among others.

"We're not considered successful by professional cartoonists, but in the underground world we're well-to-do," said Sheridan, noting that the Playboy and newspaper strips will introduce their work to an audience far larger than they have previously reached.

Sheridan, a native of Cleveland, attended the Cleveland Institute of Art and served a stint with the Army working on a television production unit in Ethiopia.

He moved to Marin in 1969 and began cartooning for Rip Off Press, a San Francisco publishing house. Since then, he's filled three comic books and portions of a dozen others with tales of characters like Dealer McDope and The Leather Nun. He recently completed an album cover for bluesman John Lee Hooker.

Shelton, a native of Dallas, who speaks with a douthern drawl, graduated from the University of Texas with a bachelor's degree in history and credits that included reams of cartooning work for the college magazine. A former first class boy scout, Shelton also logged illustration work with local scouting publications.

Shelton moved to the Bay Area in 1968, became vice president of Rip Off Press, and continued to pen the misadventures of creations like Wonder Wart Hog and Norbert the Narc. He estimates he has drawn more than 1,000 comic strips over the years.

Why don't the artists seek to become professional illustrators, rather than remain in the unheralded world of underground comics?

"We like to draw, yes. But there is total freedom in underground comics and cartoons. You're on your own," said Sheridan.

Larkspur Offers Fall Program

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission will offer a variety of activities during its fall recreation program which begins Oct. 7.

Classes will be offered in adult and children's tennis, modern dance, crafts, guitar, golf, archery, tumbling and ice skating. Supervised games will be conducted on playgrounds at Henry C. Hall and Larkspur-Corte Madera schools according to Sheldon Zatkin, recreation supervisor.

Further information is available at Larkspur City Hall. Registration begins Sept. 16.

Suitcase Takes A Surprise Exit

UNION, Mo. (UPI) — An Army officer's clothes were soaked in shaving lotion when his suitcase fell 6,500 feet from an airplane and landed on a driveway 50 feet from a sunbathing girl.

"It was just one of those rare, freaky things," said Mrs. Jane Hasenbeck, whose daughter was sunbathing in the backyard when the suitcase landed about 50 feet from her. The girl said she heard nothing.

A sheriff's deputy said a shaving lotion bottle was broken but the suitcase was only dented.

The pilot of a Skyways Airlines plane, which was commuting between St. Louis and the Army base, told deputies the luggage compartment of the twin-engined Beechcraft accidentally opened at 6,500 feet Monday.

Auditions For Play Announced

Mill Valley Center for Performing Arts has announced auditions for "the World of Art Hoppe" at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow and 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse, 267 Buena Vista Avenue.

Characters needed are a young man and woman and an older man and woman. No experience is required.

Also sought are painters, stagehands, technicians and other production assistants.

Seven performances are scheduled from Sept. 13 to Oct. 5. The play is directed by Allen Seaman and produced by Russell Compton.

Quentin Officer Speared During Rounds In Prison's North Block

A San Quentin officer was slightly injured today when a prisoner threw a makeshift spear at him, hitting him in the arm.

A prison spokesman, who did not identify the guard, said the man was given a tetanus shot at Marin General Hospital and returned to duty.

The prisoner, Warren D. Jordan, 25, serving a life sentence after first degree murder, assault and robbery convictions in Los Angeles County, threw the spear as the officer passed by on a 4 a.m. count, the spokesman said.

The weapon had been fashioned from rolled up papers soaked in water with a sharpened toothbrush handle as a point. Jordan has a past history of such assaults, according to prison officials.

The incident took place in the North Block segregation unit.

Meanwhile, the prison's West Block, a less rigid unit where convicts normally leave their cells in the daytime for jobs, remained mainly locked down today in the wake of the stabbing of a prisoner there Monday night.

Three suspects have been isolated since the attack and a weapon, a prisonmade knife, found, officials said. Further investigation was continuing today, however, and most convicts in the honor block were being held in their cells.

County Administrator In 'Big Brother' Role

Independent Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
24 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1974 EDITORIAL PAGE

Back in Washington, the secret government, "Big Brother knows best" mentality is being swept out by a down-to-earth Michigander in the White House. But the fallacy survives in the Marin County Civic Center.

From time to time, we have called attention to the penchant of our county supervisors to imagine that they have been elected as high factotums of the county, rather than merely as governing board for the unincorporated areas and agents of the state in administering such things as the judicial system and welfare and public health programs.

THE LATEST evidence of self-inflation at the Civic Center, however, comes not from the elected supervisors but from their hired governmental housekeeper, County Administrator John F. Barrows.

The county administrator has written all of Marin's city managers, urging them to persuade their city councils to abandon public interviews of job applicants.

It seems the non-elected, nonpolicy making county administrator is upset over recent public interviews of city administrator applicants in Fairfax and San Anselmo. He fears these may start a dangerous trend.

Barrows urged the city managers to "make the strongest possible effort to avoid further expansion of the public interview process for high level public positions in Marin County."

In other words, city managers, be like the county administrator: usurp policy making, if you can.

THERE ARE arguments both for and against public interviews of public job applicants.

Mitigating against public interviews are arguments that: (1) Many qualified persons will not apply if they face such interviews, since to do so might imperil the jobs they already hold. (2) The board or council doing the hiring can more freely quiz the applicant out of the public eye. (3) There is not much public interest in the interviews, anyhow (an argument Barrows advanced, pointing to small turnout for the sessions in Fairfax and San Anselmo).

Arguments in favor of the process include: (1) A person seeking a high public position exposes himself to full public inquiry when he must run for election; therefore, if he seeks the position without election, he should be given the maximum possible public exposure prior to being hired or rejected. (2) Since the people's money pays his salary, and since he will make decisions affecting the public, the people are entitled to know about him in advance. (3) An unsavory chapter in an applicant's history may more easily be concealed when his name is not made public and he is not brought before the people prior to being hired.

HOW MARIN'S 11 city councils weigh these considerations is up to them. Some of them, no doubt, will stick to the closed door interivew. Others may opt for full public discussion.

But none of them need look to their hired city managers, nor to a hireling in the county's Civic Center, for instructions or advice on how to do it. The men and women elected by the public are answerable to the public — not to John F. Barrows.

Suppression Of The Press —Kentucky Mountaineer Style

WHITESBURG, Ky. — The Mountain Eagle has been burned out. It is not the first trouble the weekly paper has had in its stormy history in Letcher County and not the last, either. Events already have proven that. But it is a considerable inconvenience.

The Eagle is the only voice hereabouts for all the mountaineers who are neither steel stockholders, mine operators, public officials, truckers, policemen nor union officers — who are just plain working Kentuckians.

Tom Gish, who runs it, is the most softspoken of men. He has a neat reddish beard fringed with gray, and he shares operation of the paper with his wife, Pat. But something like a Jekyll-Hyde conversion comes over him when he approaches a typewriter.

Then he is very direct and specific and frequently embarrassing to the powers that be. In a town of this size and tradition, that leads to trouble.

OVER THE PAST 17 years, Gish has been shut out of town and county meetings repeatedly, but he has gone on insisting on the public's right to know its own business. Now and then it seems he has prevailed, but the quaint notion of doing the public's business in private keeps recurring — as recently as two weeks ago, when the county fiscal court entertained a resolution barring anyone from the Eagle.

He has bitterly fought strip mining, which has ruined the creeks and hills of Letcher County, and for that he has been boycotted by major advertisers who believe strip mining is what keeps them going. But the Eagle has survived.

He has opposed the truckers who haul stripped coal, who overload their trucks and break up the roads paid for by ordinary citizens. The truckers have threatened him.

He has quarreled with the United Mine Workers of America, which left many retired miners without the pension they depended on. That has strained his friendship with men he otherwise cherishes.

He has made the Eagle read and respected far beyond the county, beyond Appalachia and its colonies in Detroit, Dayton and the other industrial cities to which young mountaineers have migrated.

THIS SPRING and summer, he has been at serious odds with the local police. Gish believes they have let the new hardware and manpower bought by federal funds go to their heads. They have been harassing local youngsters for flimsy reasons and generally making nuisances of themselves. This Eagle campaign has brought threats, too.

There is no established connection between what Gish has printed this summer and what happened the night of Aug. 1 — and since. That night a fire broke out in the Eagle's messy old office on Main Street. It burned long before firemen extinguished it. Most of the paper's equipment and files were ruined.

That would have given some men a handy excuse to pack up and go back to a city, where man and wife together could earn a plump income in journalism. What the Gishes did instead was start pushing charred things aside to get ready for the next week's issue. That was when the fire chief ordered their building condemned, forcing them out.

So they moved the reporting and makeup operation into their own living and dining rooms, where they and their children and volunteer assistants spread out in amiable chaos until the pages were sent off with 17-year-old Ben to the printer in Prestonsburg. When he came back, the assembly hand-addressed the whole mailing list, and the Eagle came out only 12 hours late.

Just about when they were sighing that that was done, Pat and the crew went down to clean up the condemned office and found what they had suspected but hoped against: kerosene stains, clear evidence of arson. They reported their find, and the fire chief confirmed it. Then they went back home to work on the forthcoming issue.

THE NEXT BLOW, has not materialized yet. At this writing it is just a rumor — that the city is going to close their temporary publication at home because it violates zoning rules. If it comes, Gish will find a way to print, somewhere, somehow.

Meanwhile, it may be a useful influence on events in Whitesburg if the authorities realize the rest of the world knows what is happening here.

Nixon Scandals Strengthen Conservatism

WASHINGTON — There is little doubt that the scandals in the Nixon administration are strengthening conservative forces in the United States.

The visible public displeasure with everything connected with the name of Watergate is not primarily aiding the Democratic Party, is not appreciably hurting the Republican Party; it is augmenting the voice of conservatism.

Today many if not most conservatives are unhappy with both parties.

THIS IS ONE of the most striking and significant political developments in post-Watergate America.

It isn't just pervasive distaste for the offenses cited in the articles of impeachment. It is the mounting centralization of personal power in the hands of the president and the lack of restraint in using such power which most offends and scares conservatives.

It is not only traditional conservatives who are becoming alienated from an administration they thought was devoted to their cause; there are liberals who are becoming disillusioned with traditional liberalism and who are feeling uncertain and uncomfortable.

It is happening on both sides of the political center.

TIME WAS WHEN MOST liberals took certain political facts as given without further questioning. Franklin Roosevelt was their hero, Democrats constituted their party automatically, and a strong central government was accepted uncritically as the assured means of creating the good society.

Many Americans, including traditional liberals, are today changing their minds on these matters for a variety of reasons. Some because they accept the judgment of Daniel Moynihan that the federal government "is good at collecting taxes but bad at dispensing services." Others because they have seen that the big antipoverty programs of Lyndon Johnson did not come near to fulfilling their promises. And most of all because they see big government — and big presidency — endangering the liberties of a free society.

THE MAN WHO HAS best described this mental and political transformation of many Americans is Haynes Johnson, who has gone through the experience himself and who has written about it in an article called "The Odyssey of a New Conservative."

Haynes Johnson is a Pulitzer Prize-winning correspondent of the Washington Post, author of such books as "The Bay of Pigs," "Fulbright: the Dissenter" and "Lyndon" — some of which he says he would write differently today — and one whom David Halberstam might describe as one of "the best and the brightest." Here is the theme of his own political odyssey:

"I find myself in a peculiar position," he wrote a few days ago. "In private conversation with such as George Will and James Buckley (Will, the Washington columnist of conservative National Review, and Buckley, the Conservative New York senator) I discover far more areas of intellectual agreement than disagreement. I want to limit the powers of the state, to preserve the delicate checks and balances so carefully crafted into our Constitution nearly two centuries ago and to protect the individual against the tyranny of the mob.

"I AM A NEW conservative with no place to go politically. I long ago cast off any allegiance to the Democrats as a party.

"I am not sure any more what either they or the Republicans represent.

"Old liberals have become new conservatives, and old conservatives have become — what? I say all this because I suspect many Americans today share my disquiet."

They do.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY: Letters To The I-J

Late Delivery Of Paper Protested

Why should subscribers to the Independent Journal pay their carrier promptly when you get your paper over 2½ hours late? Complaining to the Independent has little effect so the only solution is to stop the irritation and discontinue your subscription. It seems the irresponsible carriers are above reproach.

The paper isn't all that interesting, but it gives you some news of the county.

Union Member's Version Of Auto Mechanic Strike

In reply to Mr. John Simontacchi's letter of Aug. 6 I think we should try and set the facts straight.

First, in my opinion our (machinist) union officials have not acted most irresponsibly. As a memberof the negotiating committee, but not a union official, I have had a first-hand opportunity to witness the facts leading to and the settling of our auto mechanics' strike. We held seven meetings with Mr. McElroy and his committee in which very little headway was made. At our last meeting we were given a firm and final offer to take back to our membership. In it was a fairly good wage increase if it were accompanied by a cost of living clause, which most trade unions already have in their contracts. The employers flatly rejected any talk of a cost of living clause... We were offered some improvements in our sick leave and holiday program but none in our vacation schedule. We were offered a small increase in our pension program but which still left us far behind Oakland and San Francisco. The employers rejected a pay program for apprentices while attending school which Oakland and San Francisco have had for years. Our most important health and welfare program (hospital plan) they refused to keep us at our current standard...We did take it back to our membership and they voted by a 4to-1 margin to reject their proposal and go on strike.

It was 10 days before the employers were willing to start negotiating again. In the six-week strike they would only talk with us twice. Nothing fruitful came at either of these meetings. The union was then served with a lawsuit claiming the strike was illegal. As was pointed out, some language was inserted in our old contract that was not negotiated or even discussed (nobody seems to know how it got there) that seemed to say we could not go on strike, but had to work on a year to year basis at our old rates until we agreed on a new contract...The employers then gave us a proposal which we took back to the membership. They voted by a 2-to-1 margin, not 3-to-1 as reported, to accept their proposal...

Their offer amounted to a 33 per cent increase at the end of three years, not 37 per cent as reported, and only if every member takes his full sick leave and is entitled to a three-week vacation, which the majority is not. It did include a maintenance of benefits on our health and welfare program... It did not include a much-needed cost of living clause. Our apprentices will finally be paid some for going to school but nowhere near the other areas' pay rate...

Watergate Ethics And Legislators' Pensions

I was pleased to hear state controller candidate Bagley on a news broadcast predict that the Watergate scandal would bring about a higher standard of political ethics.

I suggest that Mr. Bagley initiate this reformation by introducing legislation making his — and his fellow legislators' — retirement in some measure commensurate with their length of time in public office. The retirement benefits, and other perks, that Bagley and his colleagues have voted themselves are unconscionable.

There must be many men in San Quentin for stealing far less than former Speaker Moretti will receive in unearned pension benefits. The difference is that, unlike our legislators, the poor stiff in San Quentin couldn't pass a bill making his theft legal. It is my taxes that Moretti was gifted while I am struggling to make ends meet — and I resent it.

"Politician" will cease being an appellation of contempt when politicians cease putting their own political and financial interests first and the public's interest a very distant second. And I ain't yet seen much of that in Sacramento!

Library Association Needs Active Members

As a charter member and chairman of the San Rafael Library Association, I do not give an expired library card whether that organization lives or dies.

As a librarian and nine-year resident of this city, I care very much that we have a library that is decent, sanitary and safe, accessible and inviting to all.

I care that we have a library where we may borrow reading material, do reference work, enjoy works of art and hold community meetings.

I care that there is no way for the handicapped person to negotiate the stairs to the main reading room. I recall that in 1966, the city council voted down funds for an alteration to the building which would have provided a sheltered ramp from the outside into the building.

Yesterday, I drove past and saw six Volkswagens parked in a row in the six parking spaces allotted to the library. Somehow, there was symbolism in this. Volkswagen drivers generally being thought to be careful about where they put their money. In these times of upward spiralling prices, borrowing books and records from our free library is the best recreational, educational and inspiratinal bargain to be had.

Our library association will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the San Rafael Library, that lovely, Carnegie-endowed edifice at Fifth and E Streets. As of now, the association has plans that could take us through 1984.

But plans need people. Do yourself a favor. Support your friendly, neighborhood library association. Dues are nominal. Come to our Aug. 21 meeting and join.

Youthful Enthusiasm Deserves Appreciation

I would like to add my voice to those who have disagreed with Mr. Genese's criticism of the young Sunset Players' production of "Mame."

Judging by the applause on the night I attended, the audience found much to enjoy and praise in the performance.

Here's hoping that the next time a performance representing many weeks of devoted effort by a group of young people is presented, you can send a critic who is capable of appreciating rather than ridiculing "youthful enthusiasm."

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Greed Of Legislators Courts Voter Reprisals

By EARL G. WATERS

California lawmakers, despite all of the warning signals of recent events, seem determined to play Russian roulette in the matter of their salaries and fringe benefits. They are acting as if they have a political death wish.

If the public reaction to the excesses in personal enrichment they have voted themselves does not result in individual defeats at the polls, it is surely building to where the voters will act through an initiative to strip them of many of the emoluments which they have taken for themselves.

The hazard of being voted out of office is obvious. The risks involved in having legislative compensation spelled out in an initiative seem to be escaping them. But history will show that when those entrusted with responsibility do not act with discretion and within the bounds of reasonableness, the corrective measures taken in reaction are inevitably harsh. The Legislature's failure to respond to public demands for environmental protection of the coastline and for campaign and lobby reforms provide recent examples of overkill initiative actions.

HARDLY ANYONE would contend that those serving in the Legislature should be put to undue personal financial hardships. But hardly anyone will condone those serving becoming enriched on public pay. The taxpayers have an antipathy to being plucked like chickens.

Holders of elective office seek that office knowing what the salary will be. They should not expect annual cost-of-living adjustments accorded wage earners. The American form of government is based upon citizen participation. Every citizen is expected to make some sacrifices so that the system will work. Jury duty is a good example of that and the compensation for such duty is a pittance. So is that for most of the memberships on local government boards and commissions and many city councils. So is it for many state boards and commissions.

But, in contriving the fiction that the Legislature is a full-time occupation, the lawmakers not only won themselves an excessive salary but have taken for themselves many other fringe benefits.

They have given themselves automobiles and unlimited gasoline credit cards. They have given themselves year-around campaign offices, euphemistically termed "district legislative offices," and staffed them with political employees attentive to re-election needs. Add to this their unlimited telephone credit cards and their tax-paid "news letters" and one can see why it is difficult to unseat an incumbent. In addition to their salaries, other direct cash benefits handed them are the $30 a day "away from home" living expenses seven days a week, prepaid health insurance in excess of that given to state employees, and an unconscionable retirement benefit.

"Suppose we couldn't build something out of wood till we found a tree that we had purposely planted. Say, we never would get it built. Suppose we didn't have any coal and had to ship it in? If we want any more oil, we bore a well and get some. But when our resources run out, if we can still be ahead of other nations, then will be the time to brag; then we can show whether we are really superior." — May 26, 1928.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Aug. 21, 1964

A proposal that Mill Valley elementary schools exchange pupils with those in Sausalito brought ahighly negative response from parents attending a Mill Valley School District board meeting.

Renewed fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots threatened to shatter a shaky United Nations-sponsored truce on the island of Cyprus.

20 YEARS AGO

Aug. 21, 1954

The Marin County Board of Supervisors approved a $1,964,545 welfare budget for fiscal 1955.

Bobo Olson retained the world middleweight boxing title by defeating Rocky Castellani in a 15-round bout at the Cow Palace.

No Problem Seen Confirming Rocky

REP. EDWARD HUTCHINSON
Sees easy confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, said today confirmation of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president should take no more than eight weeks — the same time it took to approve Gerald Ford for the job last year.

Rep. Edward Hutchinson, a Michigan conservative, said he believes the confirmation process should be "relatively easy," despite questions raised about Rockefeller's enormous wealth.

"Admittedly he is a man of great personal wealth, but very clearly none of it was ever gained in public office," Hutchinson said.

Under provisions of the 25th Amendment, Rockefeller must be confirmed by both the House and Senate. The House Judiciary Committee and the Senate Rules Committee, chaired by Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., will conduct the confirmation hearings.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott today urged the Senate "to move as expeditiously as possible" in the confirmation and said he thought hearings would begin as soon as the Senate receives FBI reports on Rockefeller. Scott said the hearings could not begin until after Labor Day.

Rockefeller To Tell All Financially

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Multi-millionaire Nelson A. Rockefeller has told Congressional leaders he is willling to put his extensive financial holdings into a blind trust, assuming Congress confirms him as Gerald Ford's vice president.

The former New York governor said he would answer fully during confirmation hearings any questions about his financial situation and was prepared to give Senate and House committees his income tax returns and a complete financial report.

When a reporter asked him yesterday how much he is worth, Rockefeller replied in a somewhat apologetic tone:

"You're not a member of the Congress."

Reagan Presidential Hopes Seem Finished

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The chances of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan running for president or vice president in 1976 or four years later seemed to go out the window yesterday.

"The possibilities now are very remote," said one longtime political associate of Reagan, once tagged the "fastest rising Republican star of the West."

Reagan, 63, who will retire this year after two terms as chief executive of the nation's most populous state, has crisscrossed the country as a GOP fundraiser for years looking and sounding like a presidential contender. He usually led in the polls.

He has never said publicly that he wanted to be president, insisting "the office seeks the man." He consistently has said he would announce his decision in 1975.

But President Ford's nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as his vice president seemed to dash cold water on any hopes Reagan might have had for getting himself installed as a running mate in 1976.

Then came Rockefeller's report that Ford indicated he had "every intention" of seeking a full term at the next national election.

Reagan said after the announcement of Ford's nomination the development had "no effect" on his plans to embark next year on a nationwide speaking tour to further spread his conservative political philosophy.

For 1976, Reagan seemed counted out because he probably wouldn't challenge an incumbent Republican president. For 1980, he seemed a highly unlikely contender because he will be 69 years old.

"It appears to me that there's very little chance for the governor to hold either of the nation's highest offices now, unless something very unexpected happened," said an adviser who asked not to be named.

Goldwater Not Happy Rockefeller Chosen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson Rockefeller's nomination as vice president doesn't sit well with Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, who says it won't go over with rank-and-file Republicans and may deepen rather than heal party wounds.

"I can support it," Goldwater said in an interview yesterday, shortly after Rockefeller's nomination was announced by President Ford.

"He's very well qualified. But I don't know what it's going to do to the Republican party ... he's not the one to put the party together."

The senator also suggested that if Ford runs for president in 1976 he should dump Rockefeller, now 66, in favor of "a younger man."

Goldwater, an Arizona conservative who beat the liberal Rockefeller for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, seemed still to be bitter over Rockefeller's lukewarm support of the Republican tickets in 1964 and 1968.

Goldwater's supporters booed Rockefeller at the 1964 GOP Convention when he offered a concilatory speech.

"He ducked at least two presidential races...," Goldwater said. "The problem I have as a conservative Republican is people going out before Republicans in this country and extolling him. It won't go over."

Rockefeller shrugged off Goldwater's remarks when they were reported to him.

"I think we face so many difficult problems of such serious character that all of us should concentrate on uniting the nation of a bipartisan basis and not worry about politics," he said.

Another senior Republican, who asked not to be named, was more blunt: "Barry should have kept his mouth shut."

Appearing before television cameras later in the day, Goldwater rowed back on his criticism of Rockefeller and said he would support a Ford-Rockefeller ticket in 1976 if they were the party's choice.

Marshal Is Negotiating On Subpoena For Nixon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The U.S. marshal who is to hand Richard Nixon the former President's first Watergate-related subpoena says he is negotiating with Nixon's staff to do it privately, and he won't say when or where that will be.

"I will make a professional and discreet service on Mr. Nixon," Gaylord Campbell, marshal for the central district of California, said Monday.

The subpoena, from the court of U.S. District Judge John Sirica in Washington, D.C., arrived at Campbell's office Monday. He is expected to go to San Clemente, where the former President has been in seclusion since his resignation, to serve it on Nixon.

Campbell has already said that the subpoena must be handed to Nixon personally, not given to a lawyer.

"Due to the unique nature of the case, I am negotiating with Mr. Nixon's representatives for a mutual agreement on time and place of service," Campbell said. "I will not give out the time or date of the arrangements."

Campbell, who was appointed to the marshal's post by Nixon in 1969, said he had not been ordered or pressured to handle the serving that way, by Nixon's representatives or anyone else, but thought of it himself. "I orignally started the negotiations," he said. "I felt that was the best way to handle it."

The subpoena calls for Nixon to appear as a witness for the defense next month at the Watergate coverup trial of John Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldeman and other top Nixon White House aides. The subpoena was issued at the request of Ehrlichman, once one of Nixon's most powerful lieutenants.

Strook Wins Primary In Wyoming

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — Thomas Stroock, an Ivy League graduate who moved to cowboy country in 1948, won the Wyoming Republican congressional nomination by easily defeating two political unknowns yesterday.

Dick Jones of Cody upset former Wyoming attorney general Clarence Brimmer for the GOP nomination for governor and Ed Herschler of Kemmerer won the Democratic nomination.

Brimmer was favored by Republican Gov. Stanley K. Hathaway, who did not seek reelection after two four-year terms.

The victory catapaulted Stroock, 48, a Yale graduate and oil broker from Casper, into the November general election race against Rep. Teno Roncalio, D-Wyo., who will be seeking his third straight House term.

Evel Knievel Is Tuning Up

TORONTO (UPI) — Evel Knievel tuned up for his forthcoming mile jump across Idaho's Snake River canyon by soaring over 13 trucks on a motorcycle yesterday at the Canadian National Exhibition.

He told reporters before the jump he was eager to fly his steam-powered "sky cycle" over the Snake River gorge Sept. 8 despite two test shots having failed.

The only try that actually took off fell into the river, he said, and another attempt failed to leave the ramp.

Reagan Joins In Amnesty Stand

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he agrees with President Ford's position on amnesty for draft evaders.

He told newsmen yesterday before speaking to a Republican fund-raising dinner that he opposed unconditional amnesty but the government should be "lenient."

"If any draft evader chooses to come back through the system and admits he was wrong in staying out of the service, then he should be given an opportunity to work to get back into the system," the govennor said.

S. Vietnam Aid Escapes Senate Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today narrowly defeated a move to cut $150 million for South Vietnam from the already sharply reduced defense appropriations bill.

The senators voted 47 to 44 against an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., which would have reduced military aid for South Vietnam from $700 to $550 million.

The Senate acted after Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., read a letter from Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger warning that the proposed reduction would seriously hinder South Vietnam's ability to defend itself.

Proxmire argued strenuously that the South Vietnamese have been doing well and they would continue to with $550 million in military aid — the same amount extended last year.

The Senate voted down the Proxmire effort to further cut the defense bill after defeating a maneuver, 71-21, by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to delete entirely military aid to South Vietnam.

Goldwater had argued that the United States should either live up to its commitment to provide military aid to the Saigon government, or eliminate it entirely.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., announced he would move to set a ceiling of $81 billion on the defense budget.

McClellan presented the $82 billion bill yesterday. It had been pared down by $5 billion from the original administration request of $87 billion. He warned there was a move afoot "to make across-the-board cuts — meat axe cuts."

Solar Heating Under Study By Council In Davis

DAVIS (UPI) — A proposed building code, designed to use the simplest form of solar heating and cut electricity use by 30 per cent, is being studied by the Davis City Council.

If approved, the proposal would require developers to equip new homes and apartments with a number of energy-saving features that could cut an estimated $80 to $100 a year from electricity bills.

In brief, the proposal would require the use of light colored roofs, more windows facing south because they are the most energy efficient in the summer and winter, and natural ventilation or mechanical ventilation using outside air.

The proposal was presented to the City Council earlier this week by a team of researchers from the University of California at Davis

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, August 21st, the 233rd day of 1974 with 132 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

Britain's Princess Margaret was born August 21st, 1930.

Also on this day in history:

In 1940, Leon Trotsky, a prime builder of Soviet Communism, was assassinated in Mexico City where he had lived in exile for three years.

In 1951, the United States ordered construction of the world's first atomic submarine.

In 1968, the Soviet Union and other Warsaw Pact forces invaded Czechoslovakia to choke off a growing drive to free the nation from Moscow's control.

In 1971, three officers and four convicts were killed in an escape attempt at San Quentin prison in California.

A thought for the day: President Woodrow Wilson said: "Sometimes people call me an idealist. Well, that is the way I know I am, an American. America is the only idealistic country in the world."

Reason For Drawing Trumps To Prevent Opponent's Ruff

The chief reason for drawing trumps is to prevent the opponents from ruffing one of your good tricks with a worthless trump. The trouble is that you can't draw your own trumps and still use them.

Opening lead — ♡ K

West opened the king of hearts and South won in the dummy with the ace. Declarer was a confirmed drawer of trumps, so he carefully took the ace, king and queen of trumps before giving any further thought to the hand.

South then wondered what to do about the clubs. He could have made his contract by a rather "fancy" line of play, but he wasn't up to it. Instead, he led a club to dummy's ace and returned a club toward his hand.

The jig was now up. South had to give up three clubs and a heart, losing the game and rubber.

RUFF NEEDED

South could make sure of his contract by ruffing one of his clubs in dummy. This would limit the club loss to two tricks instead of three.

The way to do this is to lead the clubs before drawing trumps. Declarer wins the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts, cashes the ace of clubs and gives up a club. On regaining the lead, South gives up another club. He can eventually ruff a club with dummy's ace of trumps.

Only then can South afford to draw trumps. Somewhere along the way South takes a diamond finesse, and the rest of the hand plays itself.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - A 6 2
♥ - A 10 2
♦ - A Q 8 4
♣ - A 4 3.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond. The hand is too strong for one no-trump, which normally shows 16 to 18 points. This 19-point hand contains all four aces and a ten. Bid it as though it were a 19-point hand.

Dastardly Deed

ATLANTA (UPI) — When the battleship Maine was sunk in Havana harbor in 1898, the Atlanta Constitution headlined the story: "T'was the deed of a dastard."

CITY OF LARKSPUR
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

HEARING IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Larkspur City Council will hold a public hearing to consider amending sections 18.55.040, 18.55.060 and 18.55.100 of the Larkspur Municipal Code pertaining to the Planned Development District procedure.

Said text amendment would (1) provide a procedure by which individual property owners of parcels within a Planned Development District may apply to be processed individually, and (2) allow the Director of Planning and Community Development to waive required data of the preliminary and precise development plans if he feels an item is unnecessary or unreasonable under the circumstances.

SAID HEARING WILL BE HELD Wednesday, September 4, 1974 by the Larkspur City Council at their regular meeting commencing at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers, Larkspur City Hall.

For further particulars, please consult the ordinance on file in the Department of Planning and Community Development or call Steve Solomon, Associate Planner, 924-7173.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISCHARGE REQUIREMENTS
(National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit)
FOR LAS GALLINAS VALLEY SANITARY DISTRICT - SAN RAFAEL MARIN COUNTY

Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District of Marin County has filed a report of waste discharge and applied for requirements for the discharge of wastes into tidal portions of Miller Creek in San Rafael, California. The Sanitary District is presently discharging approximately 2.10 million gallons per day (mgd) of municipal and Industrial wastewaters from its treatment plant, located at 300 Smith Ranch Road, San Rafael, California. The discharger proposes improvements to this plant which will increase the design capacity to 3.0 mgd.

On the basis of perliminary staff review and application of lawful standards and regulations, the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region, tentatively proproses to issue waste discharge requirements including effluent limitations and special conditions. Persons wishing to comment upon or object to the proposed discharge requirements are invited to submit same in writing to the above address no later than thirty days after date of this notice.* All comments or objections received prior to this date will be considered in the formulation of final determinations regarding the waste discharge. If no objections are received, the Regional Board will issue discharge requirements. A public hearing will be held upon request of any interested person. The waste discharge requirements as proposed are not in complete concurrence with the opinion of the Sanitary District Board. The Report of Waste Discharge, related documents, comments received, and other information is on file and may be inspected or copied at the office of the Regional Board between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on business days.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday: Oxidants, light air pollution. Nitrogen, clean air. Carbon monoxide, clean air. Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:
San Francisco, light air pollution.
San Jose, significant air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources.

FORECASTS

San Francisco Bay Area: Fair through tomorrow, except for patchy low clouds near the coast extending inland locally tonight and tomorrow morning; high tomorrow in the 60s along the coast and in the 70s inland; low tonight in the 50s; westerly winds to 20 m.p.h. tomorrow afternoon.

Sierra Nevada: Fair through tomorrow; slightly warmer.

Napa and Sonoma valleys: Fair through tomorrow, except for patchy low clouds and fog tomorrow morning; low tonight and high tomorrow at Santa Rosa 50 and 85.

Open Market Policy Seen

VAN WERT, Ohio (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz yesterday predicted President Ford would decide against favoring export controls for farm products.

Speaking at the Farm Focus-USA show, he said that Ford as vice president had called for the United States to "maintain open markets" and, while Ford would have to speak for himself, "it is my feeling that he still feels that way."

He said he would stay on as agriculture secretary if Ford would have him.

Liquor Theft

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Thieves chopped their way through a warehouse wall during the night and stole 7,000 bottles of whisky and 2,500 bottles of champagne, estimated worth $150,000, police said today.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Best Way To Get Vitamins Is Eating A Well-Balanced Diet

The best way to get your vitamins is by eating a well-balanced diet. Yet, many people do not realize how easily this can be done.

Vitamin A, for example, can be found in milk, butter, eggs, liver, kidney and fortified margarine. Your body makes its own vitamin A from carotene-containing leafy dark green and yellow vegetables, such as broccoli, carrots, apricots and winter squash, to name a few. This vitamin is essential for good vision and for healthy skin and hair.

B-COMPLEX VITAMINS (thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, pyridoxine, pantothenic acid and biotin) are found in liver, kidney meats, eggs and milk. Overcooking destroys these vitamins and so does exposure to heat, air or light. All meats, whole grain cereals, eggs and dairy products contain variable amounts of the B-complex group, including vitamin B-12 and folic acid, which are necessary for the formation of healthy red blood cells.

Citrus fruits, berries, tomatoes, peppers, potatoes and cabbage are excellent sources of vitamin C. Vitamin D comes from fish liver oils and vitamin D-fortified milk. Almost everything, including vegetable oils, whole grain cereals and wheat germ contains vitamin E. Leafy vegetables are excellent sources of vitamin E and K.

Of course, the vitamin content of a food may not be the same by the time it reaches the dinner table. It varies considerably with the kind of plant or animal, method of transportation, processing and how it is prepared.

FRESH FOODS obviously are the best sources of vitamins. But when they are overpriced or out of season, substitute frozen or canned fruits and vegetables. Use very little water and add the vegetable after the water is boiling. Proper refrigeration is very important; do not allow foods to be exposed to heat, light and air for long periods of time. If the food must be shredded or peeled, do so immediately before cooking or serving.

A good variety of nutritious foods are available, so there is no need to keep an inadequate or faulty diet.

AGING NOSE GROWS

E. G. writes: As a person grows older, does his nose get larger? My dad is 75, and his nose seems to be getting bigger.

REPLY

Since cartilage continues to grow in old age, the nose and ears may become more prominent.

FATTY TUMORS

T. M. writes: What causes fatty tumors? I never eat fatty foods, but I've had at least 10 of these nasty growths.

REPLY

We don't know the cause of fatty tumors, but it is unusual to develop more than a couple of them. Fortunately, they rarely become malignant.

TALK, TALK, TALK

A reader writes: My constant yakking is driving away my friends and my husband. I can't seem to help myself. Do you think a psychiatrist could solve my problems?

REPLY

Possibly, but he will charge for listening. If you are hyperactive, perhaps you need a tranquilizer.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

IMPACTED TOOTH

V. E. writes: Could an impacted tooth cause some type of epilepsy?

REPLY

No. Victims of epilepsy usually have abnormal brain waves.

SQUEEZING PIMPLES

T. J. writes: My 21-year-old son squeezes his pimples so hard, I'm afraid he is going to damage his skin. Could this practice cause tumors?

REPLY

No, but it may lead to scars, deeper infection or prolongation of his acne.

GAS, CYSTOSCOPY

N. B. writes: Several months ago I had a cystoscopic examination. Since then, I've been suffering from excessive gas in the intestine. Do you think this examination of my urinary bladder is responsible?

REPLY

No. Possible causes of gas include air swallowing, a change in diet, the medications taken or emotional disturbance.

MINIMAL TUBERCULOSIS

W. P. writes: I always thought that when a person developed tuberculosis, he lost his appetite and had cough and fever. I've never had any of these symptoms, but was hospitalized for five months because of TB. I'm 78, have X-rays every six months and feel just fine.

REPLY

We assume you had minimal tuberculosis because you had no symptoms and feel well. Tuberculosis is a tricky disease and may exist for many months before the victim suspects the infection. This is why periodic chest X-rays are recommended, particularly since many more older people are now developing TB.

BLOOD TYPES

S. K. writes: Should a man with Rh negative blood who needed a transfusion get negative or positive blood?

REPLY

Rh negative is preferred. Positive blood may do no harm, if this is the first transfusion. But it may make him sensitive to Rh positive thereafter.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

New Smog Panel Status Gaining

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill making the state Air Resources Board a full-time agency and creating a single smog control district for the South Coast Air Basin has moved a step closer to winning Assembly passage.

The controversial measure (SB1556) by Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, cleared the transportation committee yesterday on a 9-4 vote, the bare minimum required, and went to the ways and means committee.

Meanwhile, transportation committee chairman Ken Meade, D-Berkeley, announced he was resigning as chairman to "avoid confrontation" between him and committee members over his refusal to allow the panel to further consider bills delaying installation deadlines for antismog devices on 1966 through 1970 automobiles in California.

After Meade announced his resignation, acting chairman Bill Lockyer, D-San Leandro,, said the measures would be considered by the committee at a special hearing Friday.

Under the Biddle smog bill, the current part-time Air Resources Board would become a full-time agency and members' salaries would be raised from $11,412 to $30,000 a year.

Currently, six separate local smog control districts in the basin operate independently in the counties of Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Riverside and Ventura. The bill would abolish those districts and establish a new basinwide district with uniform rules, regulations and air monitoring procedures.

Biddle told the committee smog "is a basinwide problem and the only way to solve the basinwide problem is a basinwide board."

Committee members Joe Gonsalves, D-Cerritos, and Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, complained the bill would unfairly require taxpayers of Los Angeles to pay 75 per cent of the costs of operating the proposed regional smog control district.

Both voted against the measure along with Assemblymen Don MacGillvray, R-Santa Barbara, and Robert H. Burke, R-Huntington Beach.

UNDECIDED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he could not accept farm labor legislation which permitted secondary boycotts.

Declining yesterday to discuss specifics of the Legislature's major farm labor bill with reporters, Reagan said, "I do know that I am opposed to one part: I cannot sanction or agree to the idea of secondary boycotts."

The bill by Assemblman Richard Alatorre, D-Los Angeles, was approved by the Assembly Monday with no votes to spare and went to an uncertain future in the Senate.

PLANS KILLED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation rewriting California's century-old tenant-landlord laws and giving renters a greater voice in their housing affairs died in committee yesterday.

Rival measures—one backed apartment owners and the other by renters—were killed in separate hearings.

The Assembly Judiciary Committee killed the landlord-backed measure (SB1288) by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, 3-4 after some members wanted more rights for renters.

Deukmejian's measure — supported by the California Real Estate Association, whose members include landlord interests—was designed to overhaul the state's complex renter law and detail methods to solve some controversies between owners and renters.

The bill was aimed at conforming state law to a recent court decision requiring a landlord to comply with all housing code requirements which materially affect the health and safety of renters.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KRON (4), 7:30 p.m. — "Return of Rock and Roll," a documentary look at the cautious revival of concerts in San Francisco's landmark park, will be presented on "Thirty Minutes." Also included on the program will be an examination of the San Francisco Opera, its impact on Bay Area culture, and its relationship with the San Francisco Symphony.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8 p.m. — "Wonder Woman" and "Men of the Dragon" have encore showings on the "Wednesday Movie of the Week." in "Wonder Woman," the heroine of the comic books joins the American Government to help recover vital documents stolen by an international ring of espionage agents. In "Men of the Dragon," a young American in Hong Kong, whose younger sister is kidnaped for white slavery, embarks on a search to find her, using his powerful martial arts skills in an effort to save her. Kathy Lee Crosby, Ricardo Montalban, Jared Martin, Katie Saylor and Robert Ito star in the double feature.

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 9 p.m. — The disappearance of a faith healer's young protege leads private investigator Cannon to the trail of evangelism and into the seamy carnival atmosphere of barkers and strongmen in "The Cure That Kills," an episode of the dramatic series, "Cannon."

KQED (9), 9:30 p.m. — Blues singer Esther Phillips, who began her career in the 1950s with the Johnny Otis Band as "Little Esther" performs with "Black-Eyed Blues," "Do You Love Me," "Home is Where the Hatred Is" and other selections on "The Boarding House."

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 11:30 p.m. — Steve Allen is the bemused host and Phyllis Diller the envious color commentator for "The Unofficial Miss Las Vegas Showgirl Pageant," which will feature nine beautiful show girls from as many Las Vegas strip hotels. Jayne Meadows, Henny Youngman and Professor Irwin Corey are the judges for the pageant.

Mississippi Floods Of Last Year Worst

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The Mississippi River, which drains more than 40 per cent of America's heartland into the Gulf of Mexico, rose to its worst flood in 37 years in the spring of 1973.

The swollen river caused well over $1 billion in damage in eight states, says the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

So Dedicated, They'll Be Apart

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — Newlyweds J.D. Lynch and Barbara Bennetts take their legislative jobs so seriously they'll forsake year-round conubial bliss under one roof.

Both are Democratic state representatives. Lynch represents Butte while his bride, Barbara, has Helena as her district. The cities are 100 miles apart.

They were married the past weekend and said they would live separately in their districts because "we both agree that we have a commitment to our constituents."

"We will be together during the annual legislatures and during the summers," the new Mrs. Lynch said.

A Model Plane Will Be Used Against Bandits

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Sheriff Mel Bailey said yesterday his department has purchased a model plane with a six-foot wing span which can carry and eject a hand grenade or a smoke bomb for use against snipers taking cover atop tall buildings.

Bailey said in extreme cases the remote-controlled plane could carry an explosive charge to demolish doors behind which criminals might be hiding.

He said the $300 plane can fly at a speed of 60 miles per hour and "under the guidance of an experienced controller (the plane) would be difficult to shoot down from the air.

"It's a simple project," he said, "and I'm surprised someone hasn't thought of it."

609,000 Bounces On A Trampoline

CLEAR LAKE, Iowa (UPI) — Two Clear Lake youths yesterday claimed the world record in tag-team trampoline jumping with a combined total of 145 consecutive hours.

Brad Morel, 12, and Todd Kephart, 13, jumped 72 ½ hours each. They started jumping last Wednesday and finished at 10 a.m. yesterday.

The youths estimated they made 609,000 bounces during the period.

Mrs. Black Picked As Envoy To Ghana

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shirley Temple Black has been nominated U.S. ambassador to Ghana, the White House confirmed yesterday.

Mrs. Black, of Woodside, has represented the United States at the United Nations and in other short-term diplomatic assignments in recent years.

Water Board Approves 4 New Tie-Ins

The North Marin County Water District board, with its supply of water connections dwindling, approved water service for four projects last night. (Another water board story, page 1.)

The total was equivalent to water use by 27 single-family detached homes leaving the remaining supply at 145 equivelent units available until the Russian River-Cotati intertie is constructed in 1977.

(In calculating water usage of new construction, commercial apartment or townhouse, the district calculates its eqquivalent to usage by a single-family detached home.)

Agreements were approved for fire hydrants at the remodeled Nave Shopping Center, no change in units; Barrick Division of land along Laguna Vista Drive, three units; Digital Telephone systems in Ignacio Industrial Park, 14 units, and Bel Marin Commerce Park, 10 units.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

PACHECO RESERVOIR — Authorized awarding O. C. Jones of Berkeley a contract to construct a concrete reservoir at the Pacheco Ranch at a cost of $1,086,000. The bid was 66 per cent higher than estimated and authorization was conditioned on assurance that U.S. Development Corp., which is paying 68.3 per cent of the costs, will pay its share of the overrun.

OCEANA MARIN — Set a tax rate of 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation on lots in Oceana Marin, near Dillon Beach, after receiving only two written protests out of 125 lot owners. The monthly service charge will be dropped from $13 to $3 per connection.

PIPELINE — Awarded Bell Industries, low bidder, a contract to provide 1,700 feet of 16-inch pipeline at a cost of $15,266, which is to be paid by developers of the Western Oaks Townhouse to be served by the line.

OLEMA TANK — In the absence of bids, authorized the staff, if legally sanctioned, to negotiate for an 84,000-gallon water tank to serve the Olema area.

ACT's Cyrano To Be Repeated On Channel 9

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The American Conservatory Theater's production of "Cyrano de Bergerac," filmed by the Public Broadcasting System for nationwide broadcast last February, will be repeated locally on KQED-TV, Channel 9, at 7:45 p.m. on Saturday.

William Ball's production, first presented during ACT's 1972-73 season of repertory in San Francisco, will be revived for an unprecedented third consecutive season this fall. One of the most popular shows in ACT history, the heroic comedy was included in the PBS "Theater in America" series along with other productions by the country's leading resident theater companies.

Peter Donat is seen in the title role, heading a cast of more than 50 players which also features Marsha Mason, Marc Singer, Paul Shenar, Earl Boen, Robert Mooney, Elizabeth Huddle and Henry Hoffman.

Co-directed for television by Ball and Bruce Franchini, the production has scenery by Henry May, costumes by Robert Fletcher, lighting by Danny Franks and music by Lee Hoiby. Edmond Rostand's heroic comedy, written in 1897, was translated by Brian Hooker and adapted for television by Dennis Powers.

Women's Equality Day Is Announced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Representatives has voted to designate next Monday as Women's Equality Day in a resolution saying that "the women of the United States have been treated as second-class citizens."

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., sponsored the measure, which asks the President to "issue a proclamation annually in commemoration of that day in 1920 on which the women of America were first guaranteed the right to vote."

Petaluma's Tax Rate Will Not Change

Petaluma's $1.50 per $100 assessed value tax rate will remain the same this year, the city council has decided.

An ordinance introduced Monday sets the rate at last year's figure even though councilmen earlier had hopes of reducing it by a few cents.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer told the council that, although the cut might be workable, he believed the old rate should be retained as insurance against possible budget problems in the coming months.

The Petaluma City Council also:

SEWERS — Set $8.10 monthly fees for outside sewer connections, despite objections from property owners who said that anything over $5.50 would be unfair.

BUSES — Told Golden Gate Transit District directors that Petaluma should receive a significant share in the anticipated increased service stemming from the district's purchase of 32 new buses.

CONSULTANT — Hired John Scharer of 720 Cindy Lane as a financial consultant to study the city's fiscal system and take over as finance director in April when Cecil G. Gealta, the current director, retires.

WATER — Signed an agreement to participate in the Cotati-Russian River Intertie Aquaduct Project, which is to supply the city with about 18 million gallons per day upon completion in 1977.

POLICE REVIEW — Learned that a group of citizens will meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Kenilworth Recreation Center to discuss formation of a police review commission.

MAPS — Denied an extension of time for Condiotti Enterprises to file final maps for the Westridge Subdivision. A spokesman for the developer asked that the October deadline be extended because the project faced delays from court litigation.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Critic Makes A Bet And Goes Cold Turkey

By FRANK S. SWERTLOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most people watch television for pleasure; I watch it for business — a reviewer for UPI.

"Hey, I bet you can't go without watching television for a week," said a cynical friend of mine.

"You're on," I snapped back with an air of assurance. "Anybody can give up the tube. It isn't like smoking."

The bet was sealed. I wouldn't watch television for seven days of my vacation. It sounded easy.

Then I got jittery — no Mary Tyler Moore or ABC Sports or Johnny Carson for a week. Maybe I was too rash.

I told my wife.

"You'll never give it up," she said. "You can't, you're a TV junkie. You'll go to pieces."

A friend laughed when he heard about it.

"You'll lose," he said. "Not watching TV is un-American. Don't let the boys at the networks hear you're trying to break the habit."

With such confidence behind me, I perused my library for a few good books to bolster my nerves on the trip. I thought of rereading "Gone With the Wind," but dismissed it. NBC will show it in the fall.

I contemplated Flaubert for awhile, then Dante's "Divine Comedy" — a possible for ABC's Wide World of Entertainment? Finally, I succumbed to a satchel full of thrillers and a pile of old magazines — but not one copy of TV Guide.

"We're going to Maine," I huffed at my wife as she puttered around the kitchen.

"Why Maine?" she huffed back.

"I don't think they have electricity," I replied.

She was incredulous.

On our first day on the road, the America changed presidents. It took place at 55 miles per hour, somewhere between Connecticut and Massachusetts.

I was frantic. I stopped at a gas station to dial my friend for a reprieve.

"Not even if the world ended," he said. "A bet's a bet."

I returned to my wife and car —and the radio.

On the second day, we reached Northeast Harbor, Maine.

My wife demanded a Holiday Inn. I refused: "They might have a TV set there."

"Why this place?" my wife asked.

"It's a gold mine," I said. "They don't have a TV antenna and I bet nobody ever heard of cable television in this town."

I was at least half right — the place had no TV.

Day three was the toughest.

I started off on the wrong foot. I read the television section of the newspaper first.

"There's a good movie on tonight," I said to my wife, immediately recognizing my slip.

"Just kidding," I said. She just smiled, and we went to the beach. I just hoped I didn't run into some wise guy with a battery powered Japanese TV.

I didn't and the rest of the day went smoothly.

On the fourth day, a calm came over me. I heard birds sing. I didn't care if I ever watched Barbara Walters or Dick Cavett again. I spoke in full sentences instead of clipped phrases.

The next three days went well. I read a lot and talked a lot. I worked on my tennis game. I played chess.

I was a doer — not a spectator.

This was how it was in my parents day — before TV.

On the seventh day, on the way home, it hit me. I had won. I could walk away from the cyclops — my great 21-inch one-eyed monster.

I called my friend.

"Maybe we can franchise it," he said. "You know, TV-Aholics Anonymous or Un-television."

Befuddled Reviewer Faces New Season

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — Snidely Foon, the noted television critic, returned tanned and fit the other day from Camp Rerun, a summer study facility set aside for TV critics by the three networks.

He was sighted staggering down the boulevard under a load of network press kits for the 1974-75 season. The CBS kit, the largest of the lot, tilted him far to starboard. It weighed four pounds.

"What's new, chum O" he gasped as he set the kits down.

"Haven't you heard? NBC is allowing prereviewing this season."

"Godfrey Daniel," breathed Snidely. "What is that?"

"Prereviewing means you get to review the shows in print before they're on the air. ABC and CBS have allowed it for years."

"Why not NBC?"

"They wanted to surprise the audience. TV critics have been fighting NBC about this for years. They say it violates the constitutional system of checks and balance.

"Besides, everyone knows a program's no good unless a critic says it is."

"So why'd NBC give in?" asked Snidely.

"Some Chicago critics wrote nasty stuff about the old policy and a reader sent NBC an angry post card. Under this kind of pressure, NBC couldn't really do anything else but give in."

"We have that kind of power, hey?" said Snidely, a wicked glint in his eye. "Think I'll rap 'The Waltons' this year. Always wanted to do that."

"But that's a CBS show."

"The network is unimportant. The show is what counts. I learned that at Camp Rerun."

And Snidely added: "All the critics at the camp had to learn how to spell 'profoundly moving.' And that wasn't all.

"On the last day, a feller from New York came up and showed us what to do when we couldn't figure out, say, an original drama with three damns and a nude scene in it."

Leary Fan Admits Try At Extortion

A young woman who dropped out at 16 to follow LSD apostle Timothy Leary turned state's evidence yesterday and admitted trying to extort $20,000 from Joanna Leary of Homestead Valley.

Robin Denise Viertel, 21, implicated herself and Charles Leon Dewald, 36, of San Francisco.

Following her testimony in Marin Municipal Court, Judge Peter Allen Smith bound both defendants over to superior court on charges of burglary and attempted extortion.

Miss Viertel, once a $100-per-week secretary for Mrs. Leary, testified she and Dewald took numerous items from Mrs. Leary's hilltop house.

These included tape recordings, address books, manuscripts written by Leary, a mink coat and stereo equipment.

The two then arranged to sell the property back to Mrs. Leary for $20,000, but were arrested June 6 when they went to a San Francisco hotel to make the transfer.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas hinted in court yesterday that Miss Viertel's decision to testify against herself and Dewald stems from a plea bargain, but he did not elaborate.

Miss Viertel, of Laguna Beach, said she left home at 16 to join the Leary entourage and accompanied the dropout Harvard professor to Europe and Africa after he escaped in 1970 from prison, where he was serving time for possessing marijuana.

While in Switzerland, Leary met Joanna Harcourt-Smith, and she became his companion and took his name, although they apparently never married.

Leary was arrested in Afghanistan in 1972 and returned to the U.S. to continue serving his sentence.

Water Board Passes New Dredge Rule

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — The Golden Gate Bridge District can dredge 24 hours a day for its Larkspur Ferry Terminal, the Regional Water Quality Control board decided yesterday.

The board agreed to rescind an earlier ruling that only six million gallons could be dredged daily during terminal construction, according to a spokesman. Dredging of up to 30 million gallons a day will be permitted under the new resolution approved yesterday.

The regional board had imposed the six-million-gallon limit on the grounds it was needed to prevent pollution of marshland to be built with the dredged spoils.

The bridge district had objected that limiting the dredging to about only eight hours a day would be inefficient and so double the cost of the dredging operation.

GOP Posts Big Gain In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Despite the Republican scandal of Watergate, Republicans picked up more new voters in Florida over the past two years than the Democrats.

In one of the smallest increases in modern Florida history, the Democratic registration between 1972 and 1974 increased by a slim 1,426.

Republicans added 44,074 and independents 21,840.

However, the Democratic party continues to dominate registration, with seven out of every 10 voters signed up in the Democratic column.

The registration figures, compiled after the books closed several weeks ago, show the state has 3,554,788 eligible voters. That includes 2,396,03 Democrats, 1,019,073 Republicans and 139,695 independents.

Reagan Picks Roy Wonder For San Francisco Bench

Roy L. Wonder of San Rafael, a state Workman's Compensation Appeals Board commissioner, has been named by Gov. Ronald Reagan to fill a San Francisco Municipal Court judgeship vacancy.

Wonder, 45, is a graduate of the University of Kansas and earned his law degree at Georgetown University. He was elected to the Republican Central Committee in Los Angeles in 1969.

He and his wife, Barbara, and four children live at 64 Surfwood Court.

Wonder will take a slight pay cut in his new job. He presently earns $37,615 as a commissioner. Municipal court judges' salaries will rise to $37,069 next month.

Wonder has said he plans to move to San Francisco and that he hopes his new job will allow him more time with his family.

Grapes can be grown in almost any part of Minnesota if a suitable site and adapted varieties are used.

Twelve Hospitals Link Emergency Care

CHICAGO (UPI) — Twelve suburban hospitals have developed a regional telemetry system that coordinates their facilities for a mobile emergency care system.

The system allows a physician at a hospital to monitor the blood pressure, temperature and other vital functions of an emergency patient still under the care of a paramedic.

Scientist Finds An Ancient Tool Kit

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A University of California scientist believes he has identified the earliest "tool kit" used by prehistoric men as long as 2.5 million years ago.

The tools were found by anthropologist Glynn Isaac in the same area of Kenya, Africa, where Richard Leakey last year unearthed a human skull believed to be 2.6 million years old.

Caldwell, Pizarro Throw In Action

Supposed To Be A Night Off

PITTSBURGH (AP) — It was supposed to be a night off for pitchers Juan Pizzaro and Mike Caldwell.

Yet both played key roles as the San Francisco Giants came from four runs behind in the ninth inning to edge the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7 in a see-saw game last night that lasted 10 innings and emptied both bullpens.

Pizzaro, a 37-year-old free agent, barely had time to unpack after joining the Pirates yesterday from the Mexican League, yet he was pressed into service after three relievers before him faltered.

"It had been 7-10 days since he last pitched and I wanted to stay away from him if at all possible," said Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh.

Murtaugh had no choice, however, and the well-traveled Pizarro yielded a bases-loaded walk that forced in the winning run in the 10th.

Caldwell pitched eight innings as a starter Saturday, and he had already gone to the locker room and showered when his team entered the ninth trailing 6-2.

"I was going to get dressed when I heard the rally on the radio, so I put my uniform on and went back out," said Caldwell, who wound up pitching the final ⅔ inning in a volunteer performance that earned him his 12th win.

TITO'S DOUBLE — San Francisco Giants' second baseman Tito Fuentes last night slid safely into second base with a double at Pittsburgh. The throw from centerfield eluded Pirates' second baseman Rennie Stennett.

(UPI Telephoto)

That's the way it ended, two showers for Caldwell and too bad for the Pirates.

St. Louis and Philadelphia both lost last night. So for the second night in a row, the Giants spoiled Pittsburgh's chance to gain ground in the National League East.

"When you're out of the race with a month to go, you like to beat the teams that are still in it," said Caldwell. "It shows you still have talent."

"This is the best we've played all year," agreed Giants manager Wes Westrum.

The Pirates led 6-2 when singles by Garry Maddox, Fuentes and Bonds scored the first run of the Giants' big ninth-inning rally. Gary Matthews then doubled and Chris Speier tripled to tie the score. Bruce Miller gave the Giants a 7-6 edge with another single.

The Pirates managed to tie the score again in the bottom half of the inth. Al Oliver opened with his fourth hit, a single, and Willie Stargell was on deck. That's when lefty Caldwell volunteered to relieve righty Elias Sosa and face lefty Stargell.

"The only other pitcher I had in the bullpen was Tom Bradley and he had a stiff arm," said Westrum.

Caldwell wasn't an immediate success, as Oliver scored on a single by Stargell and Richie Zisk's infield roller.

However, he retired the next two batters to end the inning, and the Giants won in the 10th after Morlan walked Fuentes and Bonds and Murtaugh called on Pizarro.

Pizarro walked Speier intentionally before yielding a bases-loaded walk to Miller.

TRIGGER WIN OVER BREWERS

Hunter, Bando, Tenace Are Familiar A's Stars

OAKLAND (AP) — The names of the heroes were familiar for the Oakland A's.

Pitcher Catfish Hunter tossed a three-hitter, Sal Bando drove in the winning run, and Gene Tenace grand-slammed four insurance runs in a 7-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers last night.

Hunter, now 18-10 for the season, had a no-hitter until the sixth inning. A single by Bando sent the A's ahead in the eighth inning, and the grand slam homer by Tenace put the game out of reach.

"I was aware of the no-hitter," said Hunter, who pitched a perfect game in 1968. "I concentrated on the big hitters and it was a little one who got the first hit."

Tim Johnson singled to lead off the sixth inning. The other hits off Hunter were a seventh-inning homer by Darrell Porter and a ninth-inning single by George Scott.

"The turning point in the game was Hunter getting out of trouble in the sixth inning," Oakland manager Alvin Dark said. After Johnson singled, Pedro Garcia was safe on an error. Hunter then retired the next three batters to get out of the jam.

The A's scored their first run in the third inning on a triple by rookie Claudell Washington and a fielder's choice. They broke the game open with six runs in the eighth.

The grand slam homer for Tenace was the fourth of his major league career. The homer lifted his season total of runs batted in to 60. He hopes his homers and RBIs are good selling points in salary negotiations for the 1975 season.

"But I'm sure Mr. Finley will only want to talk about my low batting average," Tenace said. He is hitting only .223.

Bando's game-winning hit came off losing pitcher Eduardo Rodriguez. Bert Campaneris opened the inning with a single, went to second on a sacrifice by Jim Holt, the newest Oakland player, and then stole third.

Bando followed with a single to score Campy. Reggie Jackson also singled, and Joe Rudi walked to load the bases. Tenace then ignited the fireworks with his homer off relief pitcher Bill Travers.

The victory kept the A's five games ahead of Kansas City in the American League West.

The series concludes tonight with John Odom, 1-3, pitching for Oakland.

Recalling Fond Memories Of Youth

In the summer of 1958, I worked for the San Mateo Recreation Department. My job was to check equipment in and out at the city's main park, Central Park.

It was a great job for a lazy 17 year old. There was a big rush around 10 a.m. and another around 4:30 p.m. Other than those two periods of great activity, things were pretty quiet.

THE PARK WAS the habitat of some great individuals. George Ford, the groundskeeper, was a real character. In addition to his grounds keeping duties, he was a real character. In addition to his grounds keeping duties, he announced the nightly softball games and the weekend hardball games. He was always claiming that he used to announce games in the Pacific Coast League and that at this very moment he was considering a very lucrative offer from the Boston Red Sox. When he thought that no one was looking, George would shadow box with buildings and a particularly large oak tree. He never lost a fight.

The park was under the direct guard of one Percy McCloud, patrolman, San Mateo Police Department Reserve Division. Percy was in his 60s. During the school year, he was in charge of the crosswalk at Ninth Avenue and El Camino Real, during the summer his beat was Central Park. Officer Mc Cloud is remembered for the time he showed us his quick draw and came within five inches of shooting himself in the foot. In his defense, it must be reported that at no time while he was on duty did anyone steal the park.

THERE WERE many other regulars. Mrs. Harney owned the concession stand. If she liked you, your Sno-Cone overflowed with syrup. Rich Zanetti, the hook shot king of San Mateo, was also a champion table tennis player. His matches with Frank Catucci were truly masterful. Rich had his hook shooting and table tennis career halted by a marijuana bust.

The male recreation leader was Bob Fitzgerald. He was a school teacher by occupation but a great philosopher by inclination. He was also an inveterate St. Louis Cardinal fan. Whenever he left the equipment room, he would caution me to tell Fred Hutchinson (Cardinal manager) (if he phoned) that he would be back momentarily.

The female director was a new teacher from Cincinnati, Nancy Chapman. She saw me reading the Sporting News one day and told me to watch for a boy she had taught in high school. He had just signed with the Reds. I followed his career in the Northwest League and informed Nancy when he was called up to Seattle in the Coast League.

ONE FRIDAY evening, Seattle was playing in Sacramento and Nancy's student was scheduled to pitch. We took a ride up and saw a great game. Seattle won 2-1 in 10 innings on a basehit that scored a young outfielder named Vada Pinson. After the game, Nancy introduced me to the winning pitcher, "Gary this is Claude Osteen."

Last week, 35-year-odl Claude Osteen was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for 19-year-old Ron Selak from El Cerrito. Selack was the top pitcher in last years North-South High School All Star game at Candlestick.

Hang on, Claude.

MARINER ON SEA — Mariner, shown breezing along waters on Long Island Sound recently, yesterday was eliminated along with Valiant in the America's Cup trials at Newport, R.I.

It's A Sad Ending For Mariner, Valiant

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — It was a mixture of discreet tears, farewell handshakes and goodbye waves and pledges to help the remaining contenders on the Mariner last night when the aluminum-hulled 12- meter yacht and sister ship Valiant was eliminated from trials to pick an American Cup defender.

"It doesn't come as a surprise," Commodore George Hinman, Mariner syndicate head, said after the announcement by the selection committee. It was a formal statement from Commodore Henry Morgan, chairman of the New York Yacht Club selection committee after the sixth race of the crucial final trials.

"Ive been on the selection committee a long while," Hinman said. "I know how they react and I think when we lose this much, as we did today in light air, that we couldn't be picked. It has been a long summer but I just hope we're made a contribution to the cup and I think we have."

It leaves head-to-head races between twice-defender Intrepid and co-favorite Courageous in the choppy Atlantic. The committee has until Sept. 3 to pick a 12 to defend the Cup against the French or Australians beginning one week later.

Intrepid put wooden contender Valiant away for good on Tuesday, beating her in light air by 10:10 on a course shorted to 19.8 miles. Courageous, beating Mariner by 8:10 in a race that started 15 minutes later, came within 1:27 of beating Valiant and most probably would have, had the course remained the normal 24.3 miles.

Intrepid dominates the trials statistically, leading the overall racing 19-6 to 15-8 for Courageous. She has edged Courageous in their pairings 7-5 thus far.

Mariner, missing the entire observation trial series in July while she was rebuilt amidships, bowed out with a 5-6 mark. Valiant was 1-20, her only win coming on a protest decision back in June.

The new arrangement will give the committee an opportunity to evaluate Courageous, a new aluminum 12, and 1967 and 1970 defender Intrepid on a daily basis in all sorts of wind conditions. So far in the final trials, the air has remained light, with breezes of 5-7 knots.

San Rafael Travel Wins Drake Title

San Rafael Travel reigns today as the 1974 champion of the adult division of the Drake summer basketball league, following a 67-62 victory over High Hopes last night in the title game at the San Anselmo school.

Bill Smith scored 20 points for the winners, offsetting a 19-point effort by Wil Garner of High Hopes.

Italian Club Undecided On Its Starter

SAN JOSE — Manager Don Travers hasn't made up his mind who will pitch for the Italian Athletic Club in the opening game of the state Joe DiMaggio League baseball tournament tomorrow, but it doesn't matter. Any one of his four starters would be a brilliant choice.

They are the four Marin County Athletic League all-league pitchers from the last two years, and they are the reason the Corte Madera team will be favored to win in its third straight tourney appearance.

A three-game sweep of the regional tournament at Novato last weekend, including a pair of victories over previously unbeaten Fortuna, earned Italian Club the right to come here. They play San Francisco in the opening round tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.

To show how strong the staff is, Gene Frey, Ed Andersen and Mark Ruggles allowed a total of four runs as they each pitched a complete-game victory in the regionals. And Jeff Lucchesi, the other starter and the MCAL's top pitcher in earned run average last year, wasn't even needed.

Frey and Ruggles were the All-MCAL pitchers in 1973, Lucchesi and Andersen last year. All are Redwood products, Andersen still is. As a junior last season he won nine games, without a loss in leading Redwood to its third straight league championship.

If experience means anything, the state tourney promoters can have Italian Club inscribed on the trophy today. This will be the third tourney for Frey and Ruggles, the second for Andersen. Frey won two games in '72 when Italian Club finished second to Los Angeles.

"We have experience, defense and excellent pitching," says Travers. They also have the MCAL's leading hitter last year, third baseman Phil Bacigalupi, and .400 hitter Gary Latorre. Latorre was the most valuable player of the regional tourney with six hits including two triples and two doubles.

Smith Learning With Raiders

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) — Former San Diego Charger Ron Smith says he has "learned more in three practices" with the Oakland Raiders than during any time in his career.

Smith, among the National Football League's most explosive kick-returners for nine seasons, was obtained from San Diego for two draft picks.

Coach John Madden said he willingly gave up the two selections for Smith, 31.

"He has a lot of individual talent," Madden said. "That's what makes him one of the best."

Garvey Is Up In Arms Over Eagle

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Ed Garvey is up in arms again and he says National Football League players may be out of camp soon.

Garvey, the executive director of the NFL Players Association, was incensed yesterday when he learned that veteran defensive back Kermit Alexander of Philadelphia, vice president of the union, had been given permission to make a deal for himself with another club.

"If their answer to our cooling off period is to get Kermit Alexander out of the league and attack our leadership, this is going to be a long strike," Garvey said. "We've got enough strength to go back in and come on back out--the players know the strength of their union is at stake."

The union called a 14-day cooling off period and allowed players to report to camp beginning last Wednesday. It said, however, that players would walk out of camp at the end of the two weeks if agreement is not reached with the owners.

Coach Mike McCormack said the Eagles, "haven't waived him (Aleaxander) but he's looking on his own. I looked quite honestly at our defense and there was no way he could make the team or help it. Kermit's standing in the strike had

Hitting Homers Creates Problems For Dave Lopes

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Hitting home runs can have its drawbacks.

Los Angeles' Dave Lopes doubled his home run total for the season yesterday when he blasted three shots, in addition to a double and a single, in the Dodgers' 18-8 rout of the Chicago Cubs. The 5-foot-9, 175-pound second baseman quickly paid the price.

After belting two of his homers and a double in his first three times at-bat, Lopes found his head being used as a target by reliever Dave LaRoche in the fourth inning. LaRoche was eventually pounded for 11 runs and 15 hits in 4 1-3 innings.

"Nobody is going to throw at my head and get away with it," vowed an angry Lopes.

Lopes' five hits contributed to the Dodgers' 24-hit attack that also included homers by Jimmy Wynn, Steve Garvey and Willie Crawford. The six homers and 24 hits were the most for the Dodgers in one game since the team moved to Los Angeles from Brooklyn in 1958.

Reds 7, Phillies 1

Johnny Bench belted a three-run homer and Joe Morgan, who had two homers the night before, added a solo shot to power Cincinnati over Philadelphia and keep the Reds 2 ½ games behind first place Los Angeles in the West Division.

Braves 8, Cardinals 6

Darrell Evans' two-run homer and triple and three hits apiece by Henry Aaron and Marty Perez led Atlanta past St. Louis. Perez' homer capped a four-run second inning for the Braves. St. Louis' Lou Brock stole his 85th base, moving him to within 19 of Maury Wills' single season record of 104 set in 1962.

Astros 6, Mets 2

Lee May slammed his 19th homer to spark a 12-hit attack and James Rodney Richard, with relief help from Mike Cosgrove, recorded his first victory of the season in Houston's win over New York.

Padres 3, Expos 0

Willie McCovey smacked a three-run homer and rookie Dave Freisleben tossed a three-hitter to lead San Diego past Montreal.

Orioles 2, Rangers 1

Mike Cuellar tossed a five-hitter for his 15th win in pitching the Orioles over the Rangers. A run-scoring double by Brooks Robinson and a sacrifice fly by Mark Belanger in the second inning accounted for the Orioles' runs off Jackie Brown, who dropped his 10th game in 19 decisions.

Yankees 2, Twins 1

Pat Dobson scattered seven hits in outdueling Bert Blyleven as the Yankees nipped the Twins.

Royals 2, Indians 0

Tony Solaita and Fran Healy hit fifth inning homers off Gaylord Perry and Lindy McDaniel turned in four innings of two-hit relief to spark the Royals' over the Indians.

Red Sox 8, White Sox 3

Dick Drago notched his first complete game since July 8 and Rick Miller collected four hits as the Red Sox boosted their lead in the American League East to 5½ games.

Hard Luck Common For Angels' Ryan

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Hard luck is as common to Nolan Ryan as his fastball is unhittable to the rest of the American League.

The 27-year-old right-hander of the California Angels suffered a heartbreaking loss for the second time in two weeks last night when he was beaten 1-0 in 11 innings by the Detroit Tigers despite striking out 19 batters for the second time this season.

Ryan, who lost a game to the Chicago White Sox two weeks ago in which he pitched 8 1-3 innings of no-hit ball, outpitched Mickey Lolich last night but came out on the short end of the score when Bill Freehan lined a run-scoring single with two out in the top of the 11th inning.

Despite losing his 12th game in 29 decisions, Ryan broke his own major league record for most strikeouts in three successive games — 47.

In other AL games, Boston whipped Chicago 8-3, New York nipped Minnesota 2-1, Kansas City blanked Cleveland 2-0, Baltimore edged Texas 2-1 and Oakland topped Milwaukee 7-1.

Davis Cup Secretary To Meet With Italians

LONDON (UPI) — Basil Reay, secretary of the Davis Cup nations, said today he will meet with Italian Lawn Tennis Federation official Dr. G. Cameli in London Friday to discuss Italy's refusal to play South Africa.

The two countries are scheduled to play their Davis Cup interzone semifinal in Johannesburg by September 22, but Italian tennis officials say they cannot meet South Africa because of its apartheid policy.

The International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF) said Reay had arranged to meet Dr. Cameli to receive the Italian request not to play in South Africa.

The ILTF statement said: "The Italians report there has been a distinct change of opinion in Italian Government circles in the last three months and they are determined not to allow an Italian sports team to play against a South African team in South Africa or in Italy.

SPITZ SAYS

Records To Fall In Swim

CONCORD (AP) — Mark Spitz, the poster pinup boy of swimming, has six world records still on the books but expects a few to disappear over the next 11 days in the Concord Community Park Pool.

"Every day that goes by, the odds on the records standing get worse," Spitz said yesterday on a visit to the site of the National Amateur Athletic Union long-course championships which begin tomorrow.

"I expect those records to go, and I have a feeling some will go this week," he added. "If they don't, it will mean men's swimming isn't as good as it should be.

"Men's swimming should keep up with the trend."

The women's swimming world record list has virtually been rewritten this year, with East German girls claiming most of the new marks.

The four-day AAU meet will end Sunday, and the top U.S. finishers in each event will stay here to represent their nation in a dual meet with East Germany Aug. 31-Sept. 1.

Spitz set seven world records in his gold medal-collecting trip to the 1972 Munich Olympic Games, then retired from the sport and went into show business.

The Spitz individual records that seem most vulnerable this weekend are the 200-meter butterfly, with Robin Backaus and Steve Gregg threatening, and the 200 freestyle, with Kurt Krumpholz and Tim Shaw possible new kings.

The only active U.S. male swimmer holding a world record is San Rafael's Rick DeMont in the 400-meter freestyle. That event is on tomorrow's opening program, and DeMont's race against the likes of Shaw and Mike Bruner easily could produce a new mark.

Question Of Nerves For Nancy

(Final in a series)

It is a question of nerves.

"I tend to get nervous. It all depends on how my nerves hold out," says San Geronimo National Golf Club champion Nancy Gapinski referring to her chances in the seventh annual Marin County women's Tournament of Champions golf.

Her opponents Friday at 9 a.m. at Indian Valley will be: defending champion Tillie Gondak of Marin Country Club, Laura Cann of Meadow Club, Liz Cole of Peacock Gap, Terry Nichols of Mill Valley and Peg Williams of Indian Valley.

Regarding Indian Valley, Nancy says: "I know the course pretty well. I've played there often." Mrs. Gapinski is confident that if she can remain calm and play to her six-handicap form, she has a good chance.

However, Nancy may be a bit rusty. Last Saturday she returned from a three-week fishing trip with her husband Larry in Trinity County. She was to play golf yesterday and today then lay off until Friday. Prior to this week, Nancy had not played since July 25.

Nonetheless, her credentials are impressive. Nancy won the 1971 Tournament of Champions at Peacock Gap and is the 1974 champion of the North Bay Women's Golf Association. Mrs. Gapinski has won the San Geronimo club title eight years straight.

Nancy and her husband Larry reside in San Anselmo. They have two children: Bruce, 20, and Laurie, 17.

Marin Football Meeting Monday

The College of Marin football team will hold its first meeting of the season next Monday at 4 p.m. in the school gym, coach Dick Read announced yesterday.

All students interested in playing football should attend the meeting, Read said.

Wilhelm Is Around .300 Mark

Jim Wilhelm of Kentfield continued to hover around the .300 mark, but other former Marin County baseball stars did poorly in minor league baseball action last week.

Wilhelm, playing with Walla Walla, Wash. of the Class A Northwest League, had nine hits in 33 trips to the plate, including four doubles. His season average at week's end was .293.

Rob Long of Corte Madera, a rookie league player, Tom Olson of Kentfield in Class A and Tom Thomas of Novato in Triple A all stayed around the .200 mark with their respective clubs.

Carolina A League star Clifford Hall of Marin City did not play last week. He's hitting .273 with seven home runs and 40 runs batted in for Newport News, Va.

Pitchers Russ Dillon of Novato and Dewey Forry of Terra Linda each worked in three games. Dillon took a loss with Eugene of the Northwest League, bringing his record to 8-3. Forry, 3-5 with Waterbury of the Eastern League, had no decision.

Statistics on Marin's minor league players are provided by Player Periscope of Novato.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Getting The Most Out Of Your Boat

A boat owner who was a victim of last winter's fuel crisis and economic slump has sold his boat this summer because, he told me: "It costs too much for what you get out of it."

He sold although he likes boating and the healthy outdoor activity it entails.

Of course "getting the most out of one's boat" depends entirely on the enthusiasm and ingenuity of the individual. For example, I know a water skier, actively engaged in competition, who only last year discovered that by getting an "exposure" suit he could extend his practice time by three months every year.

With a tight-fitting, foam rubber suit it's possible to ski almost any day of the year, unless you live in a part of the country where the water freezes.

Another man I know, an ardent fisherman, sold his large boat, and got a trailer boat that now goes everywhere. He just had the wrong kind of boat.

Still another had to give up because he "just couldn't fix anything." Someone gave him a do-it-yourself, fix-it book and now he's happy.

Here's some of the questions I've been asked:

Q. How can I replace the "non-skid" paint on the inside of my aluminum duck hunting boat?

A. First the aluminum must be primed with zinc chromate primer, available at aluminum boat dealers or aircraft supply houses. This gives other type paints something to stick to. Then apply two coats of exterior boat paint. Before the second dries, sprinkle it with well-washed, and dried, fine sand.

Q. How do you tighten a rivet on an aluminum boat?

A. Get an auto body-shop dolly block (or some other heavy piece of iron) for backing. Place it on the head of the rivet and tap the expanded end (usually on the inside of the boat) with the ball end of a ball-peen hammer. This will expand the rivet through its length to fill the hole. If you have to replace a rivet, a dealer in aluminum boats will get one for you. Be sure it's a snug fit, then treat as described above.

Q. Can you train a dog to retrieve from a boat?

A. I know a labrador retriever that has been trained to bring ducks back to a boat and climb a small ladder or stair which his owner has built to hang over the side. Teach him to use it on land first.

Q. I bought a new outboard boat and the dealer practically insisted I fill out the warranty card in front of him. He said "It was to get the best service from the manufacturer . . .?"

A. Since the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971 became effective, manufacturers of marine products have been keeping as complete a list of new owners as possible. This is to be able to notify the owners should the company become aware of any defect or failure to comply with Coast Guard standards that might cause injury. Your dealer is a conscientious man.

Q. I have a canvas "camper top" for my big runabout so we can use it in cool weather. I'm told it's illegal to operate with it up. Is this so?

A. As long as you can keep a proper lookout for other boats, all the regulations I can find don't care if you are carrying a tent. But if you should get into an accident, and someone demonstrates that you couldn't see properly, you could be in trouble.

Q. There's a long stretch of river to our hunting camp. Often we are held up by slow boats. Anything we can do?

A. You can be patient. The guy you are overtaking has the right of way, and if you do him any harm in passing, you are responsible. You might buy a loud hailer and ask him . . . very courteously . . . to let you pass. But it's certain you'll run into someone who'll refuse.

Q. Can you use boat costs as an entertainment expense on your income tax return?

A. Yes, if it is a bona fide expense. It's done every day. Check with a taxation officer. Keep a close check on how much of the total boat use is devoted to the entertainment.

Q. Is it legal anywhere to chase ducks in a power boat for hunting purposes?

A. Only in some areas of Mexico. If you plan to take a boat — next to a gun it's the most useful tool in getting ducks — duck hunting, get a copy of the Migratory Birds Convention Act from the Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, Washington, or talk to a conservation officer who knows the migratory birds law as it applies to your area. It has some pretty stringent restrictions on power boats.

Safety Guide For Boaters Is Available

SACRAMENTO — A safety guide for boatmen using or planning to use waters of the Bay Area is available now from the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development, California's boating agency.

The pamphlet, "Boating Safety Hints for San Francisco Bay," covers such topics as shipping lane right-of-way; hazardous waters around the Golden Gate Bridge; capricious weather conditions; handy marine radio call numbers and regatta courtesy. The pamphlet specifies required safety equipment and outlines basic emergency procedures.

"This newest publication has information for the seasoned Bay skipper," said Frank Torkelson, Acting Director for the DNOD, "and especially for the newcomer to San Francisco Bay who may not be prepared for the variety of weather and waterway conditions he will find there."

Torkelson emphasized the pamphlet's closure: To be truly safe, all boatmen should sign up for a free boating safety class in their area. For your free copy of "Boating Safety Hints for San Francisco Bay," write to the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development, 1416 Ninth Street, Room 1336, Sacramento, Calif. 95814.

NCAA Cage Format Changes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — More than one team from a conference will be eligible to participate in the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament in the future, according to action taken yesterday by the NCAA Executive Committee.

The committee, which held its annual meeting here, announced a policy change which permits a team other than the conference title holder to be eligible for one of the 12 "at large" berths in the national tournament.

Sixteen of the 32 tournament spots go to conference champions and four others are taken from regional tournaments conducted by the East Coast Ahletic Conference.

Under the new policy, however, no more than two teams from a conference may play in the national tournament.

Tickets for the 1975 tournament will cost more than before, the NCAA said. Ticket prices for early-round action will go up from $4 to $5 and prices for the finals — to be held in San Diego — will go up from $10 to $12.

Admission to the 1976 finals in Philadelphia will go up to $12.50.

The policy makers also announced that a 1974-1975 operating budget of $2,495,000 had been approved. The budget includes $200,000 for use in enforcing the NCAA's recruiting rules.

Also adopted was a rule requiring coaches to open their locker rooms to newsmen 10 minutes after the end of a game.

Marinites Lead In Mallory Cup With Two Wins

SEATTLE — A three-man team from the San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere leads the Mallory Cup field going into today's three races.

Skipper Van Wilson and Frank Thompson of Mill Valley with Nate Russell of Tiburon accumulated 23¼ points yesterday by winning two out of the three races. They built a 7¼ point lead over the eight-crew field.

The Marinites took second in the other race. The winds were light yesterday in this North American men's championship at the Corinthian Yacht Club course.

Contestants race on San Juan 24s, quarter-ton boats. The crews change boats after each race.

Competition concludes tomorrow with two races.

WORLD FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Portland Worries Pardee

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Coach Jack Pardee's Florida Blazers lead the World Football League East and face the winless Portland Storm tonight. But Pardee is worried.

"We're thinking of everything but playing football," Pardee complained. "We don't know our game plans. Nobody is asking about Portland. All you hear about is the possible move."

The "move" the former star linebacker referred to is the story circulated out of Orlando all week that the Blazers were having money problems and might be forced to move. The club was one of the last established in the league, starting first in Washington and then moving to Virginia and finally to Orlando before playing a game.

Less than 11,000 fans attended the first two games in the Tangerine Bowl and a game against Florida rival Jacksonville finally brought out 24,000 last week after an appeal by Rommie Loudd, the Blazers' managing general partner.

"The problem is simple," Loudd said. "If we had 29,000 at every game, a full house would solve all our problems. We wouldn't have to move away. Getting a million dollars now wouldn't assure anyone the team would stay here in the future. Like I said, the turnstiles will be our best avenue of revenue."

Loudd was talking with a group of Atlanta inviestors about moving the club there but that fell through when Georgia Tech officials refused to allow the WFL to use its field.

On the field, the Blazers, with Bob Davis at the controls, are 5-1 and hold a one-game edge over New York. Portland has had its problems offensively, scoring only 76 points, second lowest figure in the league, and allowing 156, the third highest total. But Coach Dick Coury feels the club, which has managed only one tie in six games, may be coming around.

In other WFL games tonight, Birmingham is at Jacksonville, the Hawaiians at Memphis, Southern California at Philadelphia and Houston at New York. Chicago is at Detroit Thursday night in the national television game.

Unbeaten Birmingham, the highest scoring team in the league, attempts to run its winning streak to seven games against a Jacksonville club that has had quarterback problems. Kay Stephenson, Kim Hammond and Eddie McAshan all have been injured this season and the Sharks, 2-4, hope to have McAshan ready for this one.

Memphis, 4-2, has one of the top running attacks in the league, sparked by J.J. Jennings, Willie Spencer and John Harvey. The Hawaiians, 1-5, are ending a long three-game road trip.

Southern California, which moved into first place in the West last week by winning its third game, try to hold it against Philadelphia, also 3-3. The Sun's Kermit Johnson ranks second in the league in rushing while Philadelphia has the top passer in the WFL in King Corcoran.

New York, which dropped its first two but bounced back with four straight victories, goes for No. 5 against defense-minded Houston. George Sauer, who caught two touchdown passes for the Stars last week, will be out with an leg injury. The Texans have allowed only 43 points in six games.

Taiwan Continues Baseball Success

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) — The Taiwanese have taken up where they left off last year in the Little League World Series and that's bad news for the five teams left in the tournament.

A team from Kao Hsuing, Taiwan, showed yesterday that things haven't changed by trouncing a New Haven, Conn., team 16-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Lin Wen-Hsuing.

Teams from Taiwan have won the last three World Series and the Kao Hsuing squad is a heavy favorite to make it four in a row. Nationalist Chinese teams have now held the opposition scoreless through 35 innings in two years of World Series play.

The Taiwan team had four homers in Kao Hsuing's opening round rout, a victory that overshadowed a fine performance in the second game by Bob Trauger, who hurled a seven-hitter in Tallmadge, Ohio's 8-0 victory over Athens, Greece.

The first round concludes today with Canada meeting Red Bluff, Calif. and Venezuela matched against Jackson, Tenn.

OLD BUILDING BEING REFURBISHED

Scaffolding forms a design of many rectangles on the B Street side of the Albert Building in San Rafael, as a contractor prepares to spruce up the structure which has stood at Fourth and B streets in San Rafael since 1930. Painting and polishing are planned, according to a spokesman for the Bank of America which manages the building.

GM Lowers Price Hikes On New Cars

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp., bowing to White House pressure, today announced a token reduction of $54 from its planned price hike of $500 for 1975 model cars and trucks.

GM said the reduction was in response to an appeal from President Ford to roll back the increase and help fight inflation.

The average increase on GM's 1975 model cars, which are being put on sale as soon as dealers receive them, is now $446, including $100 to $160 for emission control equipment, $20 for higher destination charges and the remainder to cover the higher costs of labor and materials.

The move by the nation's No. 1 auto maker, the acknowledged price leader, was seen as a gesture to take off the pressure that has been building since Aug. 9 when it announced the 9.5 per cent increase.

President Ford was sharply critical of the hike and had called for a reduction.

"This reduction is our response to President Ford's appeal to all segments of the American public to help fight inflation," GM chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg said in a three-page news release.

Gerstenberg said the new increase would average 6 per cent for cars and 10 per cent for trucks. On cars, this would include between $100 and $160 to cover the cost of adding new emmission control equipment.

Ford Motor Co. president Lee A. Iacocca said yesterday the No. 2 auto maker has little choice but to follow GM's lead on prices. Ford indicated in late July its increase on cars would average $418. But Iacocca said the hike now probably would be in the same range as GM increase.

Neither Chrysler Corp. nor American Motors has made any public disclosures on their pricing action for 1975 models.

Gerstenberg, complaining that GM will be absorbing about $100 per vehicle in unrecovered cost increases when the 1975s debut, said he shares the president's concern with inflation.

"The national problem does not yield to an easy solution, nor can it be solved by one segment of our society, one industry, or one company," Gerstenberg said. "We can say this—if every industry had a price record equal to that of the automobile industry, the nation's inflation problem would be solved."

Gerstenberg, who had resisted the White House's jawboning for just over one week, hinted there would be further increases if inflation pressures don't moderate.

"We feel that, in these extraordinary times, we are doing our part," the GM chief executive said. "Whether there will be further price increases on our products will depend on the extent to which others exercise similar restraint and the forces of inflation can be brought under control."

Probe Opened Into Police Conduct At Teens' Party

The San Rafael police administration is reviewing police conduct in connection with a rowdy teen-age party Saturday in which officers used Mace and nightsticks to disperse a crowd.

Police Chief Lawrence Kelly said today the review was sparked by a resident who balked at the manner in which police handled the incident. He said such review is routine.

At issue is a noisy Terra Linda party held Saturday at 43 Skyview Terrace. Police said they were pelted with beer bottles and furniture as they attempted to break up the party and were required to hit "numerous subjects" with nightsticks and doses of Mace.

Two 20-year-old men and a 16-year-old youth were arrested following the melee.

Kelly said Police Inspector Bart W. Stinson and crime prevention Sgt. David Jones are reviewing officers' conduct at the incident, and plan to interview youths who attended the party.

Meanwhile, a youth who attended the party today complained that a police report of the incident is "a bunch of makeup."

Ted E. Turina, 16, of 4 Dias Way, whose mother, Anise serves on the city's redevelopment citizens committee, said the event was a "very peaceful party" and said police could have dispersed a crowd of about 35 youths without resorting to Mace or clubbing.

Weather Forecast Device For Pocket

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The latest local weather forecast can come right from your own pocket any time of day or night even if you're visiting some 70 cities around the country.

Since the National Weather Station broadcasts emergency bulletins, forecasts, current conditions and travel conditions on an around-the-clock basis in some 70 localities of the nation, RCA has developed a pocket-size radio that tunes in this information at the push of a button.

Two Drown In Boat Sinking

BODEGA BAY (UPI) — A 65-foot shrimp boat foundered in the Pacific Ocean, drowning two persons, although two boys were saved by a Coast Guard helicopter.

Drowned were Wally Crump, of Oakland, owner of the boat Santiago, and Todd Schorer, 19, of Livermore.

Crump's son, Sean, 14, and Lynn, 15, were rescued and reported in good condition at Santa Rosa Community Hospital.

Coast Guard officers said the boat sank in six-foot to seven-foot seas.

Tax Group Will Meet To Organize

A new countywide property owners' and taxpayers' association will hold an organizational meeting at 8 p.m. today in Room 332 at the Marin Civic Center, according to Marin County Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere.

He said members of various homeowners' groups and other interested persons have been asked to attend the session.

The association will work to hold the line on all governmental expenses by reviewing county and municipal budgets and trying to find ways to reduce the percentage of the budgets which are supported by property taxes.

Roumiguiere said the group will present "responsible and objective" spending recommendations to the various government agencies.

The supervisors said he hopes the association will eventually have about 5,000 active members.

Marking Of Channels Is Being Asked

Installation and maintenance of channel markers in presently unmarked channels to harbors in Marin have been requested by the Marin County Marine Activities Committee.

The committee asked at a recent meeting that the board of supervisors order installation of channel markers at Bahia, Bel Marin Keys, Gallinas, Paradise Harbor, Paradise Cay, Salt Works Canal and in Richardson Bay from Sausalito to the Cove Apartments.

The committee also recommended that the state Department of Navigation and Ocean Development furnish money for mooring buoys in Drake's Bay, Paradise Park and McNear's Park, said E. Robert Jerome, publicity chairman.

The newly organized committee meets at 8 p.m., the second Thursday of each month at the planning chambers at the Civic Center.

Credit Squeezed

SYDNEY (UPI) — Building society loans are down by a record $630 million in the wake of a crippling credit squeeze, says the Australian Association of Permanent Building Societies.

Grain Export Watch May Be Expanded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government may tighten its system of monitoring grain exports to make sure foreign buyers don't take so much that American consumers are left short, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said today.

Butz told a closed meeting of the Senate Agriculture Committee that his department, which currently requires weekly reports on sales by private exporters of grains and other crops, is "considering" a plan under which big export firms would have to file daily reports on major new sales.

Butz, meeting with newsmen after the session, added that he does not see any chance that exports would endanger U.S. supplies or that — despite a drought-reduced 1974 U.S. harvest — there is any likelihood that the government will have to impose export controls to avoid shortages or runaway food inflation at home.

Agriculture Committee Chairman Herman F. Talmadge, D-Ga., told reporters he believes it would be "premature" to impose export limits on major livestock feed crops like corn and soybeans or on human food crops like wheat.

"But we do want to be forewarned (about export trends) to see we don't sell what we haven't got," added Talmadge. The Senate farm leader had warned earlier that this year's short corn and soybean crops, if coupled with heavy exports, could lead to shortages and high food prices in the U.S.

Assemblyman Drops Retired Judge Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Democratic assemblyman said today he has dropped a bill providing a $600,000 sweetener for the retirement benefits of six former judges, including Republican Attorney General Evelle J. Younger.

Assemblyman Louis Papan of Daly City said he decided to abandon the bill (AB2908) when he learned last week it would greatly increase pension benefits for Younger.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Air Pollution Firm Looks Like Bargain

By ROGER E. SPEAR
AND DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. I am interested in investing in Wheelabrator-Frye (NYSE). Would you elaborate on this stock for growth and income? — E.B.

A. Wheelabrator appears to be well on its way toward racking up another record-breaking year. Earnings rose 22 per cent on a 41 per cent gain in sales for the first six months. Full-year sales should be well in excess of $325 million with earnings pegged at $1.50 a share. The Environmental Systems Group last year accountd for over half of sales and 61 per cent of income. Rising materials costs and direct expensing of research and development reduced profit margins, but the latter expenditures promise long-range benefits.

Wheelabrator has enhanced its own prominent position in air pollution control with licensing agreements with two European firms specializing in electrostatic precipitators, sulfur dioxide control and waste-to-energy incineration systems. A plant utilizing the latter technique will go on stream in New England next year. Three major contracts have been received recently, a $5 million order from Republic Steel, plus supervision and engineering of construction on two plants valued at $360 million. At seven times earnings, yielding 3.6 per cent, the shares are a whorthwhile purchase.

Q. Would you please express an opinion for income and safety on short-term notes of GMAC. Are others as good? — F.A.

A. These short-term notes, also referred to as commercial paper, are available in $25,000 minimum amounts. Their safety rating is P-1 by Moody's — the higest given. In April GMAC offered $200 million in nine-month to five-year medium-term notes with coupon rates of 7¾ per cent to 8¼ per cent for the longest maturity. Since commercial paper is an unsecured obligation of the issuing company (a promissory note) the financial stability of the issuer is an important consideration in assessing the safety of the note.

Stocks Dip Despite A Few Good Signs

NEW YORK (UPI) — After an uncertain opening, stock prices turned easier today on the New York Stock Exchange in light trading.

The market apparently lacked the strength to expand yesterday's gain, which broke a string of losses extending over eight sessions. The severe market slump cut the Dow by almost 76 points. Analysts said yesterday's advance was the result of internal adjustments in the market after an unusually long decline.

Despite some encouraging economic news, investors remained glum about the future course of the economy. The Labor Department reported its consumer price index rose at a 9.6 per cent annual rate in July, down from the record June increase of 12 per cent, annually adjusted. The department attributed the July dip to a temporary drop in food prices.

Interest rates, a major investor worry, showed signs of easing. Central National Bank of Cleveland, the first bank in the nation to lift its prime lending rate to an unprecedented 12 ¼ per cent on July 8, announced it has reduced the interest rate for its best business borrowers to 12 per cent. But even the prospect of lower interest rates failed to pull the investment community out of the doldrums.

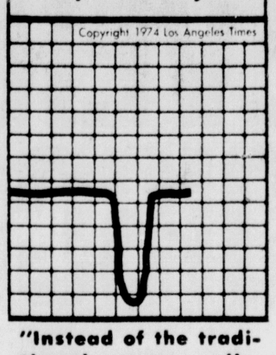
Among the generally softer blue chips, Eastman Kodak fell 2 ½, Exxon 1 ⅛, General Electric 1.

The glamors also suffered losses. IBM dropped 3 ¼, Digital Equipment 2 ⅝, Burroughs 1 ⅞, Texas Instruments 1 ½.

Airlines, motors, oils and chemicals weakened fractionally, while the rails and steels moved slightly higher.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in light trading. Syntex paced the actives, unchanged at 38 on 15,200 shares.

SMART CHART by Stansbury



"Instead of the traditional summer rally, we had the unexpected summer slump."

Sales Drop Recorded In Marin

Taxable sales in Marin County during the first quarter of this year totalled $97,017,000 as compared with $93,457,000 for the first quarter of last year, an increase of 3.8 per cent, according to figures compiled by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

The total number of retail stores rose from 1,905 last year to 1,962 this year, a gain of 57.

Here is a breakdown by cities, showing the dollar value of taxable transactions during the first quarter this year, and the per cent change from the first quarter of 1973:

Belvedere — $249,000, up 11.9 per cent.

Corte Madera — $8,884,000, down 0.6 per cent.

Fairfax — $1,895,000, up 8.7 per cent.

Larkspur — $2,986,000, down 1.7 per cent.

Mill Valley — $5,170,000, down 3.2 per cent.

Novato — $10,347,000, down 5.8 per cent.

Ross — $150,000, up 30.4 per cent.

San Anselmo — $4,569,000, up 15.5 per cent.

San Rafael — $45,750,000, up 8.1 per cent.

Sausalito — $6,330,000, up 8.4 per cent.

Tiburon — $1,370,000, down 7.8 per cent.
